They Noticed!...

Wasn't it nice that the national media, for once, actually gave Garrett County some real coverage following what may well be the storm of the 21st century? We evidently made the news broadcasts of just about every major television and radio station in the country, with the real highlight (at least for us here at The Republican) being a live interview of our senior news writer Mary Sincell McEwen on ABC's Good Morning America.

We are usually ignored when it comes to severe winter weather coverage, especially if the metropolitan areas happen to get a substantial snowfall at the same time. It took a 50-inch snowfall, and probably lots and lots of e-mails to the national media by local residents, to finally get some attention.

But that's all right; part of what makes life so enjoyable here is the general lack of attention by the rest of the world. We do, however, express our great appreciation to ABC and the fine crew who visited this week, giving us an opportunity to show literally millions of people what we often contend with during the long winter months in Garrett County.

While we are accustomed to large snowfalls, this one was pretty overwhelming, even for those of us who have lived here all our lives. However, we have been impressed this week with the fact that, to our knowledge, there have been no weather-related deaths in Garrett County, and not even any major injuries from vehicle mishaps. Nearly four dozen deaths and thousands of injuries have been reported nationwide, but none here where the snow was the deepest. (Knock on wood.)

This means that our residents are being wise and being careful, and they are looking out for their neighbors who might need help during such dangerous, difficult conditions. We hope this continues through the next round that Mother Nature has in store for us, which could be flooding and/or more snow this Sunday and Monday.

Finally, we would be remiss in not mentioning once again our thanks to the various roads crews who are, as always, doing a Herculean job of clearing away the tons of snow and making it possible for us to be able to get from one place to another. A similar storm evidently hit the county 80 years ago. It must have been literally weeks before people were able to leave their properties, let alone make it to a grocery store, their place of employment, or the hospital.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We would like to commend the state and county roads departments on their hard work to get the roads cleared during this rough storm. We traveled over the whole county trying to help those who had emergencies and had very little trouble getting to our destination. We wanted to express our thanks for all the hard work and long hours. With the dedication of our roads departments – state, county, and local – its another great reason to live in Garrett County.

Thanks again,
All employees at Rush Services

To the Editor:

For many years during the 1960s when the Promotion Council Information Booth was a tiny one-room structure not far from Johnny's Bait House, John Marple was a terrific neighbor. On behalf of those who staffed the booth on my "watch," I'd like to thank John for making his restroom facility available to the staff during those years. Always helpful, generous, smiling, and kind... John, good luck and have fun with your free time!

To the Editor:

Once again, I am amazed and astounded by the effective service the employees of the county and state roads departments have provided this week. When relatives called from Buffalo on Monday to tell us that the 49" of snow in Garrett County had made the front page of their city newspaper, they asked if we were all right. I was able to say that our back road had been plowed and that we felt safe.

I would like to thank the plow drivers for the risks they take and the hours they have put in this winter to keep the roads passable. As I travel to Frostburg every day to work, I feel confident that I will be safe.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the Accident garage employees who worked very hard on our road this summer to make it safer for all who travel it. As the parent of a teenage driver, I appreciate the effort and improvements. They have been very responsive to our concerns.

Sincerely,
Marci McClive

To the Editor:

Sometimes law enforcement fails to recognize one of its most important resources. That resource, is you, the citizens of Allegany and Garrett counties.

A large number of crimes are solved by information provided by you, or tips called in to law enforcement. In these seemingly desperate times, law enforcement is being called upon to complete yet another dangerous task. The Maryland State Police will soon be on the forefront of the war on terrorism. Troopers are being trained and directed to perform duties that traditional law enforcement never dreamed of. This is where you, the citizens, can play an integral part in law enforcement and in the protection of our communities. We will need your eyes, ears, and phone calls to report any suspicious activities you may be aware of.

It may seem farfetched that any terrorist attack would occur in our community, but on 9/11, approximately 60 miles from here, an airplane crashed that was intended for Washington, D.C. Our location and proximity to major cities causes a large influx of traffic and transients to our area. This increases the likelihood of crimes to occur in our community. Each of you has the unique opportunity to be an observer for law enforcement. We do not ask you to act on any crimes, but to be a diligent observer, noting every detail that could lead to the arrest of the criminals.

The information you forward to law enforcement is invaluable and important to protecting our communities. On behalf of the members of the Maryland Troopers Association, Lodge 40, I would like to extend our thanks each of you who in the past have helped and who will help in the future.

To the Editor:

Upon completion of a meeting of a local fraternal organization last night, I was left feeling puzzled about the election of officers to be held in two weeks. This election is a very important one because this organization donates a significant amount of money to our community.

As I sat in our meeting and listened to the nominations, one person who was proposed for office was introduced with a list of compliments and accomplishments that I knew were true due to my own involvement in the organization and its projects. The gentleman proposing the other nominee did not elaborate nor compliment any of the outstanding qualities of his candidate. If I were to vote today it would have to be for the first candidate, one whom I have gotten to know over the past year as someone who works every week at bingo (our biggest fund-raiser), at every function, and, especially at every meeting. Others, as well as myself, feel that these are the qualities of a great leader; I feel that I must vote for the person who devotes his or her time in this way for the good of the organization.

Don't get me wrong, the other person running for this dignified position of leadership probably does have some good qualities, but in the past year, while I have been serving in one of the chairs (offices), I haven't had the opportunity to witness him as an active and working member.

I have a feeling that, at our next meeting, all the chairs on the floor will be filled with voting members, which is great; however, the fact is that at every other meeting throughout the year the meetings are attended by the same handful of devoted members. It's a shame that the "buddies" of the nominees will show up to vote, but don't show the same support the rest of the year.

We all understand that everyone can't make it to every meeting due to various conflicts, but meetings are where members have a first-hand chance to have a say and learn what is really going on in the lodge – instead of listening to rumors.

Respectfully,
Rick Layton

To the Editor:

For those who stroll merrily through life without giving much thought to the larger world around us, I thought I would share the opening words from Senator Byrd's (D-W.Va.) speech on February 12, 2003.

Senate Floor – Wednesday, February 12, 2003.

"To contemplate war is to think about the most horrible of human experiences. On this February day, as this nation stands at the brink of battle, every American on some level must be contemplating the horrors of war.

"Yet, this chamber is, for the most part, silent – ominously, dreadfully silent. There is no debate, no discussion, no attempt to lay out for the nation the pros and cons of this particular war. There is nothing.

"We stand passively mute in the United States Senate, paralyzed by our own uncertainty, seemingly stunned by the sheer turmoil of events. Only on the editorial pages of our newspapers is there much substantive discussion of the prudence or imprudence of engaging in this particular war.

"And this is no small conflagration we contemplate. This is no simple attempt to defang a villain. No. This coming battle, if it materializes, represents a turning point in U.S. foreign policy and possibly a turning point in the recent history of the world.

"This nation is about to embark upon the first test of a revolutionary doctrine applied in an extraordinary way at an unfortunate time. The doctrine of preemption – the idea that the United States or any other nation can legitimately attack a nation that is not imminently threatening, but may be threatening in the future – is a radical new twist on the traditional idea of self defense."

I suppose many will write off his speech to that of a senile old man. I prefer to see it as the words of a wise man who has given his life to these great United States of America. I encourage you all to find a copy of his complete speech and reflect upon it. Decide for yourself whether it is the time for silence or the time to send a message to the decision makers in Washington. Is it a time to sit idle or a time to stand up and exercise the great privilege we have in this country: to be heard?

To the Editor:

What part of our taxes can we keep to purchase Ice Melt to use on the road in front of our house? I know we pay the same taxes as those living on the state roads. So it stands to reason we can keep some back to purchase what Ice Melt we need to get our road cleared like those on state roads. If we just do the road in front of our house, then it will work. That old stupid reason that they keep telling us, that it gets in the wells, is really as stupid as the people who believe it. What does the state use? It must not get in the wells of people who live on state roads.

Raise the taxes, you say? Balderdash! The overtime paid to the road crew would pay for the Ice Melt they would use to melt the stuff. Our piece of county road is icy and snow covered and is run back and forth on by the road crews, days after the state and federal roads are bare.

Oh, all you multi-acre land owners are howling already. I can hear it a day before this is printed. Well, think before howling. You pay taxes also. You are not getting your fair cut on this business either. I know how much you hate to hear that, being from the political party most of you come from.

Speaking of funny and howling and political parties, I received today in the mail a brand spanking new picture of President Bush with a thank you for sending his national committee money. The first howl was mine 'cause I believe the world knows I am a Democrat. The second howl was directed to the nut who put my name on such a list, and the third howl was me laughing. What a joke. I laughed for, I know, five minutes. My dog Archie thought I was having a fit. Well, I was, but not the kind he thought.

I believe my name will come off the list when they get the picture back with my commentary on how he and his committee are raping this government from one end to another. By the time he gets out of office in four years, mark my words, the national debt will be off the charts, the economy and our 401-k plans will bottom out at least twice, Social Security will be revised so that we old folks can't afford it, our soldiers' blood will be spilt on foreign soil, and the Afghani and Iraqi oil fields will be in the development stage by his special-interest buddies. Boy, what a joke asking me for money to help them do that.

You know, President Bush looks real nice with a mustache and glasses.

On behalf of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board of Governors, Medical Staff, and entire employee body, I want to express to you and your staff congratulations and applaud you as being named the recipient of the 2002 Outstanding Media Award for Region XI, Mid-Atlantic Division of the American Cancer Society.

The Republican not only provides high quality reporting and writing, but is such an outstanding family business. GCMH prides itself on continual delivery of personalized care because our "patients" are really our friends, neighbors, relatives, and guests. I believe this is the same for The Republican. Your dedication to the latest news and numerous issues regarding the ACS programs and events of Garrett County expresses this same value.

We at Garrett County Memorial Hospital thank you for your consistent support of our facility and the assistance The Republican has provided to our residents on all health care issues.

We wish you continued success and will continue to delight in the reading of this informative, educational, and enlightening publication. Again, congratulations to you and your staff.

Sincerely,
Donald P. Battista

WELL, YOU SHOULD HAVE SEEN...

By Beth L. Bowers

By now everyone reading this knows first-hand or via the national news of our "award-winning" snowfall. It took the national media awhile to focus on us, but they finally did. Thanks to lead Associated Press stories and morning shows like Good Morning America. We all knew we were hit harder than most regions, but it is funny how once again members of our small community have one major thing in common with each other – lots and lots of snow.

Our office at The Republican was closed on Monday, which was quite unusual, but just about every employee made it in on Tuesday one way or another. The air in the office was light and good-humored. I think many people who live alone were just glad to talk to someone face to face. And I know there were parents like myself who were just glad to not have to break up fights over a toy or yell "Don't make me come in there" at all during an 8-hour period.

But as the day got under way, I couldn't help but think we sounded like a crew of fishermen bragging about their latest catch. We weren't trying to outdo the other. I don't think that was the objective. I think we were all just so focused on snow and everyone understood exactly what each and every person had been dealing with and is still dealing with.

In the office and out in the local stores, where people were purchasing more food (because what else is there to do, especially with a house full of boys), you could hear the stories and see the animation that goes along with those stories.

"Well, at my house the snow was at least to my head and I am 5'5"."

"That's nothing. At my mother's brother's neighbor's house, it was over his head and he is well over 6 feet tall."

"Well I shoveled 7 times a day just so my little dog could use the bathroom."

You get the idea. The stories are all told with grand hand gestures and sore muscles.

Once again, we are all in this together. I just wonder who gets to keep the "big award" that Charlie Gibson spoke of on Good Morning America on their mantel first.

Gains Approval

modification to Clipper's original proposal, which will allow the company to move a portion of the project to the south. Rackstraw said this action will lessen visibility from Deep Creek Lake and will result in less impact on migrating birds, a major sticking point for opponents of the wind facility.

Bird studies will start in late April for spring migration. Later, a fall migration study will begin. "This is really baseline information that can be used if there are impacts for making better judgments about what to do," said Rackstraw. "We are not anticipating much of an impact at all."

The project must be up and generating electricity by the end of December in order to qualify for federal tax credits that Rackstraw said were vital to its success. "We still have to have it financed and finalize a power contract, but we've done those things many times before and aren't anticipating any problems. Once licenses are issued, we hope to get our subcontractors lined up and start construction sometime in May," Rackstraw stated.

"This is good news," said Garrett County commissioner Ernie Gregg. "I think the implementation of this project will be a positive one for Garrett County. The people who opposed it have that right and we think those issues have been addressed. This will have a positive economic impact on Garrett County.

"We are being implored to look at other sources of energy," said Gregg. "It is ironic at the present time we are experiencing skyrocketing prices in fuel. It shows what happens when there is a limited source of supply. We need alternate power sources."

A side benefit of the wind industry is in the fields of education and tourism, other industry officials claim. "In our first year of operation we had 10,000 people visit our Garrett (Pa.) windfarm," said a spokesman for that facility (not a Clipper project). "One thousand of those folks came on planned tours, and we're already booked into September for this year."

A project by US Wind Force in Allegany County was approved last week, and a new wind farm is expected to be in operation near Meyersdale, Pa., by the end of the year.

BORN IN 1897 – A very special birthday was recently celebrated by Oakland native Edith Kimmell Starkey, pictured above. Mrs. Starkey observed the 106th anniversary of her birth on Feb. 11, 2003. She is alive and well in Harrison, Ark., where she resides with her daughter, Velma O'Neill. Velma contacted The Republican to report her mother's significant milestone. The honoree is the daughter of the late William and Agnes Kimmell, and she grew up on the family farm near Oakland. In addition to Velma, Mrs. Starkey is the mother of William West, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Harlan West of Las Vegas, Nev. She has 13 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren. Velma said that Mrs. Starkey's "one wish" is to return to the place of her birth, where she once drove a horse and buggy, rode in one of the town's first Model T cars, and talked on one of the county's first telephones. An open house was held in her honor last week in Harrison.

Driving-While-Phoning Ban Crashes In House Of Delegates

by Dan Genz
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — For a fifth straight year, the Maryland House has killed a proposal that would make it illegal for motorists to use a handheld cell phone while driving. The perennial cell-phone bill was one of 16 proposals that met what was likely their official demise Wednesday, with sponsors withdrawing their bills or committees reporting unfavorable votes on the measures.

The Environmental Matters Committee reported Wednesday that it had voted the cell-phone bill down Friday, by a vote of 11 to 7. Despite the vote, however, the bill's supporters said they are optimistic about its future.

"It's getting a lot more steam, a lot more power," said Delegate John Arnick, D-Baltimore County. "More people are talking about it, getting involved."

But Nextel spokesman Chris Doherty hailed the bill's failure, saying that distracted driver statutes are already being used and "it's bad law to single out one distraction."

Doherty said there needs to be a coordinated effort to educate people about distracted driving, not a ban.

"If you're biting into a quarter-pounder and a big wad of mustard falls, or you're shaving or putting on your lipstick ... you're more at risk," he said.

But Delegate Adrienne Mandel, D-Montgomery, said a ban is exactly what is needed, and she vowed to bring the measure back next year.

"As long as I'm here, it's coming back," said Mandel, who co-sponsored the bill. "We are making incremental progress in informing our colleagues."

Among the other bills that likely died Wednesday, barring a legislative miracle, were proposals to:

•Allow drivers to unscrew the front license plate on their cars. Maryland currently requires plates on the front and rear of cars, but a bipartisan bill to do away with the front plate was withdrawn after companion legislation died in the Senate.

•Require that hunters keep deer carcasses hidden from other drivers. The bill by Delegate Kenneth Schisler, R-Talbot, would have set a $100 fine for hunters who failed to lift their trucks' tailgates or otherwise cover their deer when transporting it home from the hunt. Schisler, a hunter, said he withdrew the bill after hearing from hunting groups.

•Let an estate pay for funeral expenses, regardless of the provisions of the will and without an order of the court. The proposal was killed by the Judiciary Committee.

•Ban the burning of unseasoned wood or chemically treated wood in a fireplace that was within 200 feet of another house. Delegate George Owings III, D-Calvert, said he withdrew the proposal after the constituent who requested it failed to show for a hearing on the bill.

•Let sheriffs transfer convicts from county to county, to relieve jail overcrowding, but prohibit the transfer of inmates into Baltimore County's jail. Delegate William Frank, R-Baltimore County, said he and other backers withdrew the bill because they did not think it would pass.

Deputies Charge 18-Year-Old With Multiple Offenses

Paul Stemple, 18, Oakland, faces numerous charges after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to 224 Preston Lane for a report of a disorderly subject allegedly threatening people with a gun.

According to police, when they arrived they located Stemple walking along Preston Lane, and detected a strong odor of alcohol on him.

After an investigation, deputies learned that Stemple had allegedly threatened to shoot a juvenile female at the residence with a gun. A search revealed that Stemple did not have a gun, police said.

He was arrested without further incident, and was charged with disorderly conduct, disorderly intoxication, second-degree assault, disturbing the peace, and trespassing, and cited for underage consumption of alcohol.

Stemple is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on $5,000 bond, according to a jail spokesperson.

Betty Yvonne Stephens, 69, Oakland, died Friday, Feb. 14, 2003, at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born Feb. 8, 1934, in Crellin, she was the daughter of the late Leonard A. Carr and Ida (Mersing) Carr. She was also preceded in death by her husband, McKinley Stephens Jr., in 1986.

She is survived by three sons, Mark Stephens, Frostburg, Craig Stephens, Baltimore, and Barry Stephens, Frostburg; two brothers, Willard Carr and Leonard Carr; and one grandchild.

At her request, her body was cremated. There will be no service at this time.

The Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

MONICA L. SHORB

Monica Lee "Monnie" Shorb, 54, Uvilla, W.Va., died Sunday, Feb. 16, 2003, at Jefferson Memorial Hospital, Ranson, W.Va.

Born March 6, 1948, in Takoma Park, she was a daughter of Ann (DeWitt) Winters Cannon, Oakland, and the late Lawrence A. Winters. She was also preceded in death by one stepbrother, John Cannon.

She was a licensed beautician, having been employed with the J.C. Penney Co. store, Frederick. She was a member of Layhill Free Methodist Church, Layhill.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one daughter, Dawn C. Shorb, at home; one son, Raymond Lee Shorb II, at home; two brothers, Lawrence Winters, Colesville, and Vincent Winters, Laurel; two stepbrothers, Michael Cannon, Germantown, and George Cannon, Olney; two sisters, Sandra Weikel, Florida, and Sharon Martin, Pennsylvania; and one granddaughter.

Friends will be received at the Melvin T. Strider Colonial Funeral Home, Charles Town, W.Va., on Friday, Feb. 21, from 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be held at the funeral home on Saturday at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Dick Dickerson officiating.

Interment will be held in the Rose Hill Cemetery, Swanton, at a later date.

HAROLD A. HARSH

Harold Aldine Harsh, 95, Aurora, W.Va., died Wednesday, Feb. 19, 2003, at his residence.

Born Aug. 15, 1907, in Stemple Ridge, W.Va., he was a son of the late Henry Edgar Harsh and Mary Ann Pifer Harsh. He was also preceded in death by two wives, Gladys Smith Harsh, to whom he was married for 52 years, and Eileen Lohesener, to whom he was married for 5 years; and one grandson.

He worked as a farmer and a logger, and started the first garbage route at Stemple Ridge. He retired as maintenance supervisor for Cathedral State Park. He was a lifelong member of Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church and the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges.

Survivors include three sons, Dale Harsh, Aurora, Richard Harsh, Gopuli, Ohio, and Lyle Harsh, Rootstown, Ohio; three daughters, Jean Starr, Eldean Poling, and Linda Liston, all of Aurora; one sister, Kathleen Radcliff, Akron, Ohio; friend, Arlene Stemple; 18 grandchildren; 37 great-grandchildren; and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church on Friday, Feb. 21, from 2 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m.

A service will be held at the church on Saturday at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Michael Ludle and Pastor Charlie Teets officiating.

Interment will follow in the Stemple Ridge Cemetery.

Hinkle Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Preston County Hospice, P.O. Box 670, Arthurdale, WV 26520; Stemple Ridge Church Pavilion, c/o Bill Hauser, Box 179, Aurora, WV 26705; or Aurora Ambulance, c/o Ellen Harsh, Eglon, WV 26716.

In Memory of Andy Haskiell who passed away a year ago.
July 2, 1970 - February 24, 2002

If tears could build a stairway and memories were a lane,
We would walk right up to Heaven to bring you home again.
No farewell words were spoken.
No time to say goodbye.
You were gone before we knew it,
and only God knows why.
Our heart still aches in sadness and secret tears still flow.
What it meant to lose you
no one will ever know.

We love you and miss you,
Linda, Hunter and Reese

Health Planning Council Slates Cancer Focus

The Garrett County Health Planning Council will meet at 8 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 27, in the Conference Room of the Health Department building located at 1025 Memorial Drive. Guest speakers will include representatives of the local unit of the American Cancer Society along with area representative Tenna Taylor. Health Department staff working in the Cancer Prevention, Education, Screening, and Treatment programs will also present information. All Health Planning Council meetings are open to the public.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners formed the Health Planning Council in 1995. The organization is advisory to the Garrett County Board of Health. Its mission is to "insure a high quality effective integrated care system that is responsive to the needs of the Garrett County people." Members serving on the board are appointed by the commissioners and represent the hospital, nursing homes, the Health Department, private health care providers, and consumers of health services.

Meetings of the Health Planning Council are generally held the fourth Thursday of each month at the Garrett County Health Department. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Fairview Church Sets Relay For Life Fund-Raiser

The Fairview Church of the Brethren will host a gospel sing and homemade ice cream social set for 7 p.m. this Saturday, Feb. 22, at the church. The event will benefit the church's Garrett County/American Cancer Society Relay for Life, set for June at Southern High School.

Several local performers will lead the gospel sing, which will be followed by the serving of homemade chocolate, strawberry, and vanilla ice cream for all in attendance. The event is free, and donations will be accepted.

A Guide To Planning Your Wedding

Weddings Are Full Of Customs And Traditions

One of the most ancient social customs in the world, weddings are full of customs and traditions. From throwing rice to wearing a veil, have you ever wondered where they came from? Many of these traditions have stood the test of time and evolved from generations. Here's a look at some of the most familiar wedding favorites and a few lesser-known customs:

* In England, it was traditional to bake a ring into the wedding cake as a symbol of bliss and happiness. It was said that the guest whose piece of cake contained the ring could look forward to a year of uninterrupted happiness.

* The custom of throwing rice at newlyweds symbolized fertility. Today, some still throw rice, but confetti, bubbles, or rose petals are often substituted for safety and environmental reasons. Rice is easy to slip on and it can be fatal to birds who try to eat it off the ground.

* Cutting the wedding cake together, still a predominant ritual at weddings, symbolizes the couple's unity and shared future.

* Another old English custom was to throw a plate with a piece of wedding cake out a window when the bride returned to her family home after the wedding. If the plate broke, she could expect a happy future with her husband. If the plate remained intact, the future looked grim.

* The tradition of having members of the wedding party dress alike was started with the hopes that the mischievous spirits would be confused and go away.

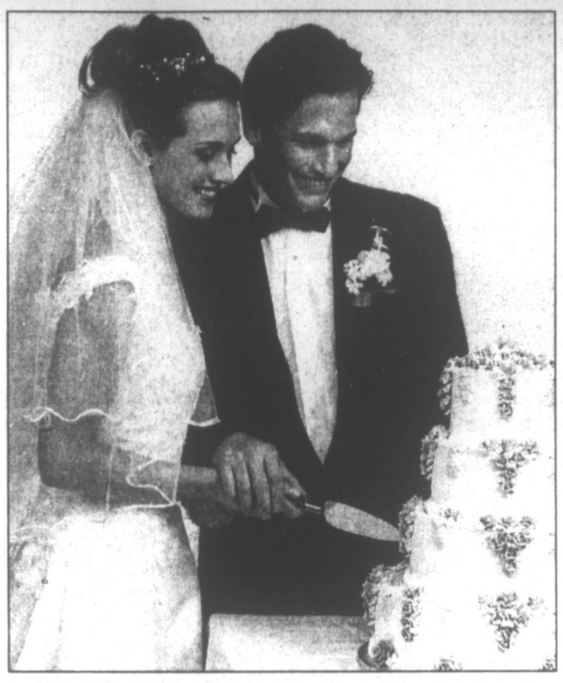
* The tradition of wearing a veil has a similar origin. Originally, the veil was thought to fool evil spirits by disguising the bride. It was not until the start of the 19th century in Britain that the veil came to symbolize modesty and chastity.

* It is believed that an unmarried male guest who puts a slice of wedding cake under his pillow when he sleeps will increase his chances of finding a mate. An unmarried bridesmaid who does the same will dream about her future husband.

* In the past, if a young man encountered a blind person, a pregnant woman, or a monk while on his way to propose to his intended bride, it was believed that the marriage would be doomed if he continued along his path because the images were thought to be bad omens.

* May was an unlucky month to marry in Roman times because the Feast of the Dead and the Festival of the Goddess of Chastity both occurred during this month.

* Seeing a lamb, frog, spider, black cat, or rainbow on the way to the wedding ceremony is a sign of good luck. Seeing an open grave, pig, lizard, a nun, or a monk are thought to be bad luck.



ONE OF THE MOST ANCIENT social customs in the world, weddings are full of customs. The tradition of cutting the wedding cake together, still a predominant ritual at weddings, symbolizes the couple's unity and shared future.

Talking Targets Problems Early

Being open and honest with each other is the most important key to any relationship, especially a marriage. Issues like sex, children, money, kids, and in-laws can become potential landmines if partners don't discuss their feelings openly before marching down the aisle. And it's not always enough to just "talk" – but rather to find answers to the really tough relationship questions, it's important to know what to ask.

Critically-acclaimed author Corey Donaldson has interviewed hundreds of people to discover exactly what those questions are, and in the process discovered a method for targeting divorce-causing problems way before the wedding. These are described in his book "Don't You Dare Get Married Until You Read This!" (Crown Publishing).

Alternately playful and provocative, and filled with anecdotes from his own relationship with his wife, Donaldson takes an unflinching look at such hot topics as:

* Does it matter to you who earns most of the money?

* What place do you believe religion should have in our relationship?

* Who cleans the house?

Perfect for engaged couples or partners in established relationships who just want to get to know each other again, "Don't You Dare Get Married Until You Read This!" is a must-have for anyone who wants to make their relationship last.

Why Is It Called "Tying The Knot?"

Getting married has long been referred to as "tying the knot." So, where does the phrase come from?

According to some historians, this expression has its roots in ancient Rome, when the bride traditionally wore a girdle that was tied in knots. After the wedding, it was the duty of the groom to untie the girdle.

Others believe the phrase is more closely associated with ancient "handfasting" ceremonies, which involved tying a cord or ribbon around the wrists of the bride and groom, thus binding them together.

Honeymoon Trends For '03

The wedding is just the beginning. There's plenty of excitement planning the honeymoon as well, from choosing a travel adventure to deciding what to bring along on the journey. And for many, planning this "Great Escape" is just as important as planning the wedding. Regardless of where you decide to go, there are some things you should know to make it the kind of experience you want it to be.

First, you must decide on a budget. If money is not an issue, bon voyage! However, if you're like most engaged couples, you're already paying for more than you anticipated. Establish a budget and use it as a guide.

Be Sun Smart

Protect Your Skin

So you're getting married! By now you're planning a white sandy, tropical destination for your honeymoon, right? From Mexico's Puerto Vallarta to the Caribbean you will undoubtedly find yourselves soaking up the sun somewhere in the world as you celebrate your new life together.

With all the packing, planning, thank-yous, and goodbyes, you may have forgotten an important thing – sunscreen. Having it on hand can prevent your honeymoon from becoming a burnt-up, uncomfortable disaster.

Think about it – many of these sunny destinations are closer to the equator where the sun is more intense than what you may be used to.

There are a lot of products that will undoubtedly cost double on the cruise ship or in the hotel gift shop. So go prepared. Here are some tips to help you protect yourself.

* Apply early. Put it on at least 15 minutes before you hit the pool, sand, or surf. Apply sunscreen in your cab, hotel room, or cabana.

* Apply enough. Use at least one full ounce of product or enough to fill a shot glass.

* Use the right SPF. Choose an SPF that suits your skin type. If you are fair, use the highest SPF you can find.

* Be sun smart. Always use a high SPF when tanning to protect your skin against the effects of long-term sun exposure.

* Moisturize. The secret to soft, smooth skin is moisture. Use an aloe rich after-sun product daily.

If you need high protection, check out Hawaiian Tropic's Ozone(R) 70 SPF, the highest sun protection available in the U.S. Or are you looking for an oil but still want protection? Pick up Hawaiian Tropic's Protective Tanning Dry Oil with a SPF 15. It's also enriched with carrot extract and Beta Carotene. If you're going to tan before your wedding, try Hawaiian Tropic's Tan2 MaxTM line.

Even if you are planning a wintery, romantic honeymoon filled with skiing and horseback riding, the sun and wind can still prove harmful to your skin. Quality sunscreens from Hawaiian Tropic are ideal tools for all around protection against harsh winter elements.

Don't Worry!
Be Happy!

IF YOUR HONEYMOON PLANS involve time outdoors – poolside, at the beach or on the slopes – be sure to pack plenty of sunscreen.

Trends

You may also want to consider using a honeymoon gift registry like the free one provided by www.TheHoneymoon.com. Honeymoon registries allow guests, friends, and family to contribute towards specific elements of your honeymoon, like shore excursions, parasailing, spa services, and tours. If you already have a crock pot, toaster, and blender, this may be just what you need.

Of course, honeymoon budgeting takes on new meaning if you decide to do a "destination wedding." These are becoming popular as more couples decide to forego the average $20,000 wedding price tag in addition to the honeymoon expense. They are especially popular with second marriages. It's easier to get married in some countries than others, so be sure to check with a reliable information source, like the country's consulate or the U.S. Department of State, before making any arrangements.

After setting a budget, you need to decide where you would like to go. If you and your fiancé want the same type of honeymoon experience, no problem. However, if one craves adventure while the other wants to relax in the sun, you need to compromise. There are destinations that can satisfy both of you – you just need to do some research. To get started, check out www.Honeymoons.com, an informational Web site published by Susan Wagner, a former travel editor of Modern Bride.

Next, you have to decide whether you want an all-inclusive package or you would prefer to be on your own a little more. For those with tight budgets, an all-inclusive honeymoon has the advantage of a package price. This includes most activities at both all-inclusive resorts and on cruises, though there are usually some expenses which are not included.

Now you need to book and pay for this trip. Many honeymoon suppliers offer specials for early booking, which may or may not include airfare. Packages that include air can offer significant savings because retailers buy airline seats in at a discount, then package hotel and sometimes car rental. These packages usually need to be purchased from businesses like the www.TheHoneymoon.com, which combine travel agent services, the convenience of the Internet, honeymoon registry, personal wedding Web pages, and honeymoon information at your fingertips – all from the convenience of your home or office, or your local travel agent.

Creative Ideas Help Couples Cut Costs

It's not long after the engagement before starry-eyed future brides and grooms often realize that the wedding of their dreams will put a big dent in the newlywed purse. With today's fun and easy-to-use spray paints and finishes, and with a little creativity, wedding dreams can come true.

Inspired by a few quick tips from Krylon(R), even the busiest brides can create beautiful and inexpensive decorations from memorable centerpieces to sparkling satin slippers and still get to the church on time.

To get started, couples should plan on spending a romantic afternoon together foraging through flea markets and tag sales to uncover inexpensive items that can serve as centerpieces. Mismatched teacups and teapots sprayed with glistening gold or silver paint and filled with floral bouquets make charming centerpieces for an afternoon wedding.

For an elegant evening reception, a collection of mismatched candleholders can become a gleaming centerpiece when painted with Krylon Metallic Paints. For a softer finish, spray glass candleholders with Frosted Glass Finish, available in six colors to match any color theme. A simple collection of glass vases or even glass jars can be similarly transformed.

For a more playful mood, Krylon Stained Glass Color turns glassware, including votives, hurricane lamps and candleholders, into a rainbow of transparent color – red, blue, green, orange, yellow, and purple. Accent the painted pieces with hearts, swirls and stripes, or even the couple's name and wedding date, drawn with Krylon Leafing Pens in gold, silver or copper.

A bride-to-be with more creativity than cash may also find inspiration in the produce aisle of her supermarket. Fresh fruits, including apples, pears and oranges, can be sprayed gold and silver and dusted with Krylon Glitter Spray. For a fall wedding, substitute pumpkins and gourds. To display the gleaming produce, paint glass bowls or plates with Frosted Glass Finish or Looking Glass paints. (Be sure to post a sign that says the fruit should not be eaten.)

In two simple steps, Krylon Looking Glass Mirror-Like Paint creates a beautiful, mirror-like finish on ordinary glass products. Soft and romantic, the reflective finish is breathtaking in candlelight. For a dazzling centerpiece, spray the insides of champagne flutes and wine goblets with Looking Glass, turning them into gleaming pedestals for a display of silk flowers. Or, spray the underside of a glass platter or charger plate, and arrange votive candles and a few silk flowers on top. (Note: This is a decorative finish and is not water resistant).

For a touch of stardust on that special day, spritz silk flower bouquets and centerpieces, pew bows, tablecloths, and placecards with Glitter Spray, available in five shimmering colors. For a playful touch, try it on the satin slippers worn by the bride and her bridesmaids.

Invitations and thank-you notes deliver the message in style and with an extra flourish when embellished with Glitter Spray and leafing pens.

After the wedding, it's easy for the newlyweds to create cherished mementos of their special day. Frames embellished with metallic paints and leafing pens beautifully display wedding portraits and invitations. Instead of showcasing keepsakes behind plain glass, purchase the frame slightly larger than needed and spray a border of Looking Glass around the perimeter of the glass. Leafing pens also add sparkle to wedding memory books and photo albums.

For more information on Krylon products, call (800) 4-KRYLON or (800) 457-9566 or visit the Web site at #www.krylon.com.

FOR A MARRIAGE made in heaven, partner easy-to-use spray paints and finishes with inexpensive, everyday objects.

Help For The Groom

Traditionally, women have done all the wedding planning. Crusty adages like "the groom just shows up," have long been conventional wisdom. However, as more couples plan their weddings together, grooms are playing a more active role.

"Contrary to popular belief, planning a wedding is a difficult task for the groom," says Mark Walerstein, founder of Groomsonline (www.groomsonline.com), an informational Web site offering tips, pointers, and timesaving hints designed to make the plan-

Simple Ideas For Creating Wedding Favors For Guests

Your guests celebrated your special day with you – a gift in and of itself. A traditional way to show your gratitude is with a wedding favor. Ornate or simply made and elegant, these small gifts invariably send a big message, expressing appreciation for your guests' participation in the wedding. They also serve as mementos of this special day.

The ideas for favors are endless, but here are a few to get you started. You can spend a lot or a little money – it's up to you. Just make them special.

Go seasonal. Give a gift in the spirit of the season. For February, do Valentine's chocolates, sunscreen or beach balls for summer affairs, or plastic pumpkins filled with candy corn for autumn weddings.

Create a keepsake. No one wants a favor that will just create clutter. So give guests something they'll use – try a picture frame, key chain, fragrance, or music box.

Get crazy. Have fun with your favor! A pair of boxers, a bottle of bubbles, comic books or lottery tickets will show your wild side.

Food For Fun. Who can resist a favor that's edible? Try a miniature box of good chocolate, gourmet jelly beans, or mixed nuts in small canisters. For personalization, attach an embossed ribbon or label with your name and wedding date.

Donate to charity. Make a donation to your favorite organization in honor of your marriage. Print up a card or note to tell guests about your good deed.

Give a tasty beverage. A small bottle of wine or a beer from a microbrewery with a ribbon or label noting your name and wedding date will help guests remember you as they guzzle your gift. You can add to the favor by supplying them with beer mugs or wine glasses engraved in silver or black ink with your names and wedding date.

Watch it bloom. Small plants or tree saplings potted in antique or pretty pots are sure to last long after your wedding day. Other ideas are flower bulbs, packets of seeds, a single rose, or a flower lei at each place setting. Your florist can also design centerpieces that break apart so each guest can take home a flower bouquet or small plant. Or, give boutonnieres and corsages to each guest.

Enliven the senses. Entice your guests senses with potpourri in a bag or small vials of perfume or cologne. Or try scented candles or miniature scented soaps.

Write it down. Blank books, journals, or notepads in your wedding colors will let your guests record memories of your big day. Or give small plastic calendars or rip-off-the-date ones. You can add pens, pencils, or markers.

Go sporty. Personalized tennis or golf balls will appeal to sports fans. Or try baseball caps or visors.

ELEGANT AND ORNATE or simply made and heartfelt, these small gifts send a big message, expressing appreciation for your guests' participation on your special day.

As you plan your upcoming nuptials, here are a few tips to keep in mind, courtesy of GroomsOnline.

• Finding a disc jockey. Wedding magazines, the yellow pages and, of course, word-of-mouth referrals from family or friends are all great ways to find a DJ for your wedding. Set up a meeting with him or her before you make your decision to be sure that person is the best match for what you and your fiancé have in mind and there are no surprises. It's good to have an idea of what you're looking for when calling around. Don't forget to ask for references from previous clients.

• Selecting a caterer. As you and your fiancé review halls for your reception, be sure to find out whether there is a caterer on-site or if you need to provide one, as this can have a major impact on your wedding budget. Also ask about alcohol pricing, menu planning, and food service options.

• Throwing a bachelor party. Traditional bachelor parties have included cigars, playing cards, and plenty of drinking. However, an increasing number of grooms are interested in more memorable and fun options. Today's bachelor parties can be anything from sporting events to a skiing or camping trip with friends.

• Choosing the first dance. This is the big one, that all-important first dance as husband and wife. Do you have two left feet? You also might consider dance lessons so you can dance like a pro from start to finish. Pick something that's sentimental to both the bride and groom. If you're still stumped, choose a classic tune from artists like Frank Sinatra or Nat King Cole.

• Giving the toast. The keys to a good toast are tailoring your material to your audience, speaking with confidence, keeping good eye contact, and being aware of your body language.

Flowers Create Sweet-Smelling Wedding Vows

Selecting the right flower for your wedding is an art, and extending its scent throughout the wedding party and the entire event is pure genius.

What's the best flower for your wedding? Consider the location, the time of day, and the season. Yves Rocher, an innovator in botanical beauty, offers tips on how to add "scent-ual" intrigue to your wedding day by selecting the flower that best suits your style and weaving its color, its scent and, of course, the flower itself, into all aspects of the day.

* A French country wedding in summer is the perfect setting for lavender. Honor the tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue" by adding sprigs of this time-honored blue-hued bloom to complement your bridal bouquet and headpiece. Finish the look with Yves Rocher's Pur Desir de Lavande fragrance, part of a collection of five single note fragrances. Your lingering scent will make guests feel as though they are walking through fields of fresh lavender every time you near.

* If a chic, black-tie affair suits your style, then seduce your guests with the intoxicating red rose. This queen among flowers hides a spicy rich aroma within the velvety flesh of her petals. Unleash its sweet rapture by scattering these petals down the aisle for the nuptial procession. Create more majesty by having bridesmaids wear Pur Desir de Rose perfume to infuse the room as the wedding party makes its entrance. This irresistible elixir and its luxurious bath and shower products make wonderful bridesmaids' gifts as well.

* Is the garden of a Victorian mansion your fairy-tale setting? Then pick blooms of mauve lilac directly from the tree for an antique-style mother-of-the-bride corsage. Invite Mom

Couples Create Unique And Personal Expressions Of Love

As wedding season approaches, soon-to-be brides and grooms are busy with the many facets of the marriage ceremony, including their vows. The exchange of vows is the emotional zenith of a wedding, with spoken words of commitment expressing love and devotion.

These vows, like other elements of the wedding ceremony, are becoming more personal, from special poems written by the bride and groom to custom-designed wedding certificates.

"A growing number of couples of all faiths are asking artists to record their marriage vows," says Jonathan Kremer, an artist whose company, Heartscroll: The Art of Love(R), specializes in preserving and memorializing wedding vows. "Each couple has to find their own special voices when putting feelings into words."

Here are a few tips for couples contemplating their vows:

* Check it out. Consult with the person officiating at your ceremony to find out where – and if – you may insert a personal statement in the ceremony.

* Find literary inspiration. The Bible, Shakespeare, Kahlil Gibran, and Pablo Neruda are just a few of the more popular resources for ideas, poems, or passages to include. When writing, picture the two of you reading your vows again after 15 years; try to the test of time.

* Write from the heart. Vows in your own words truly express your deepest feelings. You may wish to describe cherished qualities of your beloved or state your hopes for your future together.

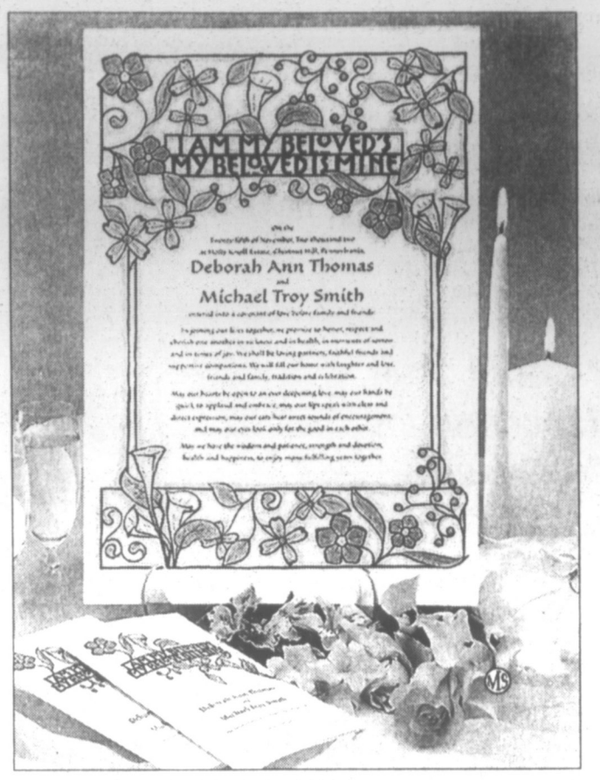
* Keep it brief. Your heart is full and your emotions run deep, but it's best to keep vows on the shorter side (under 200 words).

* Get an editor. Ask someone you trust to review your statement at least a few days before the wedding. This "editor" can help catch potentially embarrassing errors and might even suggest changes to help you express your feelings even better.

* Practice. Stage fright at the wedding could make you forget or stumble over a key phrase. Read your vows aloud several times before your wedding day to a friend or relative, or in front of a mirror. During the ceremony, read them from a clearly printed text.

"Our marriage covenants combine a couple's vows or other written expression of their feelings with beautiful artwork," Kremer says. "Displayed on the wall of the couple's home, a Heartscroll Covenant is a lasting testament to their love."

Kremer has been crafting artistic certificates for weddings and anniversaries since 1973. Through Heartscroll, Kremer offers affordable, personalized marriage documents that are becoming increasingly popular with couples, wedding planners, and invitation dealers across the country. The covenants have also become popular as a wedding gift item.



CUSTOMIZED wedding certificates, like the one above from Heartscroll: The Art of Love(R), are growing popular as a way to combine beautiful artwork with a couple's vows or other written expressions of their feelings.

The covenants come in 19 different designs with a selection of vows. Each is custom-produced on heavy archival-quality paper and measures 13 by 19 inches. Check out www.heartscroll.com for even more ideas and suggestions on how to preserve and memorialize your wedding vows and commitment, to view the company's entire catalog of marriage covenants (for wedding, anniversary, renewal of vows or commitment), matching wedding program covers and more, or to find a dealer in your area. After the Honeymoon:

Insurance Advice For Newlyweds

Congratulations! You've just tied the knot and are settling into your new lives as husband and wife. To help make married life a little more secure, all newlyweds should take steps towards financial freedom by assessing their personal insurance needs.

Let's start with the car or cars you drive. If you each have a car registered in your own name, consider combining them under one policy. Most insurance companies offer a discount for insuring multiple vehicles under one policy.

Insurance rates are typically lower for married drivers, so make certain that your insurance agent or insurance company representative is aware of your change in marital status.

Now, let's move on to those expensive wedding gifts and the furniture you've bought for your new life together – not to mention your beautiful ring. Have you considered what would happen if any of these valuables were stolen or lost in a fire? Now may be a perfect time to consider purchasing property insurance for your home or to reassess the coverage that you currently have.

The main purpose of homeowner's insurance is to protect your home and your personal property from fire, theft, or other damage. Most lenders require homeowner's insurance to get a mortgage.

Couples who rent should consider getting renter's insurance to cover the value of their possessions. As you combine households, it's probably a good idea to get one policy that covers both of your possessions.

Whether you own or rent, you want to be sure your policy also provides liability coverage in case you are sued for negligence in or out of your home. Your homeowner's or renter's policy should become effective the day you move in to your new home.

It's important to keep in mind that most homeowner's and renter's policies have a limit on jewelry coverage (usually $1,500); therefore you may need to add additional coverage – called a rider or endorsement – to your policy to cover expensive engagement and wedding rings.

"Assessing and addressing your insurance needs early on will help carry you over the threshold towards financial stability," says Michelle DeWine, MetLife Auto & Home's vice president of corporate marketing. "Determining what insurance coverage is right for you is an important step, and can save you a lot of grief in the long run. In all cases, your best bet is to place a quick call to your insurance carrier or local agent shortly after the honeymoon ends."

to relax before her daughter's wedding by luxuriating in Pur Desir de Lilas invigorating shower gel and heavenly perfume as she dresses for the day.

* And if the beach at sunset is your nuptial paradise, then create a feminine, all-white wedding illuminated by the provocative pearl wings of the white lily. Have bridesmaids and bride wear varying shades of white dresses and pin a single lily on the lapel of each groomsman. Include the lily's powdery, vanilla scent at each table by wrapping Pur Desir de Lys glycerin soaps in tulle and placing on each chair as a party favor.

The sense of smell evokes more memories than any other sense. Keep an imprint of your wedding in the memory of your guests forever by associating your special day with your favorite floral elixir. Pur Desir is available in the U.S. by calling 800-321-3434 or online at www.YRBeauty.com. In Canada, call 800-361-2746 or visit an Yves Rocher Beauty Centre near you.

"Savvy Senior"

FINDING TRANSPORTATION

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you give me some transportation tips? I recently had an automobile accident, and my kids are demanding that I quit driving before I hurt myself or someone else. I understand what they are saying and even agree with them, but it's a very difficult thing to give up your independence. I live in my own home near Phoenix, and no car means no-go-anywhere. Also, all my kids live out of state and I've out-lived my five husbands, so where can I turn? I do have a few friends who can drive me from time to time, but I can't depend on them all the time. Can you help me?

Yielding Senior

Dear Yielding,

You're smart to know when it's time to quit driving, but don't let that keep you homebound! Depending on where you live, transportation options for the elderly are available. By the way, did you say five husbands?

Transportation is the critical and savvy link that assures access to necessities such as health care and going to the grocery store. The availability of adequate transportation allows older Americans the ability to live independently in their communities and helps prevent isolation and premature institutionalization.

Through the Administration on Aging Elder Action transportation fact sheet, the Savvy Senior has found some super savvy transportation tips for elder nondrivers. I hope this helps!

Where to find transportation?

Area Agencies on Aging: This super agency has information and assistance service providing older persons and their caregivers with specific information about services in the community, including transportation services. These local agencies monitor and support specialized transportation services for elders in their community. It is also the role of the Area Agencies on Aging to ensure that services are delivered to the older person in need.

Savvy Fact: There are 670 Area Agencies on Aging nationwide.

If you have difficulty locating your local Area Agency on Aging, call the Eldercare Locator toll free at 1-800-677-1116. The Eldercare Locator is a nationwide service to help you find information about services for older people in your own community.

The Yellow Pages: Many telephone books have a special section in the front of the book with the names and addresses of various service organizations. Look under transportation or community services for the names of agencies that provide transportation for special needs.

The National Transit Hotline: This can provide the names of local transit providers who receive federal money to provide transportation to the elderly and people with disabilities. Call toll free 1-800-527-8279.

The State Unit on Aging: This state agency is the agency designated by the governor and the state legislature as the focal point for all matters relating to the needs of older persons within the state. The State Unit on Aging is responsible for planning, coordinating, funding, and evaluating programs for older persons authorized by both state and federal government. Refer to your state government listings for your state's office on aging or department of human resources.

What type of transportation is available in my community?

The type of transportation that is available in your community will vary depending upon where you live. In addition, transportation for the elderly can include door-to-door service, the public bus that travels along a fixed route, or ride sharing in a carpool. Listed below are descriptions to these three general classes of transportation for older Americans.

Door-to-Door/Demand Response: Also called Dial-a-Ride; refers to a system requiring advance reservations and offering door-to-door transportation from one specific location to another. The door-to-door service provides flexibility, adapting to the needs of each rider. This service usually requires a payment of fare or donations on a per-ride basis.

Fixed Route: Fixed route and scheduled services transport riders along an established route with designated stops where riders can board and be dropped off. Fixed route services usually require payment of a fare on a per-ride basis.

Savvy Tip: Many communities offer discounts to senior citizens.

Ride Sharing: These programs coordinate people who need rides with volunteer drivers who have space in their automobiles. Typically, this service is scheduled transportation with a specific destination. The destination points can include places of employment, nutrition sites, senior centers, and medical appointments.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or see our Web site at www.savvysenior.org.

Evangelical Free Church President To Speak In MLP

BILL HAMEL

Faith Evangelical Free Church, located along Maryland Highway in Mountain Lake Park, will hold its Deeper Life Conference Saturday through Monday, March 1-3, at 7 p.m. nightly and 10:45 a.m. Sunday.

The featured speaker will be Dr. Bill Hamel, president of the Evangelical Free Church of America and chairman of the board of the National Association of Evangelicals.

Hamel has received degrees from Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., and Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Deerfield, Ill. In addition, Hamel has received honorary doctorates from Trinity Western University and Trinity International University. After serving as a pastor in Bloomington, Minn., from 1972 to 1986, he was the district superintendent of the Evangelical Free Church Midwest District, which covers the states of Kansas and Nebraska, from 1986 to 1990. From 1990 to 1996 he was executive vice president of the EFCA and acting president from 1996 to 1997. He has served as the denomination's president since 1997.

Nursery care will be provided, and love offerings will be received. For additional information, persons may contact the Faith Evangelical Free Church at 301-334-4172.

School Bus Involved In Accident

Two people were transported to the hospital after a school bus and another vehicle collided at the intersection of Sand Flat Road and Paradise Point Road Thursday afternoon, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Gina Lynn Shiflett, Oakland, and her passenger, Alice Marie Murphy, Oakland, were both treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Thomas Fitzwater, Oakland, was attempting to turn a 1992 International School Bus onto Sand Flat Road from Paradise Point Road when the bus and a 1990 Mazda collided, police said.

Fitzwater was unable to see the Shiflett vehicle, which slid out of control because of the icy road conditions and into the front of the school bus, police added.

Fitzwater was cited for the accident.

There were no passengers on the school bus at the time of the 4:18 p.m. accident.

Roundtable On Marketing Set By Chamber

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will hold its second in a series of marketing roundtable forums on Tuesday, March 4, at 8 a.m. in the conference room of the Visitors Center in McHenry.

John Starling of Macdonald-Starling Strategic Planning and Development Inc. will facilitate the discussions. His Baltimore-based firm has written strategic plans, "brand bibles," and marketing actions plans for software application developers, investment companies, health care providers, law firms, biotech companies, and nonprofit organizations. "Many of our business leaders had the opportunity to take part in one of John's seminars during the chamber's 'Our Story' conference last month and said it was very beneficial. I'm certain they will welcome the chance to work with him again," said chamber president Charlie Ross.

Among the topics that Starling will address are: the demographic profile of Garrett County visitors based on statistics gathered in 2002; the status of previously developed marketing plans; a spring "Value Season" marketing program; marketing strategies for 2004; and story suggestions for next year's Vacation Guide.

For more information, persons may call the chamber at 301-387-4386 or 301-245-4400.

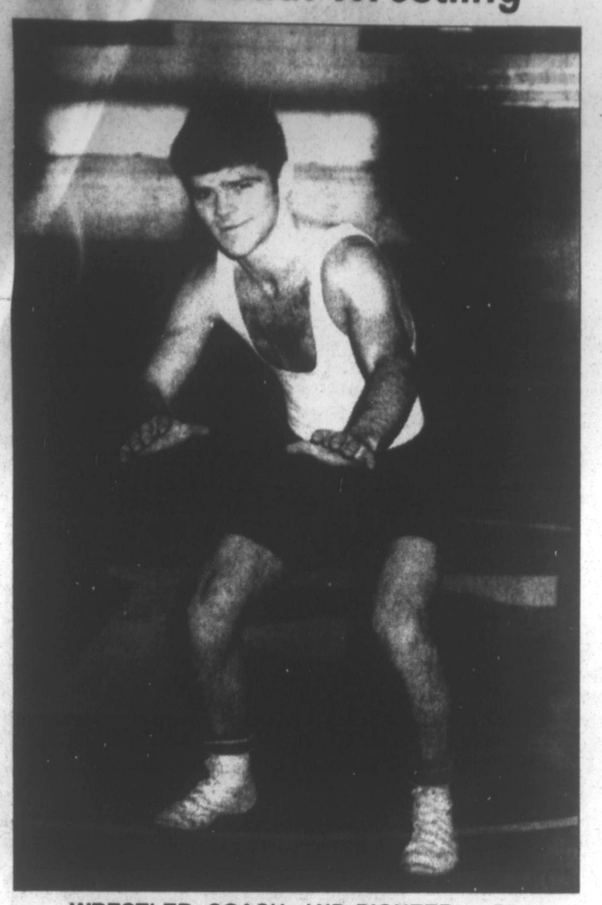
Garlitz, Few Funds Founded Northern Youth Wrestling



WRESTLER, COACH, AND PIONEER — Pictured is Dale Garlitz as a Fairmont State College wrestler in 1970. After graduating from Fairmont, Garlitz returned to northern Garrett County. There he then spent over two decades, with few funds and no recognition, paving the way for a Northern Youth Wrestling mat program that eventually expanded to include all grades from K through 8.

by Craig Speicher

Thirty-six years after he helped set fire to a new varsity Husky sport, Northern High School and Fairmont State College wrestling standout Dale Garlitz was recently inducted into the Northern High Wrestling Hall of Fame. But as great as his personal athletic achievements were, they pale alongside his permanent legacy for Northern Garrett youth wrestlers. A legacy crafted over 20 years with tireless travail and the foresight of a pioneer, who often worked long hours for little money and no glory.

After graduating from Fairmont in 1972, Garlitz returned to Northern High to assist head coach Jack Lear. In 1974, Garlitz assumed full varsity duties and eventually became Northern's first highly successful wrestling coach, compiling a record of 50-19. Not content with varsity duties alone, he moved swiftly to found Northern Youth Wrestling (NYW), a junior mat program that eventually expanded to include all grades from K through 8. Garlitz started this mission with elementary schools of Route 40, Grantsville and Accident participating.

At that time, Garlitz's recognition of the need for youth wrestling instruction came close to genius. (By comparison, Northern youth soccer was many years away.) But the willingness to remedy this matter across the vast expanse of northern Garrett County, with few funds and no recognition, bespeaks selfless sacrifice and the faith of a visionary.

To illustrate, imagine baseball without Little League. Suppose youth soccer never did appear. What if boys and girls had zero access to basketball before they reached high school?

This was the similar plight of many Northern Garrett boys who wanted to wrestle, like their older brothers, cousins, fathers and uncles. To this day a serious shortage of training facilities, except for those available in season during limited school hours, still exists — even in the off-season for varsity wrestlers — except for a week or two of summer wrestling camp for the lucky handful that can afford it. Working to level the playing field, in 1977 Garlitz pioneered again, leading Garrett County's first summer wrestling camp at Northern High.

And for many years, Garlitz carried his coaching duties alone.

"Yes," said Garlitz, "I was the varsity, elementary and middle school [wrestling] coach all for $200 a year." Then came a glimmer of hope.

"The [NYW] program really kicked in when I was teaching at [Northern] Middle School, with practice being held there," said Garlitz.

Actually, it "kicked in" so well that basketball coach Harvey Speicher reportedly noted, "If you ask Coach Garlitz's [former] phys. ed. classes, they could not show you a lay-up when they came to high school, but everyone knew what a [wrestling tactic] sit-out was."

In the ensuing years, assistant coaches cropped up to help Garlitz with the established youth program, and Garlitz eventually took a sabbatical to pursue two master's degrees: in counseling and guidance, and in physical education. Thereafter, Garlitz returned to the Northern mats, alternating instructional duties with grapplers from kindergarten to high school.

As an enlightening anecdote, at one tournament his youngest charges fared very well. But when the winning group was pictured in a newspaper, Garlitz was conspicuously absent from the photo. Surprised, I asked him why.

"I didn't want to take anything away from the boys' achievements," he explained with smile. But if he seems modest, his humility has never been rooted in his very remarkable, if not incredible, prowess, which I asked him to explain.

"I was fairly strong from the start," said Garlitz. "I got my ears boxed many times by my two older brothers, Paul and Bobby. That might have encouraged me to get a little stronger. My first job was the summer of my high school freshman year. I worked for Ellis Crowe helping to cut pulpwood. I packed the wood out. I took my first paycheck, for $25, and bought a set of Ted Williams weights at Sears and Roebuck. The first day back to work, Ellis told me, 'I would have allowed you to work longer if I knew you wanted to lift more.'

"From the ninth grade on I lifted weights very conscientiously. Many summer evenings growing up, many of the local boys gathered at my house to lift weights. I never wrestled anyone [in high school or college] who was stronger than I was."

Tim Thomas, owner of Thomas and Thomas Construction, Grantsville, probably would not dispute Garlitz's claim. The two would sometimes tangle on the Northern High mats in the late '80s, and Thomas has never forgotten that.

"The memories I have of Dale [Garlitz] are that he still had the desire and technique to teach the students even though he was several years older. When I did wrestle him in practice he had a grip that was hard to escape from," said Thomas,

Ram Grapplers Defeated In West Region Tourney

The wrestling team of Southern High School competed in the West Region 1A/2A regional dual meet at Walkersville High School on Saturday. Seeded fourth among the four teams that participated, the Rams were topped by #1 seed Walkersville, 43-24.

Recording pins for the Rams were Chris Hayhurst in the 145-pound division, Geoff Tressler in the 171-pound class, and Chris Bennett in the 215-pound bout.

Decisions were earned by Matt Ford at 112 pounds and Scott Wildesen in the 140-pound clash.

Walkersville grapplers earning pins were Gleason Sweeney (103), Jake Eavey (119), Brad Nielson (160), and Billy Burke (189).

Winning the team title were the Beall Mountaineers, who topped North Hagerstown, 35-16, and then defeated Walkersville, 36-26.

The Rams are scheduled to host the Bi-County Tournament this Saturday. Competition will get under way at 10 a.m.

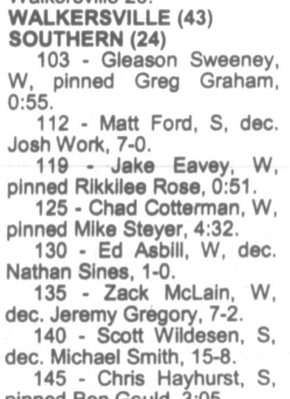
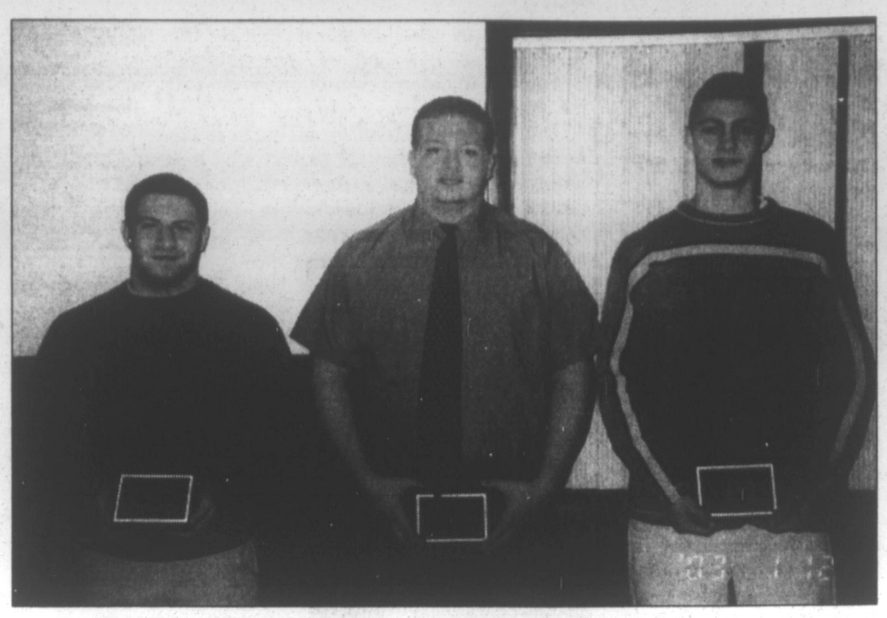
Jeff Jackson Will Speak To Australian PGA



Former area resident Jeff Jackson has again been selected as keynote speaker at the upcoming 2003 Australian Professional Golfer's Association trade show and convention to be held in Sydney, Australia. The annual international event, set for July, showcases the latest in golf equipment and education and is one of the largest golf shows in the world.

Jackson is active in teaching all aspects of golf equipment use and recently traveled to Orlando, Fla., for the annual U.S. PGA golf show. He is a consultant to numerous Far Eastern foundries, which he visits each year. He also speaks at various professional golf and club making functions throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Jackson is president of Dynacraft Golf Products in Newark, Ohio. Originally from Frostburg, he was an instructor and golf coach at Northern Middle School in Accident. He owned and operated a golf repair and custom shop, Western Maryland Golf, in Cumberland from 1983-1990.



HUSKY GRIDDERS TAKE MAC HONORS — Northern High School was well represented at the Mountain Athletic Football Conference Awards Banquet recently, as a total of 16 NHS players earned All-Conference recognition. First Team honors went to the Husky seniors shown above, who from the left are defensive lineman Lee Yoder, offensive lineman Tommy Menges, and all-purpose back Aaron Mitchell. Thirteen NHS athletes were feted with Honorable Mention status. On offense those honorees were quarterback Andrew Frantz, running back Michael Wolf, center Danny Ellis, guard Jordan Brenneman, and tackle John Beachy; defenders accorded Honorable Mention recognition were linebackers Ian Wooden, Michael Wolf, defensive back Rocco Andres, and defensive linemen Joe Garlitz and Menges. Beall's Mahlon Harper was named Offensive Player of the Year, Berkeley Springs's Jamie Moore was named Defensive Player of the Year, and Coach Roy DeVore, who led Beall to the MAC crown and the Maryland 1A state title game, was named Coach of the Year.

Garrett College To Field JUCO Women's Soccer Team This Fall

Lakers' Coach Brings World Of Experience To Task

Garrett College will ride the ever-growing soccer wave this fall as a women's soccer team takes the field for the first time wearing the blue and white of the Lakers' program. GC's entry into the Maryland JUCO Conference, Region XX, and NJCAA Division I ranks is a logical progression for an institution that, on the one hand, is located in a hotbed of superlative youth league and high school soccer play, and on the other hand is beginning to attract more and more students who hail from other parts of the country and world that are also steeped in soccer.

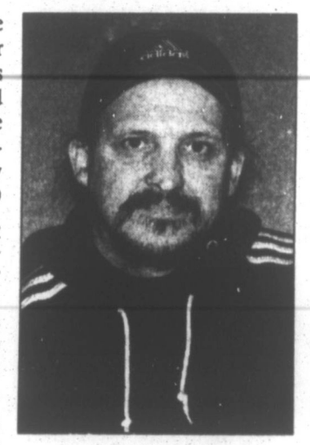
"The plans for starting women's soccer at Garrett College in the fall are well under way," stated GC athletic director Ann Wellham. "We are very excited about the opportunity to finally get the women's soccer program up and running."

The Lakers' inaugural squad will draw on the vast experience of head coach Patrick Brett, a native of Nottingham, England. Brett brings over 40 years of experience to the Garrett helm of playing, coaching, and studying soccer at a variety of levels in the U.K. and across Europe.

"I am really looking forward to being part of the first ever soccer program at Garrett College," Brett stated. "My goals are to get together a strong and competitive program and to establish a winning season. My final goal is to win our division of the Maryland JUCO Conference and go as far as we can at tournament time."

Brett began coaching at the junior high school level at Whitegate School in Nottingham, and also coached club teams in local leagues in Nottingham. He has followed the sport in person in France, Romania, Germany, and a number of African nations.

A United States resident since 1995, Brett has coached in this country at the high school, club, and AYSO levels. His first American coaching experience came when he coached the Cresaptown-based Potomac Valley Athletic Association club in the Jewish, Christian, Protestant league. He then skippered Mountain Thunder, a local traveling team which competed in a variety of tournaments. His last post prior to joining Garrett College was as coach of the Allegany Soccer Alliance traveling team, which won indoor tournaments in Altoona, Pa., in addition to the first half regular season championship of the Cumberland YMCA Indoor Soccer League.



PATRICK BRETT

Brett has been actively recruiting players for the fall 2003 season. Individuals interested in finding out more about Garrett College women's soccer may contact Wellham at 301-387-3052 or via e-mail at awellham@garrettcollege.edu, or Brett at 301-387-3150 or via e-mail, patbrett@juno.com.

PenMar Baseball League Meeting Set For Sunday

The PenMar Baseball League will have an organizational meeting this Sunday, Feb. 23, at 3 p.m. at the McDonald's at Keyser's Ridge.

This season will be the 54th consecutive season for the league. Last year's teams were Tri-State Titans (Cumberland), Oakland, Rosemont, and Parkersburg. Tri-State, coached by Gary Bennett, was the regular-season and playoff champion and went on to win the Maryland semi-pro playoffs held in Hagerstown.

The league is a showcase for many current and past area college baseball players. The league has featured players who went on to play professional ball, and many of the Tri-State coaches have played in the league. The league also provides a forum for adults who want to continue playing baseball.

New teams from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania are welcome to join the league, and representatives should plan to attend this meeting. If unable to attend, persons may call Terry Helbig at 301-533-2815, Joe Litten at 301-723-3700, or Jim Weinstein at 304-842-2206.

Rams Whip Sentinels To Win Or Share WMIL Title

For the fifth time in the past six seasons, the Southern High School boys' varsity has secured at least a share of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title, as the Rams defeated Fort Hill last Thursday night in Oakland, 64-52.

It was also the 36th straight WMIL home game victory for Coach Tom Bosley and the Rams, who upped their WMIL record to 8-1 and their overall mark to 15-2. The last WMIL loss sustained by a Southern boys' varsity was in January of 1997.

The Sentinels are the only other team that have a chance at an equal share of the WMIL title, but it's a long shot, as they must defeat Northern, Westmar, and Southern in remaining games.

Senior forward Dennis Tressler, who is among the scoring leaders in the area, led the Rams by scoring 26 points and grabbing 10 rebounds, both game highs. Sixteen of his total came in the second half, when he connected on eight of 12 attempts from the floor. He also had a blocked shot.

Fellow senior forward Matt Stephens finished with 14 points and four assists.

The Rams won the first quarter by a 15-8 margin after jumping out to a 12-2 lead, but the Sentinels battled back in the second stanza, out-scoring the home team 21-14 to knot the score at 29-29 at intermission.

A bucket by Neal Gilmore gave the Sentinels a 31-29 lead in the opening moments of the second half, and they were on top 35-31 at the 5:15 mark of the third quarter.

But then the Rams scored 10 of the next 11 points of the game, as Tressler hit three consecutive buckets, and teammate Karl Hillen drained a shot at the buzzer to give the Rams a 41-36 lead, and the momentum, going into the fourth period.

The final eight minutes belonged to Tressler and the rest of the Rams, who recorded the first six points of the period and out-scored the Sentinels by a 25-16 margin to record the 12-point win.

Gilmore came off the bench to finish with a team-high 15 points, as he was 7-for-9 from the field. He also pulled down six rebounds.

Also reaching double figures were Joel Fradiska with 11 points and eight assists, and Danny Rose with 10 points and a team-high seven rebounds.

"Dennis (Tressler) had a good game for us. Neal Gilmore gave him some problems in the first half inside, but we had him start shooting from the perimeter and then put him back inside," Coach Bosley said. "He can score from both areas."

Bosley thought his team let down somewhat defensively after jumping out to a 12-2 lead.

"And Fort Hill executed well in the second quarter," he said. "But we decided we had to match their aggressiveness and intensity, pay more attention to each man defensively, and really attack the bucket like we did in the first quarter."

The Southern junior varsity was defeated in the preliminary game, 55-40, despite a game-high 19 points by Andrew VanBogelen. Pacing the Sentinel jayvees were Kevin Page and Harley Brooks with 18 and 14 points, respectively.

The Rams were scheduled to host Martinsburg this evening, but that game has been postponed. A four-game make-up schedule will begin Friday evening with a contest at Fort Hill. They will host Keyser on Monday, entertain Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, and travel to Petersburg on Wednesday.

Husky Boys' Comeback Falls Short; Mounties Win 66-57

The Northern High School boys' varsity basketball squad dropped a 66-57 contest at Beall Friday night in a bruising battle that included 44 total fouls and the benchings of two Huskies and two Mountaineers who each fouled out.

It was a close game through the first eight minutes, as Beall took a slim 15-12 lead. The hosts widened the gap at the half, 39-31, and were up 54-42 as the final stanza commenced.

At one point in the second half the Huskies found themselves on the short end of a 17-point deficit. Northern rallied to within seven points in the fourth quarter, but that was as close as the Huskies could get.

NHS's Jason Rice hit for 21 points, bombing away for four three-pointers along the way. Forward Aaron Mitchell contributed 12 points, and Andrew Frantz had eight. Mitchell and Matt Younkin both fouled out. Beall was paced by game-high scorer Jimmy Kline's 22 points, while Brandon Bittner added 17.

The Husky varsity mark fell to 7-11 with the loss (1-8 WMIL).

Northern's junior varsity fell by a 56-36 margin, despite Blake Walker's 16 Husky points that led all scorers.

The Northern boys' varsity squad has four games of regular season play remaining, all slated to take place this coming week. The Huskies visit Union tomorrow and Hancock Saturday before returning home to close out the year with games against Fort Hill Monday and Union Tuesday. The Hancock game and the second Union match-up are slated for live radio broadcast on 104.5-FM WKHJ.

The Western Maryland 1A West Region playoff slate will be announced after this coming Sunday's drawing on Feb. 23. Playoff scheduling and brackets should be available by this coming Sunday evening on the Internet at www.mpssaa.org. The playoffs open Friday, Feb. 28.

Northern Girls Let Lead Slip Away To BW's Winning Rally

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team squandered a big early lead to drop a seven-point contest to visiting Bishop Walsh by a 56-59 margin last Thursday, Feb. 13.

NHS opened by grabbing an 18-9 first-quarter advantage behind nine points from forward Amanda Frantz, who had nine points in the first quarter. Northern was still up 29-28 at the half, but the Spartans took control for good in the third quarter, which ended with the guests up 45-37.

Jeseca Gibson scored 18 points and Frantz added 16 for the Huskies. Teammate Heather Lander had seven rebounds and eight points, while Lyndsi Butler had six assists. BW's Karen Knight had a game-high 22 points and added seven assists and five steals.

The NHS varsity's record fell to 7-12 with the defeat.

Northern's junior varsity dropped its contest, 28-23.

The Husky girls' varsity is slated to close out its regular season this week with a road contest at Hancock tomorrow and a visit to Frankfort Monday. A previously scheduled home contest set for last night against Westmar remains to be rescheduled.

The Western Maryland 1A West Region playoff slate will be announced after this coming Sunday's drawing on Feb. 23. Playoff scheduling and brackets should be available by this coming Sunday evening on the Internet at www.mpssaa.org. The playoffs open Friday, Feb. 28.

Oakland Service Club Announces Playoff Schedule

The Service Club Basketball League has announced its schedule for make-up games and the playoffs. Sunday, Feb. 23, will serve as the make-up day for both the girls' and boys' divisions. All games this Sunday will be held at Southern High School.

The playoffs will begin Wednesday, Feb. 26, at Southern Middle School, beginning at 5:15 with the boys' division, while the girls' division will start their playoffs on Thursday. The championship games will all be played on Saturday, March 1, at Southern Middle School. There will be games every hour except from 1 to 2 p.m. when the Oakland Little League will hold its make-up try outs.

This is the ninth season for the service club league. "We have had a good year in Service Club basketball," said director Paul Pacella. "There was a new division added and we had nearly 50 additional players playing this year. It is a great activity for the Oakland youth."

The girls' junior division was added this season, and the initial tournament winner will be crowned this Saturday.

LAKERS COURTING CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES – The Garrett College women's basketball team plays on its home floor at 5 p.m. tonight in the first round of the Maryland JUCO Women's Tournament. Third-seeded GC (11-3) will take on 14th-seeded Montgomery Takoma Park (2-13), and should the Lakers prevail they will take on the winner of a Frederick vs. Allegany match-up also taking place tonight. Garrett will host the JUCO women's quarterfinals on Friday at 2, 4, 6, and 8 p.m., the semifinals on Saturday at 5 and 7 p.m., and the championship contest Sunday at 2 p.m. The semifinals will be preceded by the Children's Basketball Clinic from 1 to 3 p.m. for children in grades 3 to 8 at a cost of $10 per participant. T-shirts will be provided in addition to tickets for the semifinal games later that same evening. Seated from the left are LaTonya Crowder, Natasha Robinson, Lakosha Brown, Amber Stewart, and Angel Kendall. Standing are Carrie Pardue, Tiffany McFarland, Kristen Maynard, Corniela Calliste, Charlena Reeves, and LaSha Anderson. The Lakers' head coach is Steve Willison, who is assisted by Thea Garland. (Coaches not available for photo.)

Laker Women Romp Into JUCO After Thrashing Howard By 34

The Garrett College women's basketball team gave itself a fine send-off for the upcoming Maryland JUCO Women's Basketball Tournament with a 72-38 thumping of host Howard Friday. The Lakers dominated the entire game, leading 31-17 at the half, as they upped their record to 13-6.

GC's Tiffany McFarland scored 19 points, and LaSha Anderson had 18 as the shooting guard netted three of Garrett's six three-pointers.. McFarland and Anderson added nine rebounds each. Angel Kendall had a big night on both ends of the court with six rebounds, five assists, and three steals. Travis had 12 points to lead Howard.

GARRETT (72)
Angel Kendall 2 0-0 4, LaTonya Crowder 1 2-2 5, LaSha Anderson 7 0-0 18, Tiffany McFarland 7 5-6 19, Kristen Maynard 3 0-0 6, Charlena Reeves 1 2-2 4, Natasha Robinson 1 0-0 2, Carrie Pardue 3 0-0 8, Amber Stewart 2 2-4 7. Totals 27 11-14 72.
HOWARD (38)
Daniels 2 0-0 4, Whitherspoon 2 0-0 4, Tai 0 2-4 2, Travis 5 0-0 12, Jenkins 2 1-4 5, Nadean 3 0-0 7. Totals 14 3-6 38.
Halftime - Garrett 31-17.
Three-point goals Howard 3 (Travis 2, Nadean 1), Garrett (Crowder 1, Anderson 3, Pardue 1, Stewart 1). Total fouls - Garrett 9, Howard 12. Fouled out - none.

Lakers To Open Tourney Play At Frederick CC

The Garrett College men's basketball team will begin its quest for a Maryland JUCO title Friday afternoon when the fifth-seeded Lakers will play Montgomery Rockville, the fourth seed, at Frederick CC. The tip-off is set for 5 p.m.

The Lakers were slated to open with a game this evening against 12th seeded Essex, but because of weather conditions in the Baltimore area, Essex will forfeit that game and the Lakers will be awarded a bye.

Garrett enters the tournament with an 11-5 JUCO record, a 19-6 overall mark, and five players averaging double figures in scoring. They are led by Kevin Essex with 17 points per outing, followed by Rashaun Copeland with 13.4, Lee Parris and James Jones each with 10.8, and Antuon Townsend with 10.2 points per game. Essex and Parris lead the team in rebounding with just over 5.5 each, and Townsend is tops in assists with 4.5 per contest.

"We want to make a strong showing, but the weather has really made it tough to be consistent," stated GC coach Dennis Gibson. "We have not played a game since February 9, and that will hurt our timing.

"I think that we have a chance to win the title, but we have to be a better team and rebound consistently," he concluded.

Seeded #1 in the tournament are the Allegany College of Maryland Trojans (24-2), who are ranked 10th in the national NJCAA Division I poll. Cecil is seeded second, Prince George's is third, and Montgomery-Rockville is just ahead of the Lakers as the fourth seed.

The semifinals of the tournament will be played at 5 and 7 p.m. on Saturday, and the championship game will tip off at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Last night the Maryland JUCO president ruled that the opening round of the post-season tournament will be scratched, leaving the top eight seeds to battle on the Garrett College floor beginning tomorrow afternoon. The host Lakers (#3 seed with an 11-3 record) will play in the last game on tomorrow's slate against Frederick (#6) at 8 p.m. Preceding that contest, Baltimore City CC (#5) will take on Montgomery-Rockville (#4) at 2 p.m.; Hagerstown (#7) battles Catsonville (#2) at 4 p.m.; and Cecil (#1) plays Prince George's (#8) at 6 p.m.

Garrett will host the semifinals on Saturday at 5 and 7 p.m., and the championship contest Sunday at 2 p.m.

Saturday's JUCO tourney semifinals will be preceded by the Children's Basketball Clinic from 1 to 3 p.m. for children in grades 3 to 8 at a cost of $10 per participant. T-shirts will be provided in addition to tickets for the semifinal games later that same evening.

Garlitz, Few

a 1990 State Wrestling Tournament finalist.

Blair "Pete" Bittinger, employed by the state of Maryland in law enforcement, has similar memories.

"Dale was extremely fast and a great workout partner. The thing I remember most about Dale was that he was virtually impossible to stop when he would do a standup. He had an incredible commitment and dedication to young wrestlers and gave a lot of his time. Even though he was . . . older, Dale would give his best to try to beat me. At times he would push me to exhaustion," said Bittinger, Garrett County's first state wrestling champion, in 1990, and a 1989 state finalist.

Garlitz inspired his athletes — many of them have-nots — to dream; gave them the tools to succeed; and guided them to some of the most marvelous memories of their lives. And what more can any coach do?

Keith Kamp, a local paper mill foreman and a 1977 Bi-county champion and District champion for Northern, perhaps best summarized the contributions of Coach Garlitz.

"He made you want to go out and win. He built the foundation of the program that they have now," said Kamp. And, indeed, a legion of Northern Garrett champions would agree.

Editor's note: Dale Garlitz is currently an elementary school principal in Hagerstown.

SHS Girls To Close Year With Big Road Swing

The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball players are packing their bags for a season-ending road rally of five games in seven days, two of which are quite a distance from the mountaintop against some especially tough competition. "This last week should be a good test of how ready we are for the playoffs," SHS coach Don Stemple commented this morning.

The Rams (13-3) travel to Martinsburg, W.Va., tomorrow to take on a team from the largest division in that state. A perennial powerhouse that has sent some superb women basketball players to the Garrett College program, Martinsburg is equivalent to a 3A Maryland school. Southern visits Linganore in Frederick County the following afternoon, Saturday, for a match-up with a true Maryland 3A team. The road swing continues through the coming week on some more familiar turf, as SHS visits Westmar Monday, Beall Tuesday (slated for live radio coverage on 92.3-FM The Train, with pre-game coverage getting under way at 7:15 p.m.), and Fort Hill Thursday.

The Western Maryland 1A West Region playoff slate will be announced after this coming Sunday's drawing on Feb. 23. The playoffs open Friday, Feb. 28, but at this point it appears the Rams have a first-round bye sown up, and will not open their post-season until Tuesday, March 4. Playoff scheduling and brackets should be available by this coming Sunday evening on the Internet at www.mpssaa.org.

Pasadena Man Handed Four-Year Jail Term

An Anne Arundel County man apprehended by local Maryland State Police troopers after a November accident along Interstate 68 was sentenced to four years in jail after he was convicted on charges of auto theft, driving under the influence of alcohol, and driving on a suspended license during a recent Garrett County District Court proceeding.

Kenneth Huck, 35, Pasadena, was traveling on Interstate 68 on Nov. 14 when his truck ran off the highway near Pigs Ear Road and overturned. After he was extricated from his pickup truck by emergency personnel, Huck was flown by MSP medevac helicopter Trooper 5 to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was hospitalized under strict police supervision.

It was determined that the pickup truck he was driving had been stolen earlier that same day from the MeadWestvaco wood yard in West Virginia.

Huck was wanted at the time of the accident by Baltimore police on warrants charging him with kidnapping, attempted first degree rape, assault, and several sex offenses, and an active Maryland Department of Corrections retake warrant charging violation of parole. The latest status of those charges was not available.

WALKING THROUGH TUNNELS was the sensation experienced this week in downtown Oakland, where snow from the streets was piled considerably higher than the parking meters, and business owners responded by shoveling pathways. The snow is being removed day and night by the town crew and other private contractors, using front-end loaders and trucks, and being hauled to the former Sterling Processing property on the west side of town, where the pile of snow might just be high enough for skiing or sledding. This night photo was taken by John McEwen.

Wisp Expands Winterblast Celebration

Wisp at Deep Creek Mountain Resort has expanded next month's Coca-Cola Winterblast Celebration from three days to over a week of events from Saturday through Monday, March 1-9. The festival celebrates the winter season with events and snow activities, while giving non-profit organizations and promotional partners an opportunity to raise money and awareness.

Winterblast opens March 1 with a number of events including the Maryland's Governor's Cup, Pee Wee racing, the Cardboard Box Derby, downhill and biker cross snow races presented by Racer's Edge, and the fifth Super Pipe Jam Competition of the Ford No Boundaries Snow Series.

The Wisp Cup Giant Slalom Ski Race and the Inaugural Wisp Winter Triathlon are set for Sunday, March 2. The triathlon is composed of mountain biking, running and skiing through snowy trails, and a "snow tube" down the mountain after every leg of the race. Online registration for the triathlon is available at www.triath.com.

Winterblast will mark its Fat Tuesday Mardi Gras Celebration on Tuesday, March 4, when the chefs at Wisp compete with other area chefs in a gumbo cookoff with live music and Mardi Gras food tents.

McDonald's and Roy Rogers Days on Wednesday and Thursday, March 5-6, will feature free samples, giveaways, and $15 lift ticket coupons.

The No X-Cuse Pipe Contest, Pee Wee Racing, and the final Ford No Boundaries Super Pipe Jam of the season are all slated for Saturday, March 8.

Winterblast wraps up on Sunday, March 9, with the final Ford No Boundaries Big Air and Cross Competitions, and the Pond Cross.

Winterblast sponsors include Coca-Cola, the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club, Wisp Ski Club, Roy Rogers, the Deep Creek Fire Department, Ford, McDonald's, Racer's Edge, and the Triathlantic Association. For more information, persons may call 301-387-4911, or visit the Wisp Web site at www.skiwisp.com.

Ohio Woman Gets One Year For Possession

A Youngstown, Ohio, woman was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court for a possession of a controlled dangerous substance charge. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Cheryl Ann Shakhatreh to one year in the Garrett County Jail and imposed a fine of $700.

Shakhatreh, 49, had pleaded guilty in December to possession of cocaine. Charges of possession with intent to distribute and possession of paraphernalia were dismissed.

Officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested Shakhatreh last June after the car she was driving was stopped by a Maryland State Police trooper for speeding on I-68.

While speaking with her, the trooper observed a baggie of suspected cocaine. A second baggie was found in her purse when the vehicle was searched, according to State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

First United To Acquire Four Offices In W.Va.

First United Corporation recently announced the signing of a definitive agreement to acquire, through its bank subsidiary, First United Bank & Trust, four banking offices and a commercial banking center in Berkeley County, W.Va., from Huntington Bancshares Incorporated and its bank subsidiary, the Huntington National Bank, for an amount based on an 11% deposit premium.

The transaction includes the acquisition of $140 million in deposits and $54 million in loans as of December 31, 2002. First United will retain all of Huntington's employees. The transaction does not require approval by either First United or Huntington shareholders and is expected to close sometime in the 2003 third quarter following customary regulatory approvals.

"First United has had one banking office and one financial center in Martinsburg for six years," said William B. Grant, chairman and chief executive officer, "and we have been looking for ways to increase our presence. This transaction positions First United as the second largest bank in Berkeley County with a 19% deposit market share. Importantly, our new Martinsburg customers will continue to do business in the same locations and with the same people. We are already working very closely with Huntington to ensure a smooth transition for all our new customers. And with access to First United's other regional banking offices, their banking becomes more convenient than ever."

"We are looking forward to joining the First United family," said Diane Armentrout, district manager for Huntington. "The Martinsburg area is a closely knit community, and many on the First United staff are our neighbors. Further, like us, First United has a reputation for focusing on personalized, locally delivered banking services."

Two of the offices to be purchased are located in Martinsburg, W.Va., with the other two located in Falling Waters and Inwood, W.Va.

Accidental Fire Destroys Cabin At Swallow Falls

An accidental fire resulted in the destruction of a 1½-story log cabin in the Swallow Falls area last Thursday morning.

Approximately 30 volunteers from the Oakland, Deep Creek, Deer Park, Terra Alta, and Bayard fire departments were called to 329 Sines Cemetery Drive at 11:35 a.m., but found access to the cabin nearly impossible because of the amount of snow in the roadway leading to the structure. The fire was discovered by the owner of the cabin, Everly Spurrier Jr.

According to Jamie Rodeheaver, deputy state fire marshal who investigated the incident, the fire originated in the area of a woodstove and extended into the walls of the structure. He estimated damages to be $30,000 to the cabin and an additional $20,000 in contents.

Also responding to the scene was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Patterson Boat Storage Building Collapses Sunday

The clean-up is under way at Patterson Boat Company, located on Harvey's Peninsula, after one of its eight boat storage buildings collapsed late Sunday night from the weight of the snow, according to Ted Raynovich, owner.

This was a Quonset building, which is similar to an airplane hangar as opposed to a rack-style building, and housed 18 boats, Raynovich added. This building was a relatively large facility and was the building closest to the lake.

The amount of damage has not yet been determined, he said.

This is only one of many buildings which has been affected in the aftermath of the recent snowstorm. See pictures in this section of The Republican.

Rainbow Girls Slated To Meet

Oakland Assembly #8, International Order of Rainbow Girls, will hold an initiation and installation of officers on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 2 p.m., at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, Oakland. This is the snow date for the meeting that was scheduled for Jan. 5.

Heather Brown, Grand Worthy Advisor for the state of Maryland, will preside and make her official visit to Oakland. Michaele Puliti, Grand Representative to New York, will be installed as Worthy Advisor for the coming year.

Alyna Raynovich, Grand Representative to Arkansas, and Nicole Raynovich, Grand Representative to Kentucky, along with Leslie Gaither will be installed as officers in Oakland. All members of the Masons, Eastern Star, and former Rainbow Girls are invited and encouraged to attend this meeting and support the youth organization.

The 2003 Advisory Board will be installed at this meeting following the installation.

The Order of the Rainbow Girls is open to all girls between the ages of 11 and 20. They perform service projects, raise monies for charities, teach poise and public speaking, and travel around the state and other states in an "attempt to broaden their horizons."

Funds Available For Alzheimer's Assn. Program

Certain families in need of financial assistance to care for a relative with Alzheimer's disease (AD) or other forms of dementia can now get help paying for the Alzheimer's Association Safe Return program.

Minority or rural families in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in financial need can apply for assistance in paying the $40 registration fee.

Safe Return is a national program of the Alzheimer's Association that provides personalized ID bracelets and other identification materials and stores a person's contact information in a national database. The program enables police, community service agencies, and private citizens to identify people with AD who have wandered and help them return home.

According to the Alzheimer's Association, 98 percent of those using the Safe Return program are found within 24 to 48 hours. The return rate drops to 43 percent among those who are not registered in the program.

"[Persons with AD] are at risk because of weather, traffic, and people who prey on the helpless," said Anna Offutt of the Alzheimer's Association. "Some have died from exposure only a short distance from their own doorsteps."

Nearly 60 percent of the more than 8,000 people with Alzheimer's disease in western Maryland will wander at some point during the course of their illness, according to Offutt.

"They may be searching for someone or something familiar, such as a friend or where they used to live or work," Offutt said. "They may need something, such as food, water, a bathroom, or companionship, but they cannot communicate about it."

To register a person for the Safe Return program or to learn more about how to prevent or reduce the likelihood of wandering, persons in Garrett and Allegany counties may call 1-800-696-6830 or contact the association's Web site at www.alzgmd.org.

The Alzheimer's Association Greater Maryland Chapter provides education and services for individuals and their families and professional training for care providers.

THE CUTTING EDGE OF TECHNOLOGY – An amazing vehicle owned by Dean Hovell, president of Locked-On Communications, was the magic behind the live remote filmed in Oakland yesterday on the ABC program Good Morning America. Brian McConnaughey, the operator of the complex satellite vehicle, is pictured as he keeps an eye on things. Hovell, a veteran producer with ABC, said the vehicle is a compact wonder of technology that has replaced much larger, heavy vehicles of the recent past. "The truck weighs in at 9,600 pounds. That's a fully loaded truck with a full tank of gas," Hovell said. "The truck is designed to be under any 10,000-pound limits that would require the need for a special driver license, and would require stops at weigh stations. Much thought went into weight consideration for both business and safety reasons." He said the van-sized vehicle replaces the 27-foot (or larger) truck of the past. "We can park where any normal car would park and do the job," Hovell said, adding that his company has landed many jobs because of the mobility of the equipment. The mobility, in fact, was key to the film crew's trip to Oakland yesterday for the live remote on the popular morning show, which included an interview with a local resident about the snow storm this week. Guard Engineers Called For Snow Removal Help

Members of the 121st Engineer Battalion (Mech) and the 243rd Engineer Company (CSE) were activated for emergency snow removal duty after the massive snowstorm that brought 50 inches to the county.

Activated members rendering their help included SFC Kenneth T. Elliott, Terra Alta, W.Va.; SGT Douglas E. Mayle Jr., McHenry; SSG Roy C. Fazenbaker, Friendsville; SGT Charles E. Graham, Oakland; SGT Randolph S. Kitzmiller, Kingwood, W.Va.; SSG Larry E. Schlossnagle, Friendsville; Gregory S. Skiles, Oakland; SSG John R. Willis, Elk Garden, W.Va.; and SPC Brandon M. Wolf, Oakland.

It was estimated that 80 to 90 tons of snow were removed and displaced from side streets of Garrett county.

"Morale was very high and several soldiers stated that they were glad to be putting something back into the community, or this case, taking something out of the community," a spokesperson said. "Their regular jobs require them to work outdoors and because of the many snowfalls already this winter, they have not been able to stay busy at their civilian jobs."

EFW is a 140-soldier task force composed of a mechanized combat engineering company and a combat support equipment platoon in two armories in Cumberland and Oakland. The 121St Engineer Battalion is the state's sole engineer asset.

Treated Well

they couldn't get back home anyway. So they extended their visit," a spokesman for the inn said. In order to keep these visitors comfortable, the cleaning crew at the Casselman Inn needed to put in extra hours, she said. "They all worked very long days on Sunday and Monday," she noted.

The efforts of the staff at Casselman, whose numbers were streamlined as a result of the weather conditions, had the desired effect. "None of the guests seemed particularly upset by the situation. They all appeared to be in very good spirits," the spokesperson concluded.

In the southern part of the county, a well-known resort area for presidents and captains of industry in the 19th and 20th centuries, the Deer Park Inn reflects that heritage by extending a gracious welcome to visitors. This historic home is operated as a bed and breakfast.

"We were booked for the weekend but one couple was unable to get here and another had to leave early in order to catch a plane. The third couple stayed with us an extra day," explained innkeeper Sandy Fontaine.

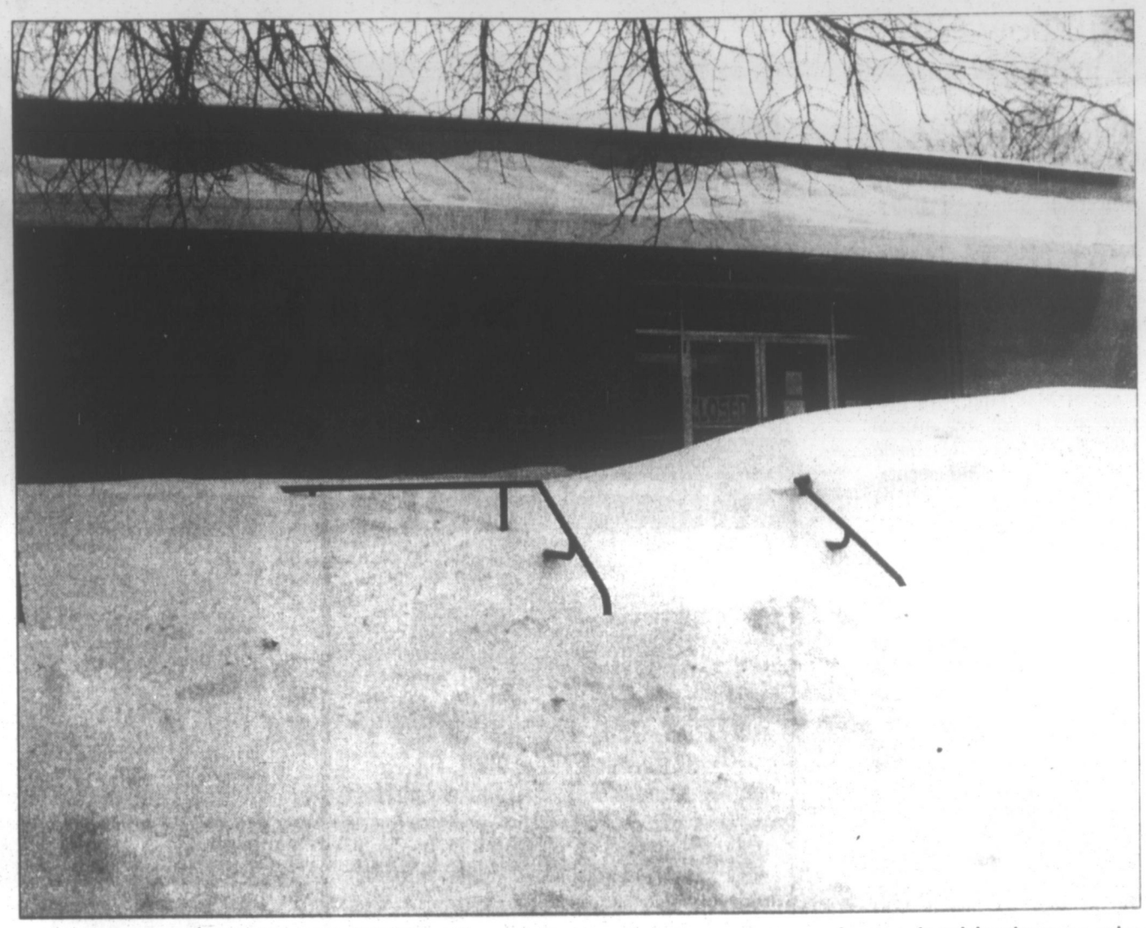
Fontaine and her husband provide all services at the inn.

"We had everything we needed right here, so there were no problems at all and the couple staying here had a wonderful time. It was more of a vacation than they planned," she said. After the long weekend at the inn, a sense of family developed between the hosts and their guests, Fontaine noted. "You are together and you work together. We all shoveled the parking lot and dug their car out when they left."

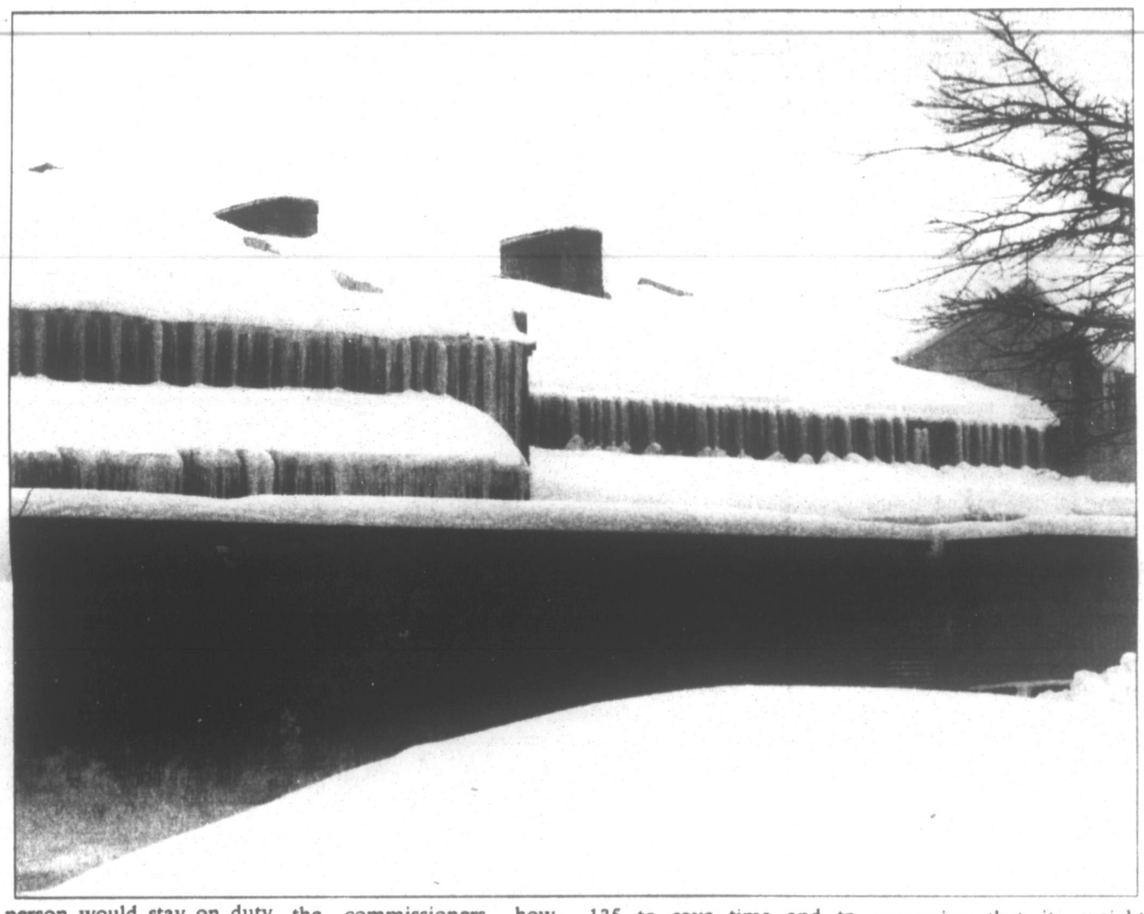
Skiing, snow tubing, and snow boarding enthusiasts filled the guest rooms at the Wisp Resort Hotel to capacity. "Among our guests, we had groups from the Carolinas and Florida. Like the other guests, they were not able to depart on schedule because of the weather. Many of them were youth groups, so you can imagine the phones ringing here with concerned parents checking up on their kids," said Scott Hall, general manager of the hotel.

Because the hotel guests were not able to leave, Hall extended their reservations. "It got a little tricky because some of the rooms were to be rented to other visitors. I wasn't going to double book, but I wasn't going to put anyone out. Where would they go?" As the day wore on, people called to reschedule arrival dates or cancel reservations because of the weather. The hoped-for balance was achieved. "Everyone who needed to be here had a room," Hall said.

Feeding his guests created more tricky situations for Hall. "Some of our restaurants were operating with just one person. That person would stay on duty for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Our labor force was stretched to the limit. They did a fantastic job. All of the staff did." Many employees of the Wisp Resort Hotel, like those of all Garrett County businesses, were not able to get to work. Those who were able not only showed up but put in the extra effort to meet increased demands. This story is repeated countywide and summed up by Hall. "Our staff did a terrific job representing the people of Garrett County."



SERVICES STOPPED FOR SNOW – Many residents may have wanted to curl up after a long day of shoveling snow with a good book, but it wasn't possible to get to any books at the numerous branches of the Ruth Enlow Library earlier this week. All libraries, except the Kitzmiller branch, were reopened today for business. So, check out some good books before the next storm knocks on the door. The Will O' the Wisp, seen below, was one of many local businesses who shut its doors at the height of the storm. Residents were urged not to travel unless it was an emergency. Businesses are putting the final touches on their clean-up efforts before the scheduled rain begins this weekend. Photos by Mary Sincell McEwen and John McEwen.



Hearing Set

officers.

During the commissioners' visits to local mining and logging companies, owners asked for legislation to enable the county to increase the weight limit, according to county administrator Monty Pagenhardt.

Fourteen residents who live along or access Sand Flat Road, however, met with the commissioners in January in an attempt to prevent the bill from being introduced.

Sand Flat Road resident Bobby Andersen told the commissioner that her hilly road, with its numerous blind curves and narrow shoulders, was not suited for fully loaded 18 wheelers, especially when it is snow covered. Many of her neighbors concurred.

"It would be morally wrong to allow this legislation to proceed and to gamble with our safety," Andersen said.

Her husband Alden described the road as "one of the most dangerous in Garrett County."

During the meeting with the commissioners, however, logging company owners noted that they could save time and money, which would benefit their businesses, if they were allowed to travel Sand Flat Road.

They also noted that it would be easier and safer to travel the road. "Sand Flat is a much safer road [to travel] in my opinion, than through Oakland," Gary Sisler said.

Reportedly, some truckers with loads of more than 73,000 pounds risk being ticketed and use Sand Flat Road anyway as a short cut between Routes 219 and 135 to save time and to avoid the traffic congestion in Oakland.

The roads' residents were concerned that increasing the weight limit would increase the truck traffic and the danger.

Following the meeting, however, the commissioners decided to go ahead and request the legislation. Commissioner Ernie Gregg said the decision was not an easy one and stressed that it was not a blanket one as well. If the bill is approved by the General Assembly, he said, the commissioners would review each county road individually before proposing that its weight limit be increased. Public hearings would then be held for each of those proposed roads.

Bobby Andersen said this week that she and other residents were working on a petition opposing a weight increase for Sand Flat Road. They have also sent letters and documentation to various state offices, opposing the bill and stressing the road's dangerous conditions.

The Senate version of the bill, SB 636, will be heard by the Senate Finance Committee sometime in the near future.

A TOUGH JOB, BUT SOMEONE HAD TO DO IT - Three local residents were challenged to sample and judge delicacies in the cherry dessert contest held annually during the Cherries and Chili Festival at Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville. Categories included candies, cooking, cakes, pies, and breads. The entries were compared for appearance, texture, overall taste, and cherry flavor. Winners were selected in each category with grand champions named in the professional and amateur divisions. Luang Klink's chocolate-covered cherry cookies took first place for amateur, while the Casselman Inn won top professional recognition for a black cherry pie. The judges pictured above from left were Sue Beachy, president of the Greater Grantsville Business Association; Peggy Santamaria of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce; and County Commissioner Fred Holliday. All agreed it was tough call.

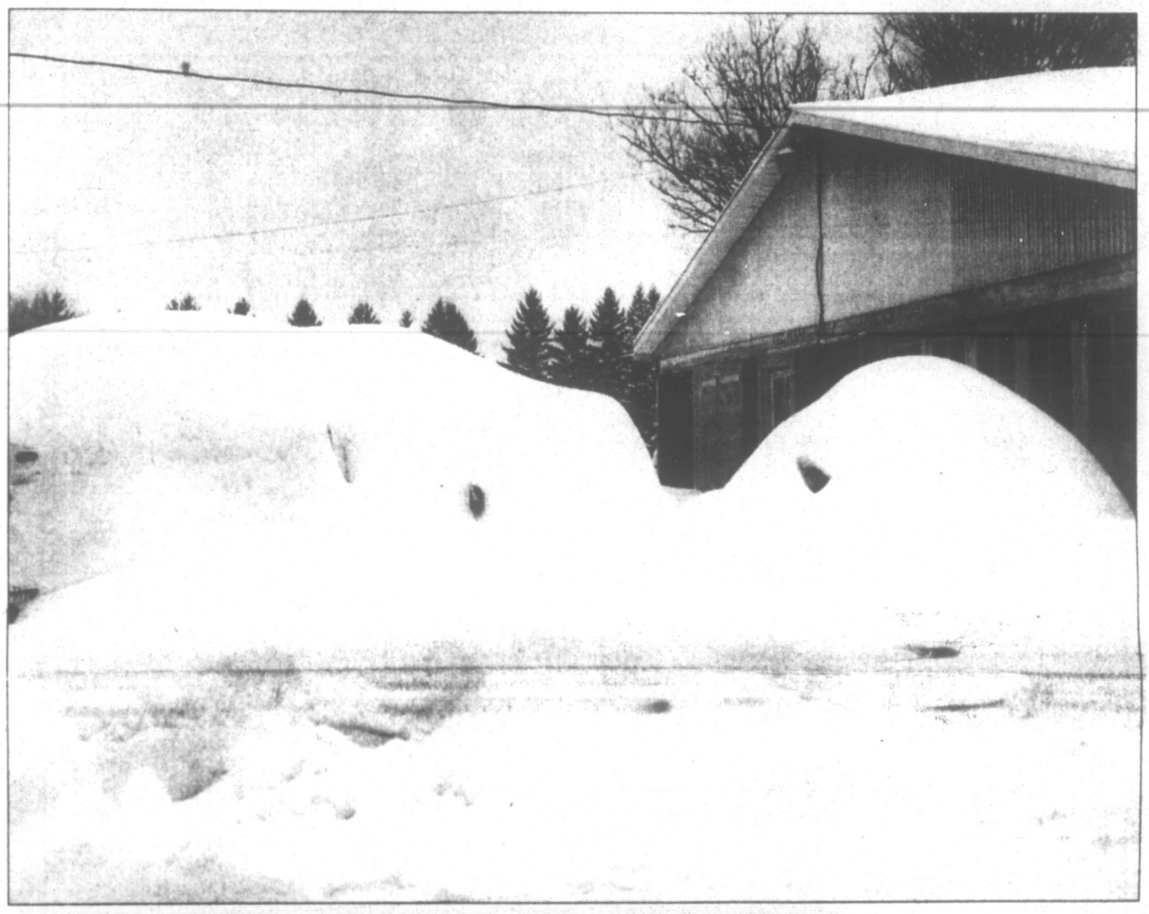
The Republican

"WE MADE IT" – Just like when people reach the top of Mt. Everest and place a flag to show they made it, people all over the county, like the owners of these mailboxes in Grantsville, were doing the same, as if to say "We found our mailboxes and vehicles. Hooray." Residents were also obviously digging for hours upon end to locate their vehicles, like the ones seen (not seen!) below. On the left is a truck and on the right is a car, according to the photographer of this photo. Residents all around the county now have sore muscles and backs in common with one another in the aftermath of this recent snowfall. Photos by Lisa Broadwater and John McEwen.



drains are clear so runoff has someplace to go. They also urged owners of buildings with flat roofs to clear off snow and ice to avoid the risk of having the roof collapse.

Storm Buries

his office continues to receive calls from residents requesting that his trucks come plow out their driveways.

"We do not plow out private driveways, except in the case of an emergency," Polce said. "People need to quit calling our office with this request. We are busy enough right now trying to get the roads back to normal."

Finally he said he and his staff are worried about the forecast, which is now calling for rain over the weekend. Flooding is likely, according to reports.

"We're bracing for that, too," he said.

Apparently no major injuries were resulted from the storm, and no power outages were reported. The staff at Garrett Memorial Hospital was on "code one" status from Sunday to Monday, which meant no one was to leave the facility. The staff stayed the night, and no patients were discharged during that time period, according to reports.

Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Emergency Management, said he was pleased with how the county handled the storm.

"Everything went very well," Frantz said. "The state and county roads crews were exceptional. We got back to traveling on the roadways in record time, I think."

He said he has been surprised at the lack of emergencies since the storm hit.

"Since Saturday, we've had one vehicle accident with injuries, and no fires. That's pretty amazing," he said. "We would have had trouble getting almost anywhere early this week, and we would still be hampered in responding to such an emergency. We've been very fortunate so far."

Frantz stressed that although the county roads trucks are not available to plow out driveways, his staff is able to utilize the services of the Department of Natural Resources rescue team to get medicines to persons still snowed in. Persons who are without necessities but who are snowbound may contact Frantz for help at 301-334-1930.

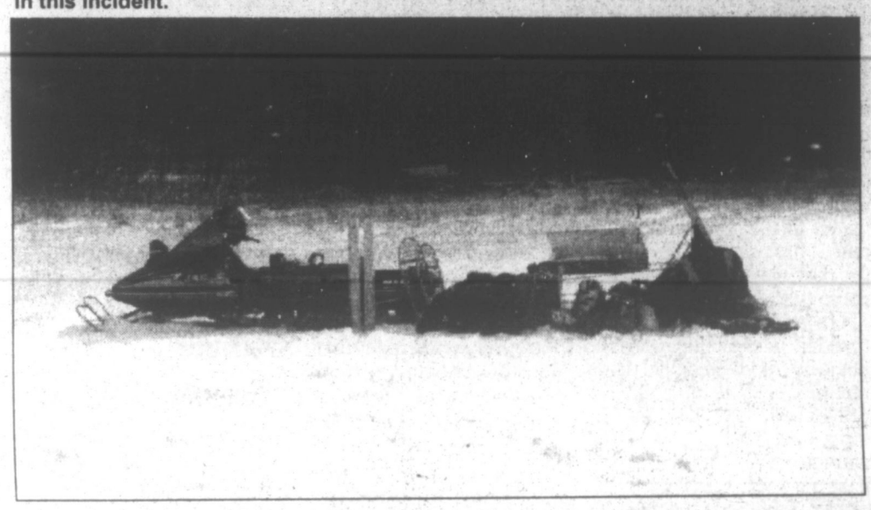
"We will help in real emergencies, and we will help people who are in dire need of medicine or necessities. But we do ask that persons not take advantage of the service by calling when there is no true emergency," he said.

He reported that he has used the services of the DNR team a few times this week.

Frantz went on to caution the county about the potential for flooding this weekend.

"It is entirely possible that if we get a warm-up and the rain that is called for, we will get substantial flooding. People need to be very much aware of this, especially those who have flat roofs that are now piled with snow. The rain will add weight to that and we will start having roof collapses.

DNR TRAINING PAYS OFF IN SNOWY EMERGENCY MISSION – Forest/ Park Service Company 8, a local search and rescue team composed of Department of Natural Resources personnel, undertook an important mission in deep snow last Thursday, Feb. 13, to assist an elderly Vindex man facing an emergency. Russell Crosco Sr., 83, who lives by himself along a private road two miles off Route 38, was in need of his prescribed heart medication, but deep drifts made it impossible for him to get out or his family members to get to him. Company 8 was summoned by the Garrett County Office Emergency Management, and six members of the 18-member unit, Mike Cooper, Tim McMillan, Mark McMillan, John Denning, John Frank, and Rick Lewis, responded from Herrington Manor State Park to the end of Crosco's lane with their emergency equipment and the heart medication, a small tank of propane gas, and batteries. Cooper, Denning, and the two McMillans mounted snowmobiles to travel back to the home, breeching numerous five-foot drifts along the way, while Frank and Lewis monitored communications at the entry site. At last report Crosco was doing well, enjoying the Presidents' Day weekend storm without any trouble, as he has during numerous heavy snowfalls throughout his eight decades. Some of the equipment used in the rescue is shown above and below in photos taken during one of Company 8's many training exercises. Emergency Management officials remind the public that although such teams are ready to help, persons are asked to refrain from requesting emergency assistance unless life or property are truly at stake, which was definitely the case in this incident.



"People need to get the snow off of flat roofs, either by themselves or with hired help," he said. "All those who do go out on the roof should, of course, use extreme caution as well."

The amount of snow that fell in Garrett County earned the area national attention, as the 50+ inches was the most recorded in the storm that stretched from down South to New England. The county was mentioned on several national news reports, and in fact was featured this week on the ABC program, Good Morning America. A film crew shot a live remote interview by Diane Sawyer and Charlie Gibson with Oakland resident Mary Sincell McEwen, writer for The Republican. (See photos.)

flooding, but there has not been an increase in sandbag sales, said Craig Miller, safety director for the Allegany County store. But some businesses are making plans, he said. One car dealership had already asked if it could use the concrete company's lot for car storage in an emergency, Miller said.

Frye said common sense and foresight are the best defenses against a flood, and fresh memories of the 1996 floods are helpful in that regard. In general, he said, people living in a flood-prone area should pay attention at any time to weather alerts on the radio, keep their car's gas tank full, and have a bag ready in case they need to leave quickly.

Both county and state officials said homeowners need to make sure that drainage ditches and storm

DAREDEVIL

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:40 - Released 2/14/03

I guess it had to happen sometime. It seems every actor has to jump into big-budget action films sooner or later, and Daredevil is Ben Affleck's entry into the genre. Actually, I suppose Armageddon was his first such project—and I'd think he would want to forget that one—but this time he's the star, a Marvel superhero character rife with sequel possibilities, a cash-cow role that will provide him with job security in between his more intelligent films. It's a curious genre of films, intentionally overblown and willingly unrealistic like the comic books they came from, designed both to resurrect popular interest in the classic superhero characters and make obscene amounts of money for movie producers. One might think it's a reflection of the times in movies, with the computer-effects technicians anxious to show off their hyper-real visual wonders, but superhero movies have been around for years before computers, and somehow they just keep busting blocks year after year, as evidenced most recently by the phenomenal success of last summer's Spider-Man. In case you haven't picked up on it, this is not my particular favorite type of movie. But Daredevil, directed by Mark Steven Johnson, does what it does, and reasonably well.

Affleck, who seems almost less suited to a superhero character than Tobey Maguire did last summer (if that's possible), plays Matt Murdock, a blind defense lawyer from the Hell's Kitchen neighborhood of New York City, who, as we learn from Brian Helgeland's screenplay based on the characters of legendary Marvel Comics creators Bill Everett, Stan Lee, and Frank Miller, possesses special powers. After being blinded in a toxic waste accident as a pre-teen (played by Scott Terra), he discovered that his remaining senses were heightened to superhuman level, and that he could use sound as a kind of radar to allow him to make out the shapes and positions of objects around him. This in turn allowed him to take up extreme acrobatics, jumping, sliding, and bouncing around the roofs of local buildings, taking physical risks we normal humans would never attempt, and never getting a scratch. Or maybe he was just a big fan of Jackass. Not long after this, he witnesses the murder of his beloved prize-fighter father (David Keith) by the Kingpin, a notorious crime leader in the community whose identity, and in fact existence, has yet remained unproven. After this, he resolves (in that way superheroes do) to seek justice by "helping those that others wouldn't." So he becomes a lawyer?

In addition to championing the causes of the downtrodden in the courtroom, he adopts the secret nighttime persona of Daredevil, using his ultra-nimble physical abilities, a cane that hides more gizmos than Batman's utility belt, and a hooded maroon leather costume that must have been sold to him by a gay designer taking advantage of the fact that he couldn't see. Before facing the Kingpin (who turns out to be very real, played by Michael Clarke Duncan), he must fight his henchman, Bullseye (Colin Farrell), a deadly and remorseless projectile-throwing champion, while trying desperately to woo a comely and ridiculously well-trained martial-arts expert named Elektra (Jennifer Garner), who momentarily mistakes Daredevil for her own father's killer.

Since Daredevil's moves are almost identical to those of his Marvel colleague Spider-Man, and that film is just a few months old, comparisons are inevitable. The obvious difference between the two is that Daredevil only works at night, which necessarily gives this movie a darker and more macabre tone. Director Johnson makes the most of this, using weird lighting and atmosphere, not to mention the music of Graeme Revell, to make a movie that looks more like an episode of Dark Shadows than your traditional superhero flick. In fact, Daredevil possesses one extremely vampire-esque habit: presumably because of his ultra-sensitivity to noise, he is forced to sleep in a coffin-like sensory deprivation tank. Imagine sleeping every night in a tubful of water with a lid over it—I suppose Matt Murdock's fingers just always look like raisins.

It is unfortunate that Affleck, a gifted actor who, except for a few occasions (like Chasing Amy, Dogma, and Shakespeare In Love), has been unable to find a role equal to his talent, should be upstaged by his villains, but that's exactly what happens here. The over-the-top, scenery-chewing work of Duncan and Farrell is far superior and much more interesting to watch than Affleck's dull dialogue or his stuntman's swinging around the city. Likewise, Garner has little success proving she's there for anything more than her pretty face. But characterization is not of primary importance in action films, and that which is—namely, the special effects—does its job well. ★★★

Traffic Stops Lead To MSP Drug Arrests

A traffic stop for speeding led to the arrest of two New Jersey residents on drug charges last Thursday, Feb. 13, in northern Garrett County, according to the Maryland State Police. The 5:56 p.m. stop was made on Interstate 68 near Lower New Germany Road.

Shaun Matthew Carr, 21, of Marlton and Remo A. Croce, 20, of Cherry Hill each face charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia that stemmed from a search of their vehicle. The search ensued after a K-9 scan alerted to the presence of drugs inside the car, and troopers discovered 12.1 grams of suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Carr posted $3,000 bond and Croce $4,000 to gain their release from the Garrett County Jail.

In other state police arrest news, a Pennsylvania man was arrested Friday at 5:13 p.m. near Amish Road on charges of marijuana and drug paraphernalia possession.

David Daniel Vanamburg, 33, Erie, was stopped for a seatbelt violation, and the odor of burnt marijuana was reportedly noted as officers approached. A search revealed suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Vanamburg was released from jail after he posted a $500 bond.

W.Va. Man Faces Charge After Thursday Crash

A Petersburg, W.Va., man was charged by Maryland State Police after a single-vehicle accident that occurred on Thursday morning, Feb. 13, on Gorman Road.

Lloyd Junior Mongold, 47, escaped serious injury in the 7:16 a.m. mishap that took place on northbound Gorman Road just north of Chisolm Road. Police said that Mongold was traveling too fast for the weather and highway conditions when he lost control of his 1990 Dodge Dakota pickup truck, which traveled off the icy roadway and overturned in the snow.

Mongold, who refused medical treatment, was charged with failure to reduce speed as dictated by road conditions.

Guidelines For Debris Burning Noted By DNR

Landowners or contractors outside incorporated towns who are interested in burning brush, debris, etc., should take advantage of the winter weather that the area is experiencing. According to the Open Air Burning Regulations, Title 8, Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Subtitle .07, Maryland Forest Service, "burning may occur at anytime when the ground is covered with snow, if all other requirements are met."

The open air burning regulations apply to activities in woodland and within 200 feet of woodland, or a flammable material that could carry fire to the woodland. There should be a firebreak at least 10 feet wide around the fire, and adequate personnel and equipment present to control the fire. The fire should be out cold before all personnel leave the scene.

Landowners who wish to do some open air burning while the ground is covered with snow are still required to obtain a burning permit from the Health Department. These permits can be obtained by simply contacting the Garrett County Health Department, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 301-334-7760. Once this permit has been obtained, the landowner should contact Garrett Central Alarm at its non-emergency number, 301-334-1929, prior to burning. This will hopefully reduce the chances of one of the local fire companies being called out on a false alarm.

NURSING HOME AWARDS NOTED – The staff of Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home has named Janice Ashby as February's Employee of the Month. She is a certified geriatric nursing assistant/medication aide and works parttime as a restorative therapy aide. Ashby is pictured sharing a smile with Jim Sanders, the DRMNH Resident of the Month.

Earns 4.0 At FSU

Jordan Halsig, Accident, was recently named to the FSU dean's list, achieving a perfect 4.0 grade point average while carrying 12 credit hours.

Halsig, who is an early college admission student at FSU, is also completing her senior year at Northern High School. During the fall she was featured as a baritone saxophone player in the FSU marching band. She was recently offered admission to the Gemstone Honors program at the University of Maryland and is a finalist in the early assurance program for the Drexel School of Medicine through Ursinus College in Collegeville, Pa., to which she has also been offered admission and an academic scholarship.

LIONS GET "IN THE HABITAT" OF THINGS – The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club recently hosted guest speaker Jeanne Blasher, executive director of Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, and presented her with a $1,000 donation in support of the non-profit housing program. Blasher explained that Habitat is a non-profit lending agency requiring 500 hours of "sweat equity" toward construction of a new home. "The support we get from the community, and the hard work of our volunteers and Habitat families gives those we serve hope and puts them on the right track to success." To request a guest speaker from Habitat, or for information on volunteering, persons and organizations may contact Blasher at 301-533-0600. TV PIPELINE

'Sex in the City' to wrap in 2004

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Sarah Jessica Parker

Q: Is it true that Sarah Jessica Parker is leaving HBO's "Sex and the City" at the end of 2003? –Noah Cheatham, Montgomery, Ala.

A: Filming on the sixth and final season of the Emmy-winning adult sitcom begins March 31, but the good news is that this last season is also the longest: 20 episodes, with 12 to be shown starting in June and the remaining eight to bow next January.

"Sex" has a grueling nighttime shooting schedule that is just a bit much for new mommies Parker and co-star Cynthia Nixon to handle.

Q: Please tell me about Jason O'Mara, who is a wonderful addition to "The Agency." I heard he's from Ireland. If so, what part? –S.M., Philadelphia.

A: All of him (Ha! Sorry, I've always wanted to say that).

Seriously, the 30-year-old Dublin native acquired a zest for acting via a small role in a high-school production. After earning a degree in drama from Dublin's Trinity College, O'Mara began an extensive stage career that has ranged from his hometown's prestigious Gate Theatre to the Royal Shakespeare Company and London's West End all the way to Broadway, where he co-starred with Ian Holm in a loudly acclaimed production of Harold Pinter's "The Homecoming."

Here in the States, BBC America viewers know O'Mara from the second season of the wildly popular Scottish series "Monarch of the Glen" and the UK miniseries "Playing the Field," but a wider audience saw him as Lt. Thomas Meehan in HBO's award-winning "Band of Brothers" miniseries.

The actor is not married.

Q: Who played the Tin Man, Scarecrow, Cowardly Lion and Wicked Witch in "The Wizard of Oz," and how and when did they die (including Toto)? –Marlenea Wilson, Detroit.

A: Terry, the little female cairn terrier who played Toto, died at age 9 in 1942, shortly after co-starring in "George Washington Slept Here." She had earned $125 per week on "The Wizard of Oz," a higher salary than most of the humans in the cast.

Among the principal human actors you asked about (who earned a good deal more than Terry), Bert Lahr (Lion), 72, died of pneumonia in 1967; Jack Haley (Tin Man), 80, died of a heart attack in 1979; Margaret Hamilton (Witch), 82, suffered a fatal heart attack in 1985; and Ray Bolger (Scarecrow), 83, succumbed to cancer in 1987.

Command That Mountain

Most of us have barriers in our lives that prevent us from realizing our hopes for the near or distant future. Perhaps our education was interrupted or maybe we just "got off on the wrong foot". God tells us that when we believe in His Word, we possess limitless power through Him, the Creator of the universe.

In Numbers 20:9, God proclaimed to His follower Moses, "Speak ye unto the rock before their eyes, and it shall give forth His water." In Matthew 21:21, we read... "If ye say unto this mountain, 'Be thou removed and be thou cast into the sea', it shall be done."

Of utmost importance, we must really believe in our prayer to God. Mark 9:23 says simply but profoundly "Be not afraid, only believe. All things are possible to him that believeth."

Then...wait. "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength."[Isa.30:15] Be patient and have confidence in your Heavenly Father's will for your future. He will answer your prayer in His time and in His way. Try not to be discouraged. Keep in touch with your Heavenly Father through daily prayer and weekly worship. You, too, can "command that mountain".

Natural "Medicine" for Heart Disease

According to a recent study, a natural compound known as coenzyme Q-10 or ubiquinone may be useful in a number of conditions involving the heart. Ubiquinone was first identified in 1957. Today, according to some reports, it is one of the "medicines" of choice in treating heart disease in Japan, where 250 different commercial ubiquinone products are available. These products are used for congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, and heart irregularities. Other uses include increasing exercise tolerance and protecting the heart from low oxygen blood levels. Although ubiquinone is not an herb, it is included in some herbal formulas.

One study of ubiquinone involved persons with mild to moderate heart failure. Improvements in edema, shortness of breath, and palpitations (being able to feel the heart beat) were reported. In another study of chronic heart disease patients, there was an increased ability to tolerate exercise with ubiquinone.

PARTNERSHIP
February 23, 2003

Background Scripture:
Acts 18:1-4, 24-26; Romans 16:3,4; 1 Corinthians 16:19; 2 Timothy 4:19
Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 4:1-13.

Throughout its two thousand-year history, the gospel has grown and endured under the efforts of individuals whose names are written large in the saga— Paul, Peter, Augustine, to name just a few. Yet, today we are no less indebted to others whose names are not so well known or remembered, including Priscilla, Aquila and Apollos.

Unless you have already read the suggested 'Background Scripture', these names are not likely to ring a bell with most of you. We look at them now, not just so we can remember some ancient Christians, but because their example has much to say to us..

Who were they? Aquila (OCK-will-uh) and Priscilla (also known as "Prisca") were husband and wife. He was born a Jew in Pontus near the Black Sea in a section of what is Turkey today. He went to Rome until the anti-Semitic edict of Claudius in 49 AD forced out all Jews.. Because Acts does not mention her as a Jew, it is commonly believed that she was Roman.

Hospitality

In Corinth, Aquila and Priscilla plied their trade as tentmakers. Because that was also his trade, Paul sought them out and joined them. This is our introduction to their exemplary Christian hospitality. Paul was thus able to support himself while, on the sabbaths he went to the synagogue to witness to his faith. Later, when he left Corinth for Syria, he took them with him, leaving them in Ephesus when he departed for Antioch.

After Paul left Ephesus, an Alexandrian Jew named Apollos arrived there. His qualifications were somewhat mixed. On the one hand, he was "an eloquent man, well versed in the scriptures," and spoke with great fervor concerning his Alexandrian Christianity. But, apparently there were some gaps in his knowledge, namely the practice of baptism in the name of Jesus and the experience of the Holy Spirit. Still, Apollos was receptive to Aquila and Priscilla and, later in Corinth, he builded upon the spiritual foundation which Paul had previously established.

Tradition tells us that he became bishop in Corinth and also that he was the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews, particularly because it is quite consistent with his Alexandrian background. But other traditions name Priscilla and Aquila as authors of Hebrews. What we do know about these three people, however, is sufficient to suggest qualities which we could well manifest in our own lives.

The Church in Their Home

Their hospitality endeared them to Paul. They opened up their home to him, shared their trade with him, and later opened their home as a meeting place for Corinthians Christ

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• In 1964, the British postal service offered its first stamp that portrayed a person other than royalty: William Shakespeare.

• San Antonio, Texas, is home to a museum dedicated to toilet-seat art.

• In 1824, two New Yorkers, named Lozier and DeVoe, convinced numerous people that they had obtained approval from the mayor to turn the island of Manhattan around — literally. This plan, they said, was to keep the southern end of the island from sinking under the weight of the many new buildings being constructed. For eight weeks the two men recruited laborers and awarded contracts for food and equipment — one for a huge anchor to prevent the island from being swept out to sea. On the day that work was to begin, those assembled to witness the start of the colossal enterprise were shocked to find that Lozier and DeVoe had (for reasons of health, it was claimed) gone on an extended journey.

• Physiologically, fear is identical to excitement. Psychologists claim that you can overcome fright by telling yourself you're just excited. Let me know if this works.

• The deer botfly is considered to be the fastest creature alive. It can fly at 818 mph — a speed close to that of the rotation of the earth!

• The first country to make wearing seat belts mandatory was Czechoslovakia, in 1969.

• Fred Astaire was once a guest star on the TV show "Battlestar Galactica."

• There's an animal called a "niche" — a relative of the grasshopper — that is killed when exposed to temperatures higher than 50 degrees F. These animals, unsurprisingly, live next to glaciers.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Feb. 27, 1936, Shirley Temple receives a new contract from 20th Century Fox that will pay the 7-year-old star $50,000 a film. By 1938, Temple was the No. 1 box-office draw and is still considered one of the most successful child stars in the history of the movies.

• On March 2, 1942, American writer John Irving is born in Exeter, N.H. His early works did not receive much attention. However, his 1978 novel, "The World According to Garp," became a hit, spending six months on the bestseller lists.

• On Feb. 25, 1964, 22-year-old Cassius Clay shocks the oddsmakers by dethroning world heavyweight boxing champ Sonny Liston in a seventh-round technical knockout. The dreaded Liston, who had twice demolished former champ Floyd Patterson in one round, was an 8-to-1 favorite.

• On March 1, 1966, Venera 3, a Soviet probe launched from Kazakhstan on Nov. 15, 1965, collides with Venus, the second planet from the sun. Although Venera 3 failed in its mission to measure the Venusian atmosphere, it was the first unmanned spacecraft to reach the surface of another planet.

• On Feb. 24, 1991, after six weeks of intensive bombing against Iraq and its armed forces, U.S.-led coalition forces launch a ground invasion of Kuwait and Iraq.

• On Feb. 26, 1993, a terrorist bomb explodes in a parking garage of the World Trade Center in New York City, leaving a crater 60 feet wide. Although the bomb failed to critically damage the main structure of the skyscrapers, six people were killed and more than 1,000 were injured.

• On Feb. 28, 1993, agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms raid the Branch Davidian cult compound in Waco, Texas, prompting a gun battle in which four agents and six cult members are killed.

Furniture Basics

Q. I've become interested in older furniture, especially pieces that were crafted before 1900. Can you recommend a good reference book that not only includes current market values, but also in-depth information about furniture styles and construction. — Ben, Palmetto, Fla.

A. There are dozens of good furniture reference books available, but one of my personal favorites is "The Big Book of Antique Furniture" by David P. Lindquist (Krause Publications, $19.95). It is actually three great books in one comprehensive reference. In addition to current values, the book features information about English, Colonial Revival, Continental and Victorian furniture. Unlike many references, this book focuses on good-quality furniture — the pieces you're most apt to see in better antique shops, and not the scarce ones rarely found outside of museums.

"The Big Book of Antique Furniture" addresses how repairs can dramatically affect the value of furniture, how antiques can be used as an investment and the formula used to determine market prices. This is an excellent book, filled with hundreds of illustrations and user-friendly information. If you want to be able to tell the fake from the fabulous, master the correct way to restore and be versed in various furniture styles and their values, this is one of the better reference books available.

A second book, "Furniture Field Guide" (Krause Publications, $12.95), is perfect for taking to auctions, flea markets and antique stores, since it measures 4-by-5 inches and easily fits in the pocket or purse. Both books can be ordered directly from Krause Publications through its toll-free telephone number, 1-800-258-0929.

Icky Algae

Q. The water in my aquarium is green! What did I do wrong, and how can I clear up the view? — James A., Sarasota, Fla.

A. The green water is caused by an explosive growth of aquarium algae. A small amount of algae is normal in aquariums, but too much can cause all sorts of problems.

One of three things — or possibly all three — may have occurred to turn your aquarium water green. You may be overfeeding the fish; the aquarium may not be getting regular maintenance (changing the water, etc.); or the unit is sitting in direct sunlight.

The solution to this type of algae, then, is to monitor and adjust the fish's food supply; stick to a maintenance schedule; and move the aquarium out of direct sunlight if necessary.

Other types of algae can plague aquarium life and make the tank look just plain ugly. For example, if colonies of brown algae form in a tank, then the light levels are too low and the water has too many nutrients. Smelly, slimy blue-green algae (actually a bacteria) is caused by insufficient maintenance and is extremely difficult to clear up; turning off the tank light for up to a week can slow its growth, however.

Change the water at least every week (two weeks at most), making sure the new water has had its chlorine content neutralized and that its temperature matches that of the water in the tank. Scrape away excess algae while the water level is low, and wipe the inside of the glass with a clean cloth. Don't use algaecides to clear up the problem; you'll clear out the fish population as well. Check all filters and intake tubes to ensure they're not clogged.

Certain species of fish help control green algae levels. Ask a knowledgeable professional which type to place in your aquarium. However, don't expect a little fish to do all the cleaning! Keep a regular maintenance schedule, and your tank should be in the clear.

Beitzel Receives Sears Craftsman Scholarship

Garrett County resident Randy Clay Beitzel is among fewer than two dozen recipients of Sears Craftsman scholarships, as announced by the National Hot Rod Association in a recent issue of its National Dragster magazine.

Beitzel is currently pursuing an associate degree in automotive technology at Allegany College of Maryland.

According to ACM, the Grantsville resident was among 21 young people nationwide to earn this "highly selective" scholarship through the Youth and Education Services of NHRA, a motor sports group oriented to drag racing.

Three recipients were chosen for the scholarship from each of the NHRA's seven regional areas. The selection criteria included scholastic record, extracurricular activities, and other evidence of leadership and character.

Beitzel applied for the scholarship following his 2002 graduation from Northern High School, where he completed the automotive technology program.

The Garrett County Vocational Advisory Committee named Beitzel the program's top graduate. He was also a state silver medalist in the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America's Maryland skills competition.

In his first semester at ACM, Beitzel earned high marks in his automotive technology curriculum courses.

"I chose to come here early on. It's an excellent program," Beitzel said about attending ACM. "I like its hand-on aspects the best, although I consider the book work to be valuable."

He said automotive technology is a long-time pursuit of his. "I've always had an interest, starting out as a hobby," Beitzel said. His goal, he said, is to become an automotive service technician. He also foresees teaching high school automotive technology.

In addition to the associate degree program, ACM also offers a certificate in automotive technology. The degree curriculum is typically completed in two years by full-time students; the certificate program, in one. However, part-time students also are enrolled, and working professionals take specific courses of interest to them.

For more information about the programs, persons may call Rex Johnson, ACM director of automotive technology and transportation, at 301-784-5259.

STUDENT PURSUING LONG-TIME INTEREST – Sears Craftsman Scholarship winner Randy Beitzel, left, is using his award, earned through the National Hot Rod Association, to pursue an associate degree in automotive technology at Allegany College of Maryland. See story for details. Beitzel said automotive technology has been a long-time pursuit of his. The Grantsville resident is shown diagnosing an engine's performance with Dennis McKenzie, ACM assistant professor of automotive technology.

Cook On Dean's List At Goucher; Ends Internship

Janet Cook has been named to the fall dean's list for academic achievement at Goucher College in Baltimore.

A senior at Goucher, Cook is enrolled in the political science curriculum with a pre-law concentration.

She completed an internship last month with the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom in Baltimore, where she worked directly with the chairperson of WILPF, Marliese Diaz. Cook was involved in the planning for the Women's Peace Vigil, Code Pink, in Washington, D.C., and participated in this vigil walk in front of the White House.

She is a 1999 honor graduate of Southern High School and the daughter of John and Donna Cook of Oakland.

An independent college, Goucher emphasizes the importance of staying connected to the world outside of the campus through community action, intercultural awareness, and international exploration, according to college spokesperson

Yolanda King To Speak At FSU

Yolanda King, the eldest child of the late Martin Luther King, will speak on "Multiculturalism: The Next Frontier" at Frostburg State University on Tuesday, March 18, at 7 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

Described as a rousing speaker and accomplished actress, King has committed her talents to affecting social and personal change. Among her many stage and movie roles were those of Rosa Parks in the NBC-TV movie King, and Betty Shabazz, wife of Malcolm X, in the film Death of a Prophet. She taught theatre as a visiting professor at Fordham University 1995-1996.

King serves on the board of directors of the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change Inc. and is the founding director of the King Center's Cultural Affairs Program. She is a lifetime member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Habitat for Humanity, and the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta. She has been named to Outstanding Young Women of America.

King currently maintains an active speaking and performing schedule throughout the United States and Europe. She also works on theater and film production projects from her home in Los Angeles.

King's appearance is free and open to the public, but tickets are required to reserve a seat. For ticket reservations and information, persons may call the FSU Diversity Center at 301-687-4050.

Flowery Vale Slates Arthritis Exercise Program

An exercise program designed specifically for people with arthritis will begin on Tuesday, March 4, at Flowery Vale Senior Health and Fitness Center, Accident.

The classes will be offered two nights a week for six weeks on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 until 7 p.m.

The program provides gentle movements and activities under the guidance of trained personnel, said a Community Action spokesperson. The exercises are designed to help increase joint flexibility, range of motion, and muscle strength.

Pre-registration is required, and enrollment is limited. Persons may call the fitness center at 301-746-8050 for more information and to register for the classes.

DNR Selling Tree Seedlings At Cost

The John S. Ayton State Forest Tree Nursery of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service is offering seedlings, at cost, to individuals and organizations interested in planting trees on a minimum 1/4 acre of land. In addition, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is offering free (see below).

"Our seedling sale is one of the ways that DNR's Forest Service works to help individuals and organizations invest in the future," stated an agency spokesperson.

Individuals with 1/4 acre or more are encouraged to plant trees as stream buffers, and windbreaks, and to improve wildlife habitat and erosion control. Neighbors can work together to plant 1/4 acre along their property lines, and communities are encouraged to plant seedlings in parks and other common areas. The seedlings are offered for sale in minimum quantities of 100 seedlings. Conifers may be ordered in multiples of 50, and hardwood seedlings in multiples of 100. Seedling orders will be taken until Friday, Feb. 28.

To encourage the planting of riparian buffers in Maryland, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will offer, at no cost, seedlings to private landowners who must have a forest plan for the riparian area that the landowner wants to reforest. The riparian buffer is generally limited to the 100-year floodplain, or to the crest of the hill in steep valleys.

Landowners interested in planting trees on their property this spring should contact the DNR Forest Service office at Mt. Nebo at 301-334-3296 for information and guidance in planning any plantings because proper site preparation is extremely important.

Persons planning to plant more than one acre may be eligible for one of the many incentive programs offered by the state or federal government. The Forest Service office at Mt. Nebo can provide further information about these programs.

Landowners or groups interested in purchasing seedlings for planting this spring can also place orders by contacting the John S. Ayton Forest Tree Nursery at 1-800-TREES–MD (1-800-873-3763). The 2003 nursery catalog can be obtained through the nursery's Web site at www.dnr.state.md.us/forests/nursery.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

How come a magnet will ruin data on a 3.5" floppy disk, but not a CD disk?

In either case, information is stored as binary data, that is, a string of 1's and 0's.

A floppy disk represents the 1's and 0's magnetically: a tiny "domain" of magnetic material pointing "north" is a one; pointing south is a "zero." When such a disk gets near a strong magnetic field, all the domains will become aligned in one direction, and then the sequence of 1's and 0's is destroyed. That in turn destroys the information that was stored this way.

By contrast, a compact disk (CD) stores information optically, and is not affected at all by nearby magnetism. Just as there are tiny domains on a floppy disk, there are tiny regions on a CD wherein the representation of a one or zero is stored. For example, it could be dark/light, or reflecting/non-reflecting, etc. When a laser beam scans along the pathway of a CD, the beam that returns to a detector tells whether a certain spot contained a one or a zero. As long as the underside of a CD is kept clean, the laser beam will not get confused.

If an equipment malfunction in the CD player causes the tracking to go astray, then the information will not reach the next stage; but the CD itself remains unharmed.

Microsoft Access Crash Course Set

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett College will offer a one-session Microsoft Access crash course on Thursday, March 6. The class will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a one-hour break for lunch. The instructor is Alice Bosley, a former Gateway programmer/trainer.

Students will explore electronic databases associated with the Access program. The instructor will cover setting up databases, compiling information, and all the basic functions of Access. For more information or to register, persons may call Sue Smith at 301-387-3080.

Business Writing Class Offered

The Small Business Development Center of Garrett College will hold a three-session course titled Better Business Writing from March 3 through March 17. Classes will be on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Participants will discover ways to improve daily written communication. They will learn ways to improve spelling and punctuation, identify individual writing styles, evaluate other writings for weaknesses and errors, writing better memos, and writing for special circumstances.

For more information or to register, persons may call Sue Smith at 301-387-3080.

On Dean's List At Bridgewater

Beverly J. Sebold has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Bridgewater College, Va., announced Dr. Arthur C. Hessler, vice president and dean for academic affairs.

Students on the dean's list have attained a 3.4 or better grade-point average on a 4.0 scale.

Sebold, a senior majoring in business administration, is the daughter of Larry and Brenda Sebold of McHenry.

OPEN HOUSE SLATED – The Garrett County Animal Shelter will hold an open house on Thursday, Feb. 27, from 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. This is the kick-off event for March's Spay/Neuter Month, which is co-sponsored by the Garrett County Humane Society and the shelter. Society members will be on hand at the open house with information on adoptions and the spay/neuter program. Additionally, there will be free refreshments, a Beanie Baby drawing, and 2003 spay/neuter U.S. postage stamp shirts for sale. "Please stop in to meet the staff and adoptable animals," said Lisa Baker of the Humane Society. "Plus, learn more about how you can help 'stamp' out pet overpopulation." Pictured above are Brodie and Breann Robinson with Snow. The yellow Labrador had been housed at the shelter, but he is currently being fostered with the Robinson family. Though Snow is no longer available for adoption, many other animals are available at the shelter. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3553. The shelter is located along Oakland Sang Run Road.

On Cusp Of 100, No Slowing Down For Chauncey Friend

99 AND COUNTING – Longtime Friendsville resident and Garrett County schoolteacher Chauncey Friend, who celebrated his 99th birthday earlier this month, is shown at the left with a quilt that was made by Joann Meyers and quilted by Jack Edmunds, and given to him by friends and members of Sand Spring Church of God, located along Fearer Road, Friendsville. Many of those who signed the piece of stitchery were Friend's former students. Friend is also pictured above with students who participated in the Partners After School in Grantsville, who recently delivered Valentines to Adopt-a-Grandparent recipients at Goodwill Nursing Home in Grantsville. The project runs throughout the school year as Learn and Serve Community projects. Glass hearts filled with mini cookies and Hershey kisses were also distributed as no sweet tooth went away unsatiated.

By Jeremy Carr

Chauncey Friend, formerly of Friendsville, now a resident at the Goodwill Retirement Community, Grantsville, celebrated his 99th birthday on Feb. 6.

Friend began teaching at the age of 16 in one room school houses consisting of grades 1 through 7, and continued for 47 years. He taught, for all those years except one, in Garrett County and retired in 1967.

His first wife passed away in 1969 and his second in 1989. He currently keeps in touch with a "sweetheart," who lives nearby.

Friend had five children, three boys and two girls, four of whom are still living. He also has 16 grandchildren, at least 13 great-grandchildren, and at least one great-great-grandchild. Friend noted that at 99 if he forgot anyone in his family he wants them to know that he "loves them all!"

"I don't feel any older than 30," said Friend, and when asked what his secret to living such a long life was he simply said, "I don't drink, don't smoke, and don't chase wild women."

New Germany Volunteers Set Year's Slate

The Friends of New Germany volunteer organization has announced its 2003 schedule of events.

To help prepare New Germany State Park for the season, Park Clean-Up Day has been set for Saturday, April 19.

The Fishing Rodeo for children is scheduled for Wednesday, June 18. The second annual BioBlitz is set for the weekend of June 21-22, The BioBlitz program includes hikes, tours, instruction, and identification of natural specimens within the park.

The annual New Germany Park Open House will be combined with a fundraising yard sale and other family events for a Fall Festival the weekend of Sept. 20-21.

Friends volunteers have been making and offering cookies and other snacks to cross-country skiers for a donation to the organization. This fund-raising activity takes place in the park on weekends and at the concession building and the Allegheny Expeditions ski rental center in the recreation hall.

Friends of New Germany is an incorporated volunteer organization that supports New Germany State Park by providing park services and community programs. Persons interested in joining the organization may call the New Germany Park office at 301-895-5453.

State Jobless Rate Decreases; County's Higher

Downsizing in Maryland's labor force helped to minimize seasonal employment reductions and to lower unemployment from 4.0 percent in November to 3.8 percent in December. This decline positioned Maryland's unemployment rate nearly two full percentage points below the national level of 5.7 percent for the second consecutive month.

Meanwhile, in Garrett County the jobless rate jumped over two points, from 5.4 percent in November to 7.8 percent in December. The December 2001 rate was 7.9 percent.

"The decrease in Maryland unemployment rate demonstrates the adaptability of the workforce even during these difficult times," said James D. Fielder Jr., Ph.D., acting secretary for the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation. "December's employment reached a record high for the month, demonstrating that the state of Maryland continues to show its economic vitality in contrast to national unemployment figures."

The withdrawal of job seekers from the labor market helped to lower or to stabilize unemployment in 15 of the state's 24 local jurisdictions during December. One-half of the local jurisdictions reported unemployment rates below the statewide average; with the lowest levels at 2.2 percent in Montgomery County, 2.3 percent in Calvert County, and 2.4 percent in Howard, Frederick, and St. Mary's counties.

Seasonal declines are the norm in December as weather-related layoffs and holiday shutdowns often diminish employment. The number of employed dropped during the month by just over 23,000 people. Even with this decline, December's employment level of 2,770,357 is an all-time high for the month. Additionally, the number of job seekers declined in December, helping to minimize the impact of employment reductions and to lower the number of unemployed to 108,561 people.

During December, holiday hiring prompted part-time employment in a number of retail trade establishments. This expansion, coupled with hiring in transportation, finance, real estate, and business services, helped to downplay the effects of seasonal reductions and relatively moderate downswings in construction; seasonal reductions in hotels, amusements, and agricultural services; and temporary furloughs in manufacturing.

OBITUARIES

BERTHA T. PLYBON

Bertha Thelma (Gill) Plybon, 97, formerly of Westernport, died Friday, Feb. 14, 2003, at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born Aug. 7, 1905, in Huntington, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Hezikah and Dottie (Hite) Gill. She was also preceded in death by her husband, the Rev. George F. Plybon, in 1961; four brothers; and three sisters.

She is survived by three sons and one daughter, the Rev. Frank Plybon, Parkersburg, W.Va., John Plybon, Summerfield, N.C., Dr. Ben Plybon, Lewisburg, W.Va., and Betty Howard, Westernport; three brothers and one sister, Norman Gill, Bill Gill, and Bob Gill, all of Huntington, W.Va., and Christine Ladd, Tucson, Ariz.; eight grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

She was an elementary school teacher in West Virginia and Ohio and was active in the United Methodist Church. She served in the United Methodist Women organization, and held several offices, both local and district. She was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church, Piedmont and the 9th Avenue UMC in Huntington.

Friends were received at the Fredlock Funeral Home, Piedmont, and at the Wallace Funeral Home, Barboursville, W.Va.

A service was conducted at the Trinity United Methodist Church on Tuesday, Feb. 18, with the Rev. Elizabeth Allen-Villinger officiating. A service was also conducted at the Wallace Funeral Home, Barboursville, with the Rev. Ed. Hood officiating.

Interment was in the White Chapel Memorial Gardens, Barboursville.

OUTSTANDING IN FRIENDSVILLE – Friendsville Elementary School recently selected its Students of the Month for January. In the front, from the left, are Michael Nugent, pre-kindergarten; and Cheyenne Hackett, kindergarten. In the middle are Zachary Friend, third grade; Hannah Smearman, second grade; and Sierra Sines, first grade. In the third row are Kerah Umbel and Dillon Frazee, both in fourth grade; and Bradley Rodeheaver and Hannah Fike, both in fifth grade.

Students Of The Month Honored

The staff at Southern High School recently selected the Students of the Month for January. They are Stephanie Keenan, science; James Naylor, math; Jody Moore, English, Andy Uphold, English; Aaron Grimes, CTE; and Jennifer George, social studies. The Renaissance Center is the business partner of the month.

Jennifer George, a freshman, is the daughter of Marion and Sandra George. She received first place for her essay in the DARE program, and has also participated in Girl Scouts and Brenda's Body Shop. She was also a member of a traveling soccer team and played slow-pitch softball. Her future plans include going to college to pursue a career in interior design.

Aaron Grimes, a senior, is the son of Bruce Grimes and Susan Warner. He has been named to the honor roll many times throughout his high school years. After high school, he plans to work for a year and then major in auto CAD at ITT Technical Institute. He said he plans to become a mathematician.

Stephanie Keenan, a junior, is the daughter of Mike and Karen Ridenour. She has been named to the honor roll and has received the Marching Minds award. She is a member of the marching band and was the color guard captain last season. She is currently participating in the winter guard. She also volunteers at Dennett Road Nursing Home, Oakland, and is helping with the middle school color guard. In the future, she said she hopes to attend Coastal Carolina University and study marine biology.

Jody Moore, a senior, is the daughter of Gary Moore and Ella Mae Ford. She has been named to the honor roll and has received the economics award. She has also been nominated for Who's Who Among American High School Students, and sings in the chorus. After high school, she said she plans to attend Garrett College to study business management, and then transfer to another school.

James Naylor, a freshman, is the son of Paul and Adele Naylor. He was the RAM Student of the Month for November. He is a member of the varsity soccer team, and plans to participate in track and field this spring. He also volunteers at Garrett County Memorial Hospital as a gift shop attendant, and is a member of the Arsenal traveling soccer team. In the future, he said he plans to attend a four-year college.

Andy Uphold, a sophomore, is the son of Jeff and Gloria Uphold. He is an active member of the Corinth United Methodist Church. After high school, he said he plans to attend a tech school to study mathematics.

What is the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks?

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States of America is one of the oldest and largest fraternal organizations in the world. Since its founding in 1868, the membership of the Order of Elks has grown to over 1.2 million in almost 2,200 communities. These members pledge to be dedicated to the ideals of charity and patriotism. During our 134 year history, over 3 billion dollars in cash, goods, and services, raised through independent fundraising, have been provided to our nation's youth, veterans, and the disadvantaged, and in support of civic, charitable, and patriotic programs.

What about our local Elks Lodge?

In 1972, 200 local men joined together to charter an Elks Lodge. The first meetings were held at Cornish Manor, and later the National Guard Armory. Finally, under the sponsorship of Cumberland Lodge #63, Oakland Lodge #2481 was chartered. Very soon thereafter, a two-story house was purchased to house the lodge and its activities. The membership has grown steadily for the past 31 years; our current membership rolls are well over 700. Our proud members are very active in supporting local programs that promote patriotism and protect our future by encouraging the youth of our community to lead drugfree and charitable lives.

Since April 1, 2001, the Oakland Elks Lodge has donated over $40,000 to programs in our local community. Some of these programs are: Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 "Student of the Year" Scholarships, Drug Awareness (D.A.R.E. and Reality programs), youth golf and tennis (Seven Springs Tournaments, Mtn. Top Youth Football, Boy Scouting, Cub Scout Pack #31, Southern High Band Boosters, Elks Hoop Shoot, Southern High Girls' Basketball, Oakland Little League, Southern Mat Club, Youth Soccer, Service League Basketball, Youth Bowling League, Southern Alumni Baseball, Southern and Northern High School After Prom programs, Garrett County Foster Children's Christmas Parties, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Ali Ghan Shrine, House of Hope, Hospice of Garrett County, various local fire departments and rescue squads, Multiple Sclerosis Society, Appalachian Crossroads, Garrett County Big Brothers Big Sisters, NPCC Prostate Cancer, and the United Way Campaign. This list does not include some local and other state and national charities and organizations supported by our numerous fundraisers.

SO...

What Does It Mean to Be an Elk?

It means being a member of one of the largest fraternal organizations in the world.

It means caring enough to make a difference in people's lives.

It means sharing your time with others who have the same goals.

It means caring about our children, our county, our veterans, and our country.

B.P.O.E. truly the Best People On Earth

Bruce Jacobs To Read Poetry At Frostburg State

Bruce A. Jacobs, poet, author, and visiting writer at Frostburg State University for spring 2003, will read his poetry on Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cordts Physical Education Center Leake Room. Included will be new poetry as well as poems from his 1997 book Speaking Through My Skin, which won the Naomi Long Madgett Poetry Prize. The event is free and open to the public.

Jacobs is also the author of the nonfiction book Race Manners: Navigating the Minefield Between Black and White Americans, and he was the keynote speaker at FSU's 2001 Martin Luther King Jr. Convocation.

Jacobs travels regularly to campuses and communities across the nation giving readings and speaking about racial politics. He is a Harvard graduate whose writing has appeared in Beloit Poetry Journal, African-American Review, American Writing, Atlanta Review, Many Mountains Moving, and many other journals and anthologies. He is a native of Rochester, N.Y., and now lives in Baltimore. This semester he is teaching poetry at FSU as part of the creative writing curriculum.

For more information, persons may contact the FSU English Department at 301-687-4221.

Chinua Hawk To Perform At FSU

Pop-soul singer Chinua Hawk will appear at Frostburg State University on Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

Sponsored by FSU's Campus Activities Board, this performance is free and open to the public.

Chinua is Nigerian for "God's Own Blessing." The name Hawk reflects the singer's Native American heritage. "Combining these influences with those of Whitney Houston, Donny Hathaway, and Stevie Wonder, Hawk uses his powerful voice to convey lyrics with universal appeal," stated a program spokesperson. He has recorded a CD, First Love, and is now engaged in a national college tour.

For more information, persons may contact the Lane University Center Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

FSU Will Host Amanda Garrigues

Frostburg State University's Center Stage will present singer Amanda Garrigues Live! at the Loft on Thursday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the Lane University Center. This performance is free and open to the public.

Hailing from Gainesville, Fla., Garrigues is a seasoned performer with extensive touring experience. Her influences range from Ani DeFranco to Joni Mitchell, from the Indigo Girls to Suzanne Vega.

Garrigues has built a reputation as a strong singer and guitarist "with a passionate delivery style that sets her apart." She pays tribute to themes of home, family, and independence in her original songs.

According to the Independent Florida Alligator, "Garrigues' finely crafted acoustic treasures reflect an honest maturity that rarely rears its head in the work of most modern pop rock artists."

For information, persons may contact the Lane University Center Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

The Women To Be Presented At Frostburg State

Frostburg State University Theatre will present the play The Women by Clare Booth Luce on March 7, 8, 13, 14, and 15 at 8 p.m. and on March 8 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

A comedy classic, The Women premiered on Broadway in 1936, ran for two years, and caused a sensation as it shattered cozy myths about matrimony. Described as "gleefully malicious," the play satirizes a group of 30s-era New York socialites, their twisted marriages, and the gossip that is their undoing. "A large, all-female cast of characters provides some of American theatre's juiciest roles for women," stated a program spokesperson.

The Women has enjoyed successful runs and revivals on Broadway and across the country for nearly 66 years. The 2001-2002 New York production was a sell-out.

Tickets are $4 for FSU students and $10 for the general public. For reservations and information, persons may call 301-687-7462 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Named To Dean's List At Frostburg

Josh Swandol, Avilton, has been named to the dean's list at Frostburg State University for outstanding academic achievement for the fall 2002 semester with a 3.6 grade point average. He is majoring in health and physical education and was awarded the Maryland Teacher's HOPE Scholarship.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must complete a minimum of 12 credit hours and earn a cumulative semester grade point average of at least 3.4 on a 4.0 scale.

Swandol works part-time at the Western Maryland Health System as a security officer, and volunteers with the Youth Basketball League, Grantsville. He is the son of Jim and Cathi Swandol, Avilton.

Business Group Slates Meeting

The Greater Grantsville Business Association will hold its monthly breakfast meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 8:30 a.m. at Penn Alps Restaurant.

The featured speaker will be Kenneth Mankamyer, D.C. All those interested in the Grantsville business community are invited.

Emerg. Services' Blanket Drive Is "Huge" Success

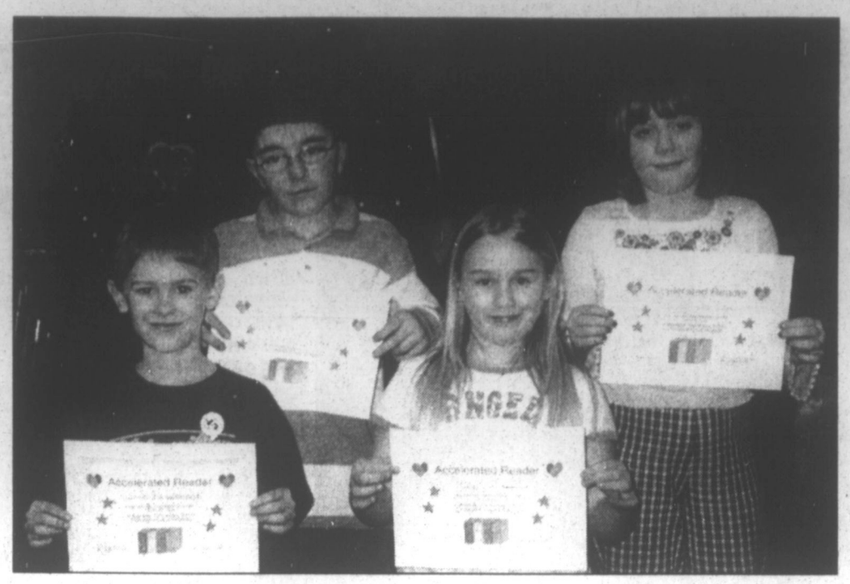
Ben Bernard, AmeriCorps coordinator for Community and Emergency Services at Garrett County Community Action, recently organized the 2002 "Bundle Up Blanket Drive".

"The blanket drive was a huge success," said Bernard. "Local churches, libraries, and businesses volunteered as drop off and collection sites."

Additionally, several individuals, businesses, and organizations donated to the drive. They are as follows: Railey Realty, 48 Biederlack brand blankets; West Marva District, 35 blankets; St. Mark's Church, 8 blankets; Becky Cogley, 13 blankets; Biederlack Inc., 12 blankets; the Department of Social Services, 31 blankets; and Asher Glade Church of the Brethren gave $200 to purchase blankets.

Ruth Enlow library's Oakland, Accident, and Friendsville's offices volunteered to be drop off sites. and 10 blankets were collected from these three locations.

The blankets will be given out to families who are facing energy emergencies, according to Bernard.



ACCELERATED READERS NAMED – Students at Kitzmiller Elementary School were recently inducted into the 5 and 10 point accelerated reader clubs. In order to be selected for the club, children must read books and earn points by passing a computer-generated test. The awards were given at a recent assembly held at the school. Shown above are Josh Nesselrodt, 10 point club; and Paige Lucas, Dustin Tichinel, and Kristi Warnick, all in the 5 point club.

Domenick Attends National Youth Leadership Forum

Natalie Domenick, Mtn. Lake Park, attended the National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence, and Diplomacy (NYLF/DID) last week in Washington, D.C.

Having demonstrated academic achievement and an interest in a career related to national security, Domenick joined nearly 400 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from across America at the forum. She and the other students learned first-hand from individual leaders in national security, diplomacy, and global defense systems.

"While leaders from countries around the world are addressing situations in North Korea and Iraq, and the War on Terrorism, so, too, are students like Natalie Domenick," said Donna Weldin, executive director of NYLF. "By experiencing the pace, decision-making process, and urgency of Washington, D.C., through interaction with some of our country's most qualified national security leaders, students will be better prepared to become the face of leadership for our country."

In addition to experiencing how the U.S. plans for peace and prepares for crisis, Domenick also met with leaders from key agencies and institutions. The students had the opportunity to visit several military installations and agencies, such as the Central Intelligence Agency, Gettysburg National Military Park, the Pentagon, and the U.S. Department of State, as well as several embassies and other sites.

U.S. Senator Chuck Hagel of Nebraska discussed the importance of a solid national defense. "I think that we are living at the most complicated and dangerous time in the history of man," said Hagel, who is also a member of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "It is also a time of great opportunity, when this country, the most powerful on Earth, can lead the world to becoming a better place. We have within our grasp, the capacity to do more good in the world than ever known before."

NYLF/DID culminated with a student-run simulation of international crises involving the Darien region in Panama, where students assumed true-to-life roles in making decisions to resolve a fictional global situation.

A junior at Southern High School, Domenick is undecided at this time about which college to attend. Her main interests, however, are math and science. She is the daughter of Mark and Teresa.

The NYLF is a nonpartisan, nonprofit educational organization that sponsors highly specialized career-oriented programs for outstanding high school students who demonstrate leadership potential. Additional information is available at www.nylf.org.

4-H Club News

GRANTSVILLE

February's meeting of the Grantsville 4-H Club meeting took place recently at the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club. The meeting was called to order by President Bridgette Welch, pledges were led by Jared Beachy and Kelli Wilhelm, and the roll was announced by favorite colors.

Important dates were discussed, and the 2003 record books were distributed. Club members were to go bowling the last two Sundays in February and the first three Sundays in March. Austin Wilhelm presented a demonstration about model airplanes.

The next meeting is set for 7 p.m. Monday, March 3, at the Cassleman Valley Sportsman's Club.

Nedra M. Kisner

was the wife of a farmer and a mother of four. She had several grandchildren that she adored. A year ago on February 21, 2002, she left us, and by the wings of angels she rose above so she could shower us all with her undying love. We all miss her badly, but remember her as an angel on Earth, and now our very own guardian angel that watches over us daily.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

It is amazing to think about the Washington, D.C., area getting hammered with (just an everyday event for us) a big snowstorm of about a foot or two of snow, paralyzing the Metro area. They also think that it is cold there with temperatures in the 20s with not much wind. When I was in some of those storms around D.C. there was just mass panic, as much as if the terrorists' threat actually happened. I talked with a friend in Silver Spring on Friday and she was panicking about getting out to the supermarket before it was too late. I guess they are stocked up with three days of food in preparation for a possible terrorist attack, so I am sure they will get through this weekend.

It is true that I can't go anywhere this Sunday afternoon since my lane has already snowed shut after only 12 hours since it was totally clear, thanks to Jack Beitzel and his big dozer. You can't get very far in Bittinger with just a hand-held snow blower or even lawn-tractor mounted blowers, as Lesa Whittemore found out this year in the first real winter she experienced in her new house with that long lane and through open fields. She was very grateful that Jack pushed back the snow pile she created when she blew out her lane.

That is a perennial problem of winter here with the snow cleared off the road, as it soon becomes a new snow trap to gather in more snow. Sheila Southerly expressed that concern to me about the high pile at the upper end of Peat Moss Road. As much snow as there is here at my house, it is still not quite as bad as what Lesa Whittemore told me just now, that the snow is piled around her house pretty much to her back windows. My mother's two porches were blocked with snowdrifts, as was her garage door, so she was unable to get outside from any exit. The Bass family came to her rescue, shoveling out around her front door so she could at least let the dog out. Kevin was right there several times on Sunday blowing out her drive and clearing her porch, not that she could go anywhere.

I heard that Greg Whittemore and Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty both built some awesome snow caves. So that is one thing that has not changed around Bittinger in the last 40 years, as kids still love to dig snow caves in the huge drifts of snow that surround their houses.

Most people who can be out on their skis today are braving the storm and snow, except Janet Beyea, up from Frederick County. Although being a pretty tough cookie, she decided the weather today was too bad and not to venture out on her skis. However, last weekend was nice enough to inspire Lesa Whittemore, Kevin Bass, and Denny and Shane Buckel to take one of the best cross-country trips, to the top ridge of Meadow Mountain. It was the longest trip she had ever tried and probably one of the most beautiful too.

Just out our back door we have the most beautiful winter wonderland, with ice and snow covered lakes and pretty streams littered with rocks with plump snow pillows, old growth hemlock forests and pine plantations with tall white pines, and many wide expansive views from the several ridges. She really did not need to describe the wonders she saw because I know every inch of that wild country around that mountain where you need to duck very low to avoid the pine branches bowed down under heavy loads of snow. The downhill parts through a dense growth of Hawthorne bushes still have a few red berries that the birds and bears have not yet devoured. From Rock Lodge Road you have about a half-mile of gradual climb to reach the first ridge, then a fairly steep downhill run to the creek and the Beaver Dam, then another steeper climb through hardwood forest on an old logging road to reach the second ridge.

If you turn left there you would arrive at the lake at the 4-H camp. Then you have another steep downhill run before the final long climb to reach the top of the world around here, which is a couple hundred yards above Route 495, with a full view of New Germany valleys. That view is so spectacular in autumn that it takes your breath away. As you look over 495 behind, you have the watershed that flows into the Casselman River and eventually into the Mississippi. The side to your front flows into the Savage River and east into the Potomac.

This Monday morning (Presidents' Day) I guess everyone will have to take a day off from everything. I heard a rumor that all state roads were closed. I am sure that applies to the county roads too, with a couple feet of fresh powder overnight. I can't even open my door. The cleared lane and the shoveled deck are distant memories. If our governor would have been in Bittinger he would have not just called a statewide emergency, but he would have had a heart attack, and no ambulance could reach him.

This reminds me of one terrible night in Bittinger history when the storm dumped several feet of snow and completely closed all roads, and one that had lightning along with it, which often happens when you get a huge accumulation of snow. Thank God we did not get a thunderstorm this time, as in that storm a lightning bolt hit the house on the Opel farm and resulted in fire and the death of two Opel family members. The endless sound of sirens out on Rock Lodge Road still haunts me. In fact, it is a little scary that I can't open my door, so if my house caught on fire I would certainly roast. I thank God that I did fill my heating oil tank a couple weeks ago because I could not get a delivery now no matter what. On Friday I ventured out to McHenry to pick up a few pressing needs from the drug store and the grocery store. I am glad I have plenty of coffee, milk, food, and Kleenex, since I have a bad running nose. But I did neglect to get any cat food, because, for one reason, it is hard for me to carry big things into my house by myself.

When we get a real meltdown of snow the lower altitudes downstream from here can look forward to some floods. My guess is that the Casselman River valley will be just a big lake. Last week it really hit home to me how high my home is. Nowhere do we not have a long downhill run. On ice-covered roads and with my big heavy car, when I drive down a hill it feels like an ultra heavy bobsled, only with less ability to steer it.

It looks to me like the Garrett County Roads Department might be getting low on cinders. Ferne Beachy told me on the phone that although she just saw a snowplow pass it was not spreading any cinders. That, however, does not stop unwise drivers needing to pass my slow-moving car. They didn't seem to realize that there was no way they could stop fast if a deer happened to jump in front of them, or if they started to skid. I don't know if those drivers passing me, when I was going only as fast as road conditions allowed, were from nearby or not, but I am inclined to be aware of the places that were sites of many accidents over the years.

There is one curve in the woods below Jimmy Glotfelty's that we have always called Phyllis' curve, since one time Phyllis Buckel ran off the road there. Several years later as I was on my way to college for an evening class I saw a wrecked car in the woods there and the open door and key alarms screaming. As much as I hated to venture into the woods to look into the car for an injured driver, since I was trained in CPR I felt it was my duty. I couldn't find anyone in the car, although I heard some strange noise in the surrounding dark woods. I couldn't find any sign of humans anywhere. Then at the curve on Mosser Road, just past Foy Road, several cars were in the ditch there.

I also know how dangerous a patch of woods in the middle of open country is. Most of the time there is a coat of sheer ice in Brenneman's Grove where so many accidents happened over the years. In the 40 years I have driven the road around Bittinger, I learned plenty about how steep the little hill is on Rock Lodge Road above Beachy Road, and how hard it is to stop at the stop sign at Brenneman's Store.

I wish I could remember the actual past years when we had this kind of snow in Bittinger. I can kind of guess it was a 1960 winter when my little brother Scott was born and the snow was so deep in our lane that my mother had to be driven out on the back of the tractor to the main road in order to get to the hospital. The day she had to be driven out on the tractor, Joyce Brenneman had to be driven in to her house on the back of the tractor with a new baby boy. This was followed by other bad winters in 1971, 1972,1974, etc.

I am sure about the winter of 1977-78, and at least one year in the 1980s. I remember the '74 storm because I was home from College Park riding in a VW bug, which was totally buried in snow, and because we couldn't get back to the University of Maryland for a scheduled exam on Monday. My professor doubted my excuse since, of course, the rest of Maryland was practically springtime. Luckily we took a Polaroid picture of the car so I got to make up the exam.

I guess our self-appointed snow mover, Jack Beitzel, with his big loader has his work cut out for him. It is 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Monday and I still have not heard the welcome noise of heavy scraping outside my house, which means I can't get my girls home with me since they are cozy at their father's house in McHenry. Unfortunately, their dogs are with me, and I can't get my door open to let them out for bathroom breaks. But I was happy to hear Carol and Janet arrive to shovel me out. Most of my life my farm home was "Almost Heaven," but today when I am alone in a landscape fit for the North Pole, I think it must be Hell frozen over.

PERSONAL NOTE
By Jean Winters

There is little news other than weather to report. And as most of you are experiencing it, I need not elaborate. Suffice it to say that we went through more days of drifting and blowing snow, a real blizzard, coming atop an already truly magnificent amount of the white barrier to transportation than for any of our eastern and north-eastern neighbors who have been bemoaning their fate on the network news. So interesting the amount they declare it will take to "clean up" — our mountainous areas would long ago have been bankrupt! Let us just say that four feet atop the like-amount already on the ground makes it deep and 30 mph winds, this time from the east, rearranged the landscape.

CARD SHOWER

A birthday card shower is planned for the March 5 birthday of Lois Knight, a former resident of Lantz Ridge, who was injured in a fall which resulted in paralysis. She is reportedly having a battle to recover. Her former neighbor, Margie Strawser, asks that friends address cards to her at HC 90 Box 62, Moccasin, MT 59462.

OTHER NOTES

Mary Frances (Martin) Beckman of Morgantown is a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital, facing rehabilitation as the result of an apparent stroke. She and her late husband, Wade, were originally from this area.

Genevive Ball was taken last Thursday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and has returned to her Aurora home near the state line. Her daughter, Bernadette Lipscomb, has been with her.

Freda Whitehair of Terra Alta has been a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital and is expected to be transferred to a nursing facility near the home of her daughter.

It was hoped that Nathan Nissly could return this week from Pittsburgh Children's Hospital to his home at Lake Galilee, near Terra Alta. He is being treated for a trachea abnormality. He, his brother Micah, and his parents, Glenn and Joanne Nissly, attend the Maple Spring Church.

Mt. Grove VFD Slates Dinner

The Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department will hold an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake and sausage dinner on Sunday, March 2, from noon until 7 p.m.

Cost of the meal for adults is $5 and for children 12 years and under, $2.50.

Proceeds from the dinner will go toward the department's building improvement efforts.

Peculiar People Will Return To Mountaintop '03

Living for Christ Conferences has announced that the drama troupe Peculiar People will perform at its upcoming get-away weekend conference. Mountaintop 2003 will be held March 5-7 at Oglebay's Wilson Lodge in Wheeling.

Peculiar People is a touring theater company based in Franklin, Tenn., a suburb of Nashville. Ruth and Charlie Jones team together to bring a unique blend of comedy and insight to their audiences. The Joneses have over 20 years of experience in professional theater and have performed nationwide and in Europe. The main focus of their work is "a desire to renew astonishment at the power of God's grace and recapture a lost wonder and innocence."

"The drama of Peculiar People is wonderful and so poignant. Attendees from past-Mountaintops found themselves laughing hilariously one minute and moved to tears the next. Ruth and Charlie are truly gifted professionals Their unique way of showing life-changing truths touched our very souls. We're thrilled that they're returning," said Anne Robinson, Wheeling resident, spokesperson of the nonprofit, nondenominational sponsor.

Appearing with Peculiar People at the Saturday evening "Festival in Celebration of Hope in the Lord" is award-winning pianist and vocalist Richard Allen Farmer. Dr. Farmer will present a break-out seminar titled "The Reasons and Seasons of Prayer." Peculiar People will also lead a seminar, "Starting a Drama Group in Your Church."

The featured speaker for this weekend event is Scotty Smith, acclaimed author and senior pastor of the growing Christ Community Church in Franklin, Tenn. His conference title is "Coming Alive to the Compelling Love of God," based on his book Objects of His Affection.

Registration brochures and information are available through Living for Christ Conferences, 304-455-5322; website: www.living4Christ.com.

W.Va. Sets New Mark For ATV Deaths In 2002

The year of 2002 was a record year for deaths caused by all-terrain vehicle accidents in West Virginia. A total of 27 fatalities were incurred in the state over the course of the year, the greatest number of ATV-related deaths in the 13 years of data available, according to a researcher with West Virginia University.

One-fourth of those killed were children under 16. Of those killed in ATV-related crashes, more than 90 percent were not wearing helmets, and 15 percent were passengers. There were 25 deaths in 2001, 15 in 2000, and 26 in 1999.

"Many of the ATV deaths that occur are preventable," commented Jim Helmkamp, Ph.D., of the WVU Center for Rural Emergency Medicine. "If riders follow simple safety precautions like wearing helmets, avoiding paved surfaces, and riding without passengers, a tragic situation can be avoided."

The state's legislature is considering enacting laws that will provide that will provide basic safety regulations for ATVs and their operators. "This is a positive step in preventing future ATV-related injuries and fatalities," Helmkamp said, "but there is still much more work to be done in order to save lives."

power, so at least my house is fairly warm. The whole of Maryland got a taste of real winter and they act like Chicken Little — "The sky is falling." The game in College Park between Maryland and Wake Forest playing for the number one spot in the ACC Conference was not played on Sunday night, and was finally played Monday afternoon. It was not televised because the TV crews were unable to get to the game. But when the game was played in the new arena it was filled mainly with students. Listening to the game on radio I feel that, yes, we will win the game. With only a one minute and few seconds left we are ahead by about 20 points. I can't get used to listening to the basketball game on radio, but anyway the result was undisputed, as the Terps climbed on top again.

I heard from a friend who lived near Ocean City, and they are also paralyzed by eight inches of snow.

The Rodney Glotfelty family traveled to Morgantown, W.Va., on Saturday, where Robbie performed with the West Virginia Honor Band. Luckily they got home before the storm got into full steam.

Maryland Grain Producers Offer Scholarship

The Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board (MGPUB) has allocated $5,000 of grain check-off funds to support an annual scholarship program and is currently seeking applicants for two scholarships. The deadline for applications for the MGPUB Scholarship is June 1, 2003.

Administered by the Maryland Grain Producers Association, two deserving students enrolled in a Maryland or an out-of-state institution will receive a scholarship in the amount of $2,500 each ($1,250 for each semester).

Scholarship Committee member Donnie Tennyson of Dameron hopes to see an increase in the number of applications this year. "All of our belts are tight right now with the state of the economy and the tough growing season in 2002," said Tennyson. "However, education of our youth is the most important form of security for the future of our industry. Financial support through our scholarship is the best way we can continue to cultivate new agriculturalists in our state."

Now entering its sixth year, the purpose of the MGPUB Scholarship is to provide financial support to students interested in pursuing an agriculturally related career. "Given the dynamics in agriculture today, the advances in biotechnology, global positioning systems, environmental protection, and crop and livestock production, Maryland's grain farmers believe it is very important to encourage students to consider careers in agriculture by supporting their educational needs through the use of scholarships," Tennyson commented.

The scholarships will be awarded to Maryland residents who are enrolled or accepted to a four-year institution working toward a B.S. degree, or students enrolled or accepted in a two-year institution with an agricultural program. The selections will be based on agricultural background, family farm involvement, financial need, grade point average, agriculture related studies, career goals, and extra curricular activities. Applicants or an applicant's immediate family must be involved in the production of grain.

"We hope the scholarship program will encourage more students to consider career opportunities in agriculture," said Tennyson.

Persons interested in applying may contact the MGPUB at 53 Slama Road, Edgewater, MD 21037-1423, call Lynne C. Hoot at 410-956-5771, or go to www.marylandgrain.com.

Partners After School • Garrett County

After-school programs keep kids safe, help working families and improve academic achievement.

- More than 2/3 of children in Garrett County have parents who work outside the home. More than 700 children attend Partners After School programs.
- Many kids have no place to go once the school day ends.
- Studies show that students involved in after-school programs get better grades, attend school more and have improved behavior. They express greater hopes for the future and more interest in school.
- Teens who participate in after-school are less likely to skip class, use marijuana and other drugs, smoke, drink alcohol or engage in sexual activity.
- About 13 percent of children and adolescents are now seriously overweight. After-school programs can provide physical activity and reinforce healthy behavior.

Current Yearlong Program Locations include:

Accident, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn, Grantsville, Mtn. Lake Park/ Oakland

Intermittent Programs are provided throughout the County. For specific information, call 301-334-1189 or visit our website at www.garrettpartnership.org

For more information, contact Crystal Stewart, GC PCF Planning and Project Director, at 301-334-1189; Linda Green, our Community Action Partner, at 301-334-9431; or Sam Moon, our Health Department Partner, at 301-334-7730.

Programs are funded by the Maryland After-School Opportunity Fund, Learn & Serve funds, School Community Center Funds, and School-based Mental Health and violence Prevention Funds administered by the GC Partnership for Children and Families, Inc., one of Maryland's 24 Local Management Boards.

TOOTHBRUSH TIPS FOR KIDS
Submitted by Cynthia Heselbach, RDH
Garrett County Health Department
Dental Care Center

There are so many designs of toothbrushes. How does anyone know which one to choose? Here are some toothbrush tips to help you make the right decision and get the most out of your purchase.

Toothbrushes for preschoolers should have soft bristles with small rounded heads. The handles should be larger for a good grip. Some have rubber on the handles to make them slip proof. Use toothpaste when they turn 2 and only use a match tip size amount of toothpaste.

Toothbrushes for 6-12-year-olds should be larger to cover the permanent teeth as they erupt.

Those who have braces should use an orthodontic toothbrush, which is designed for use around the brackets. Your orthodontist or dentist may also recommend other brushes as well.

All brushes for any age should have soft bristles. Hard bristles are hard on the gums.

Replace toothbrushes as soon as they become frayed. Frayed toothbrushes do not clean the teeth well. Replacement of toothbrushes may be once a month for some heavy-duty brushers and less often for those with a gentle technique.

All toothbrushes should be rinsed thoroughly with hot water before and after brushing. Rinsing toothbrushes has shown to reduce the growth of bacteria on the bristles between brushing.

Toothbrushes should be replaced after any illness so your child will not be reinfected with the illness.

What about the power toothbrushes?? Yes! The first electric brush can be used at age 6 when children begin to do their own brushing. They must be kept clean and the heads should be changed when the bristles become frayed. If an illness should occur the head can be soaked in mouthwash if just starting a new brush. Remember, keep all mouth washes out of reach of children!

Bedtime brushing is the most important time of day. Morning brushing should be done after breakfast.

After you have purchased the appropriate toothbrush for your child, the only thing left is to use it twice a day.

INVITATION TO BID
GARRETT COUNTY COMMUNITY HEALTH CENTER SIDEWALK CONSTRUCTION PROJECT

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will accept sealed bids on behalf of the Garrett County Health Department for construction of approximately two hundred fifty feet (250') of new sidewalk at the Garrett County Community Health Center.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, Courthouse Room 105, 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, Courthouse Room 105, 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Tuesday, March 11, 2003, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on March 11, 2003. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Garrett County Community Health Center Sidewalk Construction Project" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids and waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

By Order of the Board
Brian E. Bowers, CPPB
Procurement Officer

Notice to Public

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

On or about March 7, 2003, the above named Board of County Commissioners will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Community Legacy. Purpose: Development of strategic municipal revitalization plans. Location: Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn Heights and Oakland.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion

Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined said project to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available to public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays excluding holidays.

Request for Release of Funds

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will undertake the project described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds. This notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairperson of the Board, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in the relation to the environmental reviews, decision making and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the Garrett County Board of Commissioners may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objection to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800, (d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. to the SCCDBG Program Manager, Md. Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than March 28, 2003.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Garrett County Water and Sewer Master Plan

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, February 25, 2003, at 10:30 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, located at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, to consider an amendment to the Garrett County Water and Sewer Master Plan.

The Keyser's Ridge area has had failing septic systems, and the existing wastewater treatment plant serving several businesses in the area is now obsolete. Also, Garrett County has proposed an industrial park in this area.

A feasibility study for this area will show various alternatives for wastewater collection and disposal. For planning purposes, the estimated flow for the area is approximately 30,000 gpd with a projected flow of 50,000 gpd for the next decade.

A preliminary study indicates that a wastewater collection system with a force main and pumping stations from the study area to the Grantsville wastewater treatment plant is the most cost effective solution. This arrangement will solve the failing septic systems, eliminate the small BFS/McDonald wastewater treatment plant in the area, and serve the proposed industrial park.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on February 25, 2003, to determine if the amendments to the Garrett County Water and Sewer Master Plan are necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

County Administrator

Account # 14-009388

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, located and situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County, Maryland, to the Garrett County Commissioners, who assigned same unto the plaintiffs in this proceeding, consisting of .46 of an acre, more or less, designated as Lot 19 of Section 2, Block A, Piney Mountain Corporation, Garrett County, Maryland, and recorded in Liber 303, page 455, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. The complaint states, inter alia, that the amount necessary for redemption has not been paid.

It is thereupon, this 3rd day of February 2003, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three (3) successive weeks, warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court, by the 4th day of April 2003, and redeem the property and answer the complaint, or thereafter a final judgment will be entered, foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiffs a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

EXAMINATION ANNOUNCEMENT
Computer Network Specialist II (full-time merit)
Salary: $39,766 - $61,794

This is a position-specific examination for this position/function only. This position is located at the Garrett County Department of Social Services. Persons interested in future vacancies in the Computer Network Specialist II classification will need to reapply. The employment list will be in effect for only one year for this position only.

The primary purpose of this position is maintaining currently implemented systems availability, usage, and security; developing and implementing cost effective LAN/WAN IT services; managing hardware and software; responding to system user's IT needs and problems; providing or arranging for appropriate training to meet system user's IT needs, coordinating local implementation of DHR or other wide area IT services; implementing and updating as needed IT disaster recovery plans; and maintaining agency telephone communications and security systems.

Minimum Qualifications: To be eligible for testing for this classification, you must possess the following...

EDUCATION: A bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university in Computer Information Technology, Management Information Systems or other information technology-related field to include course work in local or wide area microcomputer networks.

AND

EXPERIENCE: One year of experience planning, integrating and maintaining software and hardware for local or wide area microcomputer or minicomputer networks.

NOTES:

Thirty credit hours from an accredited college or university in Computer Information Technology, Management Information Systems, or other information technology-related field to include course work in local or wide area microcomputer or minicomputer networks may be substituted for the required education.

An additional year of experience planning, integrating and maintaining software and hardware for local or wide area microcomputer and minicomputer networks may be substituted for the required education.

Experience operating multipurpose, multi-tasking computer systems; or scheduling, controlling input and output or maintaining a tape library to process data on multipurpose, multi-tasking computer systems; or evaluating, implementing and maintaining microcomputer hardware and software; or converting data from project specifications by preparing program code using third generation or other generally accepted computer programming languages may be substituted for high school on a year-for-year basis.

Completion of a certificate program in Network Engineering or Internetwork Routing, such as Certified Novell Engineer (CNE), Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer (CSE), or Cisco Certified Internetwork Expert (CCIE) or equivalent certification program, may be substituted for the required education.

To apply, send a state application (MS 100) to Roberta Baker, Garrett County Department of Social Services, 12578 Garrett Highway, Oakland, MD 21550. Anyone having questions about the position may contact Alicia Helbig at 301-533-3027.

Closing date is February 27, 2003.

COME ON IN and join the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club for the Cardboard Box Derby at the Winterblast at Wisp on March 1. The homemade cardboard box racers will travel down the Bear Claw Tubing Park. According to Ed King, coordinator, seen above with his "Outhouse," the structure must be constructed of cardboard, tape, string, and glue, and more than one can ride the racer. There will be awards given for best design and speed. This entertaining event is a fundraiser for Lions projects, which include a huge enlargement to the McHenry Deep Creek Lions Park and the club's nationally recognized Blind Skiers Program. The park is being expanded because of the shortage of fields for children's activities. Entry forms are available at the Guest Services in the center of the lodge at Wisp or by calling King at 301-387-4700, ext. 211.

Renewal Services Slated At Crellin Assembly Church

HERB AND EDI HUTCHINSON

Renewal services with Herb and Edi Hutchinson of New England are set for Feb. 22 through 25 at the Crellin Assembly of God Church, located at 2220 Hutton Road.

Youth night will be held on Saturday, Feb. 22, starting at 7 p.m. Youth groups of all ages are invited, and should bring music they enjoy.

The service on Sunday will begin at 6 p.m., and on Monday and Tuesday it will begin at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to attend.

Maranatha Sets Dinner, Sharing In Grantsville

Maranatha Church will hold its Community Fellowship Dinner and Sharing event on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 6:30 p.m. Special guest speakers will be Terry and Lori McCarty.

The McCartys have been married for 18 years and are from Confluence, Pa.. They have two children, Michael and Megan.

After his discharge from the U.S. Army, where he served six years, Terry worked as a carpenter building bridges.

On July 10, 2001, while he was working in Johnstown, Pa., Terry fell 40 feet headfirst off a bridge. At the hospital, medical personnel called the family in because they did not think he would make it through the night.

For the next two and half months, however, Terry stayed in the hospital and went through therapy, until he was finally released to go home.

"God has really spared me and my family so much." Terry said. "He continues to guide us through the recovery process. We could not imagine going through any of this without Christ."

The McCartys will be sharing the rest of the story of how they continue to "see God's miraculous hand" in their lives. They will also show a short video.

The dinner is free. The church is located at 176 Springs Road in Grantsville. Persons may call 301-895-5300 for more information.

NOT QUITE THE SAME, BUT JUST AS COLD was this year's Deep Creek Dunk, held Saturday at Uno's Restaurant, lakeside. This was the fifth year for the crazed event, which is a fund-raiser for Maryland Special Olympics, specifically the program in the Garrett and Allegany county regions. While the tradition has been for dunkers to run into the icy lake, this year's four feet of snow on top of 20 inches of ice was simply too much for organizers to break through. The remedy came in the form of several "dump tanks" donated by local fire departments. These miniature pools were filled with the icy lake water, and several shovelfuls of snow were added for the proper chilling effect. The scores of dunkers, all of whom had pledges for their frosty feat (feet?), were led into the pools in small groups. Gov. Robert Ehrlich and his wife were on hand to watch the event, along with hundreds of spectators. Reports indicate the dunkers raised about $60,000 for the Special Olympics, which took place early this week at Wisp. See additional photos in today's issue. Photo by John McEwen.

Ridge To Receive New Wastewater Treatment Plant

Garrett County commissioners this week unanimously approved an amendment to the county's water and sewer master plan, following a public hearing. The addition will allow the installation of a new wastewater collection system with a force main pumping system from Keyser's Ridge to the Grantsville wastewater treatment plant.

It will also make it possible for the proposed 385-acre Keyser's Ridge industrial park to move forward.

"The Keyser's Ridge area has had failing septic systems, and the existing wastewater treatment plant serving several businesses in the area is now obsolete," wrote county administrator Monty Pagenhardt in the public hearing notice.

The new system will solve the failing systems, eliminate the small BFS/McDonald wastewater treatment plant, and serve the proposed park, said Pagenhardt.

A feasibility study for the area indicated various alternatives for wastewater collection and disposal, including a large 60-acre lagoon system.

Sanitary District administrator Ron Petrella said, however, a force main operation was the best option to replace the old antiquated system, which discharges into Puzzley Run and Lake Louise.

"PUNK" SNOWMAN? – Laurel, left, and Sarah Baker created this funky looking snowman last Friday afternoon at their Brant Road residence in Deep Creek Lake State Park. Because of last week's "hair-raising" snow storm, the girls certainly had enough of the white stuff for their creation; however, because the snow was so deep, no rocks were accessible for them to use for the facial features and buttons. They had to settle for raisins. The girls used icicles from the eaves of their house for the hair. Laurel and Sarah are the daughters of Lisa and Dave Baker, who is the park's assistant manager. McHenry Men Jailed For Theft Of Snowmobile

A report of an Arctic Cat snowmobile theft led to the arrest of two McHenry residents last Thursday, Feb. 20, according to Maryland State Police troopers stationed in McHenry.

Charles Arthur Pursley, 29, and Karl William Miller, 18, each face charges of felony theft and malicious destruction of property. The pair have been released from police custody pending a court date, an MSP spokesperson said.

The owner of the snowmobile was riding it on Monday, Feb. 17, when it got stuck in the heavy snow. He left it there with the key in the ignition, and returned three days later to discover that the snowmobile had been stolen. He told police that he was able to follow tracks leading from the immediate area into a housing development located off North Ridge Road.

State troopers canvassed the neighborhood for possi-

Garrett County To Begin Selective Smallpox Vaccinations Next Week

The Garrett County Health Department will begin vaccinating a selected group of health care workers against smallpox next week. This group of vaccinations will include pre-identified persons from both Garrett Memorial Hospital and Garrett County Health Department, according to Diane Lee, Health Department public information officer.

"The people who are being vaccinated initially are those who would be the first to care for sick individuals if a smallpox attack occurred, or who would be called upon to participate in the epidemiological investigation and implement the necessary control measures," said Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer.

The Garrett County vaccinations planned for next week represent phase one of a statewide three-phase program, as announced by Governor Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. last week.

The governor announced last Thursday the launch of a comprehensive statewide smallpox vaccination program. Partnered with the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), the state has begun a three-phase plan to protect Marylanders in the event of a smallpox attack.

Smallpox vaccinations will be administered to as many as 6,000 pre-identified hospital-based health care workers and local health department investigators at seven Regional Vaccinations Clinics (RVC), according to Lee.

They are located in Allegany, Baltimore, Caroline, Charles, Montgomery and Wicomico counties, and Baltimore City. Garrett County will act as a satellite to the Allegany County RVC in an effort to expedite the vaccinations locally.

In phase two and three, vaccine will be made available to additional health care workers and to the general public on a voluntary basis. Maryland has received 6,000 doses of the smallpox vaccine from the Centers for Disease Control.

911 Hang Up Call Leads To Arrest Of Two

Two people were arrested after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to 47 Steyer Mine Road for a reported 911 hang up.

Investigation revealed that Destinee Hannas came to the residence to retrieve some personal belongings when an argument ensued between Hannas and her mother, Karen Elaine Nazelrod. According to the report, Hannas was assaulted by her mother and Kenneth Paugh Jr.

After removing Hannas from the vehicle, Paugh

House Sustains Major Damage By Fire Friday

A one-story, wood-frame house located at 9556 New Germany Road near Grantsville sustained major damage on Friday after fire broke out in the living room and spread into other areas of the structure.

Over three dozen volunteers from the Grantsville and Bittinger fire departments, along with the Northern Rescue Squad, were summoned to the Rhea Broadwater residence at 4:17 p.m. after Broadwater discovered fire in the living room.

According to Randy Chapman, deputy state fire marshal who investigated the incident, the fire was accidental in nature and caused by combustible material located too close to a wood-burning stove. He said that the blaze was brought under control within about five minutes, and that most of the fire damage was limited to the living room area; however, there was significant smoke damage throughout the residence. He estimated the loss to be $35,000.

Chapman's report said that the house is repairable, but Broadwater is currently staying with relatives in the area.

There were no injuries reported. Chapman said that Broadwater's house was equipped with a smoke detector and that it was properly activated.

Hearings Set For County Roads Weight Increase

Legislation that would permit vehicles in excess of 73,000 pounds to use certain county roads in Garrett County will be heard in Annapolis next week.

The Senate Finance Committee will conduct the hearing for SB 636 on Wednesday, March 5, at 1 p.m. in the East Miller Senate Building. The hearing had been slated for March 12.

Anyone wishing to testify on any bill must sign the witness register by 12:30 p.m. Those wishing to submit written testimony must supply 20 copies to the committee staff by 12:30 p.m. For more information, persons may call 410-841-3677.

As was reported last week, the House version of the bill, HB 831, will be heard by the Environmental Matters Committee on Tuesday, March 4, at 1 p.m.

Sponsored by Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer, the bills were introduced at the request of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners. The legislation would increase the maximum weight limit on certain county roads (to be determined later) to 80,000 pounds, which would be consistent with state highway limits.

Commissioners Commend Staff, Public For Efforts During Storm

The Garrett County commissioners held their monthly staff meeting this week, hearing reports from 12 departments. The main topic of discussion was the recent record-setting snow storm and its aftermath.

The commissioners commended the staff members for their efforts during and after the storm, particularly the roads department.

Commissioner Fred Holliday said that between Feb. 15 and 26, county road crews put in 1,200 regular hours and 1,400 overtime hours. He also noted that since November, they have had very few weekends offs.

"Yes, they get paid, but they have no time to spend it," Holliday said.

According to the roads garage at Keyser's Ridge, the county has received 209.6 inches of snow this winter. The record is 213 inches, which was set in the winter of 1995-96.

That record could easily be broken, since there are at least five more weeks of winter left, noted Commissioner David Beard.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg also commended the public for their patience. "Given the magnitude of the storm," he said. "We received very few unreasonable complaints." He defined "unreasonable" as requests for county road crews to clear private driveways.

Crews will only do so to allow the passage of emergency vehicles.

Emergency Management

"I think the job that the state and county did to get the county moving again is commendable," said Emergency Management director Brad Frantz about the road crews' efforts following the storm. "I have nothing but high praise for how they handled that."

There were very few emergency calls during the storm, he said. Frantz added, however, that he was still concerned about snow loads collapsing roofs.

General Services

Director Gary Mullich, General Services, said his department had been busy clearing snow from county buildings with flat roofs, such as the Oakland Ruth Enlow Library, the George Washington Plaza building, and the county roads department. So far, none of those buildings have experienced any trouble, he said.

Seven county roads department vehicles, however, were damaged in accidents while the crews were out plowing.

"Not all of which were our fault," stressed Mullich. He added, however, given the amount of snow crews

GIBSON CARVES WAY INTO NATIONAL COLLEGIATE TOURNEY – Oakland native Beau Gibson, a junior at the University of Massachusetts, earned an individual title at the U.S. Collegiate Ski Association (USCSA) Eastern Regional Meet, held recently in Waterville Valley, N.H. The U-Mass men's team captain, Gibson finished first in the giant slalom and third in the slalom as he led the Minutemen squad to a second-place team finish. Gibson and his teammates will travel to Truckee, Calif., this weekend to compete in the USCSA National Championships. "Coming into the season, we had some very big shoes to fill after the loss of two seniors, one an All-American, to graduation," commented U-Mass assistant coach Mike LeBlanc. "We challenged Beau to step up and lead the team this year as the captain, and we haven't been disappointed with his efforts. He skis exceptionally well, and is a lot stronger physically this year. That's made an unbelievable difference in his skiing compared to last year."

GARRETT WOMEN "GOT GAME!" – The Garrett College women's basketball squad took its first Maryland Junior College Tournament championship with relative ease this week, as the Lakers made quick work of their three opponents on their journey through the tourney. The JUCO crown fit especially well as GC hosted the post-season event on its home court in McHenry. The loyal Laker fans witnessed a sterling run by freshman LaSha Anderson, shown at the far right of this celebratory team photo, who rolled up the most points of any player in the tournament on her way to grabbing MVP honors. Pictured kneeling, from the left, are LaTonya Crowder and Natasha Robinson, while standing are Carrie Pardue, Kristen Maynard, Amber Stewart, Tiffany McFarland, assistant coach Thea Garland, head coach Steve Willison, Charlena Reeves, Angel Kendall, and Anderson. "I can't say how proud I am of this team," Willison stated. "I can really appreciate how hard all these women worked to get this." Photo by John McEwen.

Bratten Receives LIFE's Unsung Hero Award

Highly decorated Vietnam veteran Thomas E. Bratten Jr., Friendsville, is featured in the January/February 2003 issue of DAV magazine, the publication of the Disabled American Veterans, receiving yet another prestigious honor. The former Maryland secretary of Veterans Affairs received LIFE's Presidential Unsung Hero Award during a black tie gala in Washington, D.C., on Veterans Day eve in November.

"Mr. Bratten was deeply touched to receive [the award]," said Thom Wilborn in the DAV article. "but he was even more moved by the appreciative crowd attending the gala in his honor."

More than 420 dignitaries attended the sixth annual award presentation, which was co-sponsored by the DAV and the Lois Pope LIFE (Leaders in Furthering Education) Foundation. Bratten was deeply touched by the crowd, which gave him a "thunderous" standing ovation, and wiped tears from his eyes, said Wilborn.

Linda Bratten read the acceptance speech for her nearly blind husband. "I cannot fully relate to you how much this honor means to me," she read. "To be here tonight is an experience I had never anticipated. I am deeply indebted to Mrs. Pope and the LIFE Foundation for recognizing me with such a prestigious award. Really, I have never felt that I was a hero, heralded or unsung. But tonight I recognize what heroes all of you are for allowing me this moment to thank you."

The LIFE Foundation, established by philanthropist Lois Pope, is involved with projects ranging from medical and scientific research to recognizing individual achievement among the disabled and disadvantaged. Pope initiated the Unsung Hero Award six years ago to pay tribute to individuals whose achievements and accomplishments are an inspiration to others.

"Tom Bratten has an amazing record of service to America and to disabled veterans," Pope said. "Tom is a tribute to all disabled veterans and all they did for our country. I will never forget what disabled veterans have sacrificed for all of us."

The Louisville, Ky., native was deployed to Vietnam on Feb. 14, 1970, where he was assigned as a U.S. Army artillery liaison officer with the Americal Division, 1st Battalion of the 6th Infantry. Norman Schwarzkopf, a lieutenant colonel at the time, was his commander.

On May 28, 1970, Schwarzkopf and Bratten received a radio message that a platoon had suffered heavy casualties in a mine field. Schwarzkopf and his men landed in their helicopter in the field and slowly made their way through it to aid the wounded.

At one point, Schwarzkopf was helping a soldier and yelled over to Bratten to cut a sapling from a nearby bush so he could use it as a splint. Bratten took one step toward the bush, and a mine blew off his left arm and leg.

Following 3½ years of rehabilitation at Walter Reed Hospital, Bratten dedicated his life to helping other veterans. He served as director of Maryland Veterans Commission from 1993 to 1999 and was appointed secretary of the Maryland Department of Veterans Affairs by former Gov. Parris Glendening that year. Newly elected Gov. Bob Ehrlich recently appointed Thomas Hutchins of Charles County the new secretary.

Because of his lifelong dedication to helping veterans, Bratten was recently named the DAV's 2002 Outstanding Disabled Veteran of the Year and was featured in the July/August 2002 issue of DAV.

Bratten is only the sixth recipient of the Unsung Hero Award. The four living award winners – Chad Colley, Bobby Berrera, Michael Naranjo, and Rick Romley – attended the gala to honor Bratten. The 2000 Unsung Hero, former U.S. Secretary of Veterans Affairs Jesse Brown, died on Aug. 15, 2002.

Bratten noted in his acceptance speech that all six of the Unsung Heroes are Vietnam veterans. "I can tell you that the Vietnam generation has done okay," he said. "We remembered. We kept our faith. We wanted to make our nation proud of us. And it is so wonderfully, and finally, proud of us."

He added, however, "The award carries with it a responsibility to continue my efforts on behalf of veterans, and I say to you tonight that I will always keep the promise."

In addition to honoring Bratten, the award gala also recognized the progress of the American Veterans Disabled for Life Memorial. The LIFE Foundation recently won Congressional approval to erect a memorial in Washington, D.C., to honor the millions of disabled American veterans.

The approved site is located near the Capitol and across from the U.S. Botanic Garden. Completion of the site is expected to be in spring of 2005. For more information, persons may visit www.disabledveteransmemorial.com.

GOV. EHRLICH WATCHES DUNK FROM SAFE DISTANCE – Maryland's new governor, Robert Ehrlich, and his wife Kendel, both pictured above, visited Garrett County Saturday to witness the hardiness/craziness of those "taking the plunge" in the fifth annual Deep Creek Dunk. Ehrlich spoke a few words of encouragement to the shivering bunch, apologizing for not being able to take part because of health reasons, and then watched as the crowds leapt into "dump tanks" full of frigid lake water. Shown below, a fireman adds some lake water to a pool full of protesting "jailbirds," who actually don't seem to be all that cold. Thanks to them and those like them, Maryland Special Olympics was boosted with a reported total of $60,000 from the event. Photo by John McEwen.

GC Unit Board Gets Cancer Society Award

The Garrett County unit board of the American Cancer Society was recently named Unit of the Year by the society. Chosen from candidates from 24 West Virginia and 2 Maryland counties, the Garrett County board received the award based on its progress in establishing programs and supporting the ACS's mission within the county.

"Due to the hard work and effort by the Garrett County unit," said Tenna Taylor, cancer control community specialist, "there are several patient services being offered in Garrett County."

They include Road to Recovery, coordinated by Mildred O'Haver; I Can Cope, coordinated by Donna McClintock; Reach to Recovery, coordinated by Mary Lou Buckley; Look Good Feel Better, coordinated by Deana Cleaster; Man to Man, coordinated by Chip Lee; and Tell a Friend, coordinated by Linda Ashby.

In addition to these services, there are other prevention and detection programs available, such as Active For Life, coordinated by Shelly Argabrite; Generation Fit; Slip, Slop, Wrap; and Ambassador and Allies Program on Colon Cancer.

For more information on any of these programs, persons may call Taylor at 1-888-227-9979.

The unit board also helps with the signature events that help fund these programs, which are Daffodil Days, coordinated by Sue Evans, taking place March 10 to 16; and the Garrett County Relay For Life event, coordinated by Linda Fike and Deana Clester, on June 13 to 14 at Southern High School.

For more information about purchasing "the flower of hope" daffodils, persons may call Doug Riley, ACS income development specialist, at 1-800-287-2317. Information about the Relay For Life may be obtained by calling Fike at 301-387-3749.

Established in February 2002, the officers are Riley, president; Ashby, cancer control vice president; Sandi Winters, income development vice president; and Phyllis Vitez, secretary.

The next meeting of the Garrett County unit board will be April 2 at 5:30 p.m. For more information, persons may call Riley at 301-334-7705.

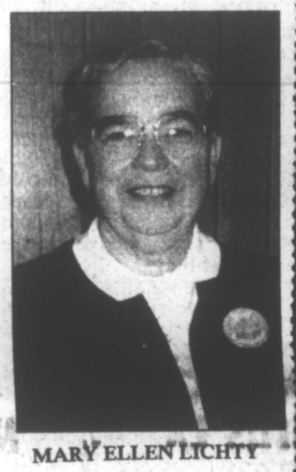
NAMED UNIT OF THE YEAR – The Garrett County unit board of the American Cancer Society was recently named Unit of the Year by the ACS. The unit was chosen from a field of candidates from 26 counties in West Virginia and Maryland because of the many programs that it has established in the county. See story for details. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are board president Terry Riley and Kevin Tephabock, ACS. In the back row are Linda Ashby, cancer control vice president, Nancy-Elizbeth Nimmich, Shelly Argabrite, Deana Clester, Linda Fike, Doug Riley, ACS income development specialist, Donna McClintock, and Tenna Taylor, ACS cancer control community specialist. Not present for the photo were Mildred O'Haver, Mary Louise Buckley, Esther Troutwein, Sandy Bell, Sue Evans, Amy Ritchie, Rebecca Cogley, Liz Lewis, Caroline Lake, Kendra Todd, Chip Lee, Becky Parks, Peggy Santamaria, secretary Phyllis Vitez, and income development vice president Sandi Winters.

Three Inducted Into Women's Hall Of Fame

The three 2003 inductees into the Garrett County Commission for Women's Hall of Fame are Joan B. Crawford, Barbara (Bachtel) Flinn, and Mary Ellen Lichty. The ninth annual Hall of Fame induction will take place following a breakfast at the Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, March 22.

BARBARA (BACHTEL) FLINN

JOAN B. CRAWFORD



MARY ELLEN LICHTY

Crawford of Swanton has dedicated 30 years of her life to Garrett College. Her charitable work in the community consists of involving patients at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home and Mt. Glade Adult Day Services in creative writing and reading. She was instrumental in the development of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Crawford also mentors would-be writers, and is currently beginning special course offerings for local retirees.

Flinn, a longtime Garrett County resident, currently resides in Port Lucie, Fla. She is a co-founder of the local League of Women Voters, and was among several local women educators who started the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma in Garrett County. She has also been a member of the Business and Professional Women for more than 48 years, holding many executive positions. She also actively supported St. John's Lutheran Church at Red House by participating in the choir and Sunday school. She and her husband joined the Leighton family to endow the Dorothy Brock Leighton Scholarship with the Garrett College Foundation.

Lichty of Blue Ribbon Road, Oakland, had dedicated her life to a service of promoting health consciousness among people of Garrett County, especially the Amish community of Pleasant Valley in Gortner. She has provided pre-school immunizations; administered blood pressure checks, IVs, and medications to homebound individuals; delivered prescriptions to those unable to get them; and has taught first aid, CPR, and EMT classes. Lichty has also been to Haiti and Honduras to volunteer her services, such as giving vaccines and medications, and extracting teeth.

"Each of these women has been a gift to Garrett County," said a spokesperson for the Commission for Women. "Placing them in the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame fulfills the purpose of the Garrett County Commission for Women to honor women who have made substantial contributions to Garrett County."

Their names will join Polly J. Hanst, Ruth H. Ryan, Wilda W. Massi, Martha Jachowski, Dr. Alta S. Schrock, Edith Brock, Brenda Butscher, Martha Glotfelty, Jane Avery, Roberta Andersen, Ruth DiPaolo, Mary Love, Nelle Stemple, Alice Hevner, Phyllis Trickett, Dorothy B. Leighton, Mary M. Strauss, Beverly Beard, and Patricia A. Bowser on the Hall of Fame plaque.

Friends and family of the inductees and all interested community members are invited to attend the breakfast and ceremony to honor these three women. Registration for the event will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, March 22. The cost is $12 for adults, and $6 for children 12 years and under.

Reservations may also be made by calling 301-387-2141 before March 15.

ble witnesses, and were led to the Mosser Road residence of both men who face the charges. There troopers reported observing the stolen snowmobile through a garage window. The vehicle was recovered and returned to its rightful owner, and it was determined that a Pennsylvania registration sticker had been scraped off the snowmobile, which resulted in the destruction of property charges.

According to police sources, Pursley and Miller later admitted to taking the snowmobile but said that they did so thinking it had been abandoned.

entered the vehicle and left the residence, police added. After returning to the area, Paugh was arrested, and the vehicle was located on Snow Dump Mountain Road.

Paugh was charged with unlawful taking of a motor vehicle and second-degree assault.

Nazelrod was also arrested and charged with second-degree assault and making a false statement to a peace officer.

Both are being held in the Garrett County Detention Center awaiting a bond hearing.

Bumped to the Front...

"There is nobody else just like you."

A statement by an incredible man who so completely understood the importance of self-esteem decades before they became such buzz words in the 1980s. That man was Fred Rogers, better known as Mr. Rogers, who died this morning at his home in Pittsburgh. His television show, "Mr. Rogers Neighborhood," was the longest running show in the history of public television.

Absolutely genuine, exceedingly gentle, and extraordinarily humble are among the many adjectives that can be used to describe the geeky, rather effeminate Fred Rogers, an ordained Presbyterian minister who had such a positive influence on literally millions of children. His message was both simple and Christian – love yourself and love others. He shied away from openly expressing the "love God" part of his faith, probably to avoid being seen as too churchy and possibly resulting in the loss of many viewers, but he never shied away from talking about the tough issues that children face – anger, divorce, fear of dying, loss of loved ones, and fear of warfare. He taught them how to share and how to care.

Not one, but two, of our writers here in the newsroom have personal, treasured notes from Mr. Rogers in their desks, hand-written responses from a man who must have received millions of such letters during his career.

His humility was always evident. He said that he never considered himself a TV star, but always as "just a neighbor who came in for a visit." He could have easily afforded a life of extravagance, but in keeping with his faith, he chose to live one of great modesty.

When he received a lifetime achievement award, presented in front of an audience of thousands of famous entertainers, his acceptance speech, in total, was as follows: "I would like for each of us to spend the next 30 seconds in silence, and during that time to think about all of the people in our lives who had a part in helping us become who we are today. I'll time you."

There was dead silence in the massive auditorium, and as the camera panned the crowd, tears were seen rolling down the faces of many of those present. At the end of the 30 seconds, he said, "Thank you," and sat down.

"It's not the honors and not the titles and not the power that is of ultimate importance. It's what resides inside," he said during a 1993 interview marking the 25th anniversary of his show.

To his wife Joanne (who has been a visitor to Garrett County on several occasions), and to his two sons and grandchildren, we extend our deepest sympathies, and share with them our belief that if human beings are ever bumped to the front of the express lane at the Pearly Gates, Fred Rogers is standing there right now.

America, ready for war...

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Congratulations to you and all your staff for the excellent "blizzard of '03" issue you published last week. The photos certainly tell the tale. I am certain we will all be saving that issue to pass on to grandkids. Thanks.

To the Editor:

I would like to thank all those who helped clear the parking areas for our return from Vermont. Your time and effort was greatly appreciated. We returned to find the parking areas and the areas around the chaperone vehicles open so we, too, could go home.

To those snow plow drivers of the state and county roads and to the parents with their snow plow and the shovels who made this possible, we on the trip say thank you.

To the Editor:

I'm sure many letters are pouring in about wonderful acts of kindness performed during the recent snow storm. I would like to add mine to let everyone know what a great neighbor I have.

I looked out every window of my house the morning of the 17th and realized that I was virtually a prisoner! My children were calling me at various times and suddenly I saw none other than "Superman" trying to open my driveway! This superman was Tom Bernard, a great neighbor, who has been working that snow blower to death this winter. He opened my driveway and my lawn. His wife Shirley and daughter Brenda helped me "unbury" my car, and I was once again in touch with the outside world.

Thanks a million, Bernards! You are true friends.

Sincerely,
Muriel R. Franc

To the Editor:

I suffered from carpal tunnel, tingling numbness and severe pain in both hands, for approximately 40 years, growing more intense the last 6-10 years. It was to the point that I could sleep only one or two hours most nights.

I had carpal tunnel surgery on my left hand on January 9, 2003. All symptoms left immediately and I went back to work the next day with 10-20% use of the left hand. I had surgery on the right hand on January 30, with all symptoms gone at once in that hand. I slept eight hours that night for the first time in years.

I thank God for wisdom, Dr. John Porcaro's unique procedure, and the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for returning my life to normalcy.

Maybe this success story will help someone else to make the decision to end their pain.

Sincerely,
Bill Slagle

To the Editor;

I am writing this letter to thank The Republican newspaper and all the kind people who have written in about the plow crews on the roads this winter. It has been one for the record books.

I am an employee of the Maryland State Highway Admin. We have worked every day since Dec. 23, with no days off. We also were out during Thanksgiving. This takes a toll on our families also, because we spend most of our awake hours at work. Our main concern is to have the roads as safe as possible for the traveling public. All have done an exceptional job, including county and town crews.

Just a reminder to all traveling – reduce speed for weather conditions, turn lights on to be seen in snow conditions, and stay back 500 feet from a snowplow because they create whiteouts behind the trucks. Keep your gas tank full and last, buckle up for safety. Be safe for the remainder of winter. April is coming!

Dean Sullivan

To the Editor:

I want to thank the road workers for the terrific job they did during the Presidents' Day snowstorm. White Oak Drive had many cars parked along the side of the road so that the snow plow was not able to get through. The road crew was very helpful to all of us in getting our cars out of the drifts and onto another road so that White Oak could be plowed. Through their efforts, all of the weekend visitors were able to be on their way home on Monday afternoon, and the people like us who live here were able to get out if need be. Thanks much.

Sincerely,
Lud and Doris Kubli

To the Editor:

As pastor of the Cranesville United Methodist Charge, I have been privileged to witness a display of community spirit and concern which I feel deserves recognition. In the aftermath of the recent snowstorm the entire community was totally snowbound. Public utility vehicles were taxed beyond capacity in an attempt to open main arteries.

Without being asked, people such as Ted Jenkins, Shawn and Dwight Gibson, Bill Grose, Charlie O'Brian, Ronnie and Leon Metheny, Jim Sisler, John Wilhelm, Ben Conn, Jim McConnell, and others got on their tractors, mounted blowers and plows, and at their own expense proceeded to open not only lanes and drives, but the public roads as well. Many hours of work and gallons of fuel were donated by these and other folks to provide safe transportation for stranded neighbors. I have dubbed this group as the DOHC – Department of Human Concern – and thank them heartily in the name of the whole community.

Thank you all; job well done.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Durst

To the Editor:

I work in the television news business, and I covered the snow storm from Washington, D.C., Monday morning (2/17/03) for the ABC morning show "Good Morning America."

I have spent a lot of time in Washington, and nothing shuts down that city like a good snow storm.

I am reminded of the description of D.C.'s snow removal plan expressed by a former mayor, "Yeah, we have a snow removal plan; it's call spring."

Then, later in the week, again for ABC News, I found myself in Oakland still covering the snow story.

My hat is off to your snow removing crews. Your roads were cleared! Your parking lots plowed!

And you got a lot more snow than we did in the eastern part of the state. You should have sent a "relief crew" of plows and blowers to Anne Arundel County. If it weren't for the warm weather and rain, we would still be traveling on dangerous roads. Keep it up, and congratulations.

On a more personal note, I hope you are all proud and appreciative of the folks around you. You have some great people in Garrett County. I only got to meet a few of you, but you all make me proud to be a Marylander. Good folks are hard to find, but they seem to be everywhere in Garrett County.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

During bitter cold weather, the Humane Society in my community received complaints about an old, gentle dog, chained outdoors day and night, and who was trying desperately and unsuccessfully to burrow into the frozen ground to escape the brutal wind chill. The dog cried in anguish and frustration. Its paws were bloodied from his efforts. His only "shelter" was a small plastic pet carrier, the floor of which was covered by ice.

The Humane Society intervened, but this is no uncommon situation. I have received expressions of concern for the many dogs in Garrett County that are forced to spend most of their lives chained outdoors in all kinds of weather, often without adequate shelter. Even if a doghouse is properly insulated and furnished, the lives of chained and otherwise isolated dogs are lonely and unhappy.

We have all heard accounts of canine heroism and devotion. The Vietnam Dog Handlers Association says that dogs, hundreds of whom were killed in action, prevented about ten thousand American casualties during the Vietnam War. At Fort Benning, in Georgia, a monument depicts a combat attired soldier with a dog by his side. An inscription reads, "They protected us on the field of battle. They watch over our eternal rest. We are grateful."

Seven years ago I adopted a frisky black Labrador retriever puppy from an animal shelter. Athena is a sweet dog who thrives on affection. Whenever I arrive home, Athena greets me, her tail wagging, her eyes all devotion. She loves to run with me and to fetch tennis balls I toss. And when I have a bad day, Athena snuggles up to me, reminding me I am not alone.

Dogs are, indeed, "man's best friend." They deserve a place in our hearts and inside our homes.

To the Editor:

Once again this week I picked up my Republican and found under "Letters to the Editor" a continuing series of pronouncements against the probable war with Iraq, and condemnations against President Bush, some of them even questioning his motives. I even found one reader quoting a speech by Robert Byrd in which he eloquently makes his case for peace and questions the wisdom of a pre-emptive strike against Iraq.

While we all want peace, I believe it was Patrick Henry in another speech who said, "Gentlemen may cry peace, peace, but there is no peace. The war has actually begun."

When Saddam Hussein unleashed his troops against Moslem neighbor Kuwait in 1990, he did so for the same two reasons Hitler invaded Poland in 1939: 1) He wanted to. 2) He thought no one would stop him.

The U.S.-led coalition put an end to the murdering, plundering, and raping by the barbaric Iraqi forces. As a final act of contempt and defiance, the retreating Iraqis set fire to dozens of Kuwaiti oil wells.

While military people wanted to pursue the Iraqis all the way to Baghdad, good military planning

MY 15 MINUTES
By Mary Sincell McEwen

Of course I have to write about this amazing thing that happened to me last week. Within a matter of about 15 hours, I went from taking a phone call from "She says she's calling from ABC" to being interviewed on live national television by Charlie Gibson and Diane Sawyer of Good Morning America. It was certainly a day and a half I will not forget. And what a relief it was to be able to tell the world that we got four feet of snow, especially after seeing all the fuss about places with 22 inches or 27 inches. I kept yelling at the television — "But we got 50 inches, dang it!" Finally the focus started to turn our way, as we were mentioned on lots of news reports across the country. And then ABC called.

So after talking with this very nice woman named Jen, who first ask me if I knew any "characters" they could interview (yikes!), I began to understand that she was representing Good Morning America (GMA) and that they were honestly planning to come up here and show their audience our buried county. This was on a day just after the snow had stopped, and my brother – the editor here – was stranded in New York City. We had closed the office on Monday for obvious reasons, and Tuesday was hectic. With Don out, I took all the phone calls he usually handles. Jen called a few times, asking where this remote could take place, and who could they interview. As we talked, I seemed to be able to answer most of her questions, and she decided that perhaps I could be the one. This I did not expect. But what the heck? So I agreed. She told me a film crew was on its way and that someone named Dean would be calling me. The writer for Charlie and Diane would be calling, too, Jen told me.

So I went home Tuesday with my head spinning. I was going to be on GMA. Should I call people? Who? I did make a few calls, but found that the discussions that ensued upon my announcement added to my nausea. I e-mailed some people to avoid talking, but that felt funny, too. I was bumping around at the house, trying to pay attention to the boys, and waiting for the phone to ring. I didn't feel like eating much, but at one point did put a raw veggie in my mouth. That's when the writer called. I said "Hello" and almost choked. He told me who he was, and I told him I had a mouth full of carrot. A great beginning. He was extremely nice, though, like everyone else had been, and he asked me about the county, the town, the storm, and our newspaper. As we talked, my cell phone rang. This was the call from Dean Hovell, the producer and film crew guy, who was at that moment having dinner at Deep Creek. In the middle of one of these calls, the boys came screaming into the house, shouting that our kitten had defaced Robert's snow tunnel on the deck by relieving himself in it. But they didn't say it like that. They screamed, "The kitten peed in Rob's cave!" Nice. I began to grow a headache.

So Dean asks me for a good spot for the remote. I suggest the train station in Oakland, or somewhere around town where the snow is piled high. He asks for directions from the lake, and can I think straight? Not at all. I rack my brain trying to remember street names that I walk on every day of my life. I guess I did all right, though, because he finally called back at about 10 p.m. to say that they had found the station, and would I meet them there at 6:15 a.m.? Sure.

Sleep was elusive, I jerked awake about every hour – "Is it 5 o'clock yet?" Finally 5 did come. Kim Sanders showed up at my house at 5:30 to do my hair – what a pal! Soon I was headed to the station, which is all of about four blocks from my house. Dean greeted me and put me at ease right away by his kind manner, and by making me laugh. "Whew," he said. "I was worried that you were going to be 7-2 and the snow wouldn't have looked deep at all." He introduced me to the crew—the camera guy, the sound guy, and the satellite guy. They showed me the spot where I was to stand for the interview, and wired me for sound. It was dark still, and that pesky flock of crows was circling. How odd. I was going to be on national television in less than an hour, but there I was, standing quietly along Liberty Street in my own little town with four men I didn't know, all of us cold, waiting for 7 a.m. to roll around. In my earpiece, I could hear the people talking in the control room in New York as they got ready to air. Every day they do this, I thought. Glad I don't.

So I'm thinking to myself: "I have to remember the facts, the depth, the storm itself, all of that. And I have to give credit to the roads crews. And I have to use proper grammar and not look like a doofus. All those people I make fun of on TV, it's all coming back to bite me. I know it. No, I'll be calm. Just answer the questions. Don't think about who

Rt. 219 Project Proposals Viewed By Area Residents

A number of Garrett County residents lined up at the Grantsville Holiday Inn Tuesday to view project maps and other information detailing options for upgrading Route 219 from Meyersdale, Pa., to its interchange with Interstate 68 on the eastern end of Grantsville. Government agencies at the state and federal level are proposing the upgrade as part of an eventual project that would cut north-south through western Maryland from Pennsylvania into West Virginia.

The 219 Project team set up nine displays at the public information session, which included maps, historical and environmental impact information, and proposed interchanges.

The options currently under study that have implications for Garrett County residents are:

•A route that would follow the current Rt. 219 through most of the Pennsylvania section from Meyersdale, but would veer toward the west just before crossing the Maryland line;

•A route that would be slightly to the east of the current Rt. 219;

•A route that would basically be merged with the current Rt. 219.

The project charts indicate that the third route, labeled "Corridor C," would have the least impact on Garrett County locations. Several Grantsville area residents agreed that this was the case, and that Corridor C would be their preferred route.

For further information on the proposals, persons may consult the Rt. 219 Project Web site at www.us219.com. Comments will be accepted until Tuesday, March 11, and may be submitted via mail to the Maryland State Highway Administration, Attn: Russell Walto, Project Manager, Project Planning, 707 North Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202; via phone to 410-545-8547; via fax to 410-209-5004; or via e-mail to rwalto@sha.state.md.us.

BOE Budget Meeting Set

There will be a public presentation of the Garrett County Board of Education superintendent's proposed budget for fiscal year 2004 on Wednesday, March 5, at 6 p.m. in the new planetarium facility located at the Hickory Environmental Education Center.

The public is invited to attend.

Man Arrested After Alleged Assault On Wife

A Swanton man was arrested Thursday after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to 988 Old Wilson Road in Swanton for a reported disturbance between a husband and wife.

Deputies concluded that James R. Collins, 33, attempted to strangle his wife, Tonya L. Collins, 30, while she was inside their vehicle, police said.

James Collins was arrested and charged with second-degree assault, and was later released on $2,500 unsecured bond, police said.

Animal Shelter Now Managed By Brad Frantz

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt announced this week that all administrative management of animal control and the animal shelter will now be placed under the authority of the Garrett Department of Emergency Management. The county government now has a Division of Animal Control.

Brad Frantz, director of Emergency Management, will be responsible for the coordination of all animal issues. All staff at the shelter will report through Bonnie Zimmerman, animal control manager, to Frantz.

The changes were made following the transfer of the comprehensive management of the Office of Solid Waste and Recycling to General Services. Gary Mullich, director of General Services, is now responsible for administrative management of Solid Waste and Recycling.

As director of General Services, part of Mullich's duties included overseeing animal issues. Pagenhardt stressed that the management transfer of the animal shelter was not a reflection of any incompetence by Mullich.

"We're always looking at ways to improve the efficiency of the county government," said Pagenhardt. "Even if Solid Waste had not been restructured, the transfer of animal control to Emergency Management is a logical fit. It makes sense."

When residents have problems with animals, their first course of action is often calling 9-1-1. Many other counties already have their animal shelters managed by emergency services or police departments, said Pagenhardt.

As director of General Services, Mullich is currently working on the airport expansion project and the new detention center project, as well as many other responsibilities, in addition to his new duties with Solid Waste.

"We wanted to allow Gary more time," said Pagenhardt about the transfer of animal control. He added that Frantz would handle his new responsibilities well. "Brad knows what to do," Pagenhardt said.

All licensing and revenue collection previously administered by the Department of General Services will now be transferred to Department of Financial Services.

Balt. Co. Woman Faces Charges After Accident

A Baltimore County woman faces charges filed by Maryland State Police after a Friday afternoon vehicle collision on Bittinger Road in front of the Grantsville Exxon station. The other driver, a Grantsville resident, was slightly injured in the 2:05 p.m. mishap.

The mishap occurred when a 1999 Chevrolet Tahoe operated by Patricia Lynn Swiger, 35, Parkton, ran into the back of a stopped 1988 Toyota pickup as the truck's driver, Gary Duane Fazenbaker, 38, Grantsville, was waiting to turn into the gas station lot. Fazenbaker was transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

State troopers charged Swiger with failure to give full time and attention to her driving.

yielded to a growing outcry from the bleeding hearts, and a negotiated treaty was signed. This treaty was very specific in its demands and was supposed to achieve the same end — dismantling the Iraqi military machine.

Saddam never intended to honor the terms of that treaty and did his best sleight of hand trick, manipulating the U.N. inspectors as the Clinton administration looked the other way. As Bill Clinton "pursued his legacy," an older, wiser Saddam continued furthering his objectives in a more patient, covert, but equally determined manner.

Even the events of 9-11 fail to awaken some people to the fact that America is under a constant and continuing threat of attack. These sinister forces, terrorists aided by rogue nations, will continue as long as complacency allows them to launch attacks against Americans and our interests all over the world. Some Americans, similar to the French now, and in the 1930s, choose to look the other way.

The notion that Mideast terrorists could plan and execute such an attack as occurred at the World Trade Center and the Pentagon seemed inconceivable prior to the actual event. That the Iraqi regime has failed to account for large amounts of chemical and biological weapons, known to be in their possession, takes on a chilling reality. Time is certainly of the essence.

President Bush must review intelligence reports from around the world on a daily basis and attempt to assess the threat. He has to act on his best information to protect people like you and me from threats we are not even aware of. That burden is on his shoulders alone. Would you want that responsibility?

That wonderful freedom that we take for granted is a novel idea and a fragile entity which survives precariously in a very hostile environment. Almost every generation has watched as its young men and women have laid their lives on the line protecting that freedom.

Like many of your readers, I have a son in the armed forces, so I view the coming conflict with great wards of 5,000 people, mostly civilians, and that it occurred in two of our largest and supposedly our most secure cities? Does anyone really doubt the ability of the fanatics to deliver a "dirty" nuclear bomb or biological weapon to our homeland? Do people think Hussein has given up on his life-long ambition to dominate and conquer, or that he would not supply weapons of mass destruction to terrorists?

Yes, a pre-emptive strike would be a first in the way we fight war; however, it is a new world in the post 9-11 era. Hopefully, terrorists and the rogue nations that support them will sit up and take notice. Only when we refuse to tolerate attacks against America will we have peace.

As to those who would rather just ignore the threat — there's always France.

could be watching across the nation. Like Holly Hunter. Or Merryl Streep. Oh, jeez, don't even think about that." Somehow I disengaged myself from the fact that this was going to be on live TV. It really wasn't hard, since I was connected to Charlie and Diane only by the earpiece. I couldn't see them, of course. I could just see the film crew and husband John, my kids, and a few other passers-by.

And the time came for the interview . . . and it passed. They ran out of time for the first spot, so I was going to be shown in some "teasers" until the interview, which ended up being at about 8:50. In the teasers, I did what they told me to do: "Wave." "Throw snow." "Wave again." And they were all so complimentary. "Good job — looks good." I felt a little silly, but I admit openly that I was having a blast. At last the time came for the actual interview.

Charlie and Diane asked me questions, and there was a delay before I could hear them. Then I answered, but as I talked, I could hear my own echo getting back to them. It was a little difficult, but I kept concentrating and trying to make sense when I opened my mouth. Did I remember the roads crews? Heck, no. Not one word about them. (Sorry, guys, I really meant to. You've been amazing.) Did I mention that we'd had no power outages and no injuries? Heck, no. But I answered as best I could, and I only had a little bit of time. Charlie and Diane were so nice, and they kept congratulating me, i.e., Garrett County, for winning the award for the most snow.

Suddenly, the shoot was over. I could breathe again. I hadn't made a fool of myself, I didn't choke or get the hiccups, and no trains went by. Whew. The film crew was not allowed to leave until I took them over to Englander's to enjoy breakfast from Dottie and company. And there we engaged in a fascinating discussion about things like the state of the media in the U.S and the situation in Iraq, among other topics. This was certainly as interesting as the shoot itself – probably more.

All in all, it was a remarkable day. I've received e-mails, telephone calls, letters, and shouts across the street about my 15 minutes of fame. A wild rush, however fleeting. (I can picture it: Me, a doddering woman in a home, elbowing my toothless peers. "Hey," I'll say. "I was on Good Morning America back in ought-3." And then they'll go back to sleep.)

Thanks, ABC. I had a fantastic 15 minutes!

If roses grow in Heaven
Lord please pick a bunch for us,
Place them in Dad's and Mom's arms and tell them they're from us.
Tell them we love and miss them,
and when they turn to smile, place a kiss upon their cheeks and hold them for a while.
Because remembering them is easy
I do it every day,
But there's an ache within my heart that will never go away.

FSU's Cultural Events Series To Present Brubeck Brothers Quartet

The Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series will present the Brubeck Brothers Quartet in concert on Friday, March 14, at 8 p.m. in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall. The CES Arts Getaway Package and Dinner Show Package are available with this performance.

A new group with a name familiar to jazz fans, the Brubeck Brothers Quartet consists of four musicians, two of them members of one of America's most notable musical families. "Whether performing with symphony orchestras or in the solo/concert format, the Brubeck Brothers Quartet presents a unique blend of original compositions, jazz standards, and classics by the legendary Dave Brubeck," stated a program spokesperson.

Percussionist Dan Brubeck and his brother Chris, who plays bass, trombone, and piano, have received international recognition for their musical talents. "As sons of jazz legend Dave Brubeck, they had the unique privilege of growing up listening to, studying with and eventually playing alongside some of the great jazz giants of our time," the spokesperson said. They are joined by two longtime friends, Mike DeMicco on guitar and Pete Levin on piano and organ. Also a composer, DeMicco has worked as band member and featured soloist with such artists as Gary Peacock and James Taylor. Levin, a veteran of the New York jazz scene, has been active since the '60s with the likes of Miles Davis, Paul Simon, and Vanessa Williams.

The Arts Getaway Package, including this performance, offers a choice of accommodations at LaVale's Best Western Braddock Motor Inn or the Downtown Cumberland Holiday Inn. Included with one night's stay are breakfast and dinner for two, a special welcome gift at check-in, round-trip transportation between the hotel and FSU's Lane University Center, and two preferred seating tickets for the concert.

The Dinner Show Packages are available at seven area restaurants, including the Acropolis Restaurant & Lounge, El Canelo Mexican Restaurant, Gandalf's Restaurant & Pub, Gehauf's Restaurant, Giuseppe's Italian Restaurant, Harrigan's Restaurant, and the Tombstone Cafe. Complimentary transportation is available. Reservations can be made up to two days before the performance date when purchasing performance tickets. Patrons pay the restaurant of choice after the completion of their meal.

For ticket prices and purchases, persons may call or visit the CES Box Office Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The office is located at Frostburg State University in the Lane University Center, Room 235, and can be reached at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866 TIXX CES. On-line ticketing powered by CyberSeats is available at the Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series Web site at ces.frostburg.edu.

Tickets for FSU students, faculty, and staff are available at a discounted price with a valid FSU ID. All tickets not purchased in person will be charged a $1 per ticket handling fee. Payment by credit card (VISA, MasterCard, Discover, and Bobcat Card), check, and money order is accepted.

Persons may visit Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series Web site (See above) for more information on this and upcoming performances.

This tour of the Brubeck Brothers Quartet is made possible by a grant from the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts Regional Touring Program. The 2002-2003 CES Series is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the state of Maryland, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Spelman College Glee Club Will Perform At FSU

Frostburg State University will present the Spelman College Glee Club, along with Cumberland's Souls Won, in concert on Monday, March 10, at 7 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

Sponsored by FSU's Diversity Center, this event is presented in the spirit of Black History Month and is free and open to the public.

Based in Atlanta's Spelman College, the Spelman Glee Club has maintained a reputation in choral excellence for more than 50 years as the college's primary performance organization. The repertoire consists of sacred and secular choral literature for women's voices, with special emphasis on traditional spirituals, music by African-American composers, music from many cultures, and commissioned works. Directed by Dr. Kevin Johnson, the glee club has performed in concert halls, high schools, colleges, and universities throughout the country and abroad.

Souls Won, a gospel group based in Cumberland, features the talents of husband and wife ministers Kenneth and Shannon Watkins, and Dr. Alisa Howze, who works in FSU's Counseling and Psychological Services. The trio combined forces in February 2002 with a debut concert featuring Shannon's CD You Can Trust in God. Their music includes an array of soul-stirring contemporary and traditional gospel sounds.

For more information, persons may contact FSU's Diversity Center at 301-687-4050.

Alpine Lodge To Host Wolf Creek Session

Wolf Creek Session, a group that performs a blend of original, traditional, and contemporary music with Celtic roots, will present a concert this Saturday, March 1, at the Alpine Lake Lodge near Terra Alta, W.Va. The two-hour program will begin at 8 p.m.

Members of the group include Alice Fleishman on flutes and pennywhistles, who is also a long-time member of the Celtic group Sang Run; Mike Broderick, founding member of Sang Run, on fiddle; and folk duo Keith and Joan Pitzer, with Keith on guitar, harmonica, and vocals, and Joan on bass and vocals.

"Walt Whitman" Poetry Reading Is Rescheduled

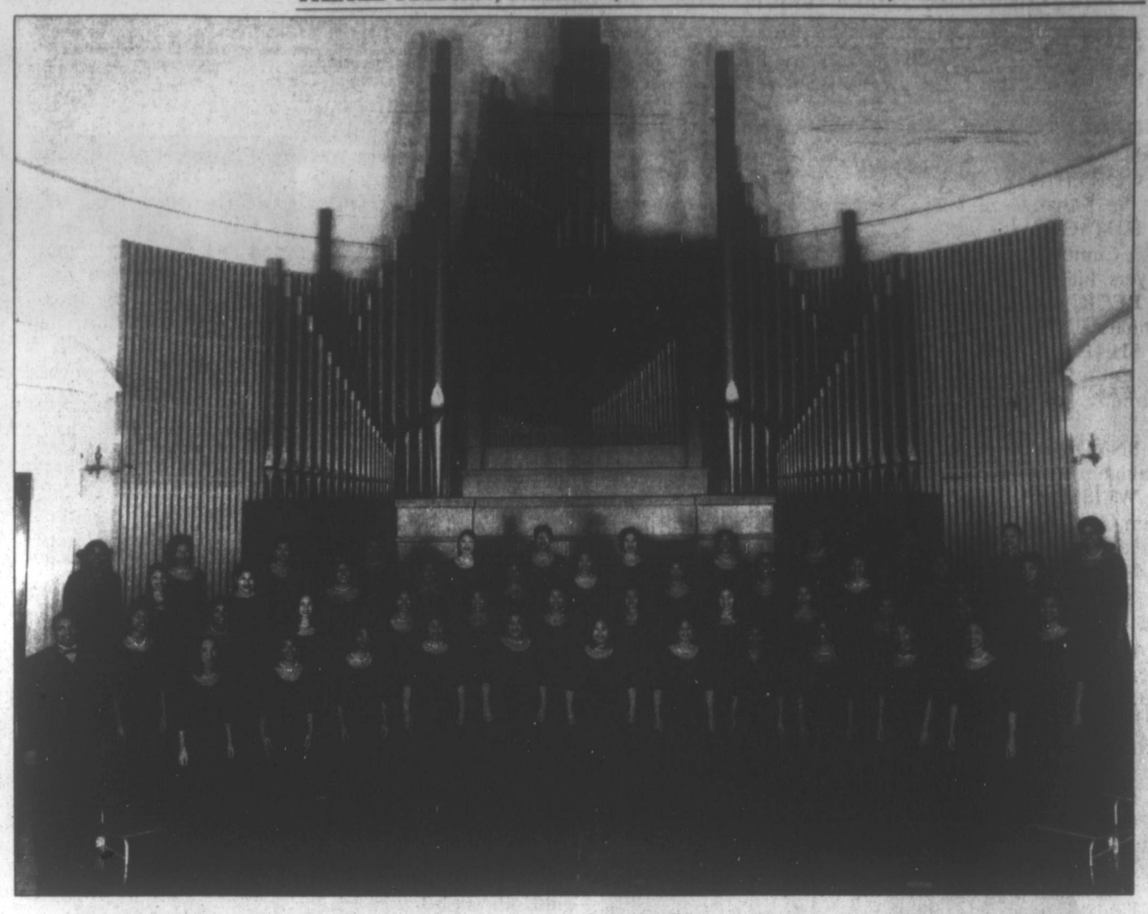
Because of the Presidents' Day snowstorm, Frostburg State University has rescheduled the premiere of "The Good, Gray Poet: A Reading by Walt Whitman," a one-man show created and performed by FSU English professor Dr. Keith W. Schlegel, for this Sunday, March 2, at 7 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. The presentation is free and open to the public.

Schlegel's monologue is a historical characterization of America's most well-known poet as he might have appeared to the public during America's Centennial. Following the monologue, "Walt Whitman" will respond to questions from the audience. After that, Schlegel will step out of the Whitman character to respond to further questions. FSU English professor Dennis Gartner will moderate.

Schlegel, who is chair of the FSU Department of English, has taught at Frostburg since 1971. His dissertation is on Whitman's great dejection ode "As I Ebb'd with the Ocean of Life." Researching and scripting "The Good, Gray Poet" was the major project of his fall 2002 sabbatical.

For more information, persons may contact the Department of English at 301-687-4221.

Read. Then Recycle.



THE SPELMAN COLLEGE GLEE CLUB will present a concert at Frostburg State University on Monday, March 10, at 7 p.m. The club has been in existence for over 50 years and is based at Spelman College in Atlanta. The group has performed throughout the country and abroad. Also performing will be the group Souls Won. See story for details.

Dali's Prints All Over GC Art Gallery Exhibit

The Art Gallery of Garrett College is currently hosting an exhibition of original prints by world-famous artist Salvador Dali, which are on loan from the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts in Hagerstown. The show is open for public viewing through Friday, March 21, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and on weekends during special events.

The Dali exhibition includes two sets of prints: the "Playing Card" series, which presents an enigmatic variation of the recognizable king, queen, and jack of clubs and the king and queen of hearts; and the famous 1975 series of "Imaginations and Objects of the Future." The latter prints depict inventive images of what Dali thought would be the ultimate conveniences of the future through prints that combine etching, lithography, and collage. Each work is accompanied by an explanatory text written by the artist, which gives valuable insight into the methods behind his surrealistic scenes.

Dali, renowned as the impresario of surrealism, produced several methods of gleaning the descriptive characterizations of the unconscious or delirious phenomena and reporting the inner world of dreams, hallucinations, and fantasies. Both symbolic and literary, Dali's works express a means of organizing the irrational.

Born in Figueras, Spain, in 1904, Dali was known as a difficult child and refused to conform to family or community customs. His parents encouraged his early interest in art, and Dali's first studio was a room in their home. In 1921, he enrolled in an art school in Madrid but left the school in disgust, which caused him to be disowned by his family. He struggled for a few years as he self-promoted his art career, but soon became associated with the French surrealist movement, a group of artists and writers led by the poet André Breton. This group — along with Sigmund Freud's groundbreaking book The Interpretation of Dreams — profoundly influenced Dali's artwork and philosophy. His status had grown to that of legend by 1935, and his reputation is now firmly established as one of greatest artists of the 20th century.

"The Art Gallery of Garrett College is thankful to the Garrett County Arts Council for making this exhibition possible," said college art professor Ron Skidmore.

OTT Notes "Kids Stuff" Cancellation

The Kids Stuff program that was scheduled for Saturday, March 1, at Our Town Theatre in Oakland has been canceled because of set construction.

The Kids Stuff program slated for Saturday, March 15, however, is still scheduled to take place. Students need to call the theatre for reservations at 301-334-5640 if they wish to participate.

Psychological Thriller Set For Teen Discussion

The upcoming monthly meeting of the Ruth Enlow Library Teen Book Club will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 22, in the Oakland library as participants gather to discuss the psychological thriller I Am Not Esther. All students age 12 and up may attend.

"Imagine this," the publisher's description says of Fleur Beale's novel. "Your mother tells you she's going away for two years, and is leaving you with relatives you've never heard of. In a different city. Relatives who, you discover, are members of a closed religious sect. There is no television, no radio, no newspaper. No mirrors. You must wear long, modest clothes and behave in a godly way. Or else. Oh — and they give you a new name. Esther. Escape? Who to? Where? How?

"Here is every teenager's nightmare, a gripping psychological thriller set in New Zealand. Kirby's experience of life in a fundamentalist cult is drawn in careful and convincing detail, building to a powerful battle over identity."

To participate in the book club, teens may call the Oakland library or stop by to reserve a copy of the book. Participants are encouraged to read as much as they can before the meeting, but are not required to complete the book to either participate or observe. All thoughts and opinions are encouraged.

The library also offers a book club for adults and a book club for students ages 9 through 11. More information can be obtained by calling the library at 301-334-3996. All book clubs are funded by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

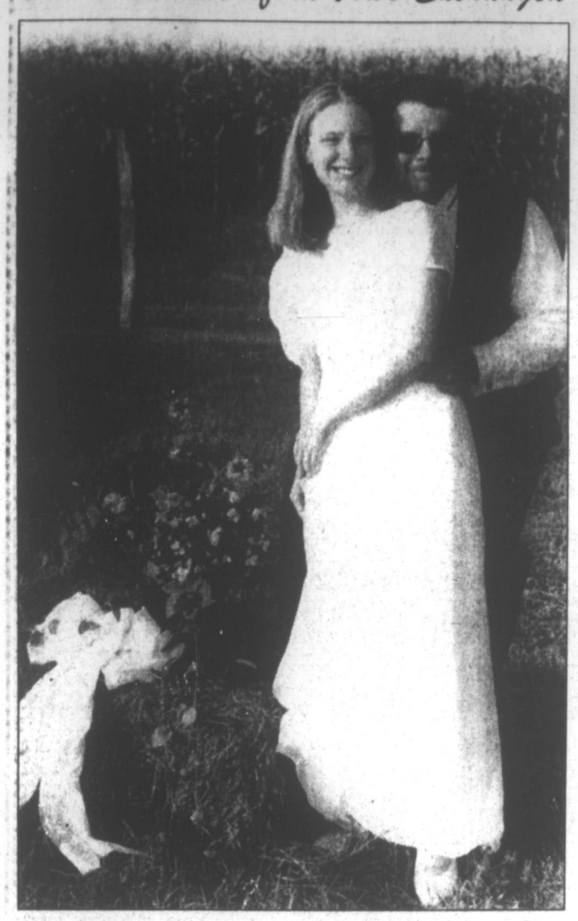
Broadwater-Wolford Vows Exchanged



Laah Jane Broadwater and Scott Alan Wolford exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, Aug. 10, 2002. The wedding ceremony took place at Glade Mennonite Church in Bittinger.

Serving as the matron of honor was Joyce Stephens, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Norma Broadwater, sister of the bride, and Maryann Wolfe, friend of the bride. Melissa Clary and Bradley Clary were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

The best man was Butch Wolford, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Shawn Sisler and Allen Goff Jr., friends of the groom. Ushers were Mike Sisler, Joe Hauser, Anthony Zinn, and Wade Hauser, all friends of the groom. Pastor Duane Frederick officiated at the ceremony.

After the 3 p.m. ceremony, the guests traveled to the bride's parents' farm in Swanton. The couple was escorted to the country-style reception by Wade Hauser in a log truck owned by Stoney Hill Corporation, Aurora, W.Va.

The couple honeymooned in Ohio, and now reside at their home in Aurora. Laah is a high school agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at Preston High School in Kingwood, while Scott works as a forester for Allegheny Wood Products, also of Kingwood.

Miss Dotson To Marry Mr. Hile

Amanda Leah Dotson and Jeremy Lynn Hile, along with their parents, Lonnie and Brenda Dotson and Terry and Judy Hile, have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Branson Hovatter of St. George, W.Va., and the late Rachel Hovatter, and the late Gordon and Helen Dotson. She is a 1999 graduate of Tucker County High School and a 2001 graduate of Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, W.Va., where she earned an associate degree in natural science. She is currently a second-year physician's assistant student at A-B.

The prospective bridegroom is the grandson of Lavera Kelly of St. George and the late Theodore Kelley, and Tim Phillips of Parsons, W.Va., and the late Marie Phillips. He is a 1994 graduate of Tucker County High School and a 1997 graduate of Garrett Community College, where he earned an associate degree in agricultural science. He is currently employed by Manor Home Center in Oakland as the store's John Deere parts manager.

An open church wedding will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 8, at Leadmine United Methodist Church in Leadmine, W.Va., with Pastor Neil Parsons officiating.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

FLY TYING CLASSES

The Hot Spot Program, together with the State's Attorney Office, is providing fly tying classes for interested youth at the Grantsville Elementary School weekly on Thursdays from 4 to 6 p.m.. The next class will be held today. The classes are taught by Bill Ferry from the State's Attorney's Office. There is no registration needed and the classes are free. For additional information, persons may call 301-334-1972.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

"Open Gym Night," sponsored by Mountain Top Youth for Christ, is held every Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Northern Middle School gym. Youth in grades 6 through 12 are invited to participate in the various sporting events and activities. For additional information, persons may contact Keith Probst at 814-662-4064.

STATE'S ATTORNEY OFFICE

The Garret County State's attorney office continues to send an investigator to the Grantsville town hall on Thursday from 1 to 7 p.m. He is available to discuss matters concerning law enforcement, criminal charges, and pending court cases. Persons may contact Pat Kelly at 301-334-1974 for information.

CASSELMAN VALLEY SPORTSMENS CLUB

A buckwheat and pancake supper will be held this Saturday, March 1, from 5 to 7:30 p.m., at the club along U.S. Route 40, one mile west of Grantsville. The meal will include buckwheat or pancakes, sausage, sausage gravy, and beverage. The "all-you-can-eat" dinner costs $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

GRANTSVILLE SCHOOL

The fourth and fifth graders recently participated in the Heart to Heart program sponsored by the National Association of Elementary School Principals. This program collects and sends valentines to military service men and women. In total the local students distributed 100 valentines.

The school's spring fundraiser deadline for orders has been extended to Monday, March 3.

The next F & M banking day for students and teachers will be Wednesday, March 5.

The Maryland School Assessment testing will begin Monday, March 3, and continue through Thursday, March 6, for the third and fifth graders.

This week the students and staff will celebrate 100 days of school by collecting 100 items to share. The items can include pennies, paper clips, blocks, cotton balls, and pretzels. The parents are reminded not to send any breakable items or any that have a monetary or sentimental value.

The PTO will sponsor a Spirit night to benefit the school this Friday, Feb. 28, from 5 to 8 p.m., at the Grantsville Burger King. All receipts for dining in should be placed in the box for the school to receive credit.

Students will be dismissed at noon Friday, March 7, for a staff development day. The teachers and staff will begin a three-part program titled "A Framework for Understanding Poverty."

The school has received six new interns for the third quarter. All of the interns are students at Frostburg State University who currently study education. Shelly Clingerman is assisting Mrs. Norris in her kindergarten class. Steve Petersheim is working with Mr. Warne's 4th grade class. Tiffany Moran and April Carpenter are working with Mrs. Wilhelm in the 5th grade, and Heather Miller and Bridget Smith are assisting Mrs. Perkins in the third grade.

Meeting Slated For Friends Of New Germany

A meeting of the Friends of New Germany will be held on Wednesday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m., at the Lakehouse at New Germany State Park. All members and those who are interested in becoming members are urged to attend.

Friends of New Germany is a volunteer organization supporting New Germany State Park. Members work with park staff to provide services and conduct events for park visitors and the local community.

Persons who would like additional information about the organization or the upcoming meeting may call the park office at 301-895-5453.

Oakland Update
by Asa McCain

It is not necessary to say anything about the snow since they have already covered it on national news, but I would like to thank everyone for cooperating with the town crews. We apologize for any inconvenience. I would also like to ask you to join me in thanking city, county, and state personnel for a job well done.

The next Oakland municipal election is Monday, March 10. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at Oakland City Hall. It is important to vote. This year you have a selection of candidates. Not only are the three incumbents running, but also three new individuals have already filed for office. Please exercise your right to vote by voting for three of the candidates for council. If you have ever considered running for office, you still have until Friday, Feb. 28, at 4 p.m. to file.

We are in the process of lining up artists for the Little Yough Summer Concert Series. If you are interested in working with the committee on the series or wish to make a donation to the series please contact Ken Perrin.

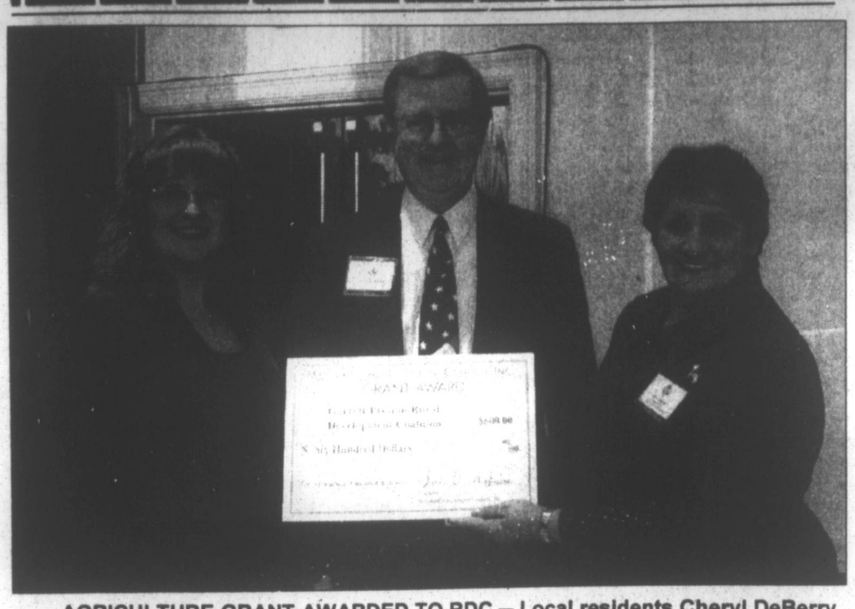
Farming On The Mountaintop



AGRICULTURE GRANT AWARDED TO RDC – Local residents Cheryl DeBerry and Joyce Bishoff received a grant on behalf of the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Council (RDC) from the Maryland Agriculture Council recently. The funds will be used to promote the upcoming Agriculture and Rural Enterprises Conference, set for Saturday, March 22, at Garrett College. Pictured from the left are DeBerry, David A. Miller of the Maryland Agriculture Council, and Bishoff. See story.

Area Rural Dev. Coalition Nets State Ag Grant

Local residents and Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition (RDC) members Joyce Bishoff and Cheryl DeBerry have received a $600 grant from the Maryland Agriculture Council to assist with preparations for the upcoming Agriculture and Rural Enterprises Conference. The grant was presented during the recent 2003 Maryland Agriculture Dinner in Glen Burnie.

DeBerry, Garrett County Economic Development agriculture marketing specialist, wrote the grant on behalf of the RDC, while Bishoff chairs the RDC's board of directors. "We are so pleased to receive this grant from the Maryland Agriculture Council," Bishoff remarked. "The money will be put to good use to help our rural residents learn to use their land to maximize both profitability and stewardship."

The Maryland Agriculture Council has distributed several grants totaling $2,500 to various organizations. The local RDC grant, presented by the council's David A. Miller, will be used to produce handouts, brochures, and other promotional materials for the Agriculture and Rural Enterprises Conference, slated for Saturday, March 22, at Garrett College. For information about this event, persons may visit the Web site www.morefarmmoney-.org or call the Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

The role of the Maryland Agriculture Council is to educate the public on the importance of agriculture. The group's activities include fairs, displays, a newsletter, a grant program and the annual Agriculture Hall of Fame.

In other agriculture-related news, Maryland governor Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. joined Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley and other agricultural leaders from throughout the state during the Maryland Agriculture Dinner earlier this month in Glen Burnie. "Maryland is blessed with hardworking farmers who care deeply about the land, the environment and their communities," Ehrlich told the gathering during his remarks.

Local Residents Developing Ag Leadership Skills

Rick McCrobie, who serves as the Nutrient Management program advisor for the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service in Garrett County, and Cheryl DeBerry, the agriculture marketing specialist for Garrett County Economic Development, are participating as "fellows" in Class III of the Leadership, Education, Action, and Development (LEAD) program, a two-year leadership development program for young agriculture professionals.

McRobie and DeBerry, the first Garrett County residents to advance to the Class III level, are part of a group of 23 men and women participating in the class, each of whom are involved in the agricultural industry in their careers or their personal lives. The average age of the participants is 31, according to LEAD program executive director Susan Harrison.

The introductory seminar for the new class was held recently in Cecil County, where participants were introduced to agriculture in Maryland, learned about desirable leadership qualities, visited a local nursery and horse farm, and learned about their individual personality styles.

The purpose of LEAD Maryland is to provide men and women interested in the future of Maryland agriculture with opportunities to expand their leadership abilities; develop an active network of resourceful, diverse, and highly motivated people; increase their understanding of critical public issues; and enhance their knowledge of technological practices, marketing strategies, and environmental concerns.

The LEAD program awards educational fellowships to individuals who have demonstrated emerging leadership abilities as well as a genuine interest in agricultural and societal issues. The seminars are facilitated by industry leaders, state and national agency representatives, professional trainers, and university faculty. Fellows are required to complete a community leadership project, and take part in domestic and international study tours designed to help them compare and contrast political, economic, social, and cultural issues in agriculture.

Rural Development Conference Slated For March 22

The Rural Development Coalition, a joint venture between Garrett County and Preston County, W.Va., is organizing its second annual conference to explore income opportunities for rural landowners. Slated for Saturday, March 22, at Garrett College, the forum will offer more than a dozen seminars, with youth sessions to coincide.

The conference will bring together experts to speak about such subjects as producing and marketing native plants, developing a Community Supporting Agriculture (CSA), raising vegetables in high tunnels, and starting up a bed and breakfast business, according to conference coordinator Willie Lantz of the Garrett College Alternative Agriculture Center.

"We held our first conference, Farming For Profit, last year at the college. It was very successful, and everyone who attended suggested hosting this type of program each year. We expect even more participation this time," explained Joyce Bishoff, chair of the RDC board of directors.

For additional information, persons may check the conference Web site at www.morefarmmoney.org, call the Alternative Agriculture Center at 301-387-3331, or contact co-sponsor Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386.

Loan Deficiency Payments Available For Unshorn Pelts

The Preston County Farm Service Agency announces that the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (the Farm Bill) provides for Loan Deficiency Payments (LDPs) to eligible producers for unshorn pelts for 2002 through 2007 crop years.

To be eligible for an LDP for unshorn pelts, producers must (1) meet the definition of an eligible producer; (2) comply with highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions; (3) have a beneficial interest in the commodity; (4) own the unshorn lamb(s) for at least 30 calendar days before the date of slaughter; and (5) sell the unshorn lamb(s) for immediate slaughter or slaughter the unshorn lamb (s) for personal use.

Lamb slaughter companies, order buyers representing lamb slaughter companies, and processors are ineligible to request LDPs on unshorn pelts produced from unshorn lambs purchased from eligible producers.

To be eligible for an LDP, the unshorn pelt must have been produced by an eligible producer. The unshorn pelt must have been produced from a live unshorn lamb of domestic origin in the United States at the time beneficial interest is lost.

For the 2002 crop year only, the final date to request an LDP for unshorn pelts is March 31, 2003. For 2003 through 2007 crop years, the deadline to request an LDP is January 31 of the year following the year in which the unshorn lamb is slaughtered.

There is a combined $75,000 payment limitation per crop year per producer for LDPs received on wool, mohair, honey, and peanuts. LDPs for unshorn pelts will be based on a standard weight of 6.865 pounds per pelt.

The LDP rate is the rate in effect on the day of: (1) request, if beneficial interest is maintained on the date of request; (2) slaughter, if slaughtered for personal use; or (3) delivery, if sold directly from the farm to a buyer.

To obtain further information or to file an application for an Unshorn Pelts LDP, persons may visit the Farm Service Agency located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza or telephone 304-329-1923.

Maryland To Receive Funds To Reduce Cost Of Crop Insurance

USDA's Risk Management Agency (RMA) has made available up to $18 million to reduce the cost of crop insurance programs in 15 historically underserved states, including Maryland. RMA will provide financial assistance to producers under the Agricultural Management Assistance (AMA) program, authorized by the Federal Crop Insurance Act (FCIA).

"Crop insurance is a vital part of risk management in American agriculture," said Risk Management Agency administrator Ross J. Davidson Jr. "This financial assistance will assist and encourage producers in these underserved states to use crop insurance products to manage their price and production risks."

The Targeted States Crop Insurance Financial Assistance Program is available to producers purchasing policies after February 20, 2003, and acreage reporting dates prior to September 30, 2003, in the following states: Maryland, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

The funding announcement was made last week by USDA Secretary Ann Veneman during remarks to the 79th annual Agricultural Outlook Forum in Arlington, Va. The secretary announced a new risk management initiative being undertaken by USDA to examine risk management tools, identify underserved producers and closely examine the regions, commodities, and risks, and then prioritize the development of new products to fill the gaps identified.

The priorities of this initiative include examining the need to serve the livestock industry, including forage and range coverage; addressing concerns with coverage in regions facing multi-year droughts; simplifying and improving the effectiveness of various insurance products; and reviewing various RMA authorities to ensure the soundness of the delivery systems and effective oversight of the crop insurance industry. For a complete copy of Secretary Veneman's remarks persons may visit www.-usda.gov.

Interested producers should contact their agent regarding program eligibility and availability. A list of crop insurance agents is available at local Farm Service Agency offices or by using RMA's Agent Locator at: http://www3.rma.usda.-gov/tools/agents/.

Huskies Share Bi-County Title; Rams Place Third

After scores of matches were completed and the numbers all tallied, the Northern High School wrestling team ended up with a share of the Bi-County championship on Saturday. The tournament was hosted by Southern High School.

The Huskies amassed 172.5 points, as did the Beall Mountaineers, while the Southern Rams finished in third place with 132 points. Fort Hill was fourth with 115, followed by Westmar in fifth place with 14 points.

Coach Scott Stough's Huskies captured the most individual titles with seven, Beall recorded four, Fort Hill earned two, and the Rams gained one.

Bi-County champions for the Huskies included Casey Kamp in the 105-pound division, Mitchell Guard in the 132-pound class, Danny Ganoe at 137 pounds, Michael Wolf in the 147-pound division, Darric Kamp at 154 pounds, Jordan Brenneman in the 162-pound class, and heavyweight Shane Snider.

Darric Kamp and Brenneman both won their title bouts on pins, while the other five Huskies recorded decision victories.

The lone Southern High champion was Scott Wildesen, who won the 142-pound division via a pin.

Beall champions included Nathan Jackson (114), Jeff Brant (127), Zach Sloane (191), and Ty Wiland (217). Winning titles for Fort Hill were Lance Dicken (121) and Austin Williams (173).

The Rams garnered the most runner-up trophies — five — and Northern finished with one.

Second-place finishers for Southern were: Matt Ford (114), Mike Steyer (127), Chris Hayhurst (147), Jason Weeks (154), and Geoff Tressler (173). Lee Yoder (191) was a runner-up for the Huskies.

The Rams, coached by Dave Taylor, won four third-place trophies, captured by Nathan Sines (132), Jeremy Gregory (137), Chris Tepper (162), and Chris Bennett (191), while three Huskies placed third: Eric Garlitz (127), Michael Guard (142), and Mike Deem (217).

The Huskies and the Rams will be back in action again this weekend at the regional 1A/2A championships, to be hosted by Francis Scott Key High School.

137 - Danny Ganoe, Northern, dec. Nathan Workman, Beall 4-1. Third place: Jeremy Gregory, Southern.

142 - Scott Wildesen, Southern, pinned Colin DeVore, Beall, 3:13. Third place: Michael Guard, Northern.

147 - Michael Wolf, Northern, dec. Chris Hayhurst, Southern, 6-4. Third place: Chris Brown, Fort Hill.

154 - Darric Kamp, Northern, pinned Jason Weeks, Southern, 2:53. Third place: John Wertz, Fort Hill.

162 - Jordan Brenneman, Northern, pinned Pat Willison, Beall, 3:39. Third place: Chris Tepper, Southern.

173 - Austin Williams, Fort Hill, pinned Geoff Tressler, Southern, 2:54. Third place: Cody Miller, Beall.

191 - Zach Sloane, Beall, pinned Lee Yoder, Northern, 3:29. Third place: Chris Bennett, Southern.

217 - Ty Wiland, Beall, pinned Jason Oates, Fort Hill, 3:40. Third place: Mike Deem, Northern.

277 - Shane Snider, Northern, dec. Joe Stump, Fort Hill, 6-4. Third place: John Kauffman, Beall.

BI-COUNTY CHAMPS — Southern High School hosted the 2003 Bi-County Wrestling Tournament on Saturday, and local grapplers fared quite well in the event. As a team, the Northern Huskies tied for first place with Beall and captured seven of the 14 individual weight division titles, while the host Southern Rams placed third and earned one individual championship. All of the first-place finishers are pictured here. Above, Northern's Casey Kamp works his way to a decision over Brent Walker of Beall. Below, Danny Ganoe of Northern controls Nathan Workman of Beall to win the 137-pound division title. Photos are by Craig Speicher, with the exception of the two at bottom right, which were taken by Del Carpenter.

IN CONTROL in a first-round match, and going on to capture the 147-pound division title, was Northern's Michael Wolf, pictured above. Below, Mitchell Guard of Northern (top) earns a tough, 2-1 decision over Chris Lewis of Beall to take home the championship in the 132-pound division.

Dear Browsing Betsy,

It's very important to keep your browser updated. There are always new and exciting ways to use the internet and updating your browser will keep you in the loop.

Since you already have a browser, you can download the latest Netscape release from http://www.netscape.com and Internet Explorer from http://www.microsoft.com/ie/

To update Netscape, go on line and choose Software Updates from the Help menu. In both cases, the server will automatically interrogate your system to determine which components you need to bring yourself up to date. Then it's just a matter of picking what you want.

Please keep in mind that upgrading can sometimes be very time consuming. Make sure you have a few minutes to spare.

IN A CLOSE CONTEST every ounce of effort can spell the difference between victory and defeat, a precept spotlighted by the Northern High boys' basketball team as it hustled its way to a thrilling 61-59 upset over a powerful Union squad Tuesday night in Accident. Senior forward Derrell Smith (#5) is shown above having just lunged off the court to save an errant Husky pass, and keeping the ball in play by tipping it to waiting teammate Aaron Mitchell (#11). Basketball is a horizontal as well as vertical game, evidenced below by four-year NHS hoops program participant Matt Younkin (#31), shown stretching out to find an open teammate under the basket while Billy Jones (#32) gives a Tiger defender something to consider, and Jason Rice (#0, far background) approaches the action. The 5-8 Younkin was a giant-killer in his final regular season home game, as he sank a clutch three-pointer in the closing seconds to give the Huskies the win. Photos by John McEwen.

NHS SENIORS GET SUPER SEND-OFF – The Northern High School boys' basketball program honored its athletes and special supporters prior to Tuesday night's season closer at the Huskies' Igloo. The ceremony was capped by a thrilling last-minute Northern victory over the favored visitors from Union. The seniors, shown kneeling from the left before some proud Husky parents, are NHS cagers Derrell Smith, Landon Southerly, Matt Younkin, and Aaron Mitchell, statistician Jennifer Lowdermilk, and cheerleaders Stephanie Hutzel, Carrie Friend, Kristen Schefft, and Brandi Fazenbaker. Huskies Fall To Hancock, FH; Nip Union; Playoff Battle Ahead

The Northern High School boys' basketball team had a tough go of it through its final week of regular season play, as the Huskies dropped contests to Hancock and Fort Hill before nipping Union on a last-second three-pointer by senior guard Matt Younkin. The action leaves NHS with a 8-13 record for the season, heading into the Maryland 1A West Region Playoff Tournament Saturday (details below).

Northern's visit to Hancock this past Saturday was a game of two halves, as the Huskies took an early lead that vanished in an instant early in the third quarter. NHS was up 19-17 as the first quarter closed, and 35-33 at the half. The Panthers roared back to take a big third-quarter lead, 56-39, by outscoring the Huskies 23-4 over a blistering eight-minute run.

Junior post man Andrew Frantz paced Northern with 12 points, while Jason Rice contributed nine on three three-pointers and Aaron Mitchell contributed eight. John Poffenberger paced the Panthers with a game-high 23 points.

The Huskies were nipped at the buzzer in Monday's 44-43 home court loss to Fort Hill. A Sentinel shot from three-point range hit its mark as time expired, dealing NHS a crushing cap to a valiant effort.

Northern had exploded in the first quarter, racing out to a 15-4 lead, and was still up at the half, 19-15, after stumbling in the second stanza. It was still anybody's ballgame at the end of the third quarter, which ended with the Huskies holding a 28-25 lead.

As the battle entered its final stages, NHS grabbed a 43-41 when Landon Southerly streaked to the basket for a lay-up with just seven seconds remaining. Fort Hill called a timeout with four seconds left to plot its strategy, and the planning paid off when a ballhandler hit an open Joel Fradiska deep in the corner, and he responded by netting his only bucket of the night.

Mitchell finished with a superb double-double effort for NHS, scoring 18 points and grabbing 13 rebounds, both game-highs. Frantz turned in an 11-point performance. Fort Hill was led by 14 points by Danny Rose.

The Huskies' junior varsity dropped its outing by a 55-21 tally.

Northern senior guard Matt Younkin had his night in the hero's spotlight Tuesday when he drilled a three-pointer in the closing seconds to boost the Huskies to a 61-59 triumph over visiting Union.

Union had opened the contest by taking a 13-9 first-quarter lead, but NHS rebounded to claim a halftime advantage of 30-25. The Huskies were up 44-40 heading into the fourth quarter, but Union whittled away at the margin until it took a 59-58 lead in the late going; then, with less than 30 seconds to play, the 5-8 Younkin turned giant-killer by nailing his game-winning trey from no-man's land in the right corner. The scrappy guard's lone three-pointer of the game sent the Cove crowd into a frenzied celebration.

Frantz finished with 16 points, Rice 15, Mitchell 13, Southerly nine, and Younkin eight in a finely balanced NHS offensive attack. Union's Dewaine Jones had eight three-point goals and a game-high 24 points for the hosts.

Northern took the JV game with ease, 47-15, behind 12 points by Brent Beachy.

PLAYOFF SLATE

The Huskies open in the first round of the regional playoffs tomorrow evening at Williamsport, when #10 seed NHS meets the #7 seed Wildcats on the North Hagerstown High floor. Should Northern pull an upset, which is well within its ability, it will square off Monday against second-seeded Allegany in Accident.

Carrying a .380 winning percentage into post-season play could be a daunting prospect for the Huskies, but they've played the role of underdog before and come out on top. "We can win with hustle and effort," NHS coach Paul Edwards commented. "It's what we've been preaching all season. Most coaches are X and O guys, but I'm an intensity guy – and our best bet to win is to outwork everyone we play. If we do that, and come out focused, we can beat almost anyone."

WKHJ radio, at 104.5 on the FM dial, is laying the groundwork for broadcasting each of the Northern boys' post-season appearances, according to station spokesman Paul Mullan. The live radio coverage will be getting under way approximately 15-20 minutes prior to tip-offs. The broadcasts are dependent on a filled advertising bill, and businesses interested in supporting the radio coverage are encouraged to contact the radio station's offices at 301-334-4272.

NHS Nipped By Falcons; Senior Night To Give Playoff Send-Off

The Northern High School girls' basketball team dropped a one-point heartbreaker to host Frankfort Monday, 46-45, as a Falcon nailed a three-pointer in the very late going to put her squad ahead for good. The Huskies will close out their regular season at home tonight with a Senior Night match-up against Westmar, slated for 7:30 p.m., following a 6 p.m. junior varsity contest. Beyond the season finale loom the region playoffs. (See below for NHS playoff schedule.)

Northern and Frankfort played a good game of give-and-take throughout their contest, as the Huskies took a 12-8 first-quarter lead before the Falcons soared into a three-point lead at the half, 27-24. NHS reclaimed the scoreboard by battling back to take a 40-36 lead heading into the final eight minutes, and remained on top until Frankfort's Megan Bush sank the long-distance game-clincher with 1:21 left on the clock.

Husky forward Amanda Frantz led NHS with 14 points, and teammates Jeseca Gibson and Lyndsi Butler contributed 12 and 10 points, respectively. Julie Cessna netted a game-high 19 points for the Falcon hosts.

Northern's junior varsity was swamped in a 41-9 Frankfort tidal wave. The hosts were led by Alison McWhirter's 12 points.

REGION PLAYOFFS

The Huskies open their post-season chase as the sixth-seeded squad in the Maryland 1A West Region playoff tournament. The tourney gets under way Saturday as Northern hosts #11 seed Hancock in a 7:30 p.m. match-up. The winner of that contest will advance into Tuesday's quarterfinals to battle the #3 seed Williamsport Wildcats, who earned a first-round bye.

Local radio station 104.5 FM WKHJ is tentatively planning to broadcast each of the NHS girls' playoff games, according to spokesperson Paul Mullan, with the live radio feed getting under way approximately 15-20 minutes prior to tip-off. The broadcasts are dependent on a full slate of advertising, and businesses interested in supporting the radio coverage may contact the station's office at 301-334-4272.

Rams Win WMIL Title, But Then Upset By Keyser, BW

The good news this week for Southern High School boys' varsity basketball fans is that the Rams captured another Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship, their fifth in the last six seasons, by defeating host Fort Hill on Friday, 55-48.

The bad news, though, is that the Fort Hill victory was followed by a pair of home-court, upset losses — a 50-43 defeat by Keyser on Monday and a 43-38 drubbing by Bishop Walsh on Tuesday.

The Rams were scheduled to play a make-up game last night at Petersburg, but that contest was cancelled and will not be rescheduled.

The 1-2 finish left Coach Tom Bosley and his squad with a 15-4 regular-season record, a mark they will take into the 1A West Region playoffs on Monday against either Westmar or Hancock. The Rams are seeded #1 in the region and were awarded a bye in the first round of the playoffs.

Seniors Dennis Tressler and A.J. Bender powered the Rams to Friday's win over Fort Hill, the area's fourth ranked team, as Tressler hit a game-high 18 points and pulled down seven rebounds, while Bender recorded 12 points, six rebounds, six assists, and three blocks.

The victory upped the Rams' two-season WMIL record to 19-1.

Southern wasted no time taking charge of the contest, jumping out to a 10-0 lead in the first 3:40 of the game. The Rams hit their first five shots from the floor, while the frustrated Sentinels went 0-for-5.

The Rams held a 16-9 advantage at the end of the first quarter, but allowed Fort Hill back into the game in the second period. The Sentinels scored 10 of the first 14 points of the quarter to bring them to within one point, 20-19, but the Rams responded with a 6-1 run to close out the first half and take a 26-20 lead into the locker room at intermission.

Southern extended its lead to nine points, 42-33, in the third quarter, and went up by as many as 12, 46-34, with 5:20 left in the game, but the Sentinels weren't finished yet. They scored 14 of the next 18 points to pare the Rams' advantage down to just two points, 50-48, with 44 seconds left.

The Sentinels were then forced to foul, and the Rams responded by sinking five of six free throws in the final 36 seconds to preserve their win, their second victory over Fort Hill this season. Bender hit three of those final foul shots, and Tressler recorded the other two.

Corey Tressler and Matt Stephens each chipped in with eight points for the Rams, and Nathan Fitzwater contributed seven points and seven rebounds.

Southern hit 58% from the floor (21-for-36), while Fort Hill made good on just 30% (16-for-53). The Rams finished with a 32-20 edge in rebounds, but also led in turnovers, 20-12.

Leading Fort Hill, which dropped to 11-8 overall and 5-3 in the WMIL, was Andre Pope, who scored 15 points and pulled down a game-high eight rebounds. Also reaching double figures was Joel Fradiska with 10 points. Neil Gilmore finished with six points and seven rebounds.

The Southern junior varsity was topped in the preliminary game, 60-41. The Sentinel jayvees were led in scoring by Jordan Fradiska with 16 points, and Harley Brooks and Kevin Page with 11. Pacing the Southern jayvees were Aaron Louden with 16 points and Andrew VanBogelen with 13.

Monday's loss to Keyser snapped the Rams' remarkable six-season home-court winning streak against area opponents, as they had not lost on their own floor to an area team since a defeat by Bishop Walsh in the 1997 Snowball Classic.

The Rams were completely out of synch the entire game, committing an uncharacteristically high number of turnovers and missing shot after shot, while the Golden Tornadoes were patient on offense and tenacious on defense.

The Rams fell behind in the early going and were down 14-10 at the end of the first quarter. They trailed 24-16 late in the second stanza, but A.J. Bender almost single-handedly got the Rams back into the game and on top by one, 25-24, at intermission.

With less than two minutes to play in the first half, the senior point guard had back-to-back steals and layups to make it 24-20. He followed that with a long-ball assist to Tressler, who scored a two-pointer to make it 24-22. Bender then closed the half and gave the Rams their one-point halftime edge by draining a three-pointer at the buzzer.

But the momentum shift that was anticipated after Bender's buzzer shot did not materialize in the second half, as the Tornadoes came back in the third stanza to build a 38-34 lead.

Josh Blowe, who finished with a game-high 23 points, scored eight of his total in the fourth quarter to lead his team to the seven-point upset.

Blowe scored nine of Keyser's 20 field goals, and also led his team in rebounding with nine.

Tressler had a double-double night for the Rams, recording 15 points and 10 rebounds, while Bender finished with nine points and Matt Stephens added seven.

"There is really nothing I can say that is positive about how we played," Coach Bosley said. "I take the blame for the loss, and I give Keyser all the credit in the world. They were very well prepared, and they played harder than we did on both ends of the court, so they deserved to win the game."

The win improved Keyser's record to 11-5.

The Southern junior varsity rolled to a 66-45 victory in the first game behind strong games by Brad Reese and Evan Lantz, who scored 22 and 21 points, respectively. Don Marple led the Keyser jayvees with 11 points.

By the end of the first half of Tuesday's varsity game against visiting Bishop Walsh, it appeared that the Rams had recovered from their loss 24 hours earlier. But they let an eight-point halftime advantage get away from them and scored a grand total of 12 points in the entire second half, while the Spartans put 25 on the board to record the five-point victory.

It was the first win by BW over the Rams in Oakland since that 1997 Snowball Classic result.

Matt Stephens led the Rams to a 14-10 lead by the end of the first quarter, as he scored eight of those points, while Tressler netted the other six. But Stephens, a senior forward, would add only five more points to his total for the night, yet he still led the team in scoring with 13 points. Tressler was close behind with 11.

The Rams doubled their lead by the end of the second quarter, 24-16, and seemed to have things reasonably well under control in what was going to be a low-scoring game. They took a 33-29 lead into the final quarter.

But it was in that final, most important, period that Bishop Walsh seized control and the lead for good, with Alex Krstic scoring six of his team-high total of 12 in the final eight minutes.

The foreign exchange student nailed a three-pointer with 2:38 remaining to give the Spartans a 38-36 lead. A Bender steal followed by a lay-up by Cory Bosley tied it at 38-38, but those were to be the final points scored by the Rams.

Krstic put his team on top for good, then, with a three-point play, and after a Ram miss, BW's Matt Tam followed with a pair of free throws that sealed the Rams' fate.

The win upped the Spartans' record to 14-17.

The SHS junior varsity had no trouble disposing of the Spartan jayvees in the preliminary game, cruising to a 66-35 win. Andrew VanBogelen and Evan Lantz led the Rams in scoring with 17 and 13 points, respectively, while Griffin Detrick netted 11 to lead the BW jayvees.

If the Southern varsity is successful in Monday's playoff game at home against either Westmar or Hancock, the Rams would then move on to a semifinal game on Wednesday. The championship contest will be played Friday, and the state championships will be the March 14-15.

IT WAS A LOSING EFFORT by the Southern High School boys' varsity Monday evening at home against Keyser, as the Rams were upset by the visitors, 50-43. The loss snapped a home win streak against area teams that spanned six years. Things worsened for the Rams the following night, when they were upset by Bishop Walsh, 43-38, also at home. Pictured above going for points against a tenacious Keyser defense are Southern's Dennis Tressler, left, and Matt Stephens, right. The Rams were slated to play a make-up game last night at Petersburg, but that contest has been cancelled. They will return to action at home Monday in the second round of the 1A West Region playoffs against either Westmar or Hancock. See story for details. Photos by John McEwen.

Ram Girls Fall To Linganore, Roar Back Over 'Cats, Beall

While losing is never fun, the Southern High School girls' basketball team may have gained some valuable lessons this week for the upcoming Maryland 1A West Region playoffs when they opened Saturday with a loss to a powerful Linganore squad on the Lancers' home court by a 59-49 margin. The Rams were in the thick of that hunt until they lost top playmaker Robbin Gregg to a third-quarter injury, but after the contest they regrouped with some trademark team effort to crush Westmar Monday, 76-44, and blast Beall in a 60-22 runaway Tuesday.

Southern's hopes for a victory over powerful host Linganore turned with Gregg's ankle in the second half, leaving the Rams' offense crippled. SHS had jumped out of the box for 16-11 first-quarter lead, and was still in the thick of things after a rocky second quarter left the Rams down by two, 30-28. The hosts exploded in the third stanza for a 20-10 run that left Southern on the short end of a 50-38 deficit as the final quarter got under way.

Before leaving the floor for good, Gregg scored 16 points to lead the Rams. Becca Flanagan tallied 12 points and 12 rebounds, Justine Pagenhardt had seven assists, and Jasmine Scheffel had eight rebounds. The Lancers' Megan Uglic paced all scorers with 27 points.

Southern won the junior varsity game, 52-47. Kaitlyn Brown and Kendra McLaughlin had 11 points apiece for the Rams.

The Linganore loss evidently left the SHS varsity mad at the world, and the Rams took out their frustration against the Wildcats Monday by rolling to a 32-point victory.

Southern established its dominance quickly by taking a 19-8 first-quarter lead. The Rams continued taming the Wildcats with ease by rolling up leads of 42-24 by the half and 64-28 as the fourth quarter opened.

Pagenhardt filled the shoes of the missing Gregg in fine fashion by scoring 26 points as she led the SHS offensive attack. The speedy guard scored 16 points in the first half to pace the Rams to their 18-point halftime lead. Forward Nina Stoner contributed 14 points over the course of the night, Becca Flanagan had nine point, and Sabrina Scheffel and Melissa Flanagan netted eight points apiece.

Brooke Raines led Westmar with 12 points, and teammate Marcie Sloan added 10 points.

The Ram JV squad took a rather convincing 65-11

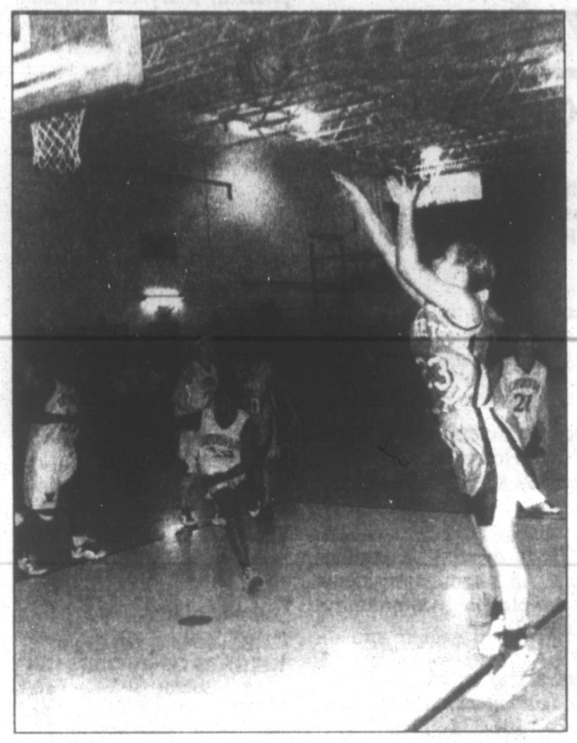
STREAKING TO THE JUCO CROWN, Garrett College guard LaTonya Crowder is shown above on the fly as she wins a footrace to the basket with a Catonsville defender. The Lakers downed the second-seed Cougars by 20 points in Saturday's Maryland JUCO Tournament semifinal contest on their way to taking their very first tourney title the following afternoon with a 69-60 win over Rockville. GC's Carrie Pardue is shown below during the win over Catonsville banking in a wide-open jumper from point blank range. Photos by John McEwen.



GC Women Storm To JUCO Title Over Cougars, Cardinals, Hawks

They say you never forget your first time, and the women of the Garrett College hoops program will never forget their first successful quest for the Maryland Junior College as they stormed to the tourney crown with decisive fashion by downing Frederick, Catonsville, and Rockville over the weekend in McHenry. Third-seeded Garrett used its homecourt advantage to cruise to its first JUCO title behind the leadership of tourney Most Valuable Player LaSha Anderson, just a freshman, who led all scorers in the post-season competition.

The Lakers skinned the Frederick Cougars 78-56 in Friday's opening round behind sterling performances by Anderson and center Tiffany McFarland. The pair paced a balanced team effort rounded out by fine efforts, including those turned in by GC's Carrie Pardue, Latonya Crowder, and Angel Kendall. (Statistics were not available.)

Anderson had a career-high 41 points during Garrett's 88-68 thumping of second-seeded Catsonville the following day, as she nailed 14 field goals, including six three-pointers.

The Lakers rolled up a 10-point lead early, which they maintained through most of the first half, and staved off a Cougar run in the second stanza that closed the gap to six points.

Anderson, the hot-shooting Martinsburg, W.Va., native, also went seven-for-seven from the free-throw line, and hauled down eight rebounds. McFarland netted 17 points on four field goals and a perfect nine-for-nine tally from the charity stripe, and pulled down nine rebounds. Kendall dished out 10 assists and scored nine points, and Pardue contributed eight points.

Sunday's JUCO title contest pitted the Lakers against fourth-seeded Rockville, a squad that had narrowly defeated GC during the regular season. Garrett responded with a 69-60 victory to claim its first tourney crown.

"We really wanted to go up against Rockville," Laker head coach Steve Willison said. "This is a team that loves to step up to a challenge."

Garrett and the Hawks battled through a give-and-take first half that saw the lead change hands six times. The intermission came as the visitors were up by a 38-35 margin as a Hawk hit a three-pointer with just four seconds remaining. GC took up the challenge forcefully in the second half, however, and rallied to take a five-point lead that held until the five-minute mark when Rockville began chipping away. After the Hawks pulled to within one point, 51-51, Anderson drilled a trey that put the Lakers up by four, and the Garrett squad never looked back on its way to the win.

Anderson and McFarland paced GC with 18 points each, Natasha Robinson contributed 12 points, and Crowder tallied eight rebounds, four assists, and a steal. Garrett won the battle of the boards by a healthy 46-38 margin as McFarland hauled down 10 rebounds and Anderson grabbed six.

McFarland and Angel Kendall were named to the JUCO-All Tournament First Team, along with Rockville's Pania Amair and Tiffany Williams, and Catonsville's Tiffany Workman. Robinson, Howard, and Watts of Catsonville, along with Humphries and Jackson of Prince George's, were named to the Second Team.

Garrett is now 16-6 for the season and will play at Potomac State College tonight. Beyond that, the Lakers will take part in the Region XX Tournament, slated to run Friday through Sunday, March 7-9, at Frederick Community College. The JUCO women's National Tournament is slated for mid-March in Hagerstown.

Laker Men Eliminated From JUCO Tourney By Rockville

The quest for the 2003 Maryland JUCO championship ended Friday for the Garrett College men's team and coach Dennis Gibson, as the Lakers were knocked out of the tournament by Montgomery-Rockville, 98-93, at Frederick CC.

The tournament was reduced from 16 teams to just eight because of last week's severe weather conditions. The Lakers were the fifth seeded team in the standings, while Montgomery-Rockville, a squad that Garrett lost to in the regular season, was seeded fourth.

The Lakers were down by seven points, 46-39, at halftime and trailed by as many as 10 in the second half.

Rashaun Copeland paced five Lakers in double-figure scoring, as he poured in a game-high 24 points, with nine of those being scored from three-point range.

Kevin Essex finished with 18 points, Antuon Townsend netted 14, Alvin Jones recorded 12, and Rashard Ellis chipped in with 10.

Leading the Knights were Michael Brevner and Kweku Pessen with 22 and 21 points, respectively, while Brandon Macon recorded 18 points and a dozen rebounds. Brevner grabbed 10 rebounds.

Also reaching double figures were Johan Matos with 12 points and Dele Ojo with 11.

The top-seeded Trojans of Allegany College went on to defeat Montgomery-Rockville on Saturday, and then won the title by whipping Howard CC in the championship game on Sunday.

The Lakers' season is still not over, however, as the team (18-7) will face Hagerstown this Sunday at 8 p.m. in Hagerstown and play for the right to meet Allegany for the Region XX Division I title on Monday.

Additionally, area residents were concerned about the lagoons being located near them, and that that type of system would have taken up space that could have been used for development, said Economic Development director Jim Hinebaugh.

His office was partially responsible for getting the new system, he said, because of the proposed park. Business prospects looking to move to the county want "quick solutions," he noted, with established water and sewage systems and easy access to infrastructures such as I-68.

"They don't want to have to wait one or two years," he said. Some prospects could not wait until the park was finished and are looking elsewhere; but others are still interested, Hinebaugh said. He noted that the businesses that do locate at the park will provide jobs and increase the county tax base.

The new system will also help businesses already existing in the area, Hinebaugh added. He also noted that public water was now available to Keyser's Ridge area residents, thanks to the Sanitary District and commissioners. The next step, he said, is getting the wastewater system installed.

The public wastewater system could be available later this year or early next, depending on funding, said Petrella. A cost estimate will be submitted to Rural Development, followed by engineering and environmental reports to the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Maryland Department of the Enviornment.

Hinebaugh said grant funding for the system could come from a variety of sources, such as Community Development Block Grants, One Maryland, the Appalachian Regional Commission, and Rural Development.

Though recent public hearings concerning the proposed Keyser's Ridge industrial park have drawn residents both for and against the project, no one attended the advertised master plan amendment hearing on Tuesday.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted, however, that the new system would address some of the issues of those opposed to the park, such as concerns about septic system leakage and possible lagoons.

"We'll keep moving forward with the park, addressing issues the opposition raises and securing funding," said Gregg.

The commissioners approved amendments to the county comprehensive plan and the subdivision ordinance in December. Legal challenges have been filed opposing those amendments. But the commissioners appear determined to move ahead with park plans.

"We have to do what we feel is best for Garrett County," said Commissioner Fred Holliday, which includes quality of life for residents and economic benefits. "We don't want to hurt the environment," he added. "We'll do our darnedest to stay away from that."

Vaccinations

Distribution began last week, and administration of the vaccine will continue over the next several months.

Medical doctors, nurses, sanitarians, and law enforcement officers will form the Public Health Response Team established by the Garrett County Health Department. In addition, hospital personnel from across the state will form Medical Response Teams that administer treatment to patients. Members will include representatives from emergency departments, intensive care units, respiratory therapists, nurses and doctors. All 48 acute-care hospitals in Maryland are participating in the state's preparedness effort, according to Lee.

More than 300 health care professionals participated in training sessions across Maryland earlier this year. Sponsored by DHMH, the sessions focused on clinic operations and logistics, medical screening, and vaccine administration.

"This well-trained group is certified to administer the vaccine," said Lee.

A telephone hotline has been established to answer questions about the smallpox vaccination program. Available 24 hours a day, the number is 1-866-866-2769.

In Loving Memory of Darlene Thomas Sisler

In loving memory of my soulmate and wife, Darlene, who God called to her heavenly home 10 years ago on March 3, 1993.

We fell in love as teenagers and were married on August 18, 1962 and had 30 great years together as man and wife. We were blessed with three children, Patricia, Dougie and Chris who added to our happiness. Darlene and I shared life's dreams, along with the ups and downs that occur in life. Little did we know that one of the downs would shatter not only our lives, but our children's as well, when we found out that you had terminal cancer.

When the doctor told us "maybe six months", you and I fought it together. You, being the stronger one, with your determination and faith, stayed with us nearly two more years. Our love never let us down during those trying times. When the time for us to be together grew shorter, you accepted the fact better than I, that soon you would be leaving your loved ones behind and would be going to your "Heavenly Home".

Just a few months ago, we tragically lost our 38-year old son, "Dougie", but our faith in God tells me he is now with you, Darlene. Patricia, Chris and I miss and love you dearly.

Remembering the life and love we shared, your ever-loving husband, Doug Sisler.

(Darlene was the daughter of George K. and Sarah Thomas (both deceased),and is survived by 1 sister and 5 brothers and also missed by them and a host of other relatives and friends.)

MORE ROOFS COLLAPSED recently in Garrett County under the weight of several feet of heavy snow. Last Thursday night, a roof at Fairfax Concrete Products fell, damaging an almost new 2000 block truck, a dump truck, and four forklifts. The business is located along Rt. 219 south of Oakland. The exact damage estimate is not known, but it is "definitely hundreds of thousands" of dollars, according to a Fairfax spokesperson. Pictured are mechanic Dave Rumer, plant superintendent Allen Strawser, and mechanic Jim Stemple, removing snow from the remaining part of the roof. Below is what is left of the former Treasure Island building, located along Weber Road near Oakland. Its roof collapsed sometime during the weekend. Built in the mid 1970s, the structure has been vacant for several years. In addition to Treasure Island, the building has housed Heck's, Radio Shack, Revco, a movie theater, craft store, and a bank. Extracurricular Activities Bill Hearing Slated

Delegate George Edwards's bill that would allow home-schooled students to participate in public school sponsored extracurricular activities will be heard next week in Annapolis.

The House Ways and Means Committee will conduct the hearing for HB 218 on Thursday, March 6, at 1 p.m. in Room 110, Lowe House Office Building.

The bill would allow home-schooled students to take part in various activities such as athletics, drama, band, and choir, but only as long as their involvement did not prevent the schools' enrolled students from participating.

Edwards said he introduced the legislation at the request of constituents who teach their children at home because of religious reasons. Currently, those not enrolled in a school are prohibited from involvement under state law and athletic rules.

Edwards said students should be able to enjoy the extras without following the school's curricular plans.

Anyone wishing to testify on any bill must sign the witness register before the hearing begins. Those who have written testimony must submit 30 copies to the committee staff for distribution one hour prior to the hearing.

Additionally, anyone in the hearing room must have proper identification displayed at all times, and all electronic devices must be turned off before entering. For more information, persons may call 410-841-3469.

had to deal with and the amount of time involved in plowing all of that snow, it was remarkable there were not more accidents.

Economic Development

Weather permitting, construction on the new Phenix Technologies building and ClosetMaid will begin in the spring, said Frank Shap of Garrett County Economic Development.

He also reported that the Maryland Economic Development Corporation (MEDCO) and Hardy Construction Company would be investigating the cause of the office area roof collapse of the shell building. Located in the Southern Industrial and Techology Park, the structure is owned by MEDCO was was built by the Frederick construction company.

Shap said MEDCO had not yet accepted the building from Hardy before the collapse occurred.

Garrett College

Dr. Steve Herman, president of Garrett College, reported that because the storm hit on Presidents' Day, the college lost only one day. He added, however, that with prior closings and delays, a considerable amount of time had been lost during this semester. As a result, the college was looking into ways to make up for the lost time, possibly by scheduling class time on weekends.

The president also reported that the roof of the Garrett Information Enterprise Center, located on the college campus, had been leaking because of the melting snow. "We're looking at long-term solutions to the problem," he said.

The roof of the Oakland National Guard Amory has also been leaking. The college holds classes there, but has been able to move them elsewhere in the building to avoid the leakage. The Guards will construct a new roof when weather permits.

Ruth Enlow Library

Ground breaking for the new Grantsville library, slated for mid March, will probably be delayed because of all the snow, reported Ruth Enlow Library director Cathy Ashby.

On a positive note, however, she said the Oakland library roof did not leak from all of the melting snow, thanks to the installation of a new roof last summer.

Social Services

Director Henry Brown, Garrett County Department of Social Services, did not report any snow-related problems at his offices. He did report, however, that the state's budget deficient would affect them. Funding to the Maryland Department of Human Resources (DHR) is expected to be cut by $10 million during the next two years. In 2003, the reduction will be $6 million, with a $4 million cut in 2004, according to Brown.

"I think we'll get through next year," he said.

Locally, Social Services will be cut by $18,000. To adjust to the reduction, one staff member's hours have been cut, and some services may be cut as well.

Brown added the hiring freeze was still being enforced at the state level. His department was able, however, to get a waver to hire an IT specialist.

The new DHR secretary, Christopher J. McCabe, is expected to visit the county sometime in the near future, said Brown.

GODS AND GENERALS

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 3:40 - Released 2/21/03

Gods And Generals, Ronald Maxwell's long-awaited prequel to his 1993 Civil War epic Gettysburg, has come under fire (no pun intended) for being long, boring, and historically inaccurate, and failing to live up to the quality expectations set by its 10-year-old predecessor. Welcome, Mr. Maxwell, to George Lucas's world. At nearly four hours, it probably is too long for anyone who is not a Civil War enthusiast, or anyone who doesn't like to sit in a theater seat too long (which may include a good many Civil War enthusiasts), but the length issue is mitigated to an extent by the inclusion of an intermission at about the 2:15 mark. On the subjects of boring and historically inaccurate, the same sort of paradox is in play: people who love all things Civil War-related may have no problem with boredom, but they will be annoyed by the historical inaccuracies; those who are not history buffs probably won't notice the mistakes, but will tire of the dry conversations, the speechmaking, and the surprisingly non-bloody battle footage. I did notice that, especially at the beginning, the dialogue seemed like very much line delivery and very little acting. The early scenes, which involve people tearfully saying goodbye to their sons and husbands, and the appointment of Virginia General Robert E. Lee (played this time by actual Lee descendant Robert Duvall) as leader of the Confederate army, contain dialogue which seems more like well-rehearsed speeches than actual conversation, setting a tone that works against the film in the minds of moviegoers who think to themselves, "is this what it's going to be like for three more hours?"

There is something to be said for the sheer guts of undertaking a huge project like this. Gettysburg was originally intended to be a TV miniseries, but Gods And Generals, based on the book by Jeff Shaara and adapted for the screen by director Maxwell, was planned as a feature film from the beginning; its rich production values (and its $60 million price tag that co-producer Ted Turner reportedly put up out of his own pocket) indicate a spare-no-expense attitude. The battle scenes—Bull Run, Harper's Ferry, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville—shot entirely on location using thousands of volunteer re-enactors, are truly epic in scope if not nearly as grisly as they must have been, and serve as a testament to man's curious ability to march into the face of death for the sake of God, honor, and principle. The trouble is, when you end up as Maxwell did with a 6-hour movie, you've got to either cut it down or make two, and this is where he ran into some serious problems maintaining historical accuracy. While the film is technically beautiful, its construction betrays some strange and, dare I say, desperate choices.

I don't consider myself a Civil War expert by any means, but, like many Americans, I became an armchair enthusiast in 1990 thanks to Ken Burns's fascinating public TV miniseries The Civil War, and I learned at least a little about the sequence of events. Perhaps the most disconcerting thing about Gods is that it jumps from the beginning of the war and the battle of Bull Run in 1861 to that of Fredericksburg, Virginia, nearly 1½ years later, skipping most of 1862 and omitting such important battles as Shiloh and Antietam as if they never happened. But if you consider that this is mainly the story of Confederate General Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson (played elegantly by Stephen Lang, who was Gen. George Pickett in Gettysburg), and that the director was faced with cutting over 2 hours from his original print, then perhaps we can understand the predicament he was in. Maybe the Antietam scenes are lying on the cutting room floor, but the omission is jarring to anyone who paid attention in 9th grade.

Meanwhile, some of the things Maxwell left in are even more surprising. In his zeal to show the feelings and attitudes of the time, on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line, rather than simply present a workmanlike depiction of historical events, he devotes more time on such things as Christmas celebrations, prayer, executions for desertion, and Jackson's relationship with a little girl who serves as a surrogate daughter (played by Lydia Jordan) than on the war. Did Maxwell cut Antietam out just so we could see Jackson sing "Silent Night"?

Regardless of editing decisions, however, this movie features some fine acting (after it gets going for an hour or so) by its principals, many of whom re-create their roles from Gettysburg. In addition to the truly superb work done by Lang and Duvall, we are treated to numerous thoughtful supporting performances by the likes of Jeff Daniels, who returns to the role of Union officer Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain, Kali Rocha as Jackson's wife Anna, Kevin Conway as Union officer "Buster" Kilrain, C. Thomas Howell as Chamberlain's brother and subordinate officer, Mira Sorvino as Chamberlain's wife Fanny, and Donzaleigh Abernathy as a southern house slave who, while devoted to her loving white owners, suffers with justifiably conflicted feelings about the war and the "enemy" who could set her free.

There is so much to be said about the American Civil War that each of the major battles could exist as a touching, thrilling movie of its own. Perhaps in his desire to condense, director Maxwell bit off more than he could chew, but what remains is a beautiful movie, flaws and all, that recounts an important chapter in our nation's history and features some excellent performances. It could have been handled better, perhaps, but there is enough about it that works to make it worth watching. ★★★★

Strategic Mtgs. Rescheduled For Next Week

Recent weather conditions have caused the kick-off meetings for the 21st Century Garrett County Strategic Planning Process to be rescheduled for the week of March 3.

Communities throughout Garrett County recently received funding to undertake an intensive strategic planning process. By engaging in the process, these communities will develop an individual strategic plan that is unique to its community. The process will help identify development opportunities, community resources, and required financing to fully achieve the potential for the communities' commercial and residential areas. Participating in the first round of strategic planning are the communities of Friendsville, Grantsville, and Loch Lynn.

Residents of each of these communities are invited to attend and participate in the planning process. Kick-off meetings have been rescheduled for the following days: Grantsville, March 6, 6 to 9 p.m., Grantsville Senior Center, local contact is Mayor Gerald Beachy at 301-895-3144; Friendsville, March 4, 6 to 9 p.m., Friendsville Community Senior Center, contact is Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle at 301-746-5919; and Loch Lynn, March 6, 6 to 9 p.m., Loch Lynn Community Center, contact is Mayor Larry Friend at 301-334-8339.

For more information on the meetings or the strategic planning process, persons may call one of the local contacts.

Senators Grill Governor Ehrlich On Slot Machine Legislation

by Dan Genz and Tom Lobianco
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Maryland senators told Gov. Robert Ehrlich to bring passion into the slot machine legalization debate and work with the General Assembly to solve the state's long-term budget crisis.

After the second of two days of General Assembly hearings Wednesday, Ehrlich pledged at least 50 percent of slots revenue to education, but his budget team could not produce final numbers, desperately awaited by the lawmakers who will begin deciding the matter Monday.

While Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr.'s adamant and eloquent support nearly guaranteed some sort of plan would get to the floor, his Budget and Taxation Committee assaulted numerous fronts of Ehrlich's proposal, demanding more information and support.

"When you talk about the racing industry ... it is coming from the heart," said Chairman Ulysses Currie, D-Prince George's. "I would like to see that same emotion when you talk about this."

Ehrlich's budget depends on slot-machine revenue to close the state's $1.7 billion two-year budget gap. He originally proposed a slot machine bill that would produce about $1 billion in two years by putting more than 10,000 machines at four racetracks. He allotted 61 percent of proceeds to education and 23 percent to the racing industry, and other earmarks for local governments and race purses.

The governor has since scrapped that plan, after complaints from the racing industry that they can't survive on their share, but no new details have emerged from the second floor of the State House.

On Wednesday, Ehrlich continued to use the same charts he's been using since introducing his budget Jan. 17, while one senator came prepared with his own.

"You have to be honest to people and say this is not going to solve the problem (from 2005 to 2008)," said committee Vice Chairman Patrick Hogan, D-Montgomery, holding a chart showing the state would continue facing billion-dollar deficits in the future unless other actions were taken.

Lottery revenue is addictive to lawmakers, said Sen. John Astle, D-Anne Arundel.

"Is this the road to full casinos?" he asked. "We draw lines as legislators," Ehrlich said, adding he would not endorse the expansion of slot machines to other venues under his administration.

Stumping with Ehrlich for the second day in a row, state schools superintendent Nancy Grasmick said the type of revenue enhancement slots provides is essential for making Maryland public education more effective for poorer students, those with special needs or who speak foreign languages. Education funding is an issue "of adequacy" Grasmick said, and not a perk, but essential to the public education system.

Ehrlich won crucial support for his proposal by promising to fund the recommendations of the Thornton Commission, an education funding reform panel, with slots revenue.

The Legislature passed the recommendations for increased funding last session, but didn't include a complete revenue stream, which Ehrlich preyed on in his testimony. Ehrlich has told lawmakers that without slots, Thornton is a "pipe dream."

"After slots, what? Where do we go?" Hogan asked.

The House's leading slots supporter said increased taxes, budget cuts, and slots revenue will all be necessary to fund better education.

Testifying after Ehrlich and his team left, House Appropriations chairman Howard P. Rawlings, D-Baltimore, said slots revenues will never completely fund Thornton — it wouldn't even begin to mature until 2007, he said. In 2008, the annually increasing Thornton price tag hits $1.3 billion, dwarfing slots proceeds.

Deadline Extended For PAWS/Repub. Essay Contest

The deadline for the Spay Day USA essay contest, sponsored by Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) and The Republican newspaper, has been extended by two weeks. The original deadline of Feb. 28 has been moved to March 14. All entries must be postmarked by that date.

Spay Day USA is Feb. 25, but because of the continuing inclement weather, the contest organizers felt the extension was needed, as the contest is designed for middle school and high school age persons throughout the area. The contest guidelines have been distributed to area schools, which have been closed for several days since the announcement of the contest.

Writers are being asked to submit a creative essay, either in their voice or the voice of an animal (cat, dog or other companion animal), which will persuade people to have their pets spayed or neutered.

Prizes of $100, $75 and $50 United States Savings Bonds, courtesy of F&M Bank, will be awarded to the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners. Winning entries will be announced in late March, and will also be published in The Republican during that month, or in early April.

Submissions should be no more than 300 words, typewritten, double spaced, and include the author's name, address, phone number, age/school year, name of school attended or whether home schooled, and a word count.

Questions about the essay contest can be answered by calling a PAWS volunteer at 301-334-2699. Completed essays should be mailed to Spay/Neuter Essay Contest, c/o The Republican, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550.

Charges Against Oakland Man Not Prosecuted

Charges against an Oakland man were recently dismissed in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Jimmy Lee Barkley, 23, had been charged with one count of second-degree assault and one count of theft, following a February 2002 incident involving a Mountain Lake Park man.

Student Intern Joins Adventure Sports Ctr. Staff

KELLIE RUSH HIGDON

The Adventure Sports Center Inc. (ASCI) has selected Kellie Rush Higdon, an Oakland resident, as its student intern for the spring semester. A graduate student at West Virginia University, Higdon will support the work of the ASCI management team primarily in the areas of grant development and project planning.

In her position at ASCI, Higdon will assist in developing the design of the new Adventure Sports Center, which will include a white-water course, amphitheater, and support building. She also will contribute to composing necessary construction agreements for the first phase of the build-out. Her other responsibilities will include product development research and growth of an organizational marketing program.

Higdon is a 1993 graduate of the University of Maryland, Baltimore, where she received a bachelor of arts degree in political science. Since graduation, she has worked extensively in the insurance industry. She is seeking her master of business administration degree at West Virginia University while also completing an on-line certificate program in project management at Villanova University in Pennsylvania.

A native of Garrett County, Higdon has two children, Ashton and Mackenzie.

Adventure Sports Center International is a non-profit 501 c (3) organization dedicated to leading the adventure industry in the development of training, recreation and competitive opportunities in adventure sports. When complete, the center will be on Marsh Mountain, centrally located in Garrett County. The first phase of the project is slated to open in the spring of 2005.

Earns Scholarship From Allegany C.

Local resident Melissa Kelly is one of six Allegany College of Maryland students who have been awarded a Charles S. Catherman Memorial Office Technologies Scholarship for the current academic year, according to the ACM Foundation.

Kelly is pursing an associate degree in office technologies with a medical transcription option, and is a dean's list student. Her career objective is to become a certified medical transcriptionist. She and her husband Patrick reside in McHenry with their three children.

DCL Policy And Review Board Slates Meeting

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has set a meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday, March 6, at the DCL State Park Discovery Center. The agenda includes further discussion of the regulation and management of powerboat noise, the status of the procurement of a consultant for a lake carrying capacity study, and the procurement of a fireboat for use on the lake this coming season.

PRB meetings are open to the public, and the board will accept input and public comment during the meeting. For further information, persons may call the DCL management office at 301-387-4111.

CPR, First Aid Course Slated

The Western Potomac Chapter, American Red Cross will hold a child, infant, and adult CPR and basic first aid certification course on Thursday, March 6, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the American Red Cross office, 12 South Third Street in Oakland.

For more information, persons may call Mike Dew, regional coordinator, at 301-334-3810 or 800-361-9481.

Board Provides Prekindergarten Registration Info

Beginning March 1, 2003, and ending May 1, 2003, the Garrett County Board of Education will be accepting applications for its Extended Elementary Education Program or prekindergarten. To be eligible for this program a child must have his/her 4th birthday no earlier than December 1, 1998, and no later than October 30, 1999.

There is a two-step application process:

1. Interested parents should obtain a copy of the Notification of Interest for Prekindergarten Program documents. (These documents can be obtained from the nearest elementary school or from the Office of Pupil Services at the Board of Education office in Oakland.) The first document explains the enrollment and selection process for the prekindergarten program. The second document is an information sheet. This information sheet should be completed and forwarded to the Office of Pupil Services, Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550. The form can also be taken to the closest elementary school.

2. Upon receipt of the Notification of Interest for Prekindergarten Program information sheet, the parents will be given or sent a second set of documents. This second set includes a parent letter, a photocopy of the Board of Education's guidelines for determining the eligibility and selection of prekindergarten students, and a Garrett County Prekindergarten Program Questionnaire. This questionnaire will need to be completed and returned as soon as possible to the Office of Pupil Services. The information provided by parents on this questionnaire will be used to determine which children are enrolled in the prekindergarten program. The Office of Pupil Services will date and log in all questionnaires.

Any questions about this enrollment process should be directed to Mrs. Liz Lewis, administrative secretary, Office of Pupil Services, at 301-334-8939.

Registration Set For All Children Entering School

The Garrett County Board of Education announces that the annual comprehensive preschool registration program will be held again this year. This program is for all children entering kindergarten or first grade for the first time in August.

This registration program, which will be held in all elementary schools during April, has been developed to help identify strengths and needs of children and to identify early any problems that may interfere with a successful start in school, according to a board spokesperson.

Parents must register any child who will be 5 years old by November 30, 2003. The law allows exemptions to the school attendance requirements as follows: permits compliance through the home school instruction regulation; grants a one-year immaturity waiver if the parent or guardian makes a written request to the local school system; and allows a 5-year-old to be enrolled in one of three alternative program settings — a full-time licensed child care center, a full-time registered family day care home, or part time in a Head Start 5-year-old program.

Parents of children who meet the above qualifications are asked to fill out the registration blank at the end of this article and mail it to the designated address. All parents registering children for school will receive a registration appointment. However, parents who choose to use one of the exemptions from the required 5-year-old attendance must request the appropriate exemption form from the Department of Pupil Services at 301-334-8939.

State regulations require parents to provide evidence of birth (their child's birth certificate), an official immunization record, and documented proof of current residency. Documents accepted by the state of Maryland as proof of residency include: deed/mortgage agreement, current property tax bill, current rental lease or agreement, or current utility bill with applicant's name and address.

In addition, parents must complete an Affidavit of Disclosure to verify the residency of the student. Social Security cards are also requested at registration.

As a part of the comprehensive registration program, each child registering for school will receive a general health interview and dental screening. Immunizations, if needed, will be administered on site by the Garrett County Health Department nurses free of charge.

PRINCIPAL'S LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

The following are weekly suggestions for all students and staff to use as a part of our everyday lives at Southern High School: Feb. 24-28, "Compliment people."

ON-LINE COLLEGE SCOUTING

Southern Garrett High School Students who plan to go to college are eligible for a college prospect identification program for college-bound students who excel in athletics, are talented in music, art or drama, and excel in academics. Students may enter profiles on-line at www.onlinecollegescouting.com. Identified high school personnel verify information. Colleges access the information and contact students who are good prospects for their needs. Students can go on-line now in the Media Center. SGHS students have the opportunity to be "reviewed" by 2,300 colleges and universities across the nation for FREE.

COUNSELORS VISIT MIDDLE SCHOOL

Southern High guidance counselors will be visiting Southern Middle School to schedule for next year's 9th graders. Counselors will be at the Middle School during the day beginning Feb. 24. All 8th grade students should have already received their scheduling time from the middle school. Due to snow days last week, many appointments have been rescheduled and parents should receive a new schedule accordingly. Any parent who is unable to make that time may call 301-334-1660 for an evening appointment with their counselor.

YEARBOOK DEADLINES

Parent ads for the yearbook are due March 15. Yearbook orders are still being taken for a limited time. Contact Erin White at 301-334-9447 for any yearbook concerns.

SCHOOL PLAY AUDITIONS SCHEDULED

Auditions for the spring play Found A Peanut by Donald Margulies will be Feb. 19. Auditions are open to all SHS students. Found A Peanut is being produced by special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service.

AFTER-PROM THEME SET

"South of the Border" is the theme selected for the 12th annual Southern High After-Prom Party. This event will take place after the traditional prom, which is slated for Saturday, April 26. As usual, we expect 300+ students to attend, so we need parent input and support to get all the plans completed. Parent meetings will be held in March on the following dates: Tuesday, March 11, 18, 25. The meetings will take place in Mrs. Bender's room starting at 6:30 pm. For more information, please contact her at the school.

PHYSICAL FITNESS TESTING SLATED

The physical education classes will be conducting physical fitness testing on Thursday, Feb. 27, in coordination with the G.C. Health Department and AmeriCorps. Those students currently enrolled in a 9th grade physical education/health class and a physical activity class will be participating in the testing during their class time. This is a pre-test which measures each student's level of physical fitness, specifically flexibility, body composition, muscular strength and endurance, and cardio-respiratory endurance. Gear Up funds helped to purchase some of the testing equipment for this test, such as scales, a skin caliper used to measure body fat percentage, a sit & reach box used to measure flexibility, as well as the computer program used to calculate the results for each student. A post test will be given in May. Students are encouraged to set goals which will improve their level of fitness and test scores.

MASONIC CHARITIES OF MARYLAND

This scholarship application is due by March 1 (with $1.00 for transcript). Two $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to two Garrett County high school seniors to be used toward expenses at an accredited two-year or four-year college or technical school. It requires completion of an essay application, and a transcript. Selection criteria include: public service and extra-curricular activities, student resumé, scholastic achievement, recommendation from high school, and need for financial assistance.

OAKLAND MASONIC GRANT APPLICATION

This is due by Friday, March 14, for a $500 scholarship to be awarded to one graduating senior of Southern Garrett High School. Applicants are evaluated on the following criteria: applicant's resumé, scholastic achievement, need for financial assistance, participation in extra-curricular activities, and high school recommendation.

GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSION FOR WOMEN

The deadline is Friday, March 14. A $500 scholarship will be awarded a female senior at either Northern or Southern high schools. Applicants must: be entering an accredited community college, four-year college, professional or technical school in the fall semester of 2003; have at least a 2.0 GPA; demonstrate good character, citizenship, resourcefulness and respect to others through school activities or community service; and promote a positive image of women. The application must include an official high school transcript.

USA FUNDS ACCESS TO EDUCATION SCHOLARSHIP

The deadline is March 15. Seniors planning to pursue a post-secondary education will be awarded $1,500 scholarships, renewable on an annual basis. Eligible applicants must demonstrate financial need. Approximately 50 percent of the recipients will be a member of an ethnic minority group or have a physical disability. Selection of recipients will be based on financial need, past academic performance, leadership, participation in school and community activities, work experience, career and educational aspirations and goals, and future potential. Additional information and applications can be obtained by logging on to www.usafunds.org.

CHEVROLET MICHELLE KWAN R.E.W.A.R.D.S. SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The postmark deadline is Monday, March 31. This program will recognize 10 outstanding female high schol graduates from across the United States who are involved in athletics with a $5,000 scholarship payable over four years. Eligibility criteria include: a female student currently completing her senior year of high school with sufficient credits to graduate in June 2003, possess a cumulative grade point average of 3.2 or higher, have demonstrated both academic and athletic excellence, demonstrated leadership and community involvement, be a U.S. citizen, intend to enroll in an accredited two- or four-year college or university during the fall term of 2003, continue involvement in athletics while in college, and demonstrate financial need. It also requires letters of recommendation from a coach and a teacher, requires a 500-750-word personal statement, high school transcript, and copy of a recent tax return.

GED Application Deadline Noted

The high school diploma exam (GED) scheduled for April 3 and 5 at Garrett College has an application deadline of March 7. Applications can be picked up at the Continuing Education & Training Division at McHenry campus or at the Oakland Center located at the National Guard Armory.

Students interested in taking the exam may take a practice exam at the National Guard Armory on Fridays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 for an appointment.

Former 'Commish' reinvented himself

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Michael Chiklis

Q: Michael Chiklis ("The Shield") looks somewhat like the star of the old ABC series "The Commish." Is it him, and can you tell me anything about his background? –Karen Nyman, Montgomery, Ala.

A: It's definitely the same actor, but I'm not surprised you had to ask. Depressed when his 2000 NBC sitcom "Daddio" flopped, Chiklis took his wife's advice to slim down and change his image completely. He dropped more than 50 pounds and shaved his head with the notion of playing a rogue cop in a movie project he had in mind.

Coincidentally, the pilot script for "The Shield" crossed his desk about the same time and Chiklis pursued the role of Vic Mackey until he won it. He's back on top for now, but at 39, the actor of Greek heritage knows a thing or two about the vagaries of Hollywood luck.

Just days after earning a degree at Boston University's School of Performing Arts, Chiklis auditioned for the coveted film role of John Belushi in 1989's "Wired." He won the part, but the movie bombed. His 1991-95 run in ABC's "The Commish" earned him a solid fan base, and he did good work in mostly forgettable films and TV movies until "The Shield" came along.

Chiklis and his wife, Michelle Moran, have two daughters, Odessa and Autumn.

Q: Is that Ethan Embry from "Freakylinks" co-starring with Ed O"Neill in "Dragnet"? Did Embry once use a different name? –C. Adams via e-mail.

A: Yes to both your questions. Embry, 24, used his birth name, Ethan Randall, on early projects, including the 1991 film comedy "Dutch" with "Dragnet" partner O'Neill. He later adopted his grandfather's surname, Embry, as a tribute to him.

Q: I recently saw the movie "The Shining" on TV, but it had Rebecca DeMornay and everything seemed different. At the end the crazy man died when the hotel blew up, but I seem to remember Jack Nicholson as the crazy man and he died while chasing Danny. Am I nuts? –A.J.M., Atco, N.J.

A: No, just overlooking a fairly simple explanation. The late director Stanley Kubrick made a feature film of Stephen King's horror classic in 1980 with Nicholson and Shelley Duvall, but that version played fast and loose with King's story line, including the ending. The author refuses to even discuss Kubrick's version.

In 1997, director Mick Garris helmed a very faithful TV miniseries adaptation of the same novel with Steven Weber in the Nicholson role and DeMornay taking over for Duvall. That's the version you saw recently.

In Focus

Ryan (aka Jory) shows what can happen when men live as women and vice versa in A&E Network's documentary special "Role Reversal," premiering Sunday, March 2.

The show puts two men and two women up in a New York apartment and provides hair stylists and makeup artists to help them pose as the opposite sex for a month.

Who knows, with the lack of apartments in Manhattan, this could be the start of a cultural phenomenon.

Earns Dean's List Honors

Local resident Kristin Lander has been named to the dean's list for the fall 2002 semester at Elizabethtown College, Pa. To be eligible for dean's list recognition, a student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Lander is a junior majoring in occupational therapy. She is a Provost Scholarship recipient and a member of the Elizabethtown College cross country and track teams.

A 2001 graduate of Northern High School, Lander is the daughter of Joyce and George Lander of Accident.

Relay For Life Benefit Breakfast Set In McHenry

The Oak Grove Church of the Brethren Relay for Life team has slated a buckwheat cake/pancake and sausage breakfast from 7 to 11 a.m. Saturday, March 8, at the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company hall in McHenry.

The menu will include selections of pancakes and sausage, buckwheat cakes and sausage, sausage gravy and biscuits, and a drink. The cost is $5 for adults, $3 for children ages 6-12, and children 5 and under eat for free. The fire hall is located along Garrett Highway.

Breakfast proceeds benefit the Garrett County Relay for Life, set for June 13-14 at Southern High School. The event is the signature fund-raiser for the American Cancer Society, and pledges and donations generated by the SHS event go to local cancer patient and family support programs, and educational efforts in Garrett County.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN – In March, the length of sunlight grows by about 3 minutes each day. March 1 has 11 hours 18 minutes of sunlight; March 31 has 12 hours 37 minutes of sunlight. March opens with 6:52 a.m. sunrises; the last day of March will have a 6:04 a.m. sunrise. Early March sunsets are about 6:10 p.m. which slide to 6:41 p.m. March 17 is break-even day when daylight and night are each 12 hours in length. March 20 is the first day of spring. On this day, the sun shines straight down on the equator, giving equal amounts of solar radiation to the Northern and Southern hemispheres. In March both dawn and dusk last a little less than an hour. In mid March, one can view the fainter stars as late as 5:30 a.m. and as early as 7:20 p.m.

THE MOON – March opens with the moon nearly in line with the sun (called the new moon). By March 4 the moon will again be easily visible in the western dusk. Each following evening the moon appears higher and grows in lighted width, becoming half full on March 11. For a few days before and after this date, the moon (then resembling a letter "D") is at its best for crater and mountain spotting with binoculars and telescope. The moon will be fullest on the night of March 17-18 then appearing just off the tail of Leo, the Lion. By the 23rd the moon will have left the evening sky, affording great views of the evening stars. As March draws to a close, the moon appears as a crescent low in the eastern dawn.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS – Our nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine steady, unlike the bright night stars that twinkle. There are two bright planets in the evening sky. The brightest point of light is the planet Jupiter, shining in the eastern evening sky. Higher and farther to the right is the bright planet Saturn, near the star group Orion. Both Saturn and Jupiter are wonderful telescopic targets; Jupiter displays its large moons while Saturn has its great rings. We shouldn't forget the brilliant planet Venus in the eastern dawn, rising several hours ahead of the sun. To the right and higher than Venus is the dull planet Mars. The moon will appear near Jupiter on the 14th and near Venus on the 29th.

MARCH'S BEST SIGHTS – On March evenings, the very bright stars and groups of winter drift toward the western horizon. You can still see Orion, the Hunter, with his three-star belt for most of the evening. To the right and below Orion is Sirius, the night's brightest star. The very bright planet Jupiter is the brightest point of light seen in the evening sky. The Big Dipper is becoming prominent in the north northeast, with its scoop on top and handle underneath. Below and to the left of Jupiter is the sickle of Leo. The sickle also resembles a backward question mark with the bright star Regulus on the bottom.

MARCH ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES – Our free program at the Frostburg State Planetarium is "Uranus, Native Americans and Galaxies." Also featured is an introductory tour of the March evening sky. Our presentations start at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. most Sundays, lasting a little less than an hour. Our showings are on March 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30. For directions on how to reach the planetarium, call 301-687-4270. The Cumberland Astronomy Club will meet on March 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the LaVale Public Library. All sky gazers are welcome.

Doyle writes this column for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure or sky calendar, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "Sky Watch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights, that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM on 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

"Hey, there's something wrong with this picture. I don't want to make a scene, but my name isn't 'Afterthought'. I need just a little more space, thank you very much. There's plenty of room for all of us, you know!"

Do you ever feel like an afterthought? Perhaps you feel left out at social occasions or don't find the desired invitations in your mailbox. Maybe you need a little extra self-esteem. Actually, most people's impression of you mirrors your image of yourself.

Perhaps you have shied away from God as well, thinking you are not "good enough". God is good enough to love each of us in spite of our humanity. However, you must trust Him. Could it be you have never known your Heavenly Father? Worship this Sabbath. You will be included as one of God's children. You can learn how to take that confidence everywhere you go. You are special. You are God's creation. There is room enough for you in His heart and in His House.

In Isaiah 49:20, the Lord says, "Make room for me to dwell."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IMMEDIATELY

MARCH 2, 2003

Background Scripture: Luke 4:14-21.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 4:1-13.

The New Testament scholar, Edgar J. Goodspeed, said that one should begin to read the Bible by reading first the Gospel of Mark and second, reading Mark at one sitting. So often, we approach the Bible in bits and pieces and, valuable as that may be, we also lose something if we do not also get the big picture.

As another Bible scholar, Dwight E. Stevenson, puts it: "Mark is so simple that a child can understand it and so powerful that dictators cannot reckon with it; so brief that it can be read in the time required to glance through the evening newspaper, and so searching that a man will spend his whole life trying to live up to it."

If you read the Gospel of Mark from chapter one through 16, there is one word that appears 41 times, on the average of more than twice in each chapter. That word is "immediately" and it appears nine times in Mark 1 alone. ("Immediately" appears 14 times in Matthew, 12 times in Luke and only twice in John.) This word is very characteristic in Mark, not only in his use of it, but in the general tone of the gospel itself. There is a continuing sense of immediacy.

Get Ready!

This is apparent in the very first three verses: "The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. As it is written in Isaiah the prophet, 'Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, who shall —prepare the way; the voice of one crying in the wilderness: Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight—'" (Mk 1:1-3). Mark doesn't fool around, but gets right to the heart of the matter: get ready!

In 1961 there was a James Cagney film, "One, Two, Three!". The dialogue and action moved at an accelerated pace that left the viewers breathless. That's the way it is in Mark. He covers the baptism of Jesus in three verses and the temptation in the wilderness in one. And, when Jesus begins his ministry, it is with that same sense of crisis: "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent, and believe in the gospel" (1:14,15).

Why this breathless urgency? I think the reason is that Mark believes that the gospel message was urgent. Jesus is not someone people can sit and ponder endlessly. "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of heaven is at hand"! No more waiting! It's is arriving now! If you want to be part of it, do not wait to make your commitment.

Who's Sorry Now?

Just as the timing is immediate in Mark, so the response sought is remarkably simple: "Repent, and believe in the gospel." To repent means more than being sorry for one's sins. The word in New Testament Greek is metanoia and it signifies a complete change of mind, a new direction of will and an altered purpose in life. Repent is a call to transformation. There is no time in our lives when we are perfect, when we do not have good reason to repent and let our lives be transformed again!

The other challenge is to "believe in the gospel." This does not mean a mere mental acceptance of the good news, but a conviction so strong and commanding that we once again begin to be the persons Christ has called us to be. Someone has said that Christ became what we are, so that we might become what he is. So long as we have fallen short of the stature of Jesus Christ—and who hasn't?—there is a need for repentance and radical re-commitment to the good news of Jesus Christ. Immediately!"—not later.

When Jesus had gone into the synagogue in Capernaum and healed a "man with an unclean spirit," the spirit cried out, "What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are, the Holy One of God." (1:23,24). Think of it, the evil spirits recognized Jesus as "The Holy One of God" and immediately they responded to him. Are we not to do the same?

THE HEALTH BENEFITS OF COENZYME Q-10

A supplement called Coenzyme Q-10 is described as a vitamin-like substance produced naturally in small amounts by the body. It also can be found in meats and seafood.

Several disease states have been described as having low levels of coenzyme Q-10. This has led to studies which could help us better understand this naturally occurring compound and the possible value of supplementation. For example, a recent study in persons with Parkinson's disease found that those who got coenzyme Q-10 fared better than did those on placebo pills.

It has been suggested that coenzyme Q-10 also may be effective in congestive heart disease, angina, and asthma. Finally, researchers have found that Coenzyme Q-10 could be beneficial to persons who have high blood pressure. Future research may show that supplementation with coenzyme Q-10 might allow for a reduction in some high blood pressure medicines.

Costume Jewelry

Q. I have a small collection of costume jewelry from the 1940s and '50s. I would like to find out if the pieces I have are of any value. — Cynthia, Dubuque, Iowa

A. Several important designers — including both Coco Chanel and Elsa Schiaparelli — gave costume jewelry respectability during the early years of the past century and helped make it an important part of mainstream fashion. Some of the other designer names to look for in costume jewelry include Eisenberg, Boucher, DeLillo, Policini, Panette, Hollycraft, Hattie Carnegie and Nettie Rosenstein.

Conditions that determine the value of costume jewelry are similar to those for other collectibles, namely condition, rarity and desirability.

Janet Lawwill is an expert and specializes in costume and fine estate jewelry. Her postal, e-mail and Web site addresses are P.O. Box 36269, Tucson, AZ 85740-6269; jewel@sparklz.com; and www.sparklz.com.

Q. I have a copy of "The Specialist" by Charles "Chic" Sale. It was published in 1929. Does it have any value? — Barbara, Benson, Minn.

A. Although your book is more than 70 years old, it has little value, only about $15. One of the better price guides is "Collected Books: The Guide to Values" by Allen and Patricia Ahearn, published and occasionally updated by Putnam Books.

Q. I have six old stamp moisteners that were originally used in a bank in Florida. Who can tell me if they have any value? — Tom, Coral Gables, Fla.

A. Betty Franks is both a collector and an expert. Her address is 1831 Penthley Ave., Akron, OH 44312.

When the Carpet Means "Convenience"

Q. I have a 10-year-old Eskie that for some reason has decided to start urinating on the bathroom carpet. I don't think it is medical, because she is sneaky about it. Is she to old to crate train? Help! — Carol H., via e-mail

A. Even though it doesn't seem like a medical problem, I hope you'll take her to the veterinarian anyway. Urinary incontinence is a common problem in senior dogs (just as it is for humans). Her "sneakiness" is likely a sign that she is ashamed of soiling in the house — she knows it's wrong. But at her age, she may not be able to control her action.

That she soils in the same area can be a sign of a neurological condition (for example, canine cognitive dysfunction) as well as a physical problem. When she feels the urge to "go," she may think that the bathroom carpet is "the place." It's certainly more convenient for her than scratching at the door!

Resolving this issue will take more than a crate. Take note of when she soils the carpet — what time of day or night? How long after her last walk? When did she last drink water, and how much? Write down this information and anything else you notice, and then go to the veterinarian for a physical and a consultation.

Medication is available to ease conditions like urinary incontinence and confusion. Talk to the vet about crate training in conjunction with medical treatment — this combination may help provide a structured environment for an aging dog. However, the crate should never be used as punishment for an accident.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Someone once asked Mahatma Gandhi what he thought of Western civilization. He replied, "I think it would be a good idea."

• A new study shows that 26 percent of modern Miss Americas could be considered medically malnourished.

• Sports hero Wilt Chamberlain scored 100 points in a professional basketball game in 1962.

• In Manhattan, Kansas, a house valued at $59,000 was accidentally entered into the city's database as being worth $200,059,000. By the time the $200 million difference was discovered, the town's property value had been overestimated by 6.5 percent, causing a rather large budget shortfall for the politicians to deal with.

• Simon and Garfunkel were originally known as Tom and Jerry.

• The yo-yo is a popular toy that was introduced in America in 1929. Its origins are a bit more sinister, however. In the 16th century, it was used in the Philippine Islands as a weapon. At that time, the yo-yo weighed 4 pounds and was attached to a 20-foot cord.

• At the age of 12, Alfred, Lord Tennyson wrote an epic poem that was 6,000 words long.

• Ladies, do you think you know how to tell when a man is lying? In one study, men who were lying tended to look longer and deeper into a woman's eyes than when they were telling the truth.

• Dry ice doesn't melt. It evaporates.

• Did you ever wonder why Franklin Delano Roosevelt was chosen to be pictured on the dime? It's because of the work he did on behalf of the March of Dimes, helping in its battle against polio, the disease that crippled him.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 6, 1475, Michelangelo Buonarroti, the greatest of the Italian Renaissance artists, is born in the small village of Caprese. He grew up in Florence, a center of the early Renaissance movement, and became an artist's apprentice at age 13.

• On March 3, 1863, during the Civil War, the U.S. Congress passes a conscription act that produces the first wartime draft in American history. Exemptions from the draft could be bought for $300, which led to bloody draft riots in New York City, where protesters were outraged that exemptions were effectively granted only to the wealthy.

• On March 8, 1933, "42nd Street," choreographed by Busby Berkeley, opens. His lavish dance numbers, which featured dozens of chorus girls in elaborate costumes, caught on with audiences eager to escape the bleak realities of the Great Depression.

• On March 4, 1944, Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, the head of Murder, Inc., is executed at Sing Sing prison in New York. Lepke was the leader of the country's largest crime syndicate throughout the 1930s and was making nearly $50 million a year.

• On March 5, 1969, the Dade County Sheriff's Office in Florida issues an arrest warrant for The Doors' lead singer, Jim Morrison. He is charged with a single felony count and three misdemeanors for his stage antics at a Miami concert a few days earlier.

• On March 9, 1997, Christopher Wallace, aka Biggie Smalls, aka the Notorious B.I.G., is shot to death at a stoplight in Los Angeles. Ironically, Wallace's death came only weeks before his new album, "Life After Death," was scheduled to be released.

• On March 7, 1999, American filmmaker Stanley Kubrick dies in Hertfordshire, England, at the age of 70. One of the most acclaimed film directors of the 20th century, Kubrick's 13 feature films explored the dark side of human nature.

LIONS HELP OPEN EYES – Maryland Special Olympians got a special treat at this year's Special Olympics held at Wisp Resort in McHenry. Complete eye exams were provided free of charge to all participants. If new glasses were needed, they were also provided free by Lions International. Lions Club members from Deep Creek Lake, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Kitzmiller assisted Oakland doctors Kessler and Jones and other doctors from the Baltimore area in completing the task by registering athletes' eye and medical history. In the above picture, from right to left, are an Olympian coach Steve Rinalod from Brandywine, registering his athlete, assisted by Lions Bea Crosco and Phyllis Gank from the Deep Creek Lake club and George Gaffney from the Grantsville club. Not pictured are cabinet secretary Barb McKenney from the Kitzmiller club; Jay Kamineck, Bob Railey, Dave and Tiddle Wheeler from the Deep Creek club; and Chantay and Mike Friend from the Friendsville club.

Free Diabetes Mngmnt. Class Slated In MLP

Dr. Margaret A. Kaiser, internal medicine and geriatrics physician, will be the guest speaker for a free diabetes class set for 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 11, at the Garrett County Extension Office, located in Mountain Lake Park. The class is sponsored by the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension.

The class will provide information on Type 1 and Type 2 diabetes, hyperglycemia and hypoglycemia, blood glucose monitoring, preventing diabetes complications, and the effects of stress and sickness. Kaiser has many years of experience in treating and educating people with diabetes, and she has been distinguished as a recognized provider by the American Diabetes Association.

Reservations for the class are requested, and persons may call registered dietitian Jennifer Thorn of the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension at 301-334-6960. This is the third in a series of monthly diabetes classes to be held in southern Garrett County, and more information may be obtained by calling Thorn.

Swanton Center To Serve Dinner

The Swanton Community Center will serve a buckwheat/pancake and sausage supper on Saturday, March 9, with serving to begin at 4 p.m. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children. All proceeds are used to support the various service projects of the center.

St. Mark's Church Sets Services For Season Of Lent

The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 6 S. Second Street in Oakland, will begin its observation of the season of Lent with a worship service on Ash Wednesday, March 5, beginning at 7 p.m. The Rev. Theodore Bessey will preside and preach at this service, which will include the imposition of ashes and the sacrament of holy communion.

The service will be preceded by a soup supper at 5:45 p.m. A free-will offering will be received at this supper to benefit the congregation's Seminary Scholarship Fund. The congregation will hold weekly Wednesday evening services during Lent, from March 12 to April 9. Soup suppers will begin on those evenings at 5:45 p.m., followed by worship at 7 p.m.

The preaching theme for the Wednesday evening services will be based on a devotional booklet about the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

Sunday worship services during Lent, both at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., will include the sacrament of holy communion.

Holy Week worship services will include the celebration of Palm Sunday and the Passion of our Lord on April 13. Maundy Thursday will be observed on April 17 at 7 p.m. with a service of holy communion, and Tenebrae (Service of Darkness) will be observed at 7 p.m. on Good Friday, April 18.

Pastor Bessey and the members of St. Mark's invite all residents of the community, as well as visitors, to join in the Lenten soup suppers and to participate in the various worship opportunities during this season of Lent.

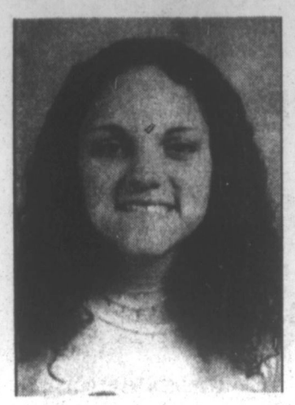
Selected For Presidential Scholar Event



Southern High School student Krystle N. Housley has been selected to take part in the Presidential Classroom Scholars Program, slated for June in Washington, D.C. The one-week program provides high school juniors and seniors access to the shapers of America's public policy.

Presidential Scholar participants interact with Washington insiders, including members of Congress, presidential appointees, senior military officials, top business leaders, and journalists. Students observe the U.S. Congress in action, visit their congressional offices and debate current issues with peers from the United States and abroad. They also visit such sites as the White House (by special invitation), the U.S. Department of State, and Arlington National Cemetery. Additional program highlights include a Central Intelligence Agency briefing, a mock presidential election, and foreign embassy visits.

Presidential Classroom programs include PC Scholars; Global Business & Public Policy; Media & Democracy; Science, Technology & Public Policy; Future World Leaders Summit (international program); Law and Justice in a Democracy; and new for 2003, National Security in a Democracy.

For more information on the program, persons may consult its Web site at www.presidentialclassroom.org.

Norm Arrington's Monologues Slated In Meyersdale Area

Norm Arrington, who is in his eighth year of presenting biblical monologues in the Meyersdale, Pa., area, has just released his upcoming schedule.

Arrington has done extensive research in developing each monologue, which he presents in authentic costumes that he created. To date, over 80 characters have been presented from the Old and New Testaments. With high school, college, and summer stock acting experience, Arrington has toured with The Passion Play, with Val Balfour, a touring company. In addition he has written a number of full-length dramas, including, The Bitter Cup, The Land, The Messiah, and Shadow of the Cross.

Arrington, a former pastor, is now in full-time biblical drama ministry. In addition to presenting monologues in church services and evangelistic meetings, he has presented them at retreats, children's camps, pastor's conferences, and vacation Bible schools.

He is married to the former Kay Tynes of Princeton, W.Va., and they are the parents of two children, Teressa (Janning) and Ken.

Arrington's scheduled appearances in the Meyersdale area include Saturday performances at Festival Park and the following other dates: March 6, Meyersdale Church of Christ, 6:30 p.m.; March 7, Full Gospel Bible Church, Meyersdale, 7 p.m.; March 8, St. Paul's United Methodist, Grantsville, 7:30 p.m.; March 10, Pentecostal Apostolic Church, Meyersdale, 10 a.m., and Holy Trinity Lutheran, Berlin, 6:30 p.m.; March 11, Zion Lutheran, Meyersdale, 7:30 p.m.; March 12, Hostetler Church of the Brethren, Pocahontas, 7:30 p.m.; March 13, Garrett United Methodist, 7 p.m.; March 14, Amity United Church of Christ (Maple Festival Worship Service), 7:30 p.m.; and March 17, Summit Mills Grace Brethren Church, 10:30 a.m., and Meyersdale Grace Brethren Church, 7 p.m.

Maple Syrup Boil Slated At Local Parks

The daylong process of boiling maple sap into maple syrup be demonstrated at Swallow Falls State Park on Saturday, March 8, and at Herrington Manor State Park on Sunday, March 9.

Staff from Steyer Brothers, a local sugar camp operator, will be on hand to answer questions and to demonstrate the use of an evaporator in the syrup making process. The presenters will also provide information on local farms that produce maple products. Maple products will be offered for sale from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days.

Herrington Manor State Park has also scheduled an "all you can eat" breakfast for Sunday, March 9, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The menu will feature pancakes, buckwheat cakes, pure maple syrup, sausage, and orange juice and coffee. The cost is set at $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Further information on the programs can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

•Sat. 3/1: A one-hour "Tracks, Traces, and Trails" animal track identification hike is slated for 1 p.m. (snow dependent; warm dress encouraged); and a nature film will be shown at 3 p.m.

•Sun. 3/2: A 45-minute indoor "Mammals in Winter" program will be presented at 1 p.m.; and an indoor Discovery Center treasure hunt will get under way at 3 p.m.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Union District begins its Lenten services Wednesday evening, March 5, with all services beginning at 7:30 p.m. and sermons focusing on the theme "In His Steps."

The March 5 service will be held at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, with the Rev. Charles Teets bringing the message. The March 12 service is hosted by the Amboy United Church, the Rev. Debbie Strawser minister. Brookside Church of the Brethren hosts the March 19 service, with minister Rita Harsh. On March 26 the Rev. Glenn Nissly will bring the message at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. The Rev. Sam Moon will be the minister at the April 2 services to be held at Mt. Grove Church of the Brethren. April 9 services, hosted by Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Accident, W.Va., will be ministered by Sandy McGinnis.

Everyone is welcome to the above services and to Holy Week services, which will be advertised later.

BLOOD MOBILE TO BE AT AURORA APRIL 1

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Union Ambulance squad hall in Aurora from 1 until 7 p.m. on April 1.

DEATHS NOTED

Freda Slaubaugh Whitehair was moved last week to a nursing home near the home of her daughter, where she died Saturday, Feb. 22. It is planned to have visitation on Friday, Feb. 28, at the Arthur Wright Funeral Home in Terra Alta from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., and a memorial service on Saturday, March 1, at 1 p.m. at the Crellin United Brethren in Christ Church, all of these dependent upon weather conditions.

Ruth Snyder died Sunday evening at her home near Gortner after a lingering illness. She is survived by her son, J. Dwight Snyder, and daughter, Naomi Swartzentruber, both Oakland.

Friends and relatives here learned of the death of Carol E. Ware, 70, of Clarksburg, who died suddenly on Saturday, Feb. 8, in United Hospital Center. She was born at Aurora June 29, 1932, and was a daughter of the late Cora Margaret White .

She is survived by six children, Debbie Galloway of Texas, William Ware, Lumberport, Mary K. Ware, East View, Paula A. Maxwell, Clarksburg, Paul M. Ware, Grafton, and Tim A. Ware, Morgantown; five grandchildren; and one great-granddaughter. In addition to her mother, she was preceded in death by her brother, Loraine Richard White, her husband, Paul L. Ware, and a daughter-in-law, Judy Ware.

Carol was a graduate of Aurora High School, was a Lutheran by faith, and worked at various places, sometimes holding two jobs at one time to help raise her children.

Services were held at the Greathouse-Gemondo Funeral Home in Nutter Fort on Feb. 13, with the Rev. Connie Shaw officiating. The body was brought to the Stemple Ridge Cemetery for interment.

Services were held Saturday, Feb. 22, from the Stemple Ridge United Methodist Church for Harold Aldine Harsh, 95, who passed away Wednesday, Feb. 19, at his home on Stemple Ridge. His children, Dale, Richard, Lyle, Jean Starr, Eldean Poling, Linda Liston, and good friend Arlene Stemple were all here for the funeral, along with many grandchildren and others. Interment followed the services at the Stemple Ridge Cemetery.

KNIGHT BIRTHDAY

Former Lantz Ridge resident Lois Knight will celebrate her birthday on March 5. She is still recuperating from a fall last October which caused partial paralysis. Cards may be addressed to her at HC 90 Box 62, Moccasin, MT 59462.

MT. TOP CRUISERS DONATE TO UNION AMBULANCE SERVICE – The Mt. Top Cruisers Car Club, a regional organization of antique, classic, and hot rod car enthusiasts, recently made a $200 donation to the Union Ambulance Service of Preston County. Pictured from the left is Mt. Top Cruisers president Ralph Miller, as he presents the donation check to Union paramedic and squad training officer Rose Ina Harsh, a 27-year veteran of the service, and Union financial secretary Ellen Harsh. The Union Ambulance Service is in need of new volunteers, and information on opportunities can be obtained by calling Rose Ina Harsh at 304-735-5709 or Ellen Harsh at 304-735-5468. Information on the Mt. Top Cruiser Car Club can be obtained from Miller at 301-334-4303.

SCHALKER HONORED

Kaitlyn Schalker of Eglon was one of four East Preston students honored with a special character award. Bestowed on 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students who are examples in making good decisions concerning doing what is right regardless the cost, and titled, "Following Your Heart and Doing What Is Right," Kaitlyn was the 8th grade student chosen. She is a daughter of Marilyn Schalker of Eglon and a granddaughter of Troy and Ruby Judy, Eglon. Her father resides in Baltimore.

SHAMROCK SHAKE DANCE SLATED

A Shamrock Shake Dance is planned at the Aurora School on Saturday, March 15, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Music and food will be provided and the cost of admission is $3 per student.

Admission to the dance is for Aurora School students, grades pre-K through the sixth grade only. Those students in the second grade or below must have a parent present.

For more information, persons may contact Beth Wolfe at 735-5104, or Jackie Blamble at 735-5022.

PERSONAL MENTION

Cheryl Stemple returned to her Aurora home last Thursday after spending 10 days in Daytona Beach, Fla. Her husband, Davy, picked her up at the BWI airport.

Charles Strawser of Rowlesburg was transferred from Ruby Memorial Hospital to Heartland in Kingwood last week.

Richard Schrock of Aurora underwent surgery Friday evening at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to repair a hip fracture which had happened a week previously.

Derrick Radford was hospitalized at Preston Memorial Hospital, but has returned to his Aurora home.

Keith and Rosalie Winters of Horse Shoe Run returned to their home Feb. 16. They had spent the previous week in Florida with his brother and sister-in-law, James "Bud" and Dottie Jo Winters, and other friends.

JoAnn Helton made it back to her home on Stemple Ridge last Wednesday. She and her son, Jim Helton, had gone to Daytona Beach, Fla., and returned on Monday to his home at Gaithersburg, Md.

Effie Wolfe was a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Feb. 19. She was returned Monday to Cortland Acres Nursing Home.

Hassaleah Snyder was taken Friday to Preston Memorial Hospital, where she is undergoing treatment, expecting to return later this week to her home on the Aurora Pike.

Weir Roth of Gnegy Church was a surgical patient last week at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington, D.C.,

Mathan Nissly is expected to be able to return to his home at Lake Galilee, Terra Alta, following a tracheostomy which will allow him to breathe. His mother, Joanne, has remained at the Pittsburgh hospital during his hospitalization there.

Dale Mullenax returned to his home at Horse Shoe Run last week following a long period of treatment at Ruby Memorial Hospital. He is staying presently with his brother and sister-in-law, Allen and Carolyn Mullenax.

CORRESPONDENT'S NOTE
By Jean Winters

Despite blizzard-like conditions on Sunday, church services continued in most of the district churches. Local roads are next to impassable, filled with slush or ice and, for many places, only one way. Opening them piled snow high on the sides, which are in need of sunshine! And did you shovel snow from your roof? Collapsing roofs have caused much concern over the area this past week, and there has been a lot of "high" shoveling and shoring up of buildings, too.

EMU Jazz, Swing Sisters To Present Concert At PHS

The Eastern Mennonite University Jazz and Swing Sisters will present a concert on Thursday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Petersburg High School gym. Admission will be a free-will offering.

The event is sponsored by the Grant County Arts Council and the Grant County Bank.

Persons requiring accessibility assistance may contact GCAC before the concert at emv1@hardynet.com or at P.O. Box 988, Petersburg, WV 26847.

This program is presented with financial assistance from the West Virginia Division of Culture and History and the National Endowment for the Arts, with approval from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts.

Hospice Slates "Faith In Action" Training Course For Volunteers

"Faith in Action," a three-day training course for new Hospice volunteers, is set for 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Saturdays of March 29 and April 5 and 12 at the Hospice office, located at 69 Wolf Acres Drive, Oakland (across from Yough Glades Elementary School).

"We are in need of patient care volunteers who provide companionship to terminally ill patients and their families," explained Hospice executive director Brenda Butscher. "Volunteers may be asked to sit with the patient, run errands or help in various ways. We also need more volunteers for bereavement after-care. Bereavement team members stay in touch with the family for one year after the death of a loved one through home visits, telephone conversations, and mailings."

The class agenda for March 29 includes Overview of Hospice, which will be presented by Butscher; Legal and Financial Planning, taught by Shirley Fitzwater of First United Bank; HIPAA/Patient Privacy Rights, presented by hospice HIPAA privacy officer Peggy Hardman; and Working With the Volunteer Coordinator, presented by volunteer coordinator Ida Maust.

HOSPICE SETS VOLUNTEER TRAINING COURSE – "Faith in Action," a three-day training course for new Hospice volunteers, is set for 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Saturdays of March 29 and April 5 and 12 at the Hospice office in Oakland. "Hospice extends an invitation to local residents to become part of the hospice team and to be a patient care volunteer or bereavement volunteer," stated Hospice executive director Brenda Butscher. "Volunteers will find working with the terminally ill and their families is very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself." Some of the presenters, pictured from the left, are Ida Maust, Peggy Hardman, Charee Reckner, and Butscher. To register for the classes, persons may contact the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, from the Grantsville area at 800-521-5252, or via TTY at 800-735-2258.

Bowl For Kids' Sake Sponsor List Growing

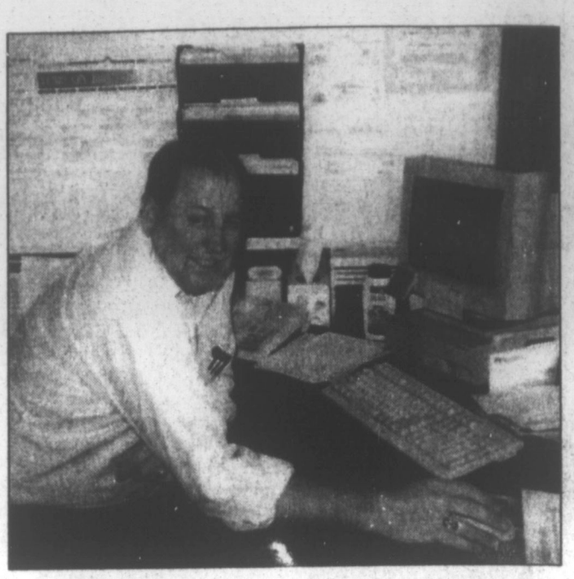
Many corporate sponsors have pledged to support next month's Bowl for Kids' Sake, the major fund-raiser for the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters. The event is set for Saturday, March 29, at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland.

Corporate sponsors making donations of $300 or more are given the opportunity to enroll a bowling team to compete for a traveling trophy, T-shirts, and dinner for the top scoring team. An advertising package is also part of the benefits companies and organizations receive for being corporate sponsors.

The following corporate sponsors have already signed up to support the BBBS benefit: American Legion Post 71, Beitzel Corporation, Buffalo Coal Company, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, Comfort Inn at Deep Creek, Don Nemith Builders, Durst Funeral Home, Flying Scot sailboat manufacturers, Glotfelty Enterprises, Grantsville Lions Club, Gregg's Pharmacy, Mettiki Coal, Oakland Elks Lodge #2481, Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, Railey Mountain Lake Vacations, Railey Realty, Rodeheaver and Associates, Terra Alta Bank, Dr. David Tuel, and WEPCO Federal Credit Union.

In-kind corporate sponsors include DeepCreekAlive.com, the Garrett County Weekender, Nemacolin Woods Resort and Spa, Par-Matt Lanes, Savage River Lodge, Sears' Oakland store, and Wisp Mountain Resort Hotel.

For information or to sign up as a corporate sponsor or pledge-raising bowlers for Bowl for Kids' Sake, persons may contact local BBBS coordinator Joan Johnson at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735.



BBBS BENEFIT INCLUDES PC GIVEAWAY – A Compaq personal computer, Internet ready with modem, monitor and keyboard donated by TCI Computer Systems, will be awarded to the person who collects the most pledges for the Saturday, March 29, Big Brothers Big Sisters' Bowl for Kids' Sake fund-raiser in Oakland. Team sheets and pledge sheets are available at Par-Matt Lanes, site of the charity event, or may be obtained by calling the agency office at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735. The bowling benefit is the major fund-raiser for BBBS, and provides the agency with resources to match caring, adult volunteers with at-risk Garrett County children through its community- and school-based programs. TCI Computer Systems proprietor David Moe prepares the computer prize for the lucky winner.

GC Foundation Extends Scholarship Application Deadline To March 14

The Garrett College Foundation scholarship application deadline has been extended to Friday, March 14, according to spokesperson Bretta Reinhard. All GCF scholarship applications for the fall 2003 – spring 2004 are to be received by the Garrett College Financial Aid Office by this new deadline, which has been extended because of the recent weather emergency declared by the state of Maryland.

"The Garrett College Foundation wants to encourage all interested individuals to apply for GCF scholarships for the 2003 – 2004 academic year," stated Reinhard. "It is important to know that individuals who submit the Garrett College Foundation scholarship application are considered for every scholarship administered by the Garrett College Foundation."

There are no fees involved in the application process for GCF scholarships. A scholarship application is included in the foundation's scholarship book, which may be viewed on the college Web site at www.garrettcollege.edu/foundation. The scholarship book is also available from the Garrett College Financial Aid Office in McHenry.

High school students throughout the tri-state area may contact their respective high school guidance offices to obtain a copy. Reference copies of the scholarship book are available at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library and at the Garrett College Library.

The GCF offers competitive merit and need scholarships for prospective and current students. Scholarships are offered for both part-time and full-time students. Scholarships are offered for residents of Garrett County as well as other localities.

Current high school juniors from Garrett County who are considering enrolling at Garrett College in the Early College Admissions Program (ECAP) for the 2003 – 2004 academic year can apply for GC Foundation scholarships.

All high school graduates and GED recipients are admitted to GC. "You do not have to have applied for admission to Garrett College at the time that you apply for scholarships managed by the Garrett College Foundation," Reinhard added.

For further information and assistance, persons may contact the Garrett College Financial Aid Office at 301-387-3083 during normal business hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays. The office has added extended evening hours to 6:30 p.m. on the Thursdays of Feb. 27 and March 6, and on Wednesday, March 12.

Topics slated for April 5 are Personal Care; Universal Precautions; Infection Control; Documentation; Confidentiality; Safety; and Signs and Symptoms of Approaching Death. Each presentation will be facilitated by director of clinical services Charee Reckner, BSN, MBA. The class will also visit Durst Funeral Home to learn funeral home skills.

The closing session of April 12 will feature a variety of topics, including Transfer Skills, taught by Audrey Kennedy, a physical therapist with Garrett Rehab Services; Spiritual Aspects, presented by Pastor Paul Yoder; Grief Counseling Skills, led by hospice director of bereavement Jane Sealing; and Listening Skills, Family Dynamics, and Stress Management, presented by hospice social worker Nancy-Elizabeth Nimmich, MSW.

To register for the "Faith in Action" training classes, or to obtain more information, persons may contact the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, from the Grantsville area at 800-521-5252, or via TTY at 800-735-2258.

Faith in Action is a national program supported by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, with direction and technical assistance provided by the Wake Forest University School of Medicine.

HARVESTING FOR THE HUNGRY – Northern Middle School began its annual Harvest for Hungry Kids program last fall. Harvest for Hungry Kids is a program in which all schools in Maryland collect canned and boxed food. Once all the food is collected, it goes to needy families over the holidays. In Garrett County, the food was distributed by Community Action and Emergency Services. Each homeroom has a contest to see who collects the most food. The top two homerooms at NMS were those of Mrs. Kenna at 96 lbs. and Mrs. Nolan at 65 lbs. The total food collected this year at NMS was 572 lbs. Pictured above, from the left, are Brock Glotfelty, Zach Cupler, Brian Williams, Ben Bernard of Community Action, Leah Biser, and Emily Sisler.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Although today it seems as only a small amount of snow has fallen, the howling wind makes it very clear that we are not out of the woods yet as to this real Garrett County winter. I hope the short, warmer trend we received a few days ago may melt the deep snow in my field and along the road enough so even these 50 mph winds don't blow it in my lane and on the roads.

But the new snow fell enough to create another regular white-out Sunday, unlike the day I enjoyed Saturday. I couldn't resist the ice-free roads to get out and go somewhere, as I wanted to check out the prospect of flooding around the Casselman River. What I saw was lots of soft white fields of snow under a soft blanket of winter fog. I can't remember a winter fog like that, and actually Gary Buckel couldn't recall one either.

He and I also agree that it was delightful to see our Maryland Terps pound the North Carolina team, beating them by 40 points, which was the highest winning margin in the ACC playing since sometime in the 1950s. However, we were not as pleased with the painful loss to Duke last week. After 40 minutes of close play, the Terps lost by five points.

I am sure we were the champions of the big winter snow storm of 2003. When "Good Morning America" announced that Garrett County, Maryland, got the most snow (at least four foot plus) they sent a TV reporter to Garrett County to interview Mary Sincell McEwen. If the rest of Garrett County got four feet plus, then Bittinger got much more. If Oakland had eight-foot drifts, we had twelve-foot drifts. But those tons of snow will not flood anywhere right now, especially as cold as Bittinger is today.

I never heard a good answer about how much water comes from a square yard of snow, but my guess is maybe 10 gallons. If we accept that, then our farm has about one-half a square mile covered with over four feet of snowcover. I think you would be safe to assume that this farm will put into the Casselman River watershed several thousand gallons of water. Multiply that by 20 or so for the entire Bittinger area and see what you come up with.

Every time I talked to Sheila Southerly this week, she told me the conditions outside were "just terrible." We have to consult about whether the lights flickered again, which could be the possibility of another blackout. So far, so good (knock on wood) that we have had none.

Talking with Sheila is always good conversation, as I also heard about a plague of racoons that the Buckel clan saw recently in the Peat Bog area. A couple of coons got into a fight and one killed the other one. Then another one acted strange and sick in the daytime, and you know what that may mean – rabies. So Denny wisely disposed of it. Another one got in the Southerly garage and knocked down several planters and dug out all the potting soil, desperately searching for any kind of food. Early this morning another one was on the porch dragging around a broom, and then one more just lay down and froze to death. It takes pretty cold weather to freeze a racoon because they have one of the most luxurious fur coats of any wildlife species.

My daughters are hovering around our small old dog Emily, as they are sure she is sick. I think she is faking so they will not make her go outside, or else she just is sick of winter like everyone in Bittinger. Even our 100-year-old barn had just about all the snow it could take this winter, and after the big dump of snow last week one of the huge hemlock beams broke and caused part of its roof to sag. I am not sure if it was the heaviest snow load it had ever carried, but it just accumulated enough to result in the damage. That is something that an alert former farm boy like Denny Buckel could not help noticing, and certainly worthy enough to report to his little sister.

Before I talked to Sheila for her analysis of the weather, I heard a report about the conditions on Route 495 by the farm where Denny and Sheila grew up. I happened to chat with my editor, Don Sincell, this afternoon and he told me about his family's trip through Bittinger this Sunday afternoon on the way to pick up my former home economics teacher, Polly Hanst, to take her out for lunch. She is a resident at Goodwill Retirement Home.

I never knew that Mrs. Hanst is a great aunt of Don and Ben, and of course to our "Good Morning America" guest star, Mary McEwen. Don was taken aback at the height of the drifts and experiencing what a complete white-out can be.

An old friend and a former Garrett County resident and now living in Las Vegas, Charlotte Griffith Kiffel, happened to call me the other day very excited to see on television the old, bad winters that she escaped, but remembers fondly. When it gets 80 degrees plus this summer, we will be happy to be in good old Garrett County.

I had planned to go to bed early Sunday evening, as it seemed very dark and I really felt sleepy, but the biggest reason was that I wanted to avoid my most hated manifest of Pop culture – the Grammy Awards. But I was caught off guard by a wonderful reunion performance of one of the greatest duos, Simon and Garfunkle, who performed their greatest hit, "The Sound of Silence." It still gives me the shivers, but then a blonde bimbo dressed in practically nothing repulsed me.

Now I understand how my parents felt if they happened to get caught 30 or 40 years ago and something like that appeared. Of course, it only took a half-hour before my girls and I got in an argument about female fashion choices. Just when I was ready to exit, a real song writer and singer came on with "Sweet Baby James." Actually it was real poetry set to music. Yep, I should have quit with that before the award for "Best Rap." How horrible was the following, as the performers were not even able to string out a complete sentence without "uh, uhs" and whatever. Is that progress?

Lesa Whittemore joined about 25 residents of Garrett County to form a group they call "The Local Yokels," who tried out tubing at the Wisp. Besides Lesa, a couple of the others were Beth Shaffer and Beth Doerr.

Winter sports aside, Lesa told me today that enough is enough in terms of this winter, as her house is almost buried and at least totally surrounded by 15-foot piles of snow. Besides the regular power outages she experienced, the latest happened on last Sunday morning. The wind finally really got to her. "That wind, that wind, I can't stand the word any more!"

She is really grateful to Jack Beitzel and his big loader. No one would go anywhere in this neck of the woods without him this winter. I assured Lesa that her house is not at risk for flooding. If we get a real thaw soon, I believe the little creek in the bottom and at the bridge between Kathryn Bowser's and Delmar Yoder's homes will be under water.

We do now have plenty of water on our tableland. I would be very surprised if anyone around here will have any problems with well water failure this summer. Even though 90 percent of the water and snow will be run-off down the mountains, we will still have the 10 percent remainder, which should be plenty.

Whatever you say about the Bittinger area, it is like nowhere else.

Maddy Whittemore and Erin Bender performed with their separate aerobic teams at the Women's JUCO Tournament, hosted by Garrett College last weekend.

Lenny and Torrey Poholsky and Preston and Matthew Sisler, McHenry, attended the Pittsburgh Penquins/Colorado hockey game at Mellon Arena on Thursday night. The Pens lost, 5-2.

ARC Bloodmobile Will Make Four Visits In March

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make four visits to Garrett County during the month of March.

Donors will be welcomed at Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland on Friday, March 7, from noon to 6 p.m.

The bloodmobile will then be at the Grantsville fire hall on Monday, March 10, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The third visit will be to Broad Ford Elementary School in Oakland on Monday, March 31, from 2 to 6 p.m., the same day that donors will be welcomed at Kitzmiller Elementary School, also from 2 to 6 p.m.

The demand for blood remains high throughout the Johnstown, Pa., Region of the ARC, of which Garrett County is a part. Persons who weigh at least 105 pounds, are at least 17 years of age, and are in generally good health may donate a unit of blood every 56 days. The entire donation process usually takes no more than one hour.

Persons desiring more information about the ARC Blood Services program may telephone the Garrett County office of the ARC at 301-334-3810, or 1-800-361-9431.

Deputies Handle Numerous Vehicle Accidents Sunday

Garrett County sheriff's deputies handled numerous motor vehicle accidents Sunday due to the severe whiteout conditions.

Three people sustained minor injuries in a multiple vehicle accident on Garrett Highway south of Oakland. Alan Arkus, 29, was traveling southbound when he slowed down because of the whiteout conditions and was rear-ended by a vehicle driven by Joshua Gregory, 25, Oakland, police said.

EMS personnel responded to the scene, and while one EMS worker's vehicle was parked in the roadway to protect the workers, a fourth vehicle driven by Marshall Lewis, 34, Oakland, entered the whiteout area and collided with the EMS personnel's vehicle, owned by Daniel Moon.

Joshua Gregory, Amy Gregory, and Marshall Lewis were all transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad.

Deputies were assisted by Oakland Police Department, the Oakland fire department, and Maryland State Highway Department.

A few hours later, deputies responded to a three-vehicle accident on Broadford Road just north of King's Run Road. Police said that visibility was zero due to the severe snow and wind conditions.

A 1999 Chevy truck operated by Travis Mark Sines was southbound and collided head on with a 1997 Plymouth van, operated by Phillip Wayne Pritts, also of Oakland.

Shelia Ann Mahaffey was operating a 1997 Subaru passenger car when she approached the accident, and due to the white-out conditions she struck the Pritts van from the rear.

No injuries were reported, and no citations were issued, police said.

Spay, Neuter Month Set By Humane Society

The Garrett County Humane Society and Garrett County Animal Shelter are again recognizing March as Spay/Neuter Awareness Month. This is the third year that they have partnered to help fight pet overpopulation.

This year's theme is "Stamp Out Pet Overpopulation." The Garrett County Humane Society will be spreading this message throughout the area in newspapers, in an Oakland Ruth Enlow Library display, in local elementary schools, and on a billboard along Rt. 219 in Oakland.

"Spaying and neutering benefits you, your pets, and the community," said Lisa Baker of the Garrett County Humane Society. According to Baker, those benefits are as follows:

1. Although some pet owners consider the cost of spaying and neutering surgery high, it is actually a bargain when compared to the cost of raising an entire litter of puppies or kittens.

2. Spaying and neutering reduces health risks and behavioral problems in most pets.

3. Spaying and neutering saves taxpayers money because surplus animals end up at shelters or become nuisance animals, which have to be trapped and destroyed.

Cats, for example, can start reproducing as young as six months of age, are capable of breeding twice per year, and may average six kittens per litter, according to Baker.

"It is not uncommon for two to four litters of kittens to be brought into the shelter each day, beginning in the spring season," said Candy Virts of the Garrett County Animal Shelter.

In 2002, 344 cats and 189 dogs had to be euthanized at the shelter, according to Virts.

"This tragedy can be prevented," said Baker, "and together we can end this crisis."

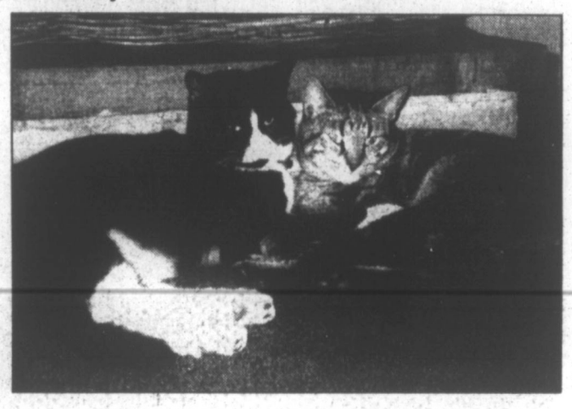
During the month of March, residents may contact the shelter to receive a certificate from the Humane Society for $25 off a spay or neuter procedure for their cats and dogs. Additionally, any animal adopted out of the shelter during the month will also receive a $25 certificate toward the procedures.

The certificates are made possible by donations from local individuals and businesses. In 2001, more than 3,000 residents and businesses made donations to the certificate program, according to Virts.

Countryside Animal Hospital and Casselman Veterinary Services are also showing their support for the program by offering discounts on spay and neuter procedures in March.

"Please help 'Stamp Out Pet Overpopulation,'" said Baker. For more information or to obtain a certificate, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. The shelter is located along Oakland Sang Run Road, past the Oakland Golf Club.

MARCH IS SPAY/NEUTER MONTH and in recognition of the event, the Garrett County Humane Society and the Animal Shelter are campaigning against pet overpopulation. Though adoptions are promoted via the Pet Finder Web site, newspapers, and the adoption board at Wal-Mart, more than 50 percent of animals brought to the local shelter, like those pictured above, will not be adopted and must be euthanized, according Lisa Baker of the Humane Society. Many pets are also abandoned. Apparently part of an unwanted litter, Oreo and Scamper (below) are a few of the fortunate. They were found as kittens along a back road during the winter. "They surely would have had a life ridden with hunger, illness, or perhaps death," said Baker. The theme for the month is "Stamp Out Pet Overpopulation," and to help residents get their pets spayed and neutered, the Humane Society is offering discounts off the procedures. See story for details.



NG State Park Nature Center Gets Face Lift

A group of Friends of New Germany volunteers recently teamed up together at the New Germany Nature Center to tear down paneling, remove window molding, and "generally have a good time," said a spokesperson.

The goal of this undertaking was to keep and restore the building as it was pre-1930. Originally this building was the New Germany School and served as a local center of social activity for the village and provided education in grades one through seven for approximately 25 pupils each year.

After renovation, the former school house will continue to serve as the New Germany State Park Nature Center. Helping with this task is just one of the projects undertaken by Friends of New Germany. Friends of New Germany is an incorporated volunteer organization at New Germany State Park, and its mission is to support the park and the park staff and to assist in providing additional services and programs that serve the community. In addition to assisting in projects like the Nature Center renovation, the work of the organization includes educational programs to inform people about Garrett County, its history, nature, and environment, community activities such as the yard sale and the fishing rodeo, and other park support programs such as Park Cleanup Day and the Camp Host program.

Friends of New Germany members vary from park neighbors and people of nearby Garrett County towns to people across the state; from young children to retired individuals; from people who are able to give many hours of their time monthly to those who give occasionally when they are able to visit the park.

Those who wish to be Friends of New Germany but are unable to volunteer their time support the park through monetary donations, which enable Friends to perform repairs or add new materials to the park. All volunteer hours and donations are welcomed and valued.

If persons are interested in becoming a Friend of New Germany they may call the New Germany State Park office at 301-895-5453 for information.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Daniel Skipper

The monthly meeting of the Red House 4-H Club was called to order on Wednesday, Feb. 5. Pledges were led by Jenny Jones.

Lisa Brenneman gave a report on the County Council meeting. She discussed the Clover award program and an idea for a Jr. Fair board. Fund-raising ideas were also discussed. The club decided to sell candles now and sell hoagies later. They also decided to get more information on Laurel Caverns and the surrounding area for the July trip.

Demonstrations on 4-H projects were given by Michelle Holler, and Jordan, Kerri, and Rachel Skipper. After the demonstrations, the club leaders gave out awards to all members and the Clover Buds.

RYAN'S GLADE
by Tara Marple

The monthly meeting was held February 20. Pizza orders for a fund-raiser were collected. Pizza pick-up date will be Saturday, March 1.

The members decided to try to get the community involved in the upkeep of the community building. It was also decided to purchase 4-H rugs to place at the entrance of all the community center doors.

Willie Lantz went over the proper way to fill out record sheets for animal projects. The members made wash cloth Easter bunnies to be given to the nursing home residents during Easter.

Our next meeting will be held March 18. Ann Sherrard, Dave Phillips, and Melvin Hartman will be talking about smokeless tobacco.

Treatment for This Leading Cause of Death

Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) is now the 4th leading cause of chronic sickness and death in the United States. Some refer to COPD as COLD (chronic lung disease). Both are broad terms used to describe the obstruction of airflow that is caused by lung diseases such as chronic bronchitis or emphysema. COPD patients usually have persistent inflammation of the lung's airways and damaged air sacs that hurt the body's ability to exchange oxygen and carbon dioxide. Common symptoms of COPD include chronic cough, increased phlegm, and shortness of breath.

Guidelines for treating COPD include the use of medicines that open the airways. A new airway dilating medicine is expected to become available soon. For moderate cases of COPD long-acting medicines often are used. Inhaled steroids may be beneficial.

Buckwheat Cake Supper

The Sand Spring Church of God will hold its annual buckwheat cake supper this Saturday, March 1, beginning at 3 p.m. The supper will include buckwheat cakes, pancakes, biscuits, sausage, sausage gravy, home fries, and more. There will also be a baked goods table and craft table. Proceeds of the evening will help send a youth to camp this summer.

Red Cross Bloodmobile

The bloodmobile visit to the Friendsville fire hall netted 33 units. There were 37 donors present, with four first-time donors. Rose Frazee completed her fifth gallon.

Volunteers assisting were Pauline Faucett, Belinda Benedict, Laura Benedict, and Esther Benedict. Donuts were donated by S&S Market. Other refreshments were provided by Pauline Faucett, Helen Holliday, and Esther Benedict.

The next bloodmobile visit to Friendsville is scheduled for June 20.

Strategic Town Planning Meeting

The Garrett County Community Action recently received funding to support strategic planning for communities throughout the county, and Friendsville is one of those communities. A series of six meetings will be held for interested members of the community to become involved in sharing ideas for the future of Friendsville. The first meeting will be held Tuesday, March 4, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Senior Center. The public is invited and urged to attend.

Diabetes Management

There will be a diabetes management class on Tuesday, March 11, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office in Mtn. Lake Park. This class will feature such topics as Type 1 and Type 2 diabetes, hyperglycemia and hypoglycemia, blood glucose monitoring, preventing diabetes complications, and effects of stress and sickness on diabetes.

Reservations should be made by March 6 by calling 301-334-6960. The instructor for this class will be Dr. Margaret Kaiser.

Relay for Life Team

Brenda Frazee is organizing a team from the Friendsville area to participate in Relay for Life, which will be held at the Southern High School track June 13 and 14. Anyone interested in participating is urged to call her at 301-746-5476.

Wing Night

Friday night's Wing Night will now be from 6 to 9 p.m. every Friday at the Friendsville fire hall. The wings come in a variety of flavors. They also serve chicken dinners, fish sandwiches, french fries, onion rings, chicken fingers, and cheese sticks. Proceeds benefit the Friendsville Fire and Rescue Dept. Inc.

Notice to Public

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

On or about March 7, 2003, the above named Board of County Commissioners will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Community Legacy. Purpose: Development of strategic municipal revitalization plans. Location: Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn Heights and Oakland.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion

Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined said project to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available to public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays excluding holidays.

Request for Release of Funds

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will undertake the project described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds. This notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairperson of the Board, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in the relation to the environmental reviews, decision making and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the Garrett County Board of Commissioners may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objection to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800, (d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. to the SCCDBG Program Manager, Md. Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than March 28, 2003.

NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEE'S SALE
7327 Cranesville Road, Friendsville, MD 21531

By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from Leon Garland Sisler and Norma Eloise Sisler dated March 31, 2000, and recorded at Liber 801, Folio 489 in the Clerk's Office for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, securing a loan which was originally $78,000.00. Default having occurred in the payment of the Note thereby secured, and at the request of the holder of said Note, Sub. Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Courthouse Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, on:

Friday, February 28, 2003, at 3:00 PM

improved real property, described as follows:

WILL BE READ AT SALE

The property will be sold "AS IS," WITHOUT REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY OF ANY KIND, AND SUBJECT TO conditions, restrictions, reservations, easements, rights of way, and all other matters of record taking priority over the Deed of Trust to be announced at the time of sale. The Noteholder reserves the right to bid at the sale.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash. A deposit of $9,000.00 in cash or cashier's check payable to the Substitute Trustees will be required at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price, with interest at the rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date said funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees, will be due within fifteen (15) days of sale. In the event of default by the successful bidder, the deposit shall be forfeited and applied to the costs and expenses of sale and Trustee's fee, and the property resold at the successful bidder's risk and expense.

Additional terms will be announced at the time of sale and the successful bidder will be required to execute and deliver to the Substitute Trustees a memorandum or contract of the sale at the conclusion of bidding.

THIS NOTICE IS AN ATTEMPT TO COLLECT ON A DEBT AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Lenten Fish Dinners Set At St. Peter's

St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, Oakland, has scheduled its annual series of Lenten fish dinners from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. each Friday during Lent, with the exception of Good Friday, from March 7 through April 11. The dinners will be held in the parish hall located at 208 S. Fourth St.

The dinner menu features an 8-ounce haddock fillet with cheese on a deluxe roll, french fries, cole slaw, stewed tomatoes, homemade desserts, and hot and cold drinks. The cost is $6 for adults, and $3 for children 12 and under.

All proceeds will benefit the church's 150 anniversary fund.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-2202.

Students Of The Month Named

Northern High School recently selected the Students of the Month for December. They are Caressa Frazee, freshman; Preston Sisler, sophomore; Jacki Brenneman, junior; and Heather Lander, senior.

The daughter of Brian and Carol Frazee, Caressa Frazee, participates in many activities in school including, student council and cheerleading. She contributes to the World Lighthouse Worship Center's drama team and dance team, and is the WLWC nursery assistant. Frazee has also been named to the honor roll and Who's Who Among High School Students.

Preston Sisler is the son of Gary and Lisa Sisler. He plays soccer and baseball, and has received honorable mention in WMIL soccer.

The junior recipient from Grantsville is Jacki Brenneman, who is the daughter of James and Christine Brenneman. She involves herself in several extracurricular activities, including jazz band, marching band, and mock trial. She takes part in YFC Bible quizzing, and is the Cherry Glade Mennonite youth group's worship leader.

Heather Lander resides in Accident, and is the daughter of Joyce and George Lander. Lander participates in numerous school activities, such as volleyball, basketball, and tennis, as well as being a member of the National Honor Society. She also plays tennis at Mountain Top Tennis Club every weekend. Lander is also the president of Bear Creek Church of the Brethren youth group. Included among her awards is being named the 2002 outstanding student of the year.

Local Student To Participate In Nat'l Leadership Forum

Kathleen Pritts, Oakland, has been selected to participate in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Law (NYLF/LAW), March 18-23, in Washington, D.C.

Having demonstrated academic achievement and an interest in law and justice, Pritts will join more than 350 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from across America at the event.

"Each day, our legal system plays a vital role in the way our country runs," said Donna Snyder, executive director of NYLF. "By participating in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Law, Kathleen will gain a more thorough understanding of how laws work, what goes into legal prosecution or defense, and the vast array of opportunities within this profession. By interacting with partners at law firms, criminal defense attorneys and prosecutors, as well as professors and other experts of the legal profession, students begin shaping the future here."

The curriculum for this program is based on actual events, which allows its participants to learn from the examples set by attorneys of law and court officials from municipal court to the U.S. Supreme Court. The process encourages participants to develop perspective and resolve, the spokesperson said. Throughout the forum, students will examine how court cases often change the legal system.

In the past, NYLF/LAW has visited several law firms and area courthouses, including the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, District of Columbia Superior Court, and various county circuit courts. The program has also included visits to some of the nation's most prestigious law schools, including the University of Maryland School of Law, Washington College of Law at American University, and Howard University School of Law.

NYLF is a non-partisan, non-profit educational organization that sponsors highly specialized career-oriented programs for outstanding high school students who demonstrate leadership potential.

The student is the daughter of Philip and Sylvia Pritts. A junior at Southern High School, she is a member of the girls' varsity soccer team, the regional math/science center, and the teen advisory committee of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland.

No Injuries, One Driver Cited In Head-On Collision

No injuries were reported in a head-on collision Tuesday morning at the intersection of Smouse Road and Pleasant Valley Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Amelia Kight, 46, Oakland, was attempting to make a left turn from Pleasant Valley onto northbound Smouse Road when her vehicle was struck head-on by a vehicle driven by Louella B. Boyce, 59, Oakland, who was headed southbound on Smouse Road, police said.

According to the report, Kight stated she could not see the traffic due to the large snowdrift at the intersection and once her vehicle was in the southbound lane she attempted to stop and slid on the icy road. Kight's vehicle sustained minimal left front bumper damage, and Boyce's vehicle sustained front bumper, hood and grill damage.

Kight was cited for failing to yield the right of way when turning left, police said.

NHS After-Prom Meeting Slated

An after-prom meeting will be held at the Northern High School cafeteria on Tuesday, March 11.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Read. Then Recycle.

LOOK OUT BELOW! One of the many clever entries in last weekend's Winterblast 2003 Cardboard Box Derby was this one from High Mountain Sports. Brian Glotfelty, owner of the business, and staff member Brian Haley manned the somewhat sinister-looking rocket, which didn't win them any prizes, but apparently did execute a spectacular turn-around feat before crashing at the finish line. "A design flaw," Haley explained. Eleven businesses and 20 individuals took part in the race, held at Wisp and attended by hundreds of spectators. The entries ranged from plain empty boxes to elaborate concoctions, several of which are pictured in today's issue. The weekend offered hours of fun for formerly snowbound residents as well as hundreds of tourists. All Winterblast photos were taken by Don Parks of iPlayOutside.com, where more photographs of the fun can be viewed.

Sand Flat Road Residents Testify Against HB 831

Four Garrett County residents testified on Tuesday in Annapolis against HB 831. The proposed legislation would increase the maximum weight limit on certain Garrett County roads to 80,000 pounds, which would be consistent with state highway limits.

Introduced in the Maryland General Assembly by Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer, the legislation was requested by the previous Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Alden and Bobby Andersen, Sand Flat Road, and Troy and Betty Ellington, Randall Way, testified before the House Matters Committee in an attempt to prevent a weight limit increase for Sand Flat Road. Barbara Pritts also submitted a letter with the signatures of 58 residents who also oppose the legislation.

"The committee was wonderful. The members asked some very good questions," said Bobby Andersen, adding that the staff and aides of both the House and Senate were very helpful in getting the residents' testimony presented.

The Andersens and Ellingtons told the committee that Sand Flat Road was already too dangerous, citing its hilly terrain, blind curves, narrow shoulders, and sometime white-out conditions.

"Raising the weight limit on Sand Flat Road with the resulting increase and heavier truck traffic would make it even more dangerous than it already is," said Troy Ellington. "This would be an irresponsible act by the Garrett County commissioners and this legislative body if it authorizes the county to do so."

The local residents also presented recent color photographs of the blind curve where Pergin Farm Road intersects with Sand Flat Road. One picture shows the barely passable snow-covered road with its high snow banks.

"The photos seemed to make a significant impression on the delegates," said Ellington, "especially when it was pointed out that such drifts are not limited to

THE BIGGEST WIN IN SCHOOL HISTORY was undoubtedly recorded Sunday when the Garrett College men's team pulled off an astounding 55-52 upset of Allegany College of Maryland to win the Region XX championship. The Trojans came into the contest ranked eighth in the country, riding a 27-2 record, and averaging over 87 points per game. The smaller Lakers used a tenacious man-to-man defense to hold the Trojans to an unbelievable 19 points in the entire first half and 35 below their average for the game. Going high in the air for a rebound in the photo above are Lakers Kevin Essex (#25) and Lee Parris (#32), while Neil Watson (#14) blocks out. Essex, a 6-4 freshman, was named the Most Valuable Player of the tournament. See sports pages for complete coverage. Photo courtesy of Steve Bittner, Cumberland Times-News.

Garrett College Slates Women's History Event

An oral interpretation program in honor of Women's History Month is set for Wednesday, March 12, in the Garrett College auditorium at noon. Sponsors for the event include Garrett College's Psychology of Women class and the American Association of University Women, Garrett branch.

Monologues will be read and performed by college faculty and staff, as well as students from Professor Terry Kasecamp's and Dr. Virginia Broaddus's Psychology of Women class.

Women represented from the year 1848 to the present include famous writers and public speakers, mothers and daughters, abolitionists and suffragists, pilots and sociologists, political activists and protesters.

Some of the famous women to be highlighted include Jane Addams, Dorothy West, Susan B. Anthony, Lucretia Mott, Margaret Sanger, Oriah Mountain Dreamer, Amelia Earhart, Emma Lazarus, Abby Kelley Foster, Sojourner Truth, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Participating in the event are Garrett College students Erin Gambetta, Kim Thayer, Susie Mosser, Jessica Nixon, Tasha Seilhamer, Raili Raud, and Renee Meyers. Other women performing include Broaddus, Kasecamp, Elizabeth Biser, and Dr. Gail N. Herman, who will emcee the event. Robin Wynder, affiliated with Frostburg State University, will present a mono-

Senate Panel Vetoes Hafer's Bus Safety Bill

Legislation introduced by Senator John Hafer to increase penalties for drivers who fail to stop for school buses with activated flashing red lights has again been defeated. The senator introduced a similar bill in the General Assembly last year.

Co-sponsored by 12 other lawmakers, SB 370 was heard by the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee on Feb. 13, which gave it an "unfavorable report" last week.

Hafer, the sole Senate sponsor of the bill last year, introduced the legislation following the Dec. 5, 2001, death of Melvin Beachy. After exiting his school bus on Route 219 near Gortner, the 10-year-old was fatally struck by a motorist who failed to stop for the bus's flashing lights.

The current maximum fine for an individual failing to stop for a bus is $270 and three points assessed against the individual. Hafer's bill asked that the maximum fine be increased to $1,000 and the number of points be increased to five.

Man Arrested After Police Pursuit Friday

An Oakland man was arrested after Garrett County sheriff's deputies pursued his vehicle for approximately three miles on Route 219 near Sand Flat Road Friday evening, police said.

According to deputies, while on patrol on Route 219 near Builder's Way in Oakland they observed a 1999 Ford truck, registered in Florida, pass a white van while traveling northbound, which caused several vehicles traveling southbound to travel onto the shoulder of the road to avoid colliding with the truck as it passed on the wet and snow-covered roadway, police said.

Deputies attempted a traffic stop, but the driver, Derek Ross, 25, did not stop and the pursuit continued for approximately three miles before a Maryland State Police vehicle pulled in front of the suspect's car, forcing it to stop in the northbound lane just past Sand Flat Road.

Ross, who is originally from Florida, was arrested and charged with negligent

Manassas Man Jailed For DUI And Possession

A Virginia man was jailed by Maryland State Police troopers Sunday after a traffic stop in McHenry led to charges including driving under the influence and possession of marijuana.

Todd Brent Sullivan, 23, Manassas, was stopped at 1:23 a.m. as he was traveling north approaching Mosser Road. A state trooper observed Sullivan's 1996 Ford Explorer cross the center line while maintaining a speed of 14 miles per hour in a stretch of road posted at 50 mph.

After sobriety testing, Sullivan was charged with DUI, negligent driving, and failure to drive right of center. A vehicle search that followed the stop located 20 grams of suspected marijuana, resulting in additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Sullivan was released from police custody after he posted a $1,000 bond.

In other state police arrest activity, a McHenry man was jailed after an altercation at the Black Bear Tavern early Saturday. Troopers summoned to the establishment were told by an off-duty Oakland police officer that Marcelo Barbour Grisi, 25, had been involved in an altercation with another patron before being ejected by the bar's doorman. Grisi allegedly fought with the bouncer as he was being removed from the bar, and once outside continued making a disturbance and beat on the tavern's glass door.

When troopers arrived Grisi reportedly continued his disorderly behavior as they tried to speak with him by yelling, cursing, and waving his arms.

After several warnings to simmer down, Grisi was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Although his bond was originally set at $5,000, a judge's hearing Monday morning resulted in Grisi's release on his own recognizance.

The following individuals were arrested for DUI and various traffic charges

One Treated After Trailer Catches Fire

A local man was treated for chest pains and smoke inhalation at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland yesterday after fire broke out at his mobile home located at 49 Old Farm Lane near Grantsville.

Michael Murphy was transported to the hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad following the 2:53 p.m. alarm that summoned volunteers from the Grantsville and Salisbury fire departments.

According to a report from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, it took the approximately 20 firefighters only about 10 minutes to bring the fire under control. The blaze was confined to the basement under the 12' x 60' trailer, where there was minor damage. There was smoke damage in the mobile home itself. Damages were estimated to be $2,000.

The trailer is owned by Marvin Murphy, and the fire was discovered and reported by Michael Murphy. The cause remains under investigation.

Lawmakers Set Mid-Legislative Session Meeting

Delegate George C. Edwards and Senator John Hafer will hold their annual mid-legislative session meeting on Saturday, March 8, in the auditorium at Garrett College at 9 a.m.

The lawmakers will give an update on bills and legislative issues introduced in this session of the Maryland General Assembly. The public is encouraged to attend.

Commissioners Approve Building Board's Ideas

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners recently approved two recommendations made by the local Building Codes Review Committee.

Every application for a building permit must now be accompanied by two sets of building plans. One set will be kept on file for review at the Planning and Zoning office. The second set must be kept at the building site.

The plans do not have to be professionally drawn by an architect or engineer, but must be legible and drawn to scale.

The commissioners also approved the committee's recommendation that a board of appeals be established. The board will be set up in accordance with the Garrett County Building Codes.

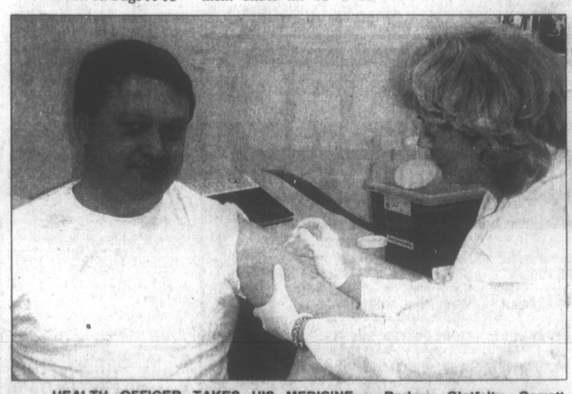
The board will be composed of Steve Gnegy, homebuilder; Doug Devlin, registered design professional; Ed Wilburn, general commercial/industrial contractor; Rob Heilig, electrical contractor; and Wayne Beitzel, certified plumbing contractor. Two alternates will also be appointed later.

The commissioners did not approve, however, the Codes Committee's third recommendation that they support the establishment of a local homebuilders' association.

Commissioner Fred Holliday pointed out that builders did not need the commissioners' support to start an association.

"Anyone can form an organization," he said when the recommendation was first proposed. "It doesn't require a government mandate." Some local contractors are already members of an Allegany/Washington county organization.

The Codes Committee's recommendations were originally suggested late last year by a local construction company for improving the county's building permits and inspection process.



HEALTH OFFICER TAKES HIS MEDICINE – Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County's health officer, was one of 17 individuals receiving a smallpox vaccination this week as part of a three-phase program recently initiated by the state of Maryland. "The clinic operation went smoothly with no major glitches," Glotfelty said. "Our task was to vaccinate both a health care team at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and several public health teams that could rapidly respond to a case of smallpox, should it occur in our community. Considering the size of our county, the response [of 17] was excellent." Also accepting the vaccine was Don Battista, CEO of Garrett Memorial. As has been widely reported, the vaccine may cause adverse reactions or complications for a small percentage of those immunized. Glotfelty said he commends all who stepped forward to voluntarily participate in the program. "Should our worse fears be realized, and smallpox be used as a weapon to inflict casualties on civilian populations, we will now be better prepared to protect Garrett County residents," the health officer said. Maryland has received 6,000 doses of the smallpox vaccine from the Centers for Disease Control. The distribution of the vaccine will continue over the next several months. Persons with questions about the smallpox vaccination program may call a 24-hour hotline at 1-866-866-2769.

PLOWING ITS WAY TO FIRST PLACE in the Winterblast 2003 Cardboard Box Derby was the creation pictured above from Long and Foster Realtors. PLAYING IT SAFE in their miniature box mobile were Lora Ashby and Jessie Simpson, a.k.a. the Spring Glade Sledders, who were among the 30+ businesses and individuals entered in the Winterblast 2003 Cardboard Box Derby, held Saturday at Wisp. The proceeds from the event totaled over $1,400, all of which went to the Deep Creek Lions Club. Photo by Don Parks, iPlayOutside.com.

Winners Named In Winterblast Box Derby

Eleven businesses and twenty individuals entered the Cardboard Box Derby, sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club, during Winterblast 2003 held this past weekend at Wisp. The event raised more than $1,400, which was donated to the Lions Club. Cash prizes and trophies were awarded, and many entrants are already making plans for next year's event, according to a spokesperson.

In the category of individual design, the winners were Kevin Roy, Log Jammer, first place; Mark Nestor, Viking Boat, second place; and Trevor Green, Trevor's Yu-Gi-Oh Mobile, third place.

For business design, the winners were Long & Foster Realtors, County Snowplow Truck, first place; Pine Lodge Steak House, Black Angus Bull, second place; and Bill's Marine Service, Snowmobile, third place.

The winners for individual speed were Kat Gill, Flying Nimbus, first place; Trevor Green, Trevor's Yu-Gi-Oh Mobile, second place; and Kevin Roy, Log Jammer, third place.

The winners for speed in the business category were Bill's Marine Service, Snowmobile, first place; Rudy's Ski Shop, Bobsled, second place; and Wisp Snow Sports School, Red Automobile, third place.

Board Of Ed. Meeting Set

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 11, at the administrative office building in Oakland.

Action items will include board policy on graduation requirements, setting a date for graduation, a professional leave request, bid award for the Bloomington School boiler replacement, performance contract energy audit, revision to this year's school calendar, ratification of comprehensive employee agreements, and possible action of the FY2004 budget request.

Additional agenda items will include an update on the master plan, review of the proposed 2003-2004 calendar, proposed policies and procedures, a report on the emergency preparedness, state board information, and legislative update.

Time is set aside at 4 and 7 p.m. for public comment and participation on any topic. The board will meet in closed session from 4:05 to 5:30 p.m., and reconvene in open session immediately thereafter. The public is invited to attend.

Lake Policy And Review Board Meeting Tonight

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has set a meeting for 7 p.m. tonight, Thursday, March 6, at the DCL State Park Discovery Center. The board will be engaging in discussions about proposals to undertake a lake carrying capacity study, regulate noise generated by powerboats, and purchase a new fireboat.

PRB meetings are open to the public, and the board will accept input and public comment during the meeting. For further information, persons may call the DCL management office at 301-387-4111.

Driver Avoids Injuries; Seat Belt A Factor

Wearing a seat belt is possibly the reason an Oakland man did not sustain any injuries when his truck overturned and came to rest on the roof, which was crushed flat, Monday evening, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Cheston Van Bachtel, 18, was operating a 1998 Ford truck west on Hutton Road when the vehicle made contact with a high snow bank which caused the truck to spin and impact the snow bank head on, police said.

Oakland firefighters and Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the 7:45 p.m. accident.

Alcohol was not a factor, police said.

MSP Work Two Accidents Over Week's Time

The Maryland State Police investigated two vehicle accidents this week on Garrett County roadways, releasing information on one of them.

Details of the first accident, which occurred at 2:42 a.m. Sunday morning on B Street in Mtn. Lake Park, were not made available by the McHenry barrack, although sources reported that one person was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. That patient's identity and treatment status were unavailable. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Garrett County Sheriff's Office also responded to the scene, which was reportedly turned over to the state police because a Maryland State Highway Administration vehicle was involved.

The second mishap occurred later on Sunday at 7:19 a.m., when a single-vehicle accident on Interstate 68 injured a Cumberland man. Sean Kulp, 18, was driving westbound when he allegedly fell asleep at the wheel of his 1992 Mercury Topaz. The car drifted off the roadway, struck a guardrail, went briefly airborne, and continued all the way across the eastbound lanes before coming to a stop in a snowbank.

Kulp was transported by the Northern Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted for treatment. He has since been released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

No charges were filed.

Hanno, Sheriff's Office K-9 Patrol Dog, Dies Unexpectedly

Hanno, the patrol canine and nationally certified drug detection dog of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, died Wednesday from gastric torsion, a common ailment of larger dogs.

Hanno was 7½ years old, and was purchased six years ago with $6,500 worth of donations from around the county.

According to his handler, Dfc. Chris Helbig, Hanno, who was a licensed police dog in the state of Maryland, had performed more than 400 CDS arrests and contributed to multiple criminal arrests.

Hanno was also active in social demonstrations, including the DARE program.

"We would really like to thank the public for all of their support concerning Hanno," said Sheriff Dick Sanders. "The public has been very supportive with their donations, from the purchase of Hanno, to his carrier in the patrol car, and most recently the purchase of the safety vest."

This past December Hanno was presented with a new safety vest with money raised from the Bethlehem Bunch, an alcohol and drug prevention youth group based in southern Garrett County. The group raised half of the money needed, with the balance donated from Dr. Dona Alvarez, Bernadine Friend, and the Garrett County Humane Society.

According to Helbig, dogs like Hanno generally "retire" from service at about 8 or 9 years old.

"Earlier this week we were discussing the possibility of needing another dog in the next year or two," said Helbig. "We just never expected to be without Hanno in the next day or two."

Postal Service Slates Annual Food Drive

The kickoff for the U.S. Postal Service's 14th annual Harvest for the Hungry Food Drive in Maryland is Saturday, March 15. The drive ends Saturday, March 22.

"During this period, customers may hang a bag of food products on the mailbox or place it on the ground next to the post (hopefully not in the snow), and our carriers will bring it to the post office for distribution to local area food banks," said Oakland postmaster Ken Perrin.

There will also be drop-off points in post office lobbies for customers and employees to contribute. All food collected in Garrett County will go to Garrett County food banks, stressed Perrin.

He reviewed the needs at various food banks and found that certain items were in more demand than others. "I thought it would be helpful to let our customers know which food items are most needed," the postmaster said.

Those items are canned vegetables, peanut butter, jelly, macaroni and cheese, spaghetti, beef stew, canned soups, applesauce, pork and beans, tuna fish, oatmeal, and dried milk.

Also, cans and plastic jars are preferred, as glass sometimes breaks while being transported.

"With energy costs rising and our severe winter, many are in need of food," Perrin said. "This is an excellent way to help our food banks build up their supply of foods for those in need."

Insurance Commissioner Cancels CareFirst's Bid For Conversion

by Maria Tsigas
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield, the state's largest nonprofit health insurer, may not convert to a for-profit company and therefore cannot be sold to WellPoint Health Networks in California, Maryland insurance commissioner Steven B. Larsen decided Wednesday.

"The proposed acquisition of CareFirst would not be in the public interest," Larsen said.

Several "disqualifying criteria" automatically rendered the deal not in the public interest – failure to obtain fair value for the company and violation of the anti-bonus provision, Larsen said. Whether the deal was "in the public interest" was the chief criterion used by Larsen in his decision.

In November 2001, CareFirst applied to convert to a for-profit and be sold to WellPoint for $1.37 billion. CareFirst top executives initially would have received more than $33 million in bonuses, and the chief executive officer could have received as much as $119 million from the sale of the company. This provision prompted lawmakers to ban such windfalls in any sale.

CareFirst's executive bonus incentives were viewed as a critical component of the transaction; they were "forced on bidders" and almost used as a "ransom" to purchase the company, Larsen said.

The commissioner said the research concluded the executive bonuses were a "central part of this whole deal," and WellPoint believed it had to provide bonuses in order to get the deal. Larsen concluded the CareFirst board of directors breached its duties by disregarding the nonprofit mission of the company to offer insurance at "minimum cost and expense."

CareFirst said it was "shocked and disappointed" with the decision. WellPoint was also disappointed. However, its spokesman, Ken Ferber, said, "This was a local decision and we respect that." "The environment in Maryland is not conducive to a conversion."

CareFirst may appeal Larsen's decision within 30 days and is expected to do so. The Maryland General Assembly has 90 days to review the decision and take any action it deems necessary.

"The board [of CareFirst] needs to be reconstituted and the company sent back to its original mission – providing affordable health care to Marylanders," said Delegate John Donoghue, D-Washington, a member of the House Health and Government Operations Committee. The decision is "a tremendous victory for the citizens of Maryland," he said, adding that a majority of legislators agree with Larsen's decision.

Delegate Patrick McDonough, R-Baltimore County, agreed, saying the company and the board needs to be reformed.

"Bill Jews has to go, and the board needs to be restructured," McDonough said.

"The ball is in the legislators' court now," said Henry P. Fawell, the governor's spokesperson. "The governor looks forward to reading the decision. He continues to be concerned about the uninsured."

"The commissioner answered our hopes by rejecting this proposal. Now it's time for lawmakers to make it permanent," said Glenn Schneider, deputy director of Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative. Larsen has given lawmakers ample opportunity to reform the board, he added.

Since CareFirst filed its application to convert to a for-profit, the Maryland Insurance Administration has conducted an intense, thorough, 14-month analysis of what the conversion and sale would mean for Marylanders, Larsen said. This analysis has included a year of public hearings, expert reports, and depositions by CareFirst and WellPoint executives.

Grantsville Man, Juvenile Arrested On Drug Charges

Garrett County sheriff Dick Sanders, spokesman for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, announced the arrest of two Garrett County residents on drug charges.

The arrests were the result of a traffic stop that occurred on Thursday at approximately 7 p.m. at Route 219 and Deep Creek Drive, McHenry. The vehicle was stopped for traffic violations and a K-9 scan of the vehicle was positive for drugs, and a search revealed suspected marijuana and paraphernalia.

Michael Ward, 22, and a 17-year-old juvenile were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Ward was released on his personal recognizance pending trial, and the juvenile was released to the custody of a parent.

Task Force personnel were assisted by uniform members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Election Slated For Oakland Town Council

The Oakland Municipal Election will be held Monday, March 10, and three council members will be elected.

The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. The three incumbents are running for another term. They are Harvey "Jay" Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd.

Also vying for the positions are Lynn McDaniel, Greg Cartrette, and Frank Custer.

"Please come out, vote, and support the community," said Asa McCain, mayor.

Others who are currently serving with McCain are councilpersons Kenneth Gotsch, Margaret Jamison, and Mary Lou Stemple.

The town of Oakland maintains a separate register of voters; however, persons who have registered at the Board of Elections after Jan. 1, 1990, and are residents of Oakland are automatically qualified to vote.

At Least One Too Many...

Many believe that there are just too many lawyers in Congress; evidently we may have the same problem in the Maryland House of Delegates.

Once such delegate who happens to be an attorney is Joseph Vallario Jr. of Prince George's County, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, a committee that has become known as the graveyard for drunk driving bills. Mr. Vallario's law practice includes representing drunk drivers.

At least four drunk driving bills introduced this year have been killed by Vallario and his committee, one of which was to extend the probation before judgment period for first-time offenders from five to 10 years. The PBJ ruling allows the dropping of DWI charges once the period is satisfied, as long as there have been no more offenses during that period. Considering the amount of death and destruction caused by drunk drivers, this seems like a reasonable change.

Interestingly, a delegate who actually co-sponsored the bill suddenly turned around and voted against it, allowing it to fall just short of the 12 votes needed to keep it alive. We wonder if she met Delegate Vallario for lunch at any point prior to the committee vote.

The three other bills that were reduced to ashes by the committee had to do with strengthening the laws against underage drinking and breathalyzer tests, and introducing ignition interlocks to help prevent drunken persons from being able to start a car. Two other bills were watered down, and still another is "being held for further discussion."

If this isn't a case of blatant conflict of interest, we're not sure we understand the definition. It seems that Delegate Vallario should at least abstain from participating in discussion, and certainly from all voting, when it comes to considering all DWI legislation.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is to alert your readers and the Garrett County patrons of the Ruth Enlow Library that the Garrett County commissioners will hold their public hearing on the library budget on Tuesday, March 11, at 10 a.m. in the commissioners' meeting room in the Courthouse.

This year's library budget calls for modest increases to cover standard operating costs for the library, including the next phase of the automation, a small increase for staff, and an increase to the book budget to cover the rising cost of books. We urge all who love and use the library to attend the hearing or to contact the commissioners to support the full funding of the library budget.

To the Editor:

Taxing health care — what will the Democrats come up with next? A series of recently proposed tax increases does that by imposing a 2 percent "insurance premiums tax" on HMOs.

Now, no one knows how the slots issue will be resolved, but I am sure you will agree that increasing the price of health insurance is a bad idea. Marylanders have seen their insurance premiums skyrocket over the past few years, and increasing the cost of employee benefits plans only makes a bad situation worse. I thought the idea was to provide Marylanders with more affordable health insurance, not price them out of their plans.

The citizens of Maryland are already bearing the financial burden of a government that for years refused to live within its means. Why should they continue to be penalized when there are reasonable alternatives to increasing taxes and cutting services?

Sincerely,
Al Redmer
House Minority Leader
Md. House of Delegates

To The Editor:

In this day and age, mistrust seems to overshadow people. I am one who truly knows we do have honest people living in Garrett County. A few weeks ago while shopping, after loading my groceries I drove away not realizing I had left my purse in a cart in the parking lot. Some very honest person turned the purse in to Wal-Mart. Upon retrieving my purse, I asked the name of the person, but they couldn't give me a name, so I am unable to tell the person how very grateful I am. It made my day. A very grateful senior citizen.

To the Editor:

I am writing this to thank the public for bringing to my attention one other thing I need to keep my eye on while driving my school bus, along with the road conditions this winter, the children, and the other vehicles, making sure they are going to stop for my red lights. I need to keep my other eye on my speedometer.

It seems that my driving on Rt. 560 is bothering some others, but I would like to point out that I do not, nor would I intentionally, put any child in danger. I do not know if the lady who claims to have caught me running at 70 miles an hr. has a child who rides my bus or not. (Wondering, did you have radar or were you hooked to my bumper?)

But I thank you anyway, as I will be more attentive to my speedometer. I can only hope that as much attention that is paid to how I drive will be applied to when my stop sign and red flashing lights are on.

And if you would like to have the job of driving the bus, I am sure that we could use you. Sometimes things look different when you sit in the driver's seat of a yellow school bus.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Repectfully,
Sandra J. Fitzwater
Bus Driver #14

To the Editor:

This coming Monday, March 10, there will be an election for three vacancies on the Oakland Town Council.

I have read the expressed concerns in last Sunday's Cumberland Times-News of the three citizens who are challenging the incumbents, Jay Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd, and I am concerned at their expressed lack of knowledge of the efforts of the mayor, Asa McCain, and the town council regarding replacing the Third Street bridge, re-

Babbling Brainstorms

By Beth L. Bowers

IN HER NEW HOME NOW

She talked a lot about how she would have loved to have a new home. I guess now Becky Cogley is in the most beautiful home of all since she passed away earlier this week. Becky was a "regular" of mine when I worked at Arrowhead Market, but I really got to know her in the past year when I wrote a feature story about her and her battle with cancer that lasted nearly a decade.

This journey began in 1993, when at the age of 32 she was diagnosed with breast cancer. Since then she has battled cancer in nearly every area of her petite frame. Once a week for the past four years she had traveled to Cumberland for chemotherapy treatment. That adds up to more than 200 treatments. "I'm not going to die from this. It's not the doctor's fault or God's fault that I have cancer. I try to make others at the treatment center understand that. I'm a regular there so most of them listen to me," Becky told me during our interview.

Up to now, I had not written a story that produced such amazing feedback as the one I wrote about Becky. Never have I received so many calls and requests for copies of the story. I even received a call asking for a copy of the story just last week. I realize the response I received had little to do with how I wrote and all to do with what I wrote, which was fine with me. I sent the story to many people I know, many of whom have had or are struggling with their own battles with cancer. Her story was uplifting to all who read it.

I heard many people say, "No matter how bad my day was I knew Becky was having a worse day." But she was the last person to complain. I have never met a more positive person. Shortly after I wrote the story, she huffed all the way up our steep steps at The Republican office just to hand deliver a thank-you note to me. Most people complain about those steps, but not her. She didn't complain about much, and trust me, she had every right to complain.

Through all of this she managed to keep up with her 11-year-old son Bradley. She was completely active in his life, and even attended most of his Boy Scouting trips.

Linda Dawson, secretary at Broad Ford Elementary School, met Becky through the school, and said she was an "inspiration."

"I have never met anyone like her," she said. "She has stopped at nothing. I once asked her if she has ever asked, Why me?' and she said, 'Why not me?' She is always doing something for someone else. She always goes on Bradley's Scouting trips or does things for his class at school. She has never asked for anything, and is always doing something for someone else."

Becky will be greatly missed by everyone who came into contact with her, but none more than her son. Luckily, he is surrounded by his loving grandparents, aunts, uncles, and close family friends.

She always had a smile on her face, and took every punch that was thrown her way and never complained. If I asked her how she was feeling, she would never dwell on her latest battle; she would instantly ask how I and my family were doing. That was just like her.

I know I and many others will draw on Becky's strength as she keeps an eye on us from above.

Esther Trautwein, a breast cancer survivor and good friend of Becky's, along with her husband set up a fund to help Becky. Anyone interested in contributing to the fund, which will now help Bradley with his future education, may send contributions to the Bradley J. Cogley Trust Fund at First United Bank, 19 South Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

TANGENTIAL MEDITATIONS

By MELODEE HILL

WEATHER OR NOT

Of course it's about the weather! What else is everybody talking about, besides the orange alert? And the orange alert is such a complicated matter that I won't even discuss it. Suffice it to say that I thought they had settled the debate over whether or not wearing orange after Labor Day was a serious fashion faux pas or not.

I do have to say, though, that wearing bright orange when you are out cavorting (read shoveling, snow blowing, plowing, scraping, slipping and sliding) amidst these mountains of snow does seem like a good idea. Picture yourself, in your bright orange snow cap, pushing mounds of snow off your porch and you suddenly realize that the snow is off your porch and so are you — chin deep without a paddle! A bright orange cap or snow suit will lead your family right to you when they need to ask you if you know where their coat is, or they've eaten all the potato chips, and they want to know what time dinner will be ready. Once you've extricated yourself from your fun little snow tunnel, you can always use the bright orange ski cap as a mod-retro toaster cozy.

And that is just the beginning of the fun to be had when forty-nine plus inches of snow falls on you within a two-day time span. That brings me to my other idea: Survivor — Cabin Fever. Now I know that the genre of reality shows has absolutely run its course from the outrageous to the distinctly distasteful especially if there really is one about how "hot" the contestants are as judged by a jury of their beers, oops I mean peers. But, trust me, this could work.

First, all the contestants are picked at random, from warm, flat, green, affluent states. And the people who don't want to go the most are the ones who are picked first. At least a few beautiful, skinny blonds of both sexes are placed on each team, and the rest of the team can be a cross section of humanity. Each team is brought to Garrett County in January and has to stay here until the forsythia blooms, so you can see there is a certain undermining psychological uncertainty at work on the contestants already.

Then each team is taken to a seemingly remote cabin that has a driveway at least a quarter of a mile long (for shoveling purposes) and left there with a two-year old, a teenager, and a middle child between the ages of 8 and 12. If they are given a survival "packet," it will consist of a few month-old magazines, last year's must-have nail polish, a six-pack of warm beer and several Barney videos which the two-year old will watch endlessly with the sound turned waaaay up.

As soon as the teams get there the sun decides to shine briefly very early in the morning when the contestants are still sleeping, or for seconds at a time while they are in the bathroom, which has no windows. Otherwise it stays behind heavy, gray clouds. They will not feel the warmth of the sun or bask in its light until a two-hour time period one afternoon in March. These teams do not have to build their shelter, but they do have to bring in firewood and start a fire if they want to stay warm. Trust me, don't even bother asking the teenager for help!

They are given enough food and paper products (we all know what I mean, [t.p.]) to last for a day or two, but soon they will have to go to the store. There has been a rumor circulating that a tremendous snowstorm is on its way with the potential for significant snow fall. They had better get to the store as soon as possible, if not sooner. Imagine the scene: "We have to wear how many layers?" the dog psychiatrist whines. The other blonds chime in, "You expect me to wear those snow pants? They make me look like I weigh 100 pounds! I refuse to wear that hat — the color doesn't go with my tan! And so forth.

Of course there are various challenges along the way. The ice scraper breaks because the car has been sitting for four days. The battery needs to be charged. Reason: ditto. Finally, they get to the grocery store only to discover a scene better suited to after the Apocalypse. It looks as though there hasn't been a delivery truck there since leaves still decorated the trees, and some shelves are so empty you could stretch out on them and nap if you wanted. Except then someone would put you in their shopping cart, thinking you were some New Age type body pillow.

Eventually, the team finds a box of instant mashed potatoes, a box of Kleenex, a small carton of half and half, and a package of hot dog rolls with one roll missing. They buy it anyway. Since they've been in the store, it has started to pour down snow (it happens), which is quickly covering the foot or so of already used snow on the ground. The shopping cart is loaded down with tonic water (hey, you could wash with it, if you had to) so it becomes mired in the slush and freeze of the parking lot. The team abandons the cart and carries the groceries the mile or so to the auxiliary parking lot. Of course the car needs a jump start and they're on their way.

Back at the cabin, the new snow is at eight inches and rising steadily. And swiftly. By the next morning the snow has draped everything in an indistinguishable, relentless whiteness and it keeps falling. The man with the snow plow cannot come until at least the next day, and according to the rules you have to keep the driveway clear. Everyone starts shoveling. By the end of ninety minutes only one stalwart shoveler remains, yet the snow continues to pile up. This is not an immunity challenge — there is no immunity.

Lunch consists of instant potatoes reconstituted with half and half and spread on hot dog rolls. After their morning's exertion everyone has a hearty appetite, even the 95 pound lingerie model. Have you ever noticed how all the animals you see around snow and ice are fat? Think polar bears, penguins and walruses (walri?); it's not called blubber for nothing! About two hours later, everyone eats again. No one is really hungry, it's just something to do. Two hours later, everyone eats supper and talks excitedly about that evening's tribal council. Then they all have dessert while listening to the cancellations on the radio.

The radio announcer proclaims the bad news. The tribal council has been postponed indefinitely (probably until the forsythia blooms), and everyone groans because each member of the team was secretly hoping he would be the one voted out of this county!

Pass that mashed potato sandwich, and could you please turn down that TV?

The Combating Underage Drinking Committee will meet on Monday, March 17, from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Garrett County Health Department. The public is welcome to attend. For further information, persons may contact Kendra Todd at 301-334-7730.

IT'S NOT REAL – IT'S "MOULAGE" – And "moulage" is the art of creating realistic-looking injuries to aid in the training of emergency personnel. Persons interested in learning how to create mock injuries from open fractures to gunshot wounds may attend a daylong workshop on Saturday, March 22, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at the Grantsville Outreach Center in Classroom 1. After completing this workshop, individuals will be able to assist local fire/EMS companies with drills or be part of a regional team to prepare realistic "victims" for countywide disaster exercises. The workshop is being hosted by the Garrett County EMS Committee, the Maryland EMS-C Program, Garrett College, and MIEMSS. See story for further information. Photo provided by Dave Ramsey.

pairing town water and sewer lines, and open town government.

First, as the challengers should know, the Third Street bridge is owned by CSX Corporation, not the town of Oakland or the Garrett County commissioners, and it was CSX's decision to close the bridge because of safety considerations. It was Mayor McCain and the town council, including Jay Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd, who have taken the lead and approached CSX representatives and the Garrett County commissioners in negotiating an agreement to replace the bridge, utilizing a combination of CSX funding along with federal and state funding. The Garrett County commissioners even moved the Third Street bridge replacement up the priority list at the urging of Mayor McCain and the town council.

Securing federal and state transportation funds takes time, as we have all seen with the Oakland 219 relocation project, and responsible candidates for Oakland Town Council are aware of that. Nothing could be further from the truth than to accuse the incumbent members of the council of not following through on this necessary project.

Second, to imply that Jay Moyer and the council ignore damaged water and sewer lines is irresponsible. I have personally witnessed Mr. Moyer and town of Oakland employees vigorously search out and repair damaged water and sewer lines, and I believe in their dedication in maintaining that infrastructure.

And lastly, to imply that the Mayor and Town Council are meeting and conducting municipal business in secret is absurd, and the challengers know it!

The Oakland town clerk publishes the agenda on the Friday before the monthly council meeting, and she has always been willing to answer to the best of her ability anyone's phone calls with questions on any issue or any agenda item. All you have to do is call, and if you have an issue, you can request to be added to the agenda.

I believe that Jay Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd have worked well with Mayor Asa McCain, and their efforts to improve infrastructure within the town of Oakland. Purchasing and remodeling the historic Oakland Train Station and seeking to develop a youth center are representative of their commitment as dedicated council members and residents of Oakland. I urge Oakland town residents to re-elect them and continue the slow and steady progress the town has achieved under their term.

Sincerely,
David Moe

To the Editor:

France is criticized for forgetting the consequences of their passive approach to Hitler's aggression in Europe. They have not. Nor have they forgotten their ill-fated adventure in Indo-China.

After the French defeat, the United States began sending "advisors" to South Vietnam. In 1964 the "conflict" in Vietnam had become the central issue in the presidential campaign. Senator Goldwater pledged to either end U.S. involvement or do whatever was necessary to win a decisive victory. He also said taxes would have to be raised to pay for a war. President Johnson campaigned for a status quo approach in Vietnam and an expanded social program at home. The rest is history. At a cost of tens of thousands of lives and 494 billion dollars, this country suffered its first clear military defeat. Other results were a huge increase in the national debt, hyperinflation and a protracted recession.

President Bush has said that this country should avoid "nation building" as a part of our response to problems in the Mid-East or elsewhere. He, like most people, would like to rid the world of Saddam Hussein. His father had opportunities to do so and backed away from them. At the close of the Gulf War, Iraq's best troops and a thousand or more tanks and artillery pieces were surrounded in the desert. He let them retreat to Baghdad. After the war he promised the Kurds and Shiites money and weapons if they would revolt and unseat Hussein. They revolted, Bush reneged, and thousands of Kurds and Shiites were slaughtered.

A major concern is that Iraq's weapons could fall into Al Qaeda's hands. Iraq is not the only source of such weapons. Many of the basic ingredients of these weapons are readily available and require little refinement to become deadly agents. The bomb that destroyed the federal building in Oklahoma City was made of fertilizer and diesel fuel.

So why is the president so intent on war? Revenge for Hussein's attempt on his father's life? Desire to control Iraqi oil? Douglas Feith, under-secretary of defense for policy, and his deputy, Stephen Cambone, provide some insight in an article, "After Iraq," published in the February 17-24, 2003 edition of The New Yorker. Briefly, they describe the defeat and occupation of Iraq as the beginning of a domino effect toppling other unfriendly Middle Eastern states. The theory continues that with these regimes gone, terrorist groups like Hamas, Islamic Jihad, Hezbollah, and Al Qaeda would have no base of operation. This highly optimistic assessment assumes that Middle Eastern countries are well-defined states with populations that will quickly support regime change and embrace democracy. Instead, it is made up of many tribes, many with hostile intentions toward each other and little respect for existing borders.

Last October the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimated that a three-month military operation in Iraq, followed by a five-year occupation, would cost 272 billion dollars. Recent estimates of troop involvement in the occupation phase could reach 100,000. The president's "coalition of the willing" lined up to invade Iraq are few in number. The promise of 30 billion dollars has yet to buy Turkey's cooperation. (Their cooperation was, no doubt, assumed in the CBO estimate.) The leadership of Germany and South Korea won recent elections on anti-war platforms. Recent international peace demonstrations clearly support the removal of Saddam Hussein. It is equally clear that they do not support a unilateral U.S. invasion of Iraq. The debate in NATO over how to oust Hussein has caused the worst rift in 50 years. This country is disliked and mistrusted by the Arab world, due in part to our support of Israel.

All this begs the question, "Is there a better way?" Terrorism is an international problem. It requires an international solution. In response to 9/11, 90 nations pledged assistance in the war against terrorism. The recent capture of Khalid Sheikh Mohammed is the result of patient work and cooperation among many nations. A similar multinational effort in which our involvement would be significant, but low, profile should be formed to round up Saddam Hussein and his thugs. They should be put on trial for crimes against humanity and executed; exile is too good for them.

The money "saved" by our reduced role would be better spent on Homeland Security. We need to make our borders much tighter and travel saver. We need to find and deport the people who don't belong in this country.

This approach may solve the president's other big problem, the economy. Politicians and planners disagree on the possible effects of his tax cut package. Most agree that our economic engine will remain in low gear until the geo-political outlook is more certain.

To the Editor:

As a new year has begun, Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) would like to take the opportunity to thank all the individuals and organizations who have supported us and our efforts on behalf of animals in 2002. Having come into being only one year ago, PAWS is proud of what it has accomplished thus far. We know, however, that our goals were realized only with the help of other caring individuals in the community...the folks who supported our fundraising efforts and who made the contributions that enabled us to carry out our mission. Our supporters helped make the following achievements possible.

PAWS is providing 32 Garrett County classrooms with free subscriptions to the KIND News for the 2002-2003 school year as part of our Adopt-A-Classroom program. This monthly children's newspaper is ensuring kids get regular classroom instruction on why it is important to treat all living things, both animal and human, responsibly and with kindness, respect, and compassion. We hope to increase the number of classrooms we can "adopt" for the 2003-2004 school year.

In May PAWS partnered with the Family Violence Coalition to sponsor a workshop to raise awareness of the link between animal abuse and other forms of community violence, and to point out the importance of, and push for, adequate animal cruelty investigation so that violent tendencies can be identified before people are targeted.

PAWS is also working with the Dove Center and the Family Violence Coalition to set up and fund a Safe Haven program which will provide shelter and safety from further or potential abuse for pets of families in domestic crisis situations.

We applied for and were granted affiliation with the Garrett County United Way, thus taking a major step on the road to convincing people that animal welfare issues are people welfare issues as well.

This fall PAWS joined with animal welfare organizations around the country to celebrate the U.S. Postal Service's release of a new first class postage stamp to raise awareness of the importance of spaying and neutering in the fight against pet overpopulation. We used the occasion to start a spay/neuter education effort in the county. A spay/neuter poster contest in the schools resulted in 168 children submitting posters telling about the importance of altering pets. Spay/neuter radio and print ads were made possible through the generous support of Taco Bell. The Jr. Woman's Civic Club contributed $100 to help us extend the education effort. We are using their donation to place notices in the "pets" section of the Republican's classified ads. The hope is that over the next year these ads will remind people to be responsible and have their pets altered.

We are currently working to obtain grant money from the Snyder Foundation in Baltimore to launch a Spay/Neuter Assistance Program for families of limited means, and to expand our spay/neuter education efforts in the schools and the community at large.

Over the past year PAWS volunteers have rescued over 100 animals from death at the Garrett County Animal Shelter and enrolled them in various breed rescue programs, which have placed them into loving homes. We have set up a regular rescue fund and raised money for that fund through a very successful dog wash this fall.

PAWS has sought to introduce its mission and garner support from the community through a variety of fundraisers this past year. Our Town Theatre was kind enough to let us use it as the location for a soup lunch fundraising event to raise the money needed for the Adopt-A-Classroom project. We participated in the Winter Blast at the W[illegible] in March. The PAWS Photo Contest last summer showed everyone the joys of owning a pet. The calendar that resulted from the contest is proving to be a good fundraiser and is building awareness for the organization and its mission. In addition to the dog wash already mentioned, we hosted the first annual Volkswaggle for PAWS in Oakland on Oct. 6. This event combined a walk-athon and animal blessing with opportunities to find out more about spaying and neutering, our rescue program, the animal cruelty/family violence link, and animal health issues. PAWS also participated in the Little Yough Music Festival, the Autumn Glory Farmers Market and Main Street Christmas by selling various home made pet items to raise money and awareness.

We are grateful to the Republican for the support it has shown PAWS over the past year. Thank you for allowing us to use your paper as a means to publicize our programs and fundraisers. Your help as drop-off site for the summer photo contest, and sales location (Grantsville office) for the resulting PAWS calendar, was also much appreciated. We are hopeful that the spay/neuter essay contest we are currently sponsoring with the Republican will also prove to be a success.

There are many ways PAWS hopes to continue to lend a voice and compassionate hand to the animals of Garrett County and their guardians! We hope we can rely on your continued prayers and support in doing so. If you'd like to learn about more ways you can partner with us on behalf of animals, please don't hesitate to get in touch with us. Our meetings are open to the public and occur on the first Wednesday of every month, at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education Building at Garrett College. Check the marker board in the Con-Ed building lobby for exact room number, as it may vary.

Thanks again for lending PAWS a hand! Best wishes for a happy, peaceful, and prosperous 2003.

Sincerely,
Annette Robinson

Backbone Mtn. Inn Raid Scores Huge Bust For Narcotics Force

By David Foster

The thought "Thank God we're safe from that stuff here in Garrett County" crosses many minds when news of a big-city drug bust reaches us here, leaving some folks to think the mountaintop is one of the last places left that peeks through a dark fog rapidly enveloping the rest of the nation.

The thought belies a sense of security that doesn't match up with reality, according to the police officers and detectives who work our region's town streets and country roads, which all too often lead them to drugs and the lives ruined by drugs. The pervasiveness of the problem has been brought close to home in recent weeks by the deaths of two young Allegany County people from heroin overdoses — one a 10th grader at Beall High School.

"We deal with a lot of local stuff, drugs that are either produced here or imported from the outside for sale and use here," Garrett County Narcotics Task Force supervisor Sgt. Mark Rodeheaver said recently. "There's always been marijuana, but over the past couple of years we've seen big increases in ecstasy, ketamine, methamphetamine, and powdered cocaine.

"There's also a lot of bad stuff going through Garrett County, because the pressure law enforcement has been applying to the heavily traveled East Coast interstates like I-95 and I-81 have pushed the drug traffic farther west to what we call 'secondary' trafficking routes such as I-68, Route 50, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike, and the north-south roads that branch off them."

A career member of the Maryland State Police, and Task Force supervisor for the past six years, Rodeheaver and his fellow narcotics detectives have dedicated their efforts to stem the ever-increasing flow of illegal drugs, as if they were piling sandbags higher and higher against an ever-increasing flood that leaves shattered lives and wrecked families in its wake. The tide raises even higher when, as many perpetrators of local burglaries have told investigators, they were carrying out those crimes in order to bankroll a drug habit.

"The workload forced us to add a new full-time detective last fall, bringing the unit's complement to four, and that's still not enough," Rodeheaver said of the Task Force, a cooperative effort of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police, and the Garrett County State's Attorney's Office.

A drug and gambling bust at a local tavern early last year, one of the biggest busts in the 13-year history of the local drug interdiction unit, provides a glimpse as to how far the drug world's tentacles reach into rural America, and the hard work of dedicated law enforcement professionals who strive to keep it at bay.

Late Dec. 2001

During a rare moment at his desk, Rodeheaver takes a phone call from a concerned citizen who tells him that the Backbone Mtn. Inn is the scene of numerous illegal gambling activities and liquor license violations. There are tip jars and punch boards in the bar, the caller says,* and the bar is buying liquor on the retail market and reselling it.

The caller has spelled out two criminal allegations. While perfectly legal when sponsored by and for the benefit of a non-profit organization such as an American Legion Post or an Elks Lodge, or during a dedicated fund-raiser such as a special "casino night," gambling can't generate profit for a private enterprise. "A tip jar can make over $500 a night for a bar owner," Rodeheaver explained recently. A liquor violation as described in the phone call cuts out the taxman by bypassing the wholesale route and sidestepping Maryland excise taxes — a ruse confirmed in this case by a subsequent inquiry with a state liquor inspector, who had already checked the establishment on a similar complaint.

After taking the call, Rodeheaver and Task Force detective Dave McLaughlin sit down to plan their strategy. "We already had one undercover detective detailed in from another part of the state who was working the county's bars and taverns," McLaughlin said, "but we decided that this operation would require two detectives, both also from out of the county."

Jan. 18, 2002

The pair of "visiting" undercover detectives arrive in Garrett County, and visit the Backbone Mtn. Inn posing as patrons on a crowded Friday night. The National Football League Playoffs are in full swing, and the betting is hot and heavy across the country. The Inn is cashing in on the frenzy with its own Super Bowl pool, and the detectives place their bets in the pool, (one even picks the Baltimore Ravens) and drop a few additional dollars on the punchboards at the bar.

Can I collect my winnings tonight if I win on the punchboard? one of the pair asks Phyllis Inglese. Sure, we pay out right away, she responds. The detective fills out his punch board card with his initials and cell phone number, and turns it in.

Later, at the sheriff's office, the two undercover detectives draw a sketch of the bar, providing the Task Force with a map of the interior and the location of some of the gambling items — the punch board is kept in plain view behind the bar, and the tip jar sits next to the cash register.

Friday, Jan. 25

Armed with the detectives' observations, and probable cause, the Task Force obtains a search warrant from Judge Timothy Finan in Allegany County. (The warrant was requested there because a state police sergeant in LaVale had to review the request before it was submitted.) Permission is granted to search both the bar and the Inglese residence across the street, because earlier, when the state liquor inspector had asked to see the business records, Phyllis Inglese had walked across the street to retrieve them from her home; by law, however, liquor establishment records are required to be kept at the site of the business.

Saturday, Jan. 26

With the search warrants in hand, by noon the Task Force starts gathering a contingent of police personnel at the sheriff's office readying to execute the search. By 6 p.m. a four-vehicle convoy of unmarked vehicles and a surveillance van bearing three Task Force detectives, four sheriff's deputies (including a canine unit), three state troopers, six members of the Allegany County C3I Unit, and a supervisor from the MSP Drug Enforcement Command Force is on its way up the mountain.

"We wanted a lot of guys with us," said Rodeheaver. "Hitting a bar on a busy Saturday night can be risky for both the officers and the patrons — some of the patrons have been drinking, obviously — and it was important that we search the two separate locations simultaneously. It seemed like a long ride to the Inn, and we had a lot to think about on the way."

At 6:25 p.m. uniformed sheriff's deputy Sgt. Mike Bittinger enters the bar and announces that a search is beginning. The officers immediately secure identifications from each of the patrons and determine if they are fit to drive, and send them on their way.

The bar's staff — Mike and Phyllis Inglese, and their adult daughter — are moved into a secure location in the bar, where the officers repeat that the search is under way to locate suspected gambling materials and inform the trio of their Miranda rights. Michael Inglese is asked to empty his pockets, and out comes a set of keys, a knife, and $1,594 in cash currency. By this point the unit has broken into two teams to search the house and the bar. Gambling paraphernalia, stored up in plain view in the bar's kitchen, is seized immediately.

At 6:40 p.m. in the bar's kitchen, McLaughlin checks the top of a metal cooler where he discovers a plastic baggie containing a white powdery substance and a plastic straw; at practically the same moment, searchers in the house, working under the direction of MSP trooper and fellow Task Force member Greg Byrnes find similar paraphernalia and suspected drug residue in the master bedroom.

Field tests indicate the powdery substances are likely cocaine.

Both searches are halted immediately, because the warrant in hand specified that police were looking only for gambling items; a misstep here could legally sabotage something even bigger they may have stumbled upon. Using a laptop computer they had brought with them, the detectives type up two more search warrant requests for the bar and the house, indicating they have probable cause to suspect there were drugs on hand. After a small group of detectives took the request to the home of Judge Ralph Burnett, who gives his approval, the searches resume.

At the bar, McLaughlin immediately seizes a Tupperware dish containing more powder, a set of weighing scales in a jacket, and four grams of marijuana stored in a plastic baggie in the refrigerator. Also discovered in the bar area were numerous gambling tip jars, punch boards, and pull tickets, a Super Bowl pool sheet, and more than $3,400 in cash. Plastic straws bearing suspected cocaine residue were found in the men's and women's restrooms.

Meanwhile, in the residence's master bedroom, suspected cocaine residue is located along with plastic straws, razor blades, and a 22 caliber single shot Derringer pistol. Numerous whiskey bottles, each filled with change, are also discovered in the bedroom, as is a safe that when opened reveals over $20,000 cash stored inside.

The searches drag on, including a detailed and exhaustive process of photographing, labeling, and identifying the numerous pieces of evidence, until after 1 a.m.

The Take's Value...

All told, the list of what is found at the bar and in the house surprises even the experienced narcotics detectives: 38 grams of cocaine,

DRUGS ARE A BIG GAMBLE — Last year's large drug and gambling bust at the Backbone Mtn. Inn by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force drew the curtain on an operation that was generating huge amounts of money, and even bigger risks, for all involved. Some members of the GCNTF team that help make such operations possible, shown above from the left, are Lt. Gary Berkebile of the Sheriff's Office, State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, Sgt. Jim Hare of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation, and Sheriff Dick Sanders. The group is displaying several small baggies of powdered cocaine and some of the gambling materials, including tip jars, punch boards, and pull tabs, that were seized during the January 2001 raid. After pleading guilty to a variety of charges in both Circuit and District courts, Michael Inglese was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary, while Phyllis Inglese was handed 11 months of house arrest after spending a month in the Garrett County Jail. The couple also stand to lose huge amounts of cash and property. As part of its mission of increasing public awareness of the reach of drugs into the county and the ways citizens can help stem their flow, the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force offers an educational speaker's program presented by a narcotics detective. Interested organizations of any type may call 301-387-9566 or 301-895-5889 for further information. The same numbers are also available to take tips from concerned citizens, anonymous or otherwise, such as the one that led to the breaking of the Backbone Mtn. Inn cocaine distribution and illegal gambling operations.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY HUSBAND
JOHN L. FITZWATER JR.
on his Birthday, March 7

NIGHT JOURNEY

Oft, as bleak night descends
And silent birds flock to nest;
I slip, quietly to yesterday,
As sweet memories meet my quest.
Around yon bend, beyond sight,
Along ridge at shut of day,
I wander back in time
As before you went away.
There 'neath moon's pale light
Whispering winds rush by,
'Twixt dreaming and waking
Softly brush a tear from eye.
While stars, above, still twinkle
As night faintly droning does go,
I feel your presence near
As warm gentle breezes blow.

with a street value of over $4,000; and 1/4 ounce of marijuana, worth over $60. Also seized at the scene is approximately $31,000 in currency and $25,000 in coins, while subsequently seized as the investigators follow the money trail was $16,000 from a bank account. Another seizure may lie ahead, as authorities have filed to take the bar property valued at approximately $52,000.

The GC Narcotics Task Force will receive 80 percent of the funds and the balance going to the federal authorities.

"Our 80 percent will be used to fund training, equipment purchases, operational expenses, and public awareness programs," Rodeheaver explained. "It will all benefit the local community." The Task Force supervisor also noted that many, many hundreds of hours were put into the case by the authorities from the time of the initial phone tip all the way through the arrests, prosecution, and eventual convictions of Michael and Phyllis Inglese.

The couple's "business" cost them dearly in more ways than one. Michael Inglese, who pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to charges including possession with intent to distribute of cocaine, is serving a 10-year sentence in the state correctional system. After her guilty pleas to charges including possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, Phyllis Inglese was sentenced in Circuit Court to one month in jail and an additional 11 months of house arrest. The couple was also prosecuted on the gambling charges in District Court, where they were fined in excess of $1,500 after entering guilty pleas.

...the Value of the Take

"All the police officers in Garrett County, at the sheriff's office, state police barrack, and Oakland town hall, put forth a lot of effort into stopping drug activity," said State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, a Narcotics Task Force advisory board member.

Statistics bear out that statement while also illustrating the growing reach of drugs in Garrett County. The amount of drugs seized by the Narcotics Task Force went up markedly across the board (with the exception of marijuana, opium, and psychedelic mushrooms, each of which remained fairly steady) over 2001 to 2002 by the following figures: ecstasy, from 4 to 25 pills; powdered cocaine, from 14.7 to 564.9 grams; crack cocaine, from 0 to 73.7 grams; heroin, from 2.6 to 10.2 grams; ketamine, from 0.5 to 67.1 grams; and methamphetamine, from 0 grams to 63.4 grams.

"It's an uphill battle," said McLaughlin. "The general public doesn't know how much of a problem it is, and those who are in the drug culture don't think it's a big deal to be doing drugs; even people who aren't involved with drugs may not be concerned. Take a look at popular culture in general — you see celebrities, athletes, musicians get busted all the time and 'it's not a big deal,'" the detective said, the exasperation evident in his voice.

"You'll see late-night television talk show hosts joking about drugs, implying 'it's not a big deal,'" Welch added in the same tone. "Well, for many of these drugs, especially the newer ones, science doesn't know yet what the long-term effects of use will be.

"Anyone who has kids or grandkids needs to be thinking it's a big deal," the state's attorney concluded. "Because it really is — here and everywhere."

GC Habitat For Humanity Slates Annual Auction

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will hold its annual auction fund-raiser on Saturday, April 5, at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Doors open at 7 p.m.

Because of the April date, this year's fund-raiser will be called "Showers of Sweets. "The event will be similar to our past fund-raisers," said Habitat executive director Jeanne Blasher, "but this year Habitat will feature a live auction, rather than a silent one."

She added that last year's event, "Shamrocks and Sweets," was very successful. The proceeds were used to build and renovate houses for two local families who were living in substandard housing. Currently, the organization has three families approved that are anxious to build with Habitat this year.

"We're really excited about the donations we've received so far for the auction," said Showers chairperson Amy Marple of Amy's Place Styling Salon. Items to be auctioned include weekend stays at local condos and inns, decorative and handcrafted items, services, and artwork.

"We also have a lot of wonderful food coming from restaurants and catering services all over the county," she added. Anyone interested in making a donation to the auction may contact the local Habitat office.

Tickets for the event are $15 per person or $25 per couple and are available at Amy's Place, Oakland, and the Habitat office along Liberty Street. Other locations will be announced later. For tickets or more information, persons may call Habitat at 301-533-0600.

HABITAT TO HOLD LIVE AUCTION – Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will hold its annual auction fund-raiser on Saturday, April 5, at Will O' the Wisp at Deep Creek Lake beginning at 7 p.m. Titled "Showers of Sweets," this year's event will feature a live auction, rather than a silent one as in past years. Shown above is Ellen Fritz with two of the items that will be available. Michael Cumerlato and Art Holland of Yellowstone at Deep Creek Lake have donated a framed and matted trilogy print by D. Campanelli titled "The Daily Beggars." Also pictured is a basket donated by Kathy's Furniture, Dry Dock Plaza. See story for details.

LENTEN SERVICES BEGIN

Ash Wednesday, March 5, was the beginning of the Lenten season, and this is being observed in Union District with services on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. The March 12 service is scheduled for the Amboy United Methodist Church, with Rev. Debbie Strawser as the speaker. Everyone is invited to participate. The March 19 service will be at the Brookside Church of the Brethren, with Rita Harsh bringing the message.

AVFD BREAKFAST

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will resume its third Sunday breakfast on March 16. This includes biscuits, pancakes, sausage, and gravy, and the same hours, 8 a.m. until 1 p.m., for a donation of $6 for adults, and $3 for children.

BLOODMOBILE APRIL 1

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Union Ambulance squad hall on April 1 from 1 until 7 p.m.

PIONEER 4-H

The Feb. 2 meeting of the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club was opened with the pledges to America and 4-H, led by Daniel O' Conner and Wickey Myers III. Kristen Stemple and Marissa Bachtel read the devotions. Brittany and Kristen Stemple led the club in singing Tell Me Why and Head, Shoulders, Knees, and Toes.

Old business included mention of the county poster and photo contest for which entries were turned in to the leader that evening, an announcement of the upcoming Mountaineer game at the WVU Coliseum which is designated for 4-H attendance, and an emphasis of the April 5 clean-up day to begin at 9 a.m. Also noted were the dates set for Dance Camp and for Teen Leader and Charting Weekend.

The club members took a period of time to spend in silent meditation to pray their concern and respect for the crew and families of the space shuttle Columbia and for all those who were associated with the program.

A game challenging each to make as many words as possible from the phrase, "Happy Valentine's Day," concluded the meeting and was led by Michael O'Conner. A motion by Josh Mullenax for adjournment ended the evening's program.

DEATHS

The body of B. Ruth Snyder, 89, Oakland, was brough to Eglon Feb. 26 for interment in the Maple Spring Cemetery. Mrs. Snyder was a daughter of the late Zenas and Della Mellott and a member of the Swallow Falls Dunkard Brethren Church. Services were held Wednesday, Feb. 26 from that church. She died at her Gortner home on Sunday, Feb. 23, following a lingering illness. Surviving are a daughter, Naomi Swartzentruber, and a son, J. Dwight Snyder, three grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Freda R. Whitehair, 95, Terra Alta, was a daughter of the late John and Ora Fike Slaubaugh, and was born at Horse Shoe Run on Jan. 20, 1908. Her death on Feb. 22 was followed by March 1 services at Crellin.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Roy Whitehair, and a daughter, Erma Whitehair as well as three brothers, Roy, Melvin, and Revie, and two sisters, Elva Inks and Sadie Hollis. Her daughter, Betty Jo Richards of Allentown, two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren survive.

Mary Frances Beckman, 85, Morgantown, died Wednesday, Feb. 26, at Healthsouth Rehab hospital. She was born at Sunnyside, Md., a daughter of the late James and Fannie Fike Martin. One daughter, Louise Ann, and spouse, Wendell Backus survive, as do two sisters, Deane Beckman of Morgantown, and Ilene Fint of Old Fields; two brothers, Harold Martin of Morgantown, and Wade Martin of West Palm Beach, Fla.; two grandchildren; and one great-grandson. Her husband, Wade Beckman, and one sister, Violet Fint, preceded her in death.

Following services at Hastings Funeral Home in Morgantown on Saturday, March 1, at which the Rev. Cameron Kauffman-Frey officiated, the body was brought to the Eglon cemetery for burial.

SHAMROCK SHAKE DANCE AT AURORA

A special St. Patrick's Day celebration will come in the form of a Shamrock Shake Dance at the Aurora School on March 15 from 7 until 10 p.m.

Music will be provided and food will be available. Admittance is $3 for each student.

Only Aurora School students Pre-K through sixth grade are invited. Those students in second grade and under are required to have a parent present.

If there are questions, persons may contact Beth Wolfe at 735-5104 or Jackie Blamble at 735-5022.

PERSONAL MENTION

Ed Lipscomb of Eglon underwent knee surgery on Friday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and is recuperating at his home.

Chester Hughes, 84, died Saturday morning, March 1, at a Vienna, Va., nursing home, where he had been a resident for some time. He was born at Eglon, a son of the late Donald and Hazel Hughes. He was the last member of his immediate family and is survived by his wife, Mary, at their Vienna, Va., home.

Word was received of the illness of Mrs. Olonzo (Ardith Wotring) Fike of York, Pa. Although Mrs. Fike has been mostly bedfast for the past nine years, she is now in a nursing home. In a Jan. 27 move from wheelchair to bed, an apparent compound fracture of her leg occurred, which reportedly required amputation of that leg this past weekend. The couple may be reached by contacting their daughter, Mrs. Evangeline Turner, 912 Bond Avenue, York, PA 17403.

Delbert Sims, Warren, Ohio, was hospitalized this past week for surgical insertion of both a pacemaker and defibrilator on Friday. He returned to his home on Sunday and reported to his sister, Mrs. Jessie Winters, Eglon, that he is feeling better.

Arlene Stemple of Stemple Ridge was admitted Sunday night to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she underwent surgery on Tuesday.

Gay Roth of Thomas was vacationing in Okeechobee, Fla., where he became ill and underwent colon surgery March 2 at a hospital there.

Mathan Nissly and his mother, Joanne, returned last week to their home at Lake Galilee near Terra Alta. He is reportedly doing much better, but the trachea tube limits his ability to speak and eat.

Lois Adams of Aurora was a Monday surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is expected to stay about one week.

When Viola Gordon celebrated her 81st birthday in Opopka, Fla., on Feb. 7, one of the guests was Grace Gnegy White of Oakland. Her brother, Everett Fike, was also present for the occasion.

Neil and Bonnie Winters of Hutton cut short a Florida vacation to return home on Saturday. Their son, Scott Winters of Oakland, has been called to active duty and leaves this week with his Martinsburg unit.

Word was received of the death of Robert DeWitt, 65, of Kingwood, on March 3. His wife is the former Carolyn Evans, a native of Horse Shoe Run.

TERRA ALTA

The Terra Alta Public Library has received its Books Are Fun display. These books, toys, gifts, and VCR tapes are gift ideas for Easter, graduation, Mother's Day, or birthdays. Pamphlets are available with prices and pictures of several other items that can be ordered. These displays have been used in the past with all good results. The library receives a percentage of free books with the order. This display and sale will end Friday, March 21, and there will be a two-week time period for the order to be filled.

The sixth James A. Gregg Memorial Scholarship 5-mile Walk-a-Thon will begin at 5:30 p.m. Friday, May 16, at the library. Teams need to pick up their information at the library. For more information, persons may call 304-789-2724.

For the second year, the library has been chosen as the recipient of Dr. Herto's Every Body's Chiropractic Patient Appreciation Day. All patients pay for their appointments with books, and Dr. Herto donates all the books to an organization of his choice.

Those who have recently donated books, periodicals, or pamphlets to the library are Albert Ossman, Mary McLaughlin. Lori Cage, Nancy Hoffman, E.M. Sypolt, Tina Rinehart, and Dr. Savage of WVU.

Brian Schoolcraft donated his time by putting up displays, moving books, making letters for decorations, readying the shelves, and whatever else needs to be done.

Mt. Storm Power Station Employees Help Environment

A Grant County recreational area has received a useful addition thanks to the efforts of employees of Dominion Fossil & Hydro, one of the nation's largest energy companies.

Boaters now can use a floating dock that Dominion volunteers installed at the public boat launch just off Rt. 93 at Mt. Storm Lake. According to a Dominon spokesperson, the new dock will make it more convenient for boaters to launch and tie off their boats.

In addition to erecting the dock, employees constructed a lake access for scuba divers, and they landscaped and performed environmental work at the boat launch site.

"More people are discovering Mt. Storm Lake and the variety of recreational opportunities it has to offer," said Roger Shears, director of Fossil & Hydro, Mt. Storm Power Station. "Dominion volunteers completed these much-needed additions to the launch area with help and guidance from the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources."

According to the spokeperson, the installation of the dock at Mt. Storm was just one of 15 projects in a nine-state volunteer effort by Dominion employees. More than 750 volunteers worked to help beautify, restore, and repair parks and other natural areas in the communities where they live and work. Additionally, a tree was planted at each of the sites in remembrance of Sept. 11.

The projects are part of a an "employee-driven" program called "Putting Our Energy to Work for the Enviroment" that was established by Dominion three years ago. More information about the program may be found at www.dom.com.

Newsweek Mag. Notes Canaan Valley St. Park

An article published in the Feb. 7 edition of Newsweek magazine has listed Canaan Valley Resort State Park in Tucker County as one of best parks in the country. In his article "Wild Kingdom: America's Best Parks," James Yenkel lists Canaan among such renowned treasures as Yosemite, Yellowstone, and Great Smoky Mountain national parks.

"Sometimes people forget what they have when it's in their own backyard," said Chuck Trader, managing director for Canaan Valley Resort. "Being mentioned in the company of the best parks in the country reemphasizes how special we have it here in West Virginia."

YOUTH ART CONTEST WINNERS ANNOUNCED – The Youth Art Exhibit and Contest, sponsored by the Civic Club of Oakland in cooperation with the Garrett County Arts Council, will be on display until Saturday, March 8, at the Gallery along East Alder Street in Oakland. Judges Ron Skidmore and Sue Thomas recently announced the winners, who are as follows: Class 1 (grades 6, 7, and 8): Devon Yoder, Northern Middle School, first prize (yarn weaving); Amanda Fazenbaker, Northern Middle, second prize (scene on aluminum); Elizabeth White, Southern Middle, third prize (tissue paper pomeranian rainbow); and Lukas Tillmann, Northern Middle, honorable mention (paper mola). In Class 2 (grades 9, 10, 11, and 12): Christen Coddington, Southern High School, first prize (dragon painting, still life with oils); Emily Nixon, Northern High, second prize (Martin Luther King Jr. with charcoal); Melody Friend, Southern High, third prize (Conti, still life with crayon); and Matt Ashby, Southern High, honorable mention (life portrait with charcoal). The first, second, and third prize winners will have their works entered in a Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs contest, which will be held at the annual convention in late April in the Baltimore area. Third-place winner Tillman, above, and his parents, Ingrid and Ulrich, were recently photographed when they visited the exhibit. Photo by Ellen Fritz.

STEWART TO PRESENT RECITAL – Amanda K. Stewart, a junior at the Juilliard School in New York City and a 2000 graduate of Southern High School, will present a free public recital on Saturday, March 15, at 4 p.m. at the Loch Lynn Church of God. Her accompanist will be Janet Kao, a piano master student at Juilliard. A native of Taiwan, Kao completed her undergraduate studies at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore. The recital will consist of the "Trombone Concerto" by Grondahl, "Nocturno" by Franz Strauss, "The Lord's Prayer" by Alcott, "Morning Walk" by Norman Bolter, and "Fantastic Polka" by Arthur Pryor. During the summer of 2001, Stewart attended the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, Calif., and in the summer of 2002, she attended the National Repertory Orchestra in Breckinridge, Colo. She is the daughter of Brad and Patsy Stewart, Oakland, and the granddaughter of Jennie Stewart, Oakland, and the late George "Teener" Stewart, and Marshall Bittinger, Oakland, and the late Annabelle Bittinger.

WVU HONOR BAND MEMBERS – Garrett County was well represented in the 24th annual Invitational Honor Bands of West Virginia University, which presented concerts February 15 at WVU's Eiesland Hall. Five members of the Northern High School Band and three members of the Southern High School Band were selected to participate, based upon nomination by their band directors and an audition by WVU that required advanced talent and high musical honors. Northern representatives are pictured above and include, from left: Caroline Stahl, junior, baritone; Jackie Brenneman, junior, clarinet; Amanda Friend, senior, trumpet; Elizabeth Fischer, junior, bass clarinet; and Robbie Glotfelty, junior, tuba. Southern reps, all sophomores, are pictured below and include: Daniel Skipper, euphonium; Allison Richter, alto saxophone; and William Georg, percussion. Students from 67 different high schools across six states arrived at WVU in Morgantown to audition for one of two bands – the Maryland Band and the North Carolina Band. The Maryland band was conducted by Lee Stevens, band director at Atholton High School in Columbia. The North Carolina band was conducted by Dr. William Gora of Appalachian State University. Bill Robinson and Richard Clever are the directors of the Northern and Southern bands, respectively.

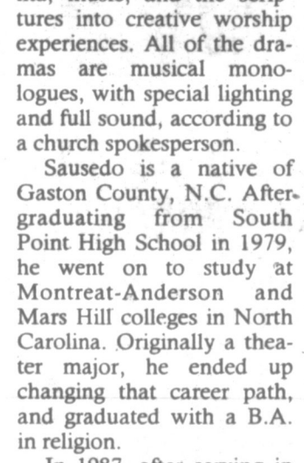
Ken Sausedo To Present Drama At Pleasant View



Pleasant View Baptist Church will host the ministry of Ken Sausedo this coming Sunday evening. Sausedo incorporates drama, music, and the scriptures into creative worship experiences. All of the dramas are musical monologues, with special lighting and full sound, according to a church spokesperson.

Sausedo is a native of Gaston County, N.C. After graduating from South Point High School in 1979, he went on to study at Montreat-Anderson and Mars Hill colleges in North Carolina. Originally a theater major, he ended up changing that career path, and graduated with a B.A. in religion.

In 1987, after serving in several pastoral positions in different churches, he accepted a position at Grassy Creek Baptist Church in Spruce Pine, N.C., as a minister of youth and music. It was there that he created the biblical drama "A Song of Paul."

When he first presented "A Song of Paul," on August 12, 1990, he said he had no idea that he would ever perform it again, much less hundreds of times. However, word-of-mouth requests for the drama came in, and soon he was traveling to locations in western North Carolina to present it.

In 1991, he moved his family to Asheville, N.C., where he became the minister of youth and music at Grassy Branch Baptist Church. While there, he developed and presented three more dramas, "Acts of the Apostles" in 1993; "The Song of Moses" in 1996; and "The Revelation" in 2002. Now, almost every week he transforms himself into one of the biblical characters Moses, Luke, Peter, or Paul. He has just completed his fifth year of full-time traveling all over North America with this unique drama ministry.

Sausedo will be performing as John the beloved Apostle in his dramatic monologue "The Revelation" this Sunday, March 9, at 6 p.m. at the Pleasant View Baptist Church. The church is located two miles south of Oakland along U.S. Route 219. There is no charge, and the public is invited to attend. For additional information, persons may call 301-334-8515.

Children's Movies To Be Shown At Train Station

Children's movies will be shown at the B&O Railroad Station in Oakland during a 3-month trial period starting Saturday, March 22, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Thomas & Friends movies will be shown, which are based on the railway series by the Rev. W. Awdry. I Love Toy Trains featuring the music of Jim Coffey will also be shown. These movies are "award-winning and educational," said a spokesperson for the weekly event.

The cost is one Train Station dollar. These dollars are available from local merchants in the downtown area. For every $5 purchased, persons receive one Train Station dollar, which children may use to purchase movie tickets, popcorn, cotton candy, or Thomas the Tank Engine products.

The cost to local merchants will be $20 per year, and in return the shops' names will be mentioned in the advertising.

"This will give our children a place of their own to go, parents a chance to shop because a licensed daycare provider will supervise the children, and help promote downtown shops," said the spokesperson.

Preston Slates Celtic Music, Dance Event

Preston High School in Kingwood will present its second annual Evening of Celtic Music and Dance on Friday, March 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the school theater.

Performers will be Sang Run, Keith and Joan Pitzer, the Scoil Damhsa Irish Dancers, and the Preston High Musical Theater ensemble.

"The Scoil Damhsa Dancers are young West Virginia dancers who have been very successful competing in regional Irish dance competitions," said a spokesperson for the event.

Tickets are $5 and are available at Preston High. For more information, persons may call 304-329-0400 or 304-735-3118.

SENIOR CENTER

Jarlath Fitzwater Hite from the Garrett County Health Department will present a program on smallpox at the center Tuesday, March 11, from 11:30 a.m. until noon.

A representative from Belltone will provide hearing checks next Thursday March 13, at 10:30 a.m.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served last Thursday to celebrate the February birthdays of Robert Hare, Mary Hare, Martha Burdock, Anna Sturtz, Harold Bittinger, and Viola Stephens.

A benefit dinner for the local Meals on Wheels program will be held at the center Friday, March 14, from 4 to 7 p.m. The cost of the meal is $6 for adults and $3 for children under the age of 12. The dinner will include cole slaw, meat loaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, mixed vegetables, roll, and a beverage.

"Soup on Tuesdays" continues at the center. The cost of the soup is $3 per quart, and there are two different soups to choose from each week. For choices and to order, persons may call 301-895-5818. The soup sales will benefit the home delivered meal program in the county.

AMERICA RED CROSS BLOOD MOBILE

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will be the Grantsville fire hall on Monday, March 10, from 12:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. Donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh no less than 105 pounds, and not have donated blood within the past 56 days. Residents of all the surrounding communities are urged to participate.

JAZZ-AEROBICS

A jazz-aerobics class (choreographed exercise to contemporary music) has started at the Grantsville Holiday Inn and is held every Monday and Thursday evening from 7 to 8 p.m. beginning Monday, March 10. The instructor for classes is Wanda Broadwater, RN. The classes are continuous at this time, and a donation of $1.50 is requested for each class. 4-H Club News

GRANTSVILLE

The regular monthly meeting of the Grantsville 4-H Club was held March 3. President Bridgette Welch called the meeting to order, with Amanda Beitzel and Austin Wilhelm leading the pledges. Roll call was answered by individuals' favorite NASCAR drivers. There were 31 members and guests present.

The club will be bowling for fun this year at Sherwood Lanes. The club is planning to donate $25 to the livestock association for fair awards.

Kelli Wilhelm gave a demonstration on wreath making, and Ashley Beitzel gave a demonstration on good record keeping for a secretary. Snacks were provided by Kris Knox.

The next meeting will be held April 7 at the Casselman Sportsman Club at 6:30 p.m., with guest speaker Richard McCrobie presenting a class for all showmen on the ethics for showing livestock. Also, there will be a beef workshop on March 22 at 1 p.m. at the Ott Farm.

NORTH GLADE 4-H
by Samatha Gibson

The North Glade 4-H Club's February meeting was held on Thursday, Feb. 27, at the Swanton Community Center. Two new members were welcomed: Kari and Kevin Bernard. Other members in attendance were Cody and Derek Gilpin, Lee and Todd Custer, Jessie Woods, Samantha Gibson, Mike McConnell, Rachal and Rebecca Winegardner, and Emily and Lindsey Lipscomb.

The program for the meeting was "Speeches." Each member gave a speech on a subject of their choice and were judged by Ellen Shillingburg and Dorothy Bernard.

In between the member's speeches Debbie Friend went over club plans for 2003. The members discussed special projects and programs, demonstrations, fund-raisers, and Achievement Night on April 15.

It was also decided that the members who volunteered in November to be officers for 2003 would be accepted. They are Lee Custer, president; Mike McConnell, vice president; Emily Lipscomb, secretary; Jessie Woods, treasurer; and Samantha Gibson, reporter.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Richard Bernard gave an update on the progress of repairs and remodeling on the 4-H building.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, March 20, at 7 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center. The program for this meeting will be "4-H Activity Boards," led by June McClosky. Refreshments will be provided by Samantha Gibson.

NMS Yearbook Staff Noted By Publishing Co.

The Northern Middle School yearbook staff has received an Award of Excellence from the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, recognizing its accomplishments in yearbook design and coverage. The advisors for the NMS yearbook staff are Nancy Frank and Darren Wilburn.

"The Award of Excellence is given each year to a small percentage of yearbook staffs nationwide that demonstrate excellence in yearbook creation," said Mike Taylor, marketing manager for Taylor Publishing. "We applaud these staffs for their outstanding work and support their efforts in scholastic journalism."

The NMS yearbook will appear in the 2003 edition of Taylor's Yearbook publication, which showcases the nation's best yearbooks in the areas of cover design, theme development, and section design.

Yearbooks published by Taylor between Oct. 2001 and Oct. 2002 were evaluated, and only the top five percent of yearbook staffs are recognized by Taylor for outstanding yearbook achievement.

Taylor Publishing is a major publisher of yearbooks nationwide, and provides training, technical support and printing services to elementary school, middle school, high school, and college yearbook staffs.

Single Mingle To Be Held In Grantsville

The Solo Christians group of St. John's United Church of Christ will meet for its monthly (second Friday) Single Mingle on March 14 at 7 p.m.

All single adults (never married, divorced, and widowed) are welcome to attend. There is no charge.

In April, the group will meet on the 14th. For more information persons may call 301-895-5256 or log on to www.SoloChristian.org.

NHS After-Prom Meeting Slated

An after-prom meeting will be held at the Northern High School cafeteria on Tuesday, March 11, at 6:30 p.m.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Lakers Stun Trojans To Win Region Title

"The biggest win in my career" is how an elated Dennis Gibson, coach of the Garrett College men's basketball team, described the outcome of a game played Sunday afternoon in Hagerstown, a game in which his Lakers stunned literally every basketball fan in the area by knocking off nationally ranked Allegany College, 55-52, in the championship game of the Region XX Tournament.

No one was more shocked, though, than Coach Bob Kirk and his AC Trojans, who were held — in four quarters, plus an overtime period — to an unbelievable 35 points below their average of over 87 per game. The Trojans, who came into the contest with a 27-2 record, were ranked eighth in the country's final NJCAA Division I poll.

The Lakers (21-7) now advance to the District III tournament, which will be hosted this weekend by Aiken Technical College in South Carolina. Two wins there would send them to the NJCAA National Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas.

It was another overtime period less than 24 hours earlier in which the Lakers earned a spot in Sunday's finals, as they nipped host Hagerstown, 88-87, Saturday evening.

Freshman Kevin Essex, who was ultimately named the tournament's Most Valuable Player, led the Lakers against Hagerstown by recording 27 points and 10 rebounds, while sophomore Rashaun Copeland hit the winning basket with just 1.4 seconds left in the overtime period, and finished with 21 points and 10 assists.

Lee Parris was right behind Essex in scoring with 26 points, and also pulled down a game-high 16 rebounds, while James Jones chipped in with 10 points.

The Lakers trailed the Hawks by four, 40-36, at halftime, and the score was knotted at 72-72 at the end of regulation. Both teams poured the points in during the overtime period, with a total of 31 scored, but the Lakers finished with a 16-15 edge, thanks to the last-second bucket by Copeland.

The Hawks, who finish the season with a 13-14 mark, were led in scoring by Thomas Johnson with 20 points. Kenley Reson and Andrew Brooks scored 15 apiece, while Nagee Johnson also reached double figures with 13.

The Lakers played reasonably well against Allegany in the only regular-season match-up between the two rivals, but were still handed a 77-63 defeat on December 7 in McHenry. However, few gave Coach Gibson and his squad much of a chance against the bigger, stronger Trojans, who were riding an eight-game win streak and had just won the Maryland JUCO Conference title with a 16-1 conference record.

The Trojans had also decimated Hagerstown in the regular season, 95-64.

But the Lakers' man-to-man defense totally frustrated the Trojans, holding the high-powered offense to a grand total of just 19 points in the entire first half.

"I doubt if Allegany has ever, ever been held to 19 points in the first half," Coach Gibson said.

The Trojans connected on just under 36% of their shots from the floor (22 of 62), made good on only four of 10 free throws, and committed an uncharacteristically high 20 turnovers.

The young Garrett squad was also patient on offense, hit crucial shots when needed, and finished with an edge in offensive rebounds, despite the discrepancy in average height. In overall rebounds, AC pulled down just one more than the Lakers did, 44-43.

The Trojans were up 15-12 at the 9:35 mark of the first half, but that's when the Lakers took over, defensively and offensively, going on a 13-0 run, holding AC scoreless for over seven minutes, and forcing 13 turnovers. That put the Lakers up by 10, 25-15, with 3:12 to play before intermission.

A three-pointer by Jeremy Snyder with 2:15 left finally ended Allegany's scoring drought, but a tip-in at the buzzer by Laker James Jones gave Garrett a 27-19 halftime advantage.

The Trojans finally regained the lead, 37-36, on a lay-up by Dwayne Shackleford with 6:25 left in regulation. A tip-in by Herbert Jones put AC up by five, 41-36, with 4:40 left, and after a three-pointer by Laker Antuon Townsend, Shackleford hit back-to-back baskets to give the Trojans their largest lead of the day, 45-39, with 3:25 remaining.

But the Lakers did not quit, and responded with an 8-0 run, as Copeland scored on a lay-up and a big three-pointer, and Essex followed with another long-range bucket to give Garrett a 47-45 edge with 59.1 seconds left in regulation.

Sterling Ledbetter knotted the score at 47-47 with a lay-up with 38 seconds left, and the Lakers missed winning the contest outright when a shot by Townsend with just 2.7 seconds remaining fell short, sending the game into the extra period.

Townsend scored the first points of the overtime period, on a driving lay-up, to give the Lakers a 49-47 lead, but a short jumper by AC's Mike Castro tied it again.

Then James Jones scored on a tip-in for Garrett, and Essex followed with a successful jumper from the side to give the Lakers a 53-49 advantage with 1:50 to play.

Halftime Score: Garrett 27-19.

End of Regulation: 47-47.

Three-point goals - Garrett 6-26 (Essex 2-3, Townsend 2-6, Copeland 1-8, A. Jones 1-4, Watson 1-2, J. Jones 0-3, Largent 0-1, Paris 0-1), Allegany 4-24 (Snyder 2-8, Shackleford 2-7, Wiggins 0-7, Ledbetter 0-1, Mickens 0-1). Total fouls - Garrett 9, Allegany 12. Fouled out - none. Rebounds - Garrett 42 (Parris 13), Allegany 44 (Jones 11). Assists - Garrett 8, Allegany 7. Steals - Garrett 9 (Copeland 4), Allegany 5 (Shackleford 3). Turnovers - Allegany 20, Garrett 13.

Shackleford buried a three-pointer 20 seconds later to cut Garrett's lead to one, 53-52, with 1:30 remaining.

On the Lakers' ensuing possession, Shawn Wiggins recorded a steal for the Trojans, but GC's Lee Paris took the ball right back and hit a crucial jumper with just 12.6 seconds remaining. AC's Kevin Mickens went for a three-pointer at the buzzer to try to send the game into a second overtime period, but the shot was short and the game was history.

MVP Kevin Essex again led the Lakers in scoring with 16 points, while Parris recorded a double-double with 13 points and 13 rebounds. Copeland contributed nine points and four steals, and Townsend finished with eight points.

The only Trojan who finished in double figures for scoring was Shackleford, a back-up guard, who netted 13 points. Jones chipped in with eight points and had a team-high 11 rebounds. Castro finished with nine points.

The Trojans' top guns, Shawn Wiggins and 6-9 center Mickens, were held to just four and five points, respectively. Wiggins came in averaging just under 17 points per game.

"This was a very tough loss for our players and fans," stated AC coach Kirk. "Garrett held the ball, made some good defensive plays, and hit their shots."

If this was the greatest win in Gibson's career at GC, or for the college program itself, perhaps the biggest loss was in 2000 when the Lakers last faced the heavily favored Trojans in the Region XX title game in Cumberland. What would have been a game-winning shot at the buzzer by the Lakers bounced off the rim, and Garrett was edged, 68-67.

"Our players were brought to tears both times," Gibson said, "when we lost by one three years ago and when we won by three this time. It was just so incredibly gratifying to win this one."

Gibson compared the Lakers' accomplishment to the achievements of Garrett County people in general.

"I believe this team epitomizes that tough, never-say-die work ethic that exists in Garrett County," he said, "the attitude that, with hard work, dedication, and persistence, one can overcome great odds.

"We think of ourselves as sort of a blue-collar team," he said. "We don't have a lot of size and we don't have a lot of depth to be able to play against a team like Allegany. But our guys played with such confidence and such heart.

"Putting together two overtime wins like this, back-to-back in less than 24 hours, is difficult under the best of circumstances. But when you realize that Allegany, a very physical team, is man-for-man about 40 pounds heavier than we are, it makes our accomplishment even more incredible."

Specifically, Gibson said that the Lakers' man-to-man

Lakers Nipped By PSC In Finalé; Region XX Ahead

The Garrett College women's basketball team dropped a close one in its regular season closer last Thursday, Feb. 27, as the Lakers battled the host Potomac State Catamounts to the wire before dropping a four-point contest, 80-76.

Garrett started off slow and was down 39-35 at the half. The Lakers came out on fire in the second stanza, however, and grabbed the lead 44-35, with a nine-point run. PSC whittled away at the advantage, and finally knotted the score at 72-all with 2½ minutes remaining. An ensuing pair of Catamount buckets gave the hosts the lead, 76-72.

A clutch Laker basket by forward Charlena Reeves pulled GC to within a field goal, 76-74, as the clock wound down. Forced to foul, Garrett sent the hosts' Erika Alt to the charity stripe to bag the last two of her game-high 22 points. Laker guard LaSha Anderson scored off a steal to cut the gap to 78-76 with just seconds remaining before another strategy foul put PSC's Hyshea Ogbonna on the line for two more successful Catamount free throws that iced the game for Potomac State.

GC freshman guard LaTonya Crowder led the Lakers with 20 points, a tally that included a trio of three-pointers, while Reeves contributed 14 points and Anderson 13. Freshman post player Tiffany McFarland netted 12 points and hauled down a game-high 15 boards as Garrett out-rebounded PSC, 46-44, the first time an opponent outdid the Catamounts in that department all year. The Lakers also committed more fouls than PSC, 20-14, and gave the hosts 30 opportunities and 20 points from the foul line as compared to just six GC connections in 10 free-throw attempts. The Catamounts' Alt led all scorers with 22 points, Crystal Dixon had 15 points, and Ogbonna and Teya Minor each tallied 15 points.

Garrett is next slated to take part in the Region XX Tournament, which runs from tomorrow through Sunday, March 7-9, at Frederick Community College. The fifth-seeded Lakers will open tomorrow at 1 p.m. against fourth-seed Catonsville, the year's third meeting of the two squads.

"It's going to be one heck of a game," GC coach Steve Willison predicted. "We lost our first game with them in overtime, then beat them by 20 points in the JUCO Tournament when LaSha scored 41 points. We'll have to make some adjustments for the Cougars, because we've lost guard LaTonya Crowder for entire region tourney due to an ankle injury, and we'll miss her speed in the backcourt." Willison added that the Lakers' 1-2-2 zone defense will be tested by two of the Cougars top players, guards Rebecca Workman and Jessica Sweeney.

"A win tomorrow could really get us rolling," the Lakers' skipper said. "It's a tough tournament field, but we think we belong there, and are ready to prove it."

LAKERS ARE REGION XX CHAMPS – By virture of probably the biggest victory in the history of Garrett College basketball, the Lakers and their coach Dennis Gibson captured the Region XX championship on Sunday by upsetting nationally ranked Allegany College, 55-52, in Hagerstown. The huge overtime win was the second in 24 hours for the Lakers, who nipped host Hagerstown Saturday evening, 88-87, to gain the right to face the 27-2 Trojans for the title. The win propels the Lakers into the District III Tournament, which will be played this Friday and Saturday in South Carolina. A pair of victories there would send Garrett to the national tournament in Kansas. Rams Advance To Region Final Vs. South Hagerstown

Two more steps toward that elusive, first state championship were taken this week by the Southern High School boys' varsity squad and Coach Tom Bosley, as the Rams topped host Westmar, 50-36, in a 1A West Region quarterfinal on Monday, and then stopped Smithsburg, 57-45, last night in a semifinal contest played at Fort Hill.

The victories send the Rams into the West Region championship game this Friday against South Hagerstown, which defeated Allegany in last night's other semifinal, 71-57.

Seniors Dennis Tressler and Matt Stephens paced the Rams to their victory over Westmar, a team that had upset Southern by a point on the same floor earlier this season.

Tressler finished with 21 points, going 9-for-11 at the foul line, while Stephens netted 16 points.

It was at the foul line, particularly in the second half that the Rams won the game, as they made good on 20 of 24 attempts, all but two of which were taken in the second half. The Wildcats finished with a 16-15 edge in field goals.

The contest was even in the first quarter, which ended in a 10-10 deadlock, and Westmar won the second stanza and took a 21-18 advantage into the locker room at halftime.

Westmar maintained the lead and the momentum for the first few moments of the third period, and stretched their lead to five points, 30-25, but from that point on the game belonged to the Rams.

Several turnovers by the Wildcats were turned into points by the Rams, who went on a 10-0 run and ultimately out-scored the home team in the third quarter by a 17-9 margin to take a 35-30 advantage into the fourth period.

The Rams scored 25 of the final 31 points of the ball game to win going away.

Reaching double figures with 10 points each for Westmar were Bobby Alkire, Kevin Smith, and Jason Lee.

The Wildcats concluded their season with a 12-9 record.

It was Tressler, Stephens, and fellow senior Nathan Fitzwater who led the Rams in scoring last night against the Leopards of Smithsburg.

Tressler scored 14 of his game-high total of 22 points and pulled down six of his game-high nine rebounds in the first half to give the Rams an early lead that they would never relinquish. His first five points helped Southern jump out to a 9-0 advantage in the first few minutes of the contest.

Fitzwater and Stephens also reached double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively, and Stephens also grabbed six rebounds. Corey Tressler, who started at guard for an injured Cory Bosley, added seven points, and A.J. Bender contributed six points and a game-high five assists.

After the 9-0 run by Southern, the Leopards settled down and scored the next seven points, but the Rams recorded the final three points of the quarter and held a 12-7 advantage.

Southern was up by 11, 27-16, at halftime.

The Leopards out-scored the Rams in the third stanza to cut the lead to 40-33, as Ryan Marquiss scored seven points and Corey Brown had four in the period. But the closest Smithsburg would get in the final eight minutes was five points (44-39) with about five minutes to play.

Led by Fitzwater, who scored seven of his 12 points in the fourth quarter, the Rams ended the game with a 13-6 run. Corey Tressler had five points in that final run.

Brown was the only Leopard who reached double figures, as he finished with 13. Marquiss and Zack Fay recorded nine and eight, respectively. Fay pulled down six rebounds, and Marquiss grabbed five.

The Leopards finished with a record of 14-9.

"Both teams played with a lot of intensity, and their defense made it tough for us to penetrate," Coach Bosley said. "But A.J. Bender did a great job in resolving that problem.

"Our kids played very hard in both of our games this week," he said. "Obviously, we are going to have to keep playing hard if we are to continue to be successful, because it's only going to get tougher."

A state title is just three games away, but the first of those three tomorrow evening is going to be a major test for the Rams. Led by David Miner, the third-seeded Rebels dismantled second-seeded Allegany last night. Miner finished with 30 points, a dozen rebounds, and five assists. He is averaging 23 points per game, and did not play in a regular-season game against Allegany, which the Rebels won in overtime, 87-83.

Other standouts for South are center Jesse Gutekunst, who scored 17 and pulled seven rebounds against the Campers, and Brent Shaffer, who came off the bench and netted 12.

The tip-off for Friday's game at Fort Hill in Cumberland will be at 6 p.m. The winner will advance to the state tournament semifinals at College Park the following weekend.

Husky Boys Drop Playoff Opener To Williamsport

The Northern High School boys' basketball team took an early exit from the Maryland 1A West Region Tournament Saturday with an 89-43 loss at Williamsport. (No box score was available.) The tenth-seed Huskies finish their season with an overall 8-14 record.

"It was a very physical contest," NHS head coach Paul Edwards said afterward. "They were a lot more physical than we've been used to seeing, and there were a lot of fouls called against us, more than I would have expected." NHS was whistled for 26 fouls to the host Wildcats' 16.

Williamsport rolled up an early lead by taking an 18-5 advantage on its way to a 35-21 halftime lead. After three quarters of play, the Huskies were down by a 63-31 score.

Senior forward Aaron Mitchell scored nine points to lead Northern before fouling out, while junior center Andrew Frantz netted eight points. Junior guard Jason Rice netted six points. Mitchell yanked down seven rebounds and senior guard Matt Younkin handed out a pair of assists.

"Our whole season was a series of ups and downs," Edwards said in wrapping up the Northern campaign. "We beat a very good Fort Hill team and a very good Union team, and beat an excellent Beall team in the Christmas tournament. We should have beaten Fort Hill twice, because we lost that second game with the Sentinels on a last-second three-pointer.

"We were in every game this year except the season opener and the playoff game," the Huskies' skipper continued. "Our guys came to believe in themselves, and that's what you want to see as a coach. I'm really proud of all of them, especially departing seniors Aaron, Matt, and Derrell Smith. We'll miss those guys, but we have a lot of very good talent in our varsity underclass and even more talent coming up from our junior varsity squad." The NHS jayvees broke a team record this season by winning 14 games.

Men's Softball League To Meet

The Garrett County Christian Men's Softball League will hold a meeting next Tuesday, March 17, at Glade Mennonite Church, beginning at 7 p.m. It is requested by league officials that representatives from all teams bew in attendance. New teams are also welcome to join.

Persons desiring more information may telephone league president Dan Jeffreys at 301-334-3012.

Lakers Raising Funds Selling Champ T-Shirts

Upon capturing the 2003 Region XX championship this past weekend, the members of the Garrett College men's basketball team are now selling championship T-shirts as a fund-raiser for the team.

"They are really nice looking shirts, and they happen to be in our colors," stated GC coach Dennis Gibson. "We have had several people comment this week that they would like to have one, so we decided it would make a good fund-raiser for our program."

Persons may obtain a shirt and have personal mention placed in the Lakers' 2002-03 season yearbook for $20. A business may acquire two shirts and a have a name placed in the book for $30.

Those interested are invited to telephone 301-387-3000 to place an order and/or obtain more information.

GCSO, SHS FFA To Face Off In Donkey Basketball

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Southern High FFA will face off at the Buckeye Donkey Basketball Show, also known as the "craziest show on earth," on Saturday, March 29, 7 p.m., at Southern High School.

Game time is approximately 40 minutes plus an intermission, with proceeds of the event benefiting the FFA.

Advance adult and high school student ticket sales are $5, and $7 at the door. Advance grade school and senior citizen tickets are $5, and $7 at the door. Children under the age of 6 are admitted free of charge.

No video cameras are permitted.

According to Steve Kisner, SHS FFA instructor, this competition hasn't been played in about three years, but was an annual event approximately 10 years ago.

Kisner added that it is very entertaining to watch the five-member teams compete.

Lakers

defense was a major key to victory. "They had a poor shooting day, but our defense was one of the main reasons for that," he said.

As for individual effort, Gibson said that Kevin Essex, Lee Paris, and Rashaun Copeland really "stepped up" to lead the Lakers in both victories.

"But all nine of our guys have to play a significant role for us to be successful at this level, and all nine of them did just that," he said.

Copeland was also named to the All-Tournament team, along with MVP Essex.

The Lakers will move on to the District III Tournament and face Louisburg (N.C.) College at 6 p.m. Friday. The game will be played at Aiken Technical College in North Carolina.

District III includes the regional winners from Maryland, New York, and North and South Carolina, plus the Region X runner-up, which is Louisburg. The other game on Friday will pit Aiken, the Region X champion, against Monroe (N.Y.) College, the winner of Region III, with that tip-off set for 8 p.m. The district championship game will be played on Saturday between Friday's winners.

LOUISBURG

While the Lakers did not play Louisburg in the regular season, they did have three common opponents – Allegany, Howard, and Catonsville.

The Lakers defeated all three teams, while Louisburg (12-17) lost to Howard and Allegany (86-69), lost to Prince George's, and defeated Catonsville.

"They are bigger than we are, but our playing styles are similar," Coach Gibson said. "They play a 1-2-1 defense and a lot of half-court man-to-man, and they are not really much of an up-tempo team."

The Hurricanes are led by Charleston Long, a 6-6 sophomore who is averaging 18.5 points and nine rebounds per contest, and 6-4 sophomore Chad Kinch, who is averaging 16 points per outing.

"Aiken defeated Louisburg, 73-72, to win Region III," Gibson said. "The best team there, though, is Monroe. They are very good."

Monroe, ranked 17th in the final national poll, soundly defeated common opponent Harford in the regular season.

The Hurricanes are coached by 37-year veteran Enid Drake, a member of the NJCAA Hall of Fame, whose teams have won three regional titles and four runner-up trophies.

The Lakers won the Division II Region XX title in 1994 and played in the national tournament in Danville, Ill.

Kevin Essex is pacing the Lakers in scoring with 17.3 ppg, while Rashuan Copeland is netting 14.3 per game. Lee Parris is scoring 10.3 and Antuon Townsend is hitting just over 10 points per game. Alvin Jones is chipping in with an average of 9.6.

"We will continue to use the toughest man-to-man defense we can, because that is basically what has gotten us this far," Gibson said.

The Northern High School girls' basketball team had a short but exciting run in the 1A West Region Tournament this week, as the Huskies opened with a thrilling 45-43 overtime win over visiting Hancock Saturday before being narrowly defeated Tuesday by a powerful Williamsport squad, 44-38.

Saturday's homecourt playoff contest was a nip-and-tuck battle from the opening tip-off. Hancock was up at the end of a bruising first quarter, 9-8, and took a narrow 17-15 lead into the halftime locker room. After three quarters of play, the visiting Panthers held a 26-23 lead.

After three stanzas of stalking their prey, the patient Huskies cornered the Panthers in the fourth quarter with a 14-11 run. Regulation time ran out with the score knotted at 37-all. NHS's momentum continued into the overtime period, and the Huskies walked off with their 45-43 win to the joy of the packed Igloo.

NHS senior forward Amanda Frantz lit up the home scoreboard in her last appearance by hitting for a game-high 23 points, while sophomore guard Megan Shaffer contributed an even dozen, including a three-pointer. Amber Moates led Hancock with eight points.

The win sent Northern into the quarterfinal in an unenviable situation of visiting third-seeded Williamsport. The Huskies were undaunted by their powerful opponents, however, and put up a strong and valiant fight.

NHS ended the first quarter in control with a 15-11 lead, but the Wildcats clawed their way back to tie the score at 19-19 at the half. Still refusing to cower, the Huskies reclaimed the lead by the end of the third stanza, 31-29; however, a 15-7 Williamsport run over the final eight minutes sealed Northern's fate and season.

Frantz led the upstart Huskies' effort with 17 points, and sophomore guard Jeseca Gibson contributed nine. Williamsport's Lindsay Plotner led all scorers with 15 points.

"We had a lot of positive things happen at the beginning of the season," NHS head coach Alisa Miller said as she analyzed the Huskies' campaign. "We started out with six wins and three losses, but then things went downhill. By the middle of the season our roster had dropped from a total of 28 players in the program to 16, crippling our depth and wearing us down over the long run."

Next year's Northern squad is bound to miss Frantz, Heather Lander, and Molly Wolf, each of whom graduate this spring, but Lyndsi Butler will be bringing her invaluable varsity experience back as a senior. The Huskies will also be drawing on some fine rising juniors who have shown a great deal of promise this season, including Jeseca Gibson, Megan Shaffer, Tiffany Yoder, and Lakin Weimer.

SHS Girls Down FH, Crush 'Cats; Alco Playoff Tonight

The top-seeded Southern High School girls' varsity basketball squad advanced into the Class 1A West Region semifinals this week, and are poised to play fourth-seed Allegany tonight at 7 p.m. at Fort Hill. The Rams rolled into the regional tourney after stomping Fort Hill 68-55 in the season closer Thursday in Cumberland before a crushing 70-49 victory over host Westmar in the Rams' first playoff appearance Tuesday.

Southern needs all the momentum it can muster, because the Rams' regular-season success (16-4 record) earned them the No. 1 seed position in the playoffs, and the Maryland Public Secondary Schools Athletic Association (MPSSAA) has counted the first-round bye earned by SHS as a home game; therefore, all of the Rams' post-season dates will take place away from Oakland. "It's not exactly fair, but it's something we have to deal with," Ram coach Don Stemple commented yesterday. "It sure would be nice to have a playoff game in front of our dedicated fans, but we'll just do what we have to do. We know a lot of folks will be traveling on the road with us as far as we can take them."

Thursday's Fort Hill game was a battle for undisputed bragging rights to the WMIL, as the Sentinels brought an 8-1 record into the contest, with that one loss coming by 23 points at the hands of the Rams, who came in 9-0. Southern walked off with its third straight league crown in the 13-point win and its 33rd straight WMIL victory.

SHS wasted no time in implementing its game plan, and ran up a healthy 12-6 lead in the early going after forward Becca Flanagan hit a pair of lay-ups and guard Robbin Gregg drained a pair of free throws. The stunned Sentinels regrouped to cut the gap to 13-10 by the end of the opening stanza.

Gregg sank a pair of three-pointers and sophomore guard Justine Pagenhardt recorded a clutch three-point play during a hotly contested second quarter that ended with the Rams up 37-27.

Southern came out primed after the halftime intermission, and scored seven straight points on its way to taking a 44-29 lead midway through the third quarter, which ended with the Rams up by 10, 53-43. SHS refused to allow the Sentinels within less than eight points throughout the final stanza. The loss left Fort Hill with a 15-5 overall mark.

Flanagan paced the Rams with 24 points, 15 of which came after the half, snagged 14 rebounds to lead Southern to a 34-28 advantage under the boards, and recorded seven steals. Gregg hit a pair of three-pointers on her way to 21 points and five assists, and Pagenhardt contributed 11 points. FH junior guard Tamisa Page led all scorers with 26 points.

Southern used its defense to force 26 turnovers as both teams struggled with their ballhandling. "We were a little sluggish at the beginning, but I thought we rebounded well, and starting halfway through the second period our shot selection was pretty good," Coach Stemple commented after the game. "A big key was that Becky Vance (who had committed three fouls in the first quarter before fouling out in the third quarter with only four points total) was never able to get into any rhythm for them and she is a very good player. I also think our fastbreaks really hurt them.

"It was also very important to get Robbin back into the flow of things. She had missed a couple of games, and we wanted her to get some time in before the playoffs. It was a good, competitive game that got everyone ready for the post-season road games that lie ahead."

After sitting out Saturday's first round of playoff competition, the Rams opened Tuesday against a ninth-seeded Westmar squad that had beaten eighth-seed Clear Spring in its tourney opener, 60-24.

Southern jumped out to a commanding 22-9 first-quarter lead and never looked back on its way to a 35-19 halftime advantage and a 55-32 lead as the final stanza got under way.

Flanagan took team-high honors for the third straight contest with 20 points, a tally that led all scorers. Gregg added 12 points, forward Melissa Flanagan, the Rams' lone senior, tallied eight points, and Pagenhardt hit for six points and dished out six assists. Scrappy 5-5 guard Casey Taylor battled her way to a Ram-high seven rebounds. Brooke Raines had 11 points to lead the Wildcat hosts, who closed their season with a 7-14 overall record. Teammate Marcie Sloan added 10 points.

"We got our first points up in a hurry, and that's exactly what we like to do," Stemple remarked yesterday. "Another good thing about this win was that we got all the girls on the floor. That gave everyone a

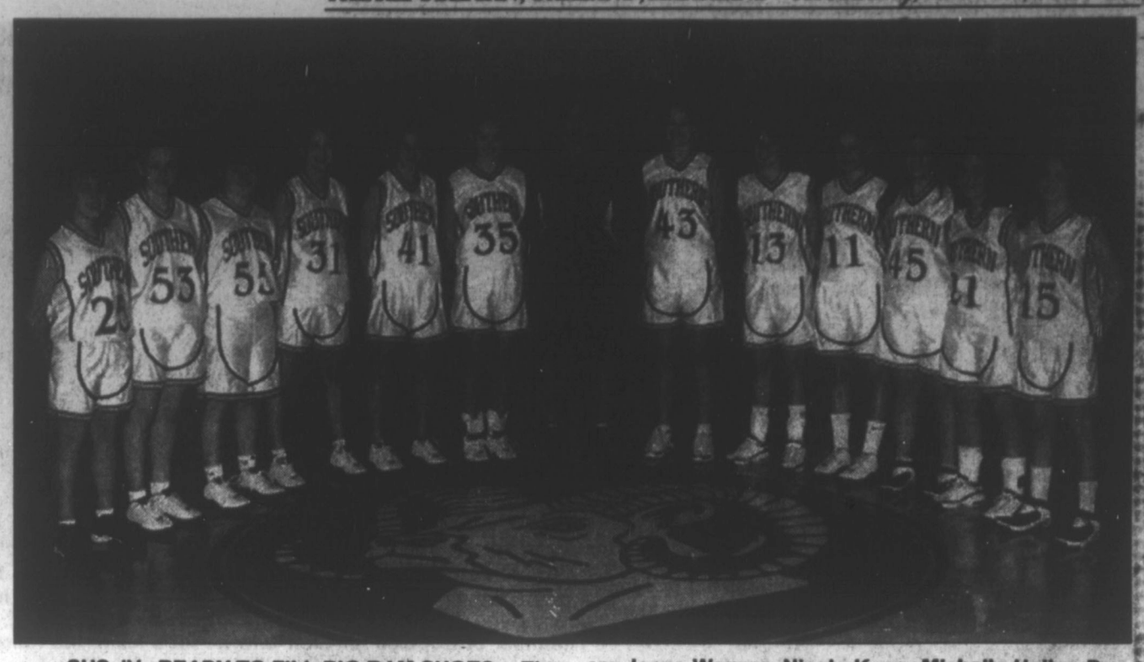
STUDENTS TO BENEFIT – Representing the many Southern students who will benefit from a $330 donation from the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families are cheerleader Jennifer Biser; pep band member Holly Reese; 6th Man Club member Travis Friend; and student body senior representative Stephanie Niner. This donation paid for transportation for two nights of basketball playoff games, which the students were encouraged to attend as part of Garrett's Promise Goal to support safe, structured activities with adults who care.



SHS JVs READY TO FILL BIG RAM SHOES – The foundation for any outstanding sports program is laid at the younger levels, and the perennial state powerhouse Southern High School girls' basketball program is no exception. The five sophomores and seven freshmen on this year's SHS girls' junior varsity squad netted an 18-0 record for 2002-03, marking the team's first undefeated season and a step up from the 17-2 JV unit of two years ago. Pictured from the left are Jenna Wagner, Nicole Knox, Michelle Holler, Danielle Hickman, Sara Cosner, Kendra McLaughlin, head coach Jeremy Skiles, Caitlyn Brown, Kayla Nazelrod, Cassie Skipper, Ashley Stuck, Julia Bosley, and Krista Brown. Coach Skiles, a 1995 Southern graduate who cut his basketball teeth as a player in the Rams' boys' program, is assisted by fellow coaches Mark Hickman and Oliver Jones (neither available for photo).

Spring Soccer Tryouts Set For Arsenal League

The Arsenal Football League has scheduled its spring youth soccer tryouts for Tuesday, March 11, at the Oakland Armory. Boys and girls born on or after Aug. 1, 1988, are eligible to try out for the Under 14 teams; those born on or after Aug. 1, 1990, may try out for the Under 12 boys' or girls' teams. The cost to play for the season is $35.

The tryout times are slated as follows: U12 girls - 6:30 to 7 p.m.; U12 boys - 7:30 to 8 p.m.; U14 girls - 7 to 7:30 p.m.; and U14 boys - 8 to 8:30 p.m.

Players are to arrive at least 15 minutes prior to their tryout time to register. Those who did not participate in winter Arsenal play must bring a copy of their birth certificate along with their Social Security number, and two small candid photos. Shin guards and tennis shoes must be worn during the tryout sessions.

The make-up date for tryouts is set for Thursday, March 13, at the Oakland Armory, according to the same time schedule.

For further information, persons may call Bobbie Rhodes at 301-387-2931.

Fishing Contest Winners Named

The winners of the Garrett County Ice Fishing Contest, sponsored by Deep Creek Outfitters and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, for the week ending March 2 are:

Chain pickerel, 2 lbs. 8 ozs., 21-3/4 in., caught by John Greene, Ashburn, Va.

Yellow perch, 1 lb. 13 ozs., 14-1/4 in., caught by Jason Hardesty, Oakland.

Weekly winners are awarded a certificate, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. Anglers are invited to enter their catch at Deep Creek Outfitters, 1899 Deep Creek Drive, McHenry. The ice fishing contest will run from January 12 until the lakes of Garrett County are no longer frozen.

ONE HAPPY YOUNGSTER this past week was 12-year-old John Greene of Ashburn, Va., who caught the largest chain pickerel at Deep Creek Lake for the week ending March 2. The critter weighed 2 pounds, 8 ounces, and was almost 22 inches long. He is pictured with his dad Dave, who said, "It was John's second ice-fishing trip to Deep Creek Lake. The excitement of his catching the fish and the wonderful treatment by the folks at Deep Creek Outfitters made this a very special day for John."

Garrett County Swim Team To Begin Season 21

The Garrett County Swim Team, also known as the Manta Rays, is set to begin its 21st competitive swimming season, according to Nan Gangler, head coach.

The team consists of approximately 60 members, ranging in age from 5 to 18. The swimmers compete in the YMCA Summer League at the Riverside YMCA in Cumberland. There are six other teams who also compete in this league: Cumberland, Bel Air, Romney, Keyser, LaVale, and Hardy County. Several of these groups swim and compete year around, Gangler said.

"Each year the Manta Rays have one of the largest teams," said Gangler.

The season consists of one-hour practice sessions at the Alpine Lake Resort pool in Terra Alta, W.Va., on Saturday mornings until school is dismissed for the summer. The practice schedule then changes to 90-minute sessions on Tuesday and Thursday mornings throughout the remainder of the season.

Competitions begin in late June and consist of four preliminary meets in Cumberland and the championship meet in late July. Each of the four preliminary meets will focus on one of the four basic swimming strokes: freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly. The championship meet will consist of all the strokes. Individual champions will be crowned in separate age and gender groups.

The Garrett County Swim Team is not designed for those who do not know how to swim, Gangler noted, but is for the swimmers who want to refine their existing skills, learn new techniques, and to compete "in an enjoyable atmosphere," she said.

Practice sessions emphasize stretching, conditioning, good sportsmanship, a team concept, and the use of proper swimming techniques.

Try-outs and an organizational meeting will be held for the swim team on Saturday, March 22, at 10 a.m. at the Alpine Lake Resort. Swimmers wishing to join the Manta Rays need to attend.

For more information on the Garrett County Swim Team, including requirements, the tentative schedule, and the approximate costs, persons should call Gangler at 301-334-3467.

Garrett County's Special Olympians Win Many Medals

Garrett County was represented recently by 11 local athletes during the 2003 Maryland Special Olympics Winter Games. The event was held at the Wisp Ski Resort, McHenry, Feb. 23 through 25.

Among the Alpine skiers were James Winebrenner, Cameron Barone, Randall Guthrie, Carrie Fike, Robert Broadwater, Chad Stalman, and Krista Beiler. The cross-country skiers were Keith Platter, Wayne Golliday, Roger Uber, and Charlene Beiler.

This group of athletes received a total of 11 gold medals, six silver, three bronze, one fourth place, and one fifth place.

The Alpine skiers were coached by Jamie Stanton and Audrey Friend, and Sharon Platter coached the cross-country athletes.

Volunteers for the event were Karen Broadwater, Greg Becker, Wendy Golliday, Ryan and Micah Beiler, Rachelle Barone, Karin Miller, Sandy Vincent, Tom Dabney, and Greg Beckman. Adventure sports volunteers were Billy Sody, Chris Wilson, and Marcelo Grisi.

Persons interested in volunteering and/or wanting for more information about Special Olympics may call area director Charla Beiler at 301-245-4388.

SHS Girls

chance to play, but also gave everyone a chance to get rested up for the game against Allegany."

So far the playoffs have gone according to script, as the four teams remaining are the four top-seeded squads. Smithsburg (#2) will play Williamsport (#3) in the other regional semifinal tonight, while the Rams take on a Camper squad that brings a fourth-seed ranking and a 12-9 overall record into their battle.

"Allegany's Scott Bauer is a very good coach, and he'll have his girls ready," Stemple predicted. "He's not afraid to try new things, and even though he tried some things in our first two meetings that didn't work, we expect him to have something new up his sleeve tonight."

Allegany's point guard, junior Erin Wilson, is "every bit as quick as Robbin Gregg," according to Stemple. "We have to keep Robbin out of foul trouble, but she'll have to be aggressive at the same time, as she defends against Wilson. It will be a good test for both of them." Becca Flanagan will battle Casey Wilson for command of the boards, "Casey Hustle" Taylor will play her harassing defense against Erika Ernest, Justine Pagenhardt will be working to hold Bethany Sindy to single-digits in the scoring column, and Sabrina Scheffel will square off against Shannae Proud.

"Allegany runs a three-guard offense with a very deliberate and disciplined half court game," the SHS skipper stated. "Their three guards are very good ball-handlers. They don't run a lot of fast breaks, and I don't think they'll want to get into a running contest with us.

"We'll play our normal man-to-man defense, and may go to a full-court press early on if we can get a quick lead; that will force the Camper guards to make some risky passes, we hope, because they'll have to make their first pass as quickly as possible in order to break that initial double-team deep in our half of the court.

"We'll try to keep doing what we've been doing on offense," Stemple said of his Rams, who have won seven of their last eight outings. "With the deep talent we have, we've designed our offense to purposely give everyone a chance to score. When Robbin got hurt, Becca and Justine really stepped it up, and Sabrina, Casey, and Jasmine Scheffel, along with everyone else, have really come into the mix. It's a matter of being comfortable and having confidence – but not be overconfident."

Tonight's 7 p.m. playoff battle will be broadcast live on 92.3 FM The Train, with pre-game coverage beginning approximately 20 minutes prior to tip-off. If the Rams win, they will advance to play either Smithsburg or Williamsport in the region final, slated for this Saturday evening, March 8, at a time and location to be announced. The Maryland State Tournament will open with semifinal play on Friday, March 13.

Rams Fourth, Huskies Fifth In Regional Wrestling Meet

For the first time this season, and for the first time in a number of seasons, the Southern High School wrestling team edged out the Northern High Huskies in a wrestling competition, as the Rams finished with 106 points and the Huskies wound up with 105 in the annual 1A/2A West Region tournament, hosted by Francis Scott Key High School on Saturday.

The Southern grapplers earned one first place trophy, four third places, and one fourth place, while the Huskies amassed two first places, one second, and three fourth.

The top four wrestlers in each weight division qualify for this weekend's Maryland State 1A/2A Wrestling Tournament, which will be held at McDaniel College in Westminster.

There were 18 schools represented in the regional tourney, with Walkersville finishing first as a team with 174.5 points. Beall was second with 166.5 points.

Earning the only individual title for Southern was Geoff Tressler, who recorded a convincing 13-3 decision over Austin Williams of Fort Hill in the finals of the 171-pound division.

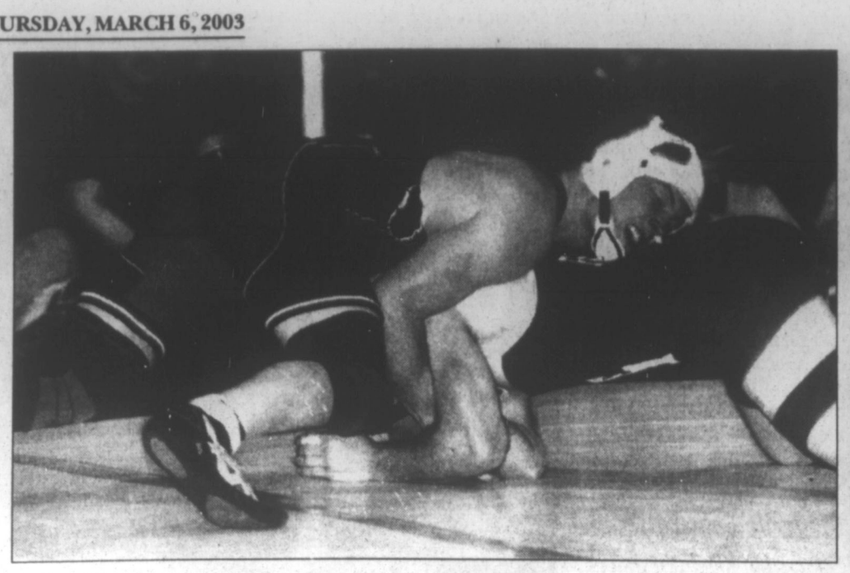
Northern High champions were Casey Kamp and defending champion Darric Kamp. Casey Kamp won the 103-pound division with an 8-6 overtime decision over Brent Walker of Beall, while Darric Kamp successfully defended his title in the 152-pound division by pinning Gage Rindt of Francis Scott Key in 5:12.

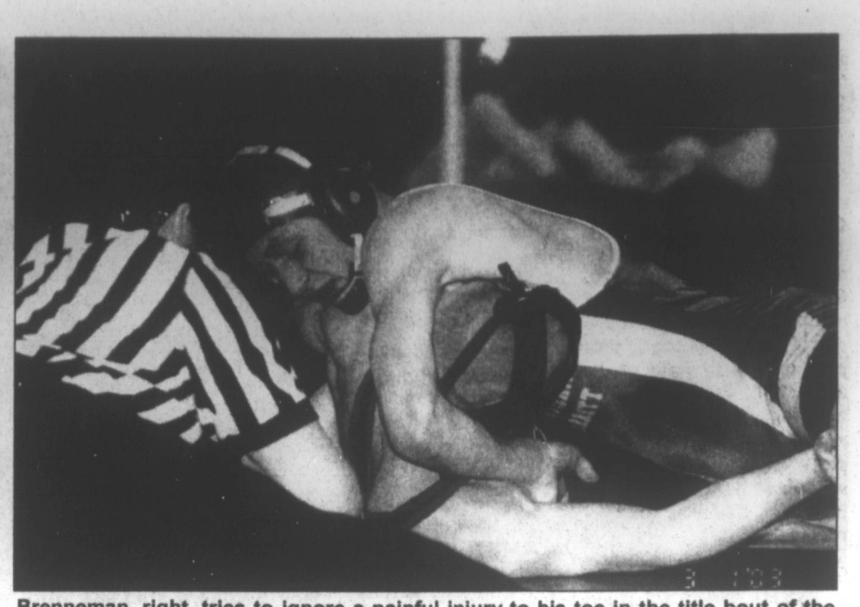
Winning a second place for the Huskies was Jordan Brenneman, who lost an 8-6 overtime decision to Brad Nielson of Walkersville in the 160-pound division final. Brenneman sustained an injured toe early in the match, but did not pull himself out of the competition.

Acquiring consolation victories for third places for the Rams were Matt Ford (112 pounds), Jason Weeks (152), and Chris Bennett (189).

Ford coasted to a 17-4 decision over Chris Taber of Century High School in his final; Hayhurst gained a 2-1 decision over Northern's Matt Wolf; Weeks decisioned Emens Rho of South Hagerstown, 4-2 in overtime; and Bennett eked out a 10-9 decision over Billy Burke of Walkersville.

Adding points to their teams' totals were Southern's Scott Wildesen (140), and Northern's Mitchell Guard (130), Dan Ganoe (135), and Mike Wolf (145), who all placed fourth.





RAMS, HUSKIES FARE WELL AT REGIONALS – Members of the Southern and Northern high school wrestling teams competed in the 1A/2A West Region Wrestling Tournament at Francis Scott Key High School, and returned home with a number of trophies for their efforts. As a team, the Rams placed fourth among 18 schools represented, and the Huskies were just one point behind in fifth place. In the photo above left, Southern's Geoff Tressler is pictured in control of Austin Williams of Fort Hill en route to a 13-3 decision to win the 171-pound division title. Above right, Northern's Darric Kamp, a returning champion, proceeds to pin Gage Rindt of Francis Scott Key to capture the 152-pound division championship. Below right, Husky Casey Kamp, front, battles with Brent Walker of Beall and ultimately wins an 8-6 overtime decision in the 103-pound final. Below left, Northern's Jordan Brenneman, right, tries to ignore a painful injury to his toe in the title bout of the 160-pound division against Brad Nielson of Walkersville. Nielson recorded an 8-6 overtime decision, and Brenneman was awarded the runner-up trophy. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.

driving, fleeing from an official police vehicle by failing to stop, and failing to notify administration of address change.

In other police news, deputies responded to the Garrett County Jail in reference to a subject who had been involved in a motor vehicle accident.

Investigation revealed that Ray Shillingburg, Oakland, was involved in the accident on Bradford Road. He was arrested after deputies detected the odor of alcohol. He was charged with driving while impaired (DWI), driving under the influence (DUI), and DWI per se.

Shillingburg was released from the jail on his personal recognizance.

What to Do About Fatigue & Drowsiness

There are many reasons why people get drowsy and sometimes suffer from bouts of fatigue. Pushing a deadline is just one of many potential causes. Anytime the body experiences an infection it draws on various energy stores to fuel itself. In such cases the immune system may require extra energy which can leave a person feeling fatigued. Some medicines cause drowsiness as a side effect. Poor nutrition and dehydration are common causes of weakness and tiredness. Other health problems could be the cause.

Self correction of known causes of fatigue is a suggested first step. Moderate amounts of caffeine from coffee or tea or from over-the-counter products may improve concentration and increase energy. However, when contemplating the use of nonprescription stimulants, consult with a physician first to make sure there are no underlying medical problems. Stimulants requiring a doctor's prescription may be beneficial; however, such drugs often are reserved for the more severe cases of fatigue and/or drowsiness.

Broad Ford Elementary Honors Students, Staff With Celebration

Broad Ford Elementary School recently honored students and staff with a Celebration of Learning. Teachers from across the nation, educators in Garrett County, parents, and local business members toured a display of outstanding projects completed by students and staff. Broad Ford is working with Co-nect, an educational services company that works with schools to help dramatically improve student achievement.

The tour and evaluation of the school's progress is known as a Critical Friends visit. Those members of the Critical Friends team are Dr. Don Forrester, director of elementary education; Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs at Garrett College; Tom Woods, principal of Southern Garrett High School; Jim Morris, principal of Bloomington School; Bill Weissgerber, parent; Liz Forrester, parent; Brenda Kulhanek from Nebraska; Lisa Bradley from Nebraska; Jade Gray from Virginia; and Ivy Cary from Virginia.

"We're very proud and excited to be a Co-nect school," said Doug Gaither, principal of Broad Ford Elementary. "It's an excellent program that really improves teaching and learning and that holds substantive promise for improved achievement by our students – achievement that is reflected in the excellent projects that were on display."

The Co-nect model engages students in project-based learning that meets local and state standards and effectively integrates modern technology into the curriculum. Co-nect provides schools with comprehensive on-site, on-line, and off-site resources in supporting schools' unique, three-year-long program to improve student achievement and school capacity.

The Celebration of Learning gave parents and community members an opportunity to see the Co-nect program first hand and to better understand the benefits and opportunities the program holds. Students served as tour guides, ushering guests to classrooms throughout the building. The theme for the Critical Friends visit was "Under Construction." The school was filled with construction site items, and the county roads department allowed the school to use road signs and flashing lights. The student guides wore orange flagperson vests and hardhats to emphasize the theme.

In the fifth grade classrooms, the students participated in a science fair, with every student responsible for completing a project using the scientific method. Fourth grade students are working on a project to create a school flag. They have been working with the Historical Society Museum in Oakland to research the name "Broad Ford" and what symbols should be added to a school flag to be made that represents the school. The second grade students are learning about space and the solar system and have plans to be visited by an astronaut from NASA.

"Since partnering with Co-nect, the students and staff have worked hard and learned much. This week is a day of celebration for them," said Gaither. "With Co-nect, students are more excited about their school work and more engaged in learning. That's a giant leap forward for our students and a giant boost for teachers too."

More than 250 people attended the Celebration of Learning, which Gaither said he hoped would be the first in ongoing community involvement efforts at the school. "Co-nect is a partnership that strives to unite students, teachers, parents, and community members in creating one educational environment," said Gaither. "This event was a step in tapping community support to build that environment, and we're all very grateful to all of those who turned out."

SWANTON

Otterbein United Methodist Church

No Bible study will be held until Wednesday, March 12. Boys' and girls' fellowship will be held on Thursdays from 4 until 5 p.m. As a rule, if no school is held, fellowship will not be held either.

The United Methodist Women will hold their Call to Prayer and Self-Denial Program on Thursday, March 13, at 11 a.m. The program will be followed by a covered-dish luncheon. Members are asked to arrive at 10:30 a.m. for a short business meeting prior to the luncheon.

Pastor Vickie Minnich will hold confirmation classes beginning on March 13. The classes will be held for the next six weeks, alternately, between Mt. Bethel in Kitzmiller and Otterbein U.M. in Swanton. The first week will be held at Mt. Bethel. The classes will be held on Thursdays at 4:30 p.m. and are for those who are in the sixth grade or older.

Birthday Celebrated

Audrey and Brenda Friend hosted a dinner on Sunday, March 2, for the 88th birthday of Audrey's Aunt Ildra Frantz. In addition to the hosts and guest of honor, those attending were Luella Baker, Hugh and Helen Friend, Gerald and Phyllis Friend, and Ralph and Sandy Friend.

Editor's note: Persons wishing to submit Swanton news items are invited to contact Dorothy Beckman at 301-387-6952.

BPW Ecouraging Women To Be Politically Active

"It's a shame more women don't become involved in politics," Brenda Butscher told members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Garrett County recently.

She was part of a panel about women in politics with Garrett County state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch and Oakland town councilwoman Peggy Jamison, who encouraged women to be more politically active.

When she decided to run, Butscher said she was told a woman candidate could not get elected in Garrett County. "I said maybe a woman couldn't get elected, but one could run," she said.

Butscher not only ran, she won, becoming Garrett County's first, and so far only, female county commissioner.

"I enjoyed being county commissioner," she said. "I felt I could make a difference. There are a lot of issues that affect women." Butscher said she appointed women to positions and supported other women.

"A lot of people in the middle class are being ignored," she added. Involved with Hospice and other volunteer organizations, her legislative contacts help with lobbying and getting things done.

It takes a lot of talking and listening, she added. Stressing issues and getting out to meet the people are important to getting elected.

Welch said part of being elected is trying to please people. But in her position, not everyone is going to be pleased. You have to knock on those doors, and try not to let negative comments get you down. There may be one negative comment and 10 to 20 positive ones, but it is too easy to dwell on the negative, she said.

"You do the best you can do for all the right reasons and don't let it get at you," said Welch, adding that generally those running for office are already very active, busy, and successful. They must be prepared to juggle a lot. Many women who might make excellent candidates sometimes do not want to give up their time.

Some requirements of a good political candidate are good credentials, speaking ability, common sense, intelligence, creativity, and backing. Welch said political parties should do more to reach out to women candidates.

"This is different from my paying job," said Jamison, who works for Garrett County Economic Development. "It's something I do for myself. I chose to run the first time because I thought I could do better. You can't complain if you are not willing to work at it."

Jamison has served several terms as a council member and currently is president of the Oakland Town Council. It is a lot of work, but very rewarding, she said. At the local level more women are elected because issues are more important than popularity or political party.

"I'm doing what I want to do," she said. "I make a difference. But we aren't operating in a vacuum. What we decide has consequences."

"It is important," said Welch, "to get more women and young people interested in politics. Attending county and town government meetings is one way to learn what is happening, as well as reading local newspapers." Something is needed to motivate kids, added Butscher.

The three women encouraged women's clubs to band together to encourage young women to consider politics. "It is do-able," said Jamison.

Also during the meeting, Shelley Argabrite, assistant regional coordinator of the University of Maryland Statewide Health Network, spoke about the network and the Active for Life program.

The 10-week worksite physical activity program encourages participants to set their goals, keep records, choose their activities, attend educational sessions, and work in teams. Benefits are increased energy, ability to handle stress better, sleeping better, and feeling more productive and less depressed, according to Argabrite.

So far, Garrett College and Mountain Glade Adult Services are taking advantage of the program. "It's a great opportunity for Garrett County businesses," said Joanne Harsh. It can be modified for people at all levels and of all ages.

BPW members were reminded of the Women's History Month celebration at Garrett College auditorium on March 12 at noon.

CUPPETT-WEEKS NURSING HOME CELEBRATES VALENTINE'S DAY – Before the big snowfall, Valentines around Garrett County celebrated their big day with colorful cards, gifts, and candy. Residents and staff at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland got into the spirit, with help from two Southern High School 10th grade English honors classes and one 11th grade class, each taught by Robin Spiker, and the coordination efforts of the Oakland Elks Lodge. The students made "Valentines for veterans" cards for veterans who reside at Cuppett-Weeks and Dennett Road Manor nursing homes, and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Martinsburg, W.Va. Pictured above, from the left, are World War II veteran Stanley Savage, Cuppett-Weeks administrator Jim Cuppett, and WWII veteran Dewey Keller. Shown below is this year's Valentine's Day royalty at the nursing home, King Rev. Paul Poland and Queen Evelyn Biser. The pair were crowned in a ceremony that followed their selection by fellow residents, staff, family members, and visitors.

Youth Survey To Be Conducted At Two Foodlands

The Garrett Partnership for Children and Families will be conducting a Youth Resources Survey at Browning's Foodland and the Grantsville Foodland on Friday, March 14, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.

The survey consists of 44 items, and will not take more then 10 minutes. Names will not be on the surveys, but survey respondents will be asked to fill out an index card with their name and address to enter a drawing for Foodland gift certificates.

The purpose of the survey is to gather public input regarding priority needs for school-age youth in Garrett County. The information gathered will be incorporated into the Youth Development Board's strategic plan for fiscal year 2004. The Youth Development Board is an interagency advisory group that is chaired by Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator.

State Park Programs

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Further information on the programs can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

•Sat. 3/8: A two-hour, two-mile guided hike to the historic Brant Coal Mine will get under way at 1 p.m.; and a winter scavenger hunt is set for 3 p.m.

•Sun. 3/9: A one-hour "Tracks, Traces, and Trails" animal track identification hike is slated for 1 p.m. (snow dependent; warm dress encouraged); and a 45-minute winter nature craft activity will get under way at 3 p.m. ($1 per participant).

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

• The Strategic Planning meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 6, from 6 to 9 p.m. This meeting presents an opportunity for residents to contribute their views about areas of the town that need to be revitalized. The public is invited to attend, and refreshments will be served.

• Voter registration for the Loch Lynn town elections will be held Monday, April 7, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the town hall. Persons who are registered with the Garrett County Board of Elections and have been a resident of Loch Lynn Heights for at least six months are automatically eligible to vote under the Universal Registration Law and do not need to re-register. Persons who wish only to be registered in the town must have been a Maryland resident for one year and a town resident for six months.

The next meeting of the mayor and town council will be on April 1 at 7 p.m. in the town hall.

FRIENDSVILLE

• Prior to the March 3 town council meeting, Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle administered the oath of office to newly elected/re-elected council members Jane Fox, Wayne Friend, and Philip Smith.

• Sheriff's Deputy Drummond was present at the council meeting. Complaints regarding tractor-trailers parked on town streets were reported to him by the council. It was noted that there is a town ordinance prohibiting large vehicles from parking on town streets other than for loading/unloading. The town parking lot along Second Avenue is available for the use of large vehicles at no charge.

• Ross Glotfelty was granted the use of the new pavilion at the park for the National World Day of Prayer program on May 1 at 7 p.m.

• Lois Sines was reappointed as the scheduling coordinator for the park ballfields. Her phone number is 301-746-5455.

• Permission was granted for the Central Garrett Baseball League to use the park ballfield during its spring and summer season.

The next town council meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 20, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Highway Administration.

"The administration could remain neutral if this bill was amended to remove SHA from that process, with one exception," said the Department of Transportation in its written comments to the committee.

To reflect that the SHA does not approve local roadways, other than to review the county findings that the bridges are sufficient, Simmons requested that the following amendment be added:

"The SHA approval under this subsection (II) is limited to a review of the findings of the applicable county or locality that county or local bridges are sufficient. The SHA does not otherwise approve county or local roads."

"The department respectfully requests an unfavorable report on HB 831, unless the amendment noted above is added," wrote the Department of Transportation.

"They (SHA) essentially washed their hands of responsibility," said Troy Ellington.

On behalf of the commissioners, Dwight Emory, engineer for the Garrett County Roads Department, submitted a letter to the committee requesting that it support the legislation.

"Safety is the first and foremost goal of a roadway," wrote Emory. "Before a given road could have the weight limit increased, it would be reviewed by the State Highway Administration to ensure it met all design and safety requirements available at the time for the type, size, and weight vehicle [that] limit would be increased to accommodate."

He said the identified deficiencies could then be corrected to allow those vehicles to safely traverse the roadway. The expected economic benefit to the county because of the legislation would help pay for the upgrade of the road.

Emory also noted that the weight increase would allow for more efficient transportation of the county's industries and make a more uniform county/state weight limit.

"In summary, the Garrett County economy is very dependent upon efficient transportation, particularly truck traffic," wrote Emory. "The trucking industry is a critical component of the mining, timber, and agricultural enterprises of Garrett County."

Linkwood Road in Dorchester County is currently the only county road in the state allowed to have vehicles weighing more than 73,000 pounds. Troy Ellington pointed out to the committee that Dorchester has a flat terrain with straight roads and receives little snowfall.

Linkwood has a 55-foot right of way, a factory at one end, a business at the other, and no private homes in between, said Bobby Andersen.

The Garrett County residents also sent copies of their written and oral testimony to the Senate Finance Committee, which heard the Senate version of the bill, SB 636, on Wednesday.

"As I urged the House committee," wrote Ellington, "I urge you not to go forward with this bill unless concrete commitments are made to upgrade and improve the subject roads to remove the present dangerous situation."

It is not known when the committees will announce their decisions. While they await the decisions, the Andersens and Ellingtons will draft a petition opposing the weight limit increase.

Edwards and Hafer will hold their mid-legislative session meeting this Saturday, March 8, at 9 a.m. in Garrett College's auditorium. The lawmakers will review the status of this and other legislation that has been introduced in the General Assembly.

PAW PRINTS HAVE FUN, LEARN – The Paw Prints of Crellin, Hutton, and Rosedale recently enjoyed a Sunday afternoon bowling at Par-Matt Lanes in Mtn. Lake Park. Not only did the bowlers receive prizes, but they also learned about assets. Gail Dever, Garrett County Health Department Health Education Outreach worker, took the opportunity to share one of the "40 Developmental Assets for Youth" with each bowler. Some of the qualities discussed were "support," "empowerment," "positive identity," "caring," and "community value use." "Building these assets in our youth will help them to grow up healthy, caring, and responsible," said Dever. Those bowlers who said they already had or practiced these assets were encouraged by her to "keep up the good work." Pictured, front to back, are Britney McRobie, Ashley Williams, and Loriann Ludwig. Persons who would like to help the youth in their communities, churches, businesses, organizations, or homes develop their assets may call the Health Department at 301-334-7730 for more information. Information about the Paw Prints and their upcoming events is also available at that number.

"ALL HISTORY IS LOCAL," one could say in paraphrasing an old maxim about politics. Fourth graders at Broad Ford Elementary School learned just that during a recent guest speaker's presentation by noted local historian Rev. John Grant. The children engaged in a discussion of the history of the Broad Ford area with Grant and their teachers. Pictured from the left are Melissa Albert, Josh Park, Rev. Grant, teacher Nancy Stewart, Austin Moon, and Marshall Miller.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Are those new long-lasting light bulbs worth it?

Get out the jumbo shopping cart. Those exotic (and expensive) new, high-efficiency light bulbs are actually a bargain.

The new-fangled bulbs are a form of fluorescent bulb. Typically, a 20-watt bulb puts out the same light as a conventional 75-watt "regular" incandescent bulb. For the same output (the "luminosity"), fluorescent lighting is always more energy-efficient than incandescent lamps.

Need proof? Get out your calculator. Suppose the bulb is installed in a place where it runs three hours per day. Then a 20-watt bulb will consume 60 watt-hours/day = 0.06 kilowatt hours (kWh) per day, or 21.9 kWh in a year.

Meanwhile, a 75-watt conventional bulb likewise run three hours per day will consume 0.225 kWh per day, or 83.1 kWh each year. Incidentally, 3 x 365 = 1,095 hours, longer than the typical lifetime expected (900 hours) for a conventional bulb, so it burns out more than once a year.

If electricity is cheap where you live, say 6 cents ($0.06) per kWh, then it costs you $1.31 annually to run the high-efficiency bulb, compared to $4.98 for the conventional bulb. If electricity is expensive, say 16 cents per kWh, the super bulb costs $3.50 to run for a year, while the conventional bulb costs a comparatively whopping $13.30.

So, annually, you'd save from $3.67 (if you live somewhere where electricity is cheap) to almost 10 bucks (for expensive electricity).

In addition, the new bulbs last much longer than incandescent bulbs, so the savings easily pay for the higher initial cost of the high-efficiency bulbs. The same arithmetic works for other sizes of bulbs, and for bulbs installed in other locations that get greater or lesser usage.

One additional savings comes in the summertime, when you're cooling your home with air conditioning. Every single kilowatt of power you consume gets dumped into the air as heat, which has to be removed by the air conditioner. Therefore, you have to pay for even more electricity when you use high-wattage incandescent bulbs.

So why doesn't everyone buy these high-efficiency bulbs? Force of habit, probably. The "lowest first cost" is always attractive. When doing the family shopping, it's easy to pick up a pack of four ordinary bulbs at the grocery store for $2 and not think about it. It takes a conscious decision to spend $5 for one high-efficiency bulb. Until someone goes through the arithmetic, it never registers with them that there is serious money to be saved this way, not to mention the warm glow you'll get by conserving electricity.

MARCH IS NATIONAL PROFESSIONAL SOCIAL WORK MONTH

"The Power of Social Work: Preserving Rights and Strengthening Voices."

Preserving rights. As dedicated advocates for children's rights, civil rights, disability rights, crime victims' rights, labor rights, human rights, patients' rights, women's rights, and many others, social workers continue to lead efforts that enhance human well-being. They shape programs and policies that strengthen individual lives and improve the society in which we live.

Strengthening voices. Social workers also work to empower those who are frequently unheard. They open doors of access and opportunity for everyone, particularly those in greatest need. Whether they work in direct practice, administration, education and research, or policy development, professional social workers are trained to make an impact. Every day, the quality of life for millions of people is improved as they learn to use their own personal power to build brighter futures for themselves and their families.

The Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, Inc. would like to thank all of the Professional Social Workers who work in the programs that we fund and who work for our partner agencies. You make a difference in the lives of Garrett County families everyday!

THE PIANIST

Rated R - Running Time: 2:28 - Released 12/27/02

The Pianist is one of those films where you leave the theater feeling horrified but enlightened, depressed but exuberant, appalled by the depth to which human nature can sink and yet deeply moved by the triumphs it can achieve. Directed by Roman Polanski, it recounts the true story of noted Polish pianist, composer, and songwriter Wladislaw Szpilman, who barely survived the Nazi occupation of Warsaw during World War II, who lost all his family and most of his friends to the death camps, but lived to play again and to tell his story. The film is based on Szpilman's own autobiographical account, originally published immediately after the ordeal in 1945 (under the title Death Of A City), but suppressed by Poland's Communist government and only recently translated into English. It is adapted for the screen by South African-born Ronald Harwood, who may have witnessed some racially motivated atrocities in his own life, and the role of Szpilman is played with haunting honesty by Adrien Brody, who is in practically all 148 minutes of film and reportedly lost over 30 pounds for the role. While the story is amazing and the direction by Polanski, himself a Polish holocaust survivor, is superb, it is Brody's performance, complemented by a talented supporting cast, that makes this one of the best films of 2002.

The story starts on September 23, 1939, the day that Wladislaw, a celebrated performer for Warsaw Radio, was interrupted by German bombs while playing Chopin's "Nocturne in C sharp Minor" live on the air. As the bombs drew closer, he at first continued playing, but soon the station itself was targeted and he and his colleagues were forced to evacuate. At that moment, the radio station was silenced for the duration of the war. The remainder of the film documents with shocking realism the subsequent horrors endured by Wladislaw, his family, and the entire Jewish community of Warsaw. Beginning with the simple but ever more outrageous restrictions placed on them by the occupying German army (like wearing the Star of David emblems on their arms), followed by the segregation of Jews from the rest of the population by the establishment of the infamous Warsaw Ghetto, random and seemingly arbitrary executions of Jews for any number of offenses, the pathetic and failure-doomed attempts by the Jews to fight back against their oppressors, and finally the liquidation of the ghetto as the Jews were transported en masse to the concentration camps in boxcars. It's still hard to believe that what I'm writing actually occurred within my parents' lifetimes—that humans could be so cruel to each other and commit such atrocious acts against fellow humans—but Polanski's depiction is eloquent, touching, and staggeringly real enough that we make no mistake: it really happened, only 60 years ago.

As the war continues, Wladislaw survives by chance, by his instincts, and with a little help from his friends, many of whom would ultimately perish. After watching his father and mother (Frank Finlay, Maureen Lipman), his brother (Ed Stoppard) and two sisters (Jessica Kate Meyer, Julia Rayner), and various friends be taken away (and eluding the same fate only by an impulsive act of kindness by someone who knows of his talent), he remains in Warsaw for the next three years, barely living from one apartment or bombed-out building to another, always hiding, always maintaining silence, always searching for food, always one step ahead of the German soldiers who would shoot him on sight if they were to find him. At one point, he is set up in an abandoned apartment by a non-Jewish cellist (Emilia Fox) and her husband (Valentine Pelka), who were fans of his playing before the war; their kindness was of course at great personal risk, as Gentiles who helped Jews were summarily executed. But perhaps the most surprising of Wladislaw's benefactors is a German officer (Thomas Kretschmann) who helped him survive during the last stages of the occupation even while running his command post downstairs in the same house where Wladislaw was hiding.

The Pianist has won the Palme d'Or (out of 22 nominees) at the Cannes Film Festival, and received 7 Oscar nominations, including Best Picture and Best Actor, but also for Polanski's directing, Harwood's screenplay, and the awesomely beautiful cinematography of Pawel Edelman, who is somehow able to capture the squalor of the ghetto, the devastation of the bombs, and the hopeless atmosphere of war-era Warsaw, and still make his subject visually striking. Of course, music also plays a vitally important part in this story, and in addition to the works of Chopin, Bach, and other great composers, the haunting original compositions of Wojciech Kilar add a touching counterpoint to the horrors and triumphs unfolding on the screen. Like Spielberg's masterpiece Schindler's List, The Pianist contains the most grim and graphic violence, but because of its historical significance and its celebration of the human spirit over adversity, it is an absolute must-see for anyone who cares about history and what the cinema can do to document it. ★★★★★

"I Can Cope"... Coming To Grips With Cancer; A Brother Reflects

By Peggy Santamaria, for the Garrett County Cancer Society

Cancer. Few words trigger such feelings of horror. It's the serial killer waiting to ambush without regard to age, gender, or virtue of the victim.

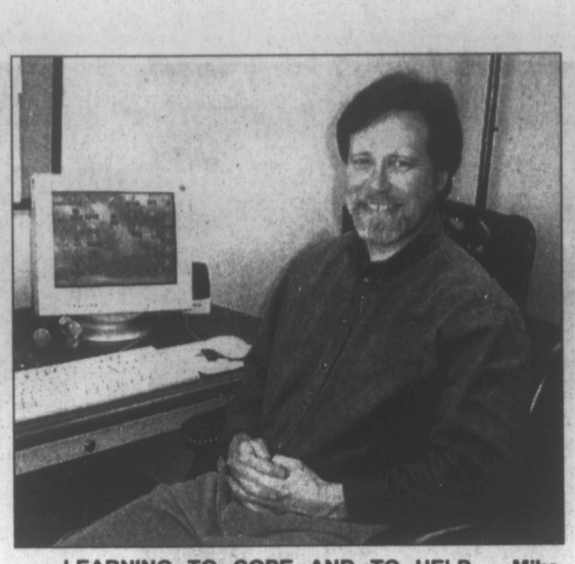
"It was five years ago today that my younger brother died of cancer. It all started with a mole that needed to be removed. It was a melanoma," said Mike Browning, reflecting on having to watch as the disease escalated and his brother's prognosis deteriorated.

Having moved back home to Garrett County a year before his brother succumbed to cancer, Mike, who is now a consultant in mental health for the Garrett County Health Department, was able to spend time with his brother and take him for his cancer treatments.

"You can see the decline," he said. "You know what is coming. But you are never prepared."

A friend, family member, or loved one is diagnosed with cancer and a nightmare begins. A wall rises up and the challenge to scale it crushes the spirit. Despair waits in the darkness.

It need not be this way. "I Can Cope," a resource program developed by the American Cancer Society to dispel the darkness and reduce the challenges, is now offered in Garrett County.



LEARNING TO COPE AND TO HELP – Mike Browning lost his brother to cancer. Five years later he reflected on that difficult time in his life and found new help and support for cancer patients and their families in the American Cancer Society's program "I Can Cope." As a social worker, Browning will now use the knowledge he gained in the program to help others. See story for details.

Open to anyone – patients, spouses, friends – "I Can Cope" addresses medical, social, and emotional problems that cancer may cause. Set up in five sessions, the program brings specialists that include social workers, physicians, and pharmacists to speak about coping strategies such as pain management, and to answer questions.

Last fall, Mike had the chance to take part in the county's first "I Can Cope" session. "I had a couple of reasons for going," he said. "I am still trying to understand everything that went on during that time and all the things I was feeling. Plus, being in social work I may be able to use this information to help others."

Did Mike find the program helpful? "Absolutely," he said, with a smile. "I had seen the brochures, so I knew about the program. But after I went to the first session I was calling people on the phone saying, 'You should come to this program. It is really good.'"

More than a support group for those dealing the cancer, "I Can Cope" helps those attending to organize their feelings, formulate questions, and find answers.

"It helps you deal with the unknown and get rid of some of your fears. You find that you are not alone; you are never alone," Mike said, describing the program as an information-packed resource that can benefit anyone.

Donna McClintock, board member of the Garrett County branch of the American Cancer Society, coordinates the "I Can Cope" program.

A series is scheduled to begin this month with all sessions held in the Garrett Memorial Hospital Community Services building beginning at 6 p.m. Among the speakers for the first session, which will be held on March 24, is Dr. Ihor Zakaluzny. His topic will be "Learning About Cancer."

Other presentations will be "Keeping Well In Mind and Body" on March 31; "Understanding Feelings and Relationships" on April 7; and "Discovering Resources" on April 14.

McClintock explained that the health professionals involved with the ACS series emphasize that they are available for ongoing support and assistance – that the connection between speaker and audience does not end when the evening's meeting concludes.

"We make certain that the people attending the sessions know that we can be contacted for more information," she said. "If we don't have the answer to a particular question, we will find out who does. We will be there to help. No one needs to face cancer alone."

For more information on the "I Can Cope" series, persons may call Sara Browning at 301-533-4311 or Tenna Taylor at 1-888-227-9979. Persons may attend any one or all of the sessions in the series. Registration is suggested to guarantee that materials will be available to all who attend.

ACS Daffodils Still Available

The American Cancer Society's "Daffodil Days" will be March 12-15. Persons who did not place an order for daffodils and wish to may still do so.

The daffodils will be available at Jan Florist, Oakland, March 12-15 and at Arrowhead Market, Deep Creek Foodland Fresh, and Grantsville Foodland on Saturday, March 15.

A bunch of fresh cut daffodils is $6, and a pot of planted bulbs is $8.50. All proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society's programs of research, public education, and patient services.

The daffodils will be sold while supplies last.

For more information, persons may call 1-800-287-2317.

Friend Realty Group:

We decided to list our home with the Friend Realty Group because we liked the idea of having a team working for us. We couldn't have made a wiser decision. The Friend Realty Group had a great marketing plan and they executed it quickly and flawlessly. They kept us fully informed of all activity at the house. Once we were under contract, the Friends guided us through every step of the sale process in a professional manner. Jim's willingness to handle various tasks on our behalf, such as obtaining bids to address home inspection items, was a great help. The bottom line is that the Friend Realty Group came through for us in a big way and we highly recommend them.

GARRETT RECREATIONAL TRAILS

LOGO SELECTED – A logo for the Garrett County Recreation Trails was recently selected. Several local designers submitted concepts to the Recreational Trails Task Force for consideration. "It was not an easy choice to make," said a Garrett County Chamber of Commerce spokesperson. After much discussion, a design by Barry Domenick was chosen. His logo will now be used on trail markers, maps, and other materials.

Food Vendors Sought For 26th Summer Festival

Organizers of the 26th annual Summer Festival and Quilt Show are seeking organizations and businesses that would like to set up food booths at the festival from July 11 to 13. The event will be held at Spruce Forest Artisan Village along the Old National Road, Grantsville.

The festival will be held outdoors, rain or shine, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Food concessions will include sandwiches, ice cream and other desserts, "kettle korn," fresh-squeezed lemonade and other beverages, pit beef sandwiches, seashore fries, and a variety of other items. No duplications are permitted on food items, but food vendors all sell non-alcoholic beverages of choice.

Food vendors are open for business the same hours as the festival, and vendors are approved by the Garrett County Health Department, with an on-site visit the first day of the event.

To request an application packet, persons may call Trish Morgan, village administrator, weekdays at 301-895-3332 or e-mail her at tmorgan@spruceforest.org. Food vendors are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis and will be confirmed as soon as possible, said Morgan.

Kitzmiller VFD Sets Cash Bash

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department will hold a Cash Bash at the Elks Lodge, Oakland, on Saturday, March 8. Doors open at 3 p.m. Cost of admission is $25, which includes food and beverages.

Tickets must be purchased in advance from the fire department, as no tickets will be sold at the door. For tickets, persons may call Station 70 at 301-453-3323.

The first drawing will be held at 4 p.m., followed by drawings every 15 minutes throughout the day. Proceeds benefit the KVFD.

TV PIPELINE

'Jordan' hunk was a pudgy child actor

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q: Isn't Jerry O'Connell of "Crossing Jordan" the same actor of that name who played young Vern in the movie "Stand by Me"? My parents say he isn't. –Misty E. Oscha, Mount Prospect, Ill.

A: I'll stand by you on this one, Misty. O'Connell, now 29, may have been a chubby 11-year-old when he made his movie debut in the 1986 hit "Stand by Me," but his teen years were, shall we say, very good to him. By the time he graduated from New York University in 1995 and started work on the Fox series "Sliders," he had matured into his current leading man mode of tall, dark and handsome.

Q: I heard that one of the boyfriends on "Roseanne" died recently. If so, which one was it and what happened? –April Cobb, Fort Worth, Texas.

A: Glenn Quinn, who played Becky's dim mechanic husband, Mark, on "Roseanne," died last December in North Hollywood of a suspected drug overdose. A native of Dublin, Ireland, he was only 32.

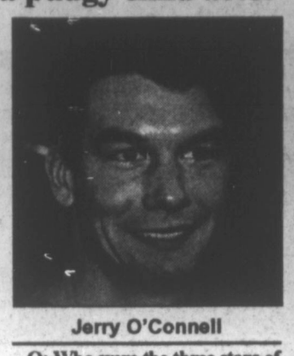
Q: Where can I get a fan letter to chef Mario Batali of the Food Network? He is great! –Maria C. Bavaro, Inverness, Fla.

A: A Food Network spokesperson emphasized that the ideal way to contact any of the personalities on the cable channel is via e-mail, using the links provided on the www.foodnetwork.com Web site.

As a last resort, however, fans can send a letter via regular mail to the chef in question c/o Food Network, 1180 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10036.

Q: Who played Kevin's mother in "Home Alone 4"? –David Hume, Denver.

A: For that 2002 TV movie, Clare Carey from the Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen sitcom "So Little Time" took over the role of Kate McCallister. Catherine O'Hara had played Kate in previous "Home Alone" features.



Jerry O'Connell

Q: Who were the three stars of TV's "Mod Squad"? I know one was married to Tyne Daly. –Donna Page, West Palm Beach, Fla.

A: The 1968-73 police drama starred Michael Cole as Pete Cochran, Clarence Williams III as Linc Hayes and Peggy Lipton as Julie Barnes.

By the way, you are one of dozens of readers who have confused "Mod" cast member Williams with Georg Stanford Brown, the actor-director who was married to Tyne Daly from 1966-90.

Q: What happened to Jane Clayson of CBS' "The Early Show"? I really miss her. –Phyllis McLaughlin, Des Moines, Iowa.

A: Clayson left her "Early Show" gig last fall as part of yet another attempt by CBS to shore up a morning show that apparently is doomed to stay mired as a distant third in the ratings behind NBC's "Today" and ABC's "Good Morning America." No one blames the 35-year-old Clayson personally for the show's failure; she remains a valued member of the CBS News family, contributing to "48 Hours" and the "Eye on America" segments of Dan Rather's evening newscasts.

TRIVIA

Clint Eastwood ("9th Annual Screen Actors Guild Awards") wore the same poncho without laundering it in all three of his "Man With No Name" movies.

Katie Holmes ("Dawson's Creek") declined a callback for the role of Joey because the audition date conflicted with her high-school play.

Harry Lennix ("The 34th NAACP Image Awards") taught in Chicago public schools prior to embarking on career in acting.

Lorenzo Lamas ("Are You Hot? The Search for America's Sexiest People") collects Harley-Davidson motorcycles and participates in charity rides.

Paula Abdul ("American Idol") was senior-class president and head cheerleader at California's Van Nuys High School, class of 1980.

Second British Car Show In County Slated

With the success of last year's British car show in Garrett County, plans are under way for a larger show this year. The fairly rare cars will be displayed at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Saturday, June 7. The show is being held during the McHenry Highland Festival of Garrett County, which celebrates the region's Celtic history.

"We expect a large turnout," said Bud Peed, who is chairing this year's show. He is working with the Mountain Top Cruisers and the Rolls Royce Owners' Club, as well as contacting other interested groups.

Chip Smith, who organized the first show, said festivalgoers were thrilled with the variety of cars exhibited.

"It was a nice mix," said Peed, who, along with Mtn. Top Cruisers president Ralph Miller, helped with the show. "There were some Austin-Healeys, which are somewhat rare, MGs and minis."

William (Doc) Savage took first place last year in the MG category with his 1952 MG TD. According to Peed, Savage and his wife lightened the mood of the car show with their vintage dress. "The goggles, scarf, and other items added that little bit extra," said Peed.

Joe Hauger of Terra Alta, W.Va., took second with his 1967 MG GT and third place with his 1971 MG Midget.

Trophies in the British category Best of Show went to the 1967 Austin Healey belonging to Gary Tokarcik of Elkins, W.Va. Best of Show was awarded to the auto compiling the largest total judge's points. Tokarcik's car also took first place in Austin Healeys. Second place went to the 1962 Austin Healey owned by Rich Brown, Jefferson Hills, Pa.

Peed's 1961 mini truck also was the Crowd's Choice and took first place in the mini category. His 1963 mini Austin Cooper S took second place.

Under Triumphs, a 1967 Triumph TR4A belonging to Chris Cole of Fulton took first place. Lee Endler of Belington, W.Va., took second with his 1972 Triumph TR6, and Roger Hankey of Elkins, W.Va., took third with his 1963 Triumph TR3B.

In the American make category, the 1957 Ford Fairlane 500, entered by Ralph Miller, Oakland, took Crowd's Choice, Judge's Choice and first place. His 1965 Ford Fairlane took second. Wayne Swiger's 1950 half-ton pickup was the judge's choice for best truck.

Other exhibitors were Frank Fitzwater of Oakland; Mike Roder of Finksburg; Gary Judy of Harmon, W.Va.; Frank Wolfe of Swanton; Roy Dunkes of McHenry; Ed McClouds of South Park, Pa.; Kathy and Rich Wendell of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Anthony and Dianne Yoder of Accident.

"Everyone enjoyed looking at all the different cars and talking to the owners," said Peed. More information is available at www.highlandfest.infor.

Advanced Access Crash Course Set

A one-session "crash" course in Advanced Access is slated for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday, March 20, at Garrett College.

The course is designed to provide participants with an advanced level of knowledge of Microsoft Access. Among the topics that will be covered are importing Excel data, relating tables, using and creating switchboards, using wildcards, sorting data, filtering, pages, advanced queries, and MailMerge.

For tuition and registration information, persons may call Sue Smith of the GC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

Northern Band Boosters Slate Brunch Benefit

The Northern Garrett Band Boosters will host an "all-you-can-eat" brunch fund-raiser from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. this Sunday, March 9, in the Northern High School cafeteria. The menu will include buckwheat cakes, pancakes, sausage, and choice of hot or cold beverage. Tickets are $5 per adult, $3 for children 5-12 years old, and children under 5 eat at no cost.

Tickets can be purchased at the door, or in advance from any Northern Band Booster.

St. Paul's UM Church Releases Lenten Schedule

St. Paul's United Methodist Church has announced its schedule of special Lenten observances, which the church is hosting at its location at 318 East Oak Street, Oakland.

A Lenten series on the practice of Christian meditation, based on David Spangler's book Blessing, is set for six consecutive Mondays, March 10 — April 14, at 7 p.m. The topics to be covered are "The Empty Stage," "Stillness," "Shifting," "Open Space," "Energies," and "Connectedness."

Five consecutive Wednesday afternoons, March 12 — April 9, will be marked by a light lunch served from 12:05 to 12:30 p.m. Each luncheon will be followed by a 10-minute Lenten meditation and worship service beginning at 12:35 p.m.

For further information on these and other offerings at St. Paul's UM Church, persons may contact Pastor T. Patrick Kerr at 301-334-2391.

CRUISERS HELP FUEL BBBS EFFORT — The Mt. Top Cruisers Car Club made a $200 donation to the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters recently, as Cruisers president Ralph Miller is shown presenting the check to local BBBS coordinator Joan Johnson. Persons interested in information on BBBS or offering support may contact Johnson at 301-334-3597. For information on memberships with the Mt. Top Cruisers Car Club, which sponsors car rallies that benefit local non-profit organizations, persons may contact Miller at 301-334-4303.

GLUCOSAMINE VALUABLE FOR OSTEOARTHRITIS

According to the results of a study published recently in Archives of Internal Medicine, the value of glucosamine sulfate in the treatment of osteoarthritis (OA) symptoms has been demonstrated once again. At the end of the study those who took glucosamine improved clinically when compared to the other group.

Glucosamine has been shown to significantly improve pain and functionality in people with OA of the knee in several different studies. Its effectiveness as a pain reliever has been compared to ibuprofen and piroxicam for symptom relief, however it may take up to 4 weeks of daily supplementation for it to begin working. There is some evidence that glucosamine may actually slow joint degeneration. Therefore, some references are now listing glucosamine as an agent that improves pain, but also corrects or changes OA in a positive way.

A "New" Identity

Perhaps you are one of thousands of Americans who personalize their license plates with unique and often cleverly amusing logos that say something about their status, occupation, hobby, or possibly their personality or convictions. In this automated computer age, perhaps it is an attempt to state... "I am an individual". For whatever reason we do this, the people traveling behind that car probably form an impression about someone that they do not know. No problem...that's the whole idea!

There are other ways we leave impressions upon strangers, even those we see every day. Our unselfishness in small ways, our ability to be calm when a storm surrounds our life, perhaps even whether we smile or frown most of the time...these traits tell others something about us as surely as those novel license plates. Only we don't always design this impression...or perhaps even realize it.

1 John 5:7 tells us, "And the Spirit is the witness, because the Spirit is the truth." What does your spirit tell others? Won't you worship each week? A "new identity" can await you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

RAISING THE ROOF

March 9, 2003

Background Scripture: Mark 2:1 through 3:6.
Devotional Reading: Luke 15:1-7..

Two groups of people stand out in these early chapters of Mark, one of them negatively. These were the Pharisees, a religious party dedicated to applying the law to daily life. It was a worthy goal, but they went off in the wrong direction. Applying the law super-legalistically, they missed its purpose—to enrich human life under God.

For example, when Jesus was healing the paralytic (2:3-12), instead of praising God for this wonderful work, they called it 'blasphemy' when he said, "My son, your sins are forgiven." "Who can forgive sins but God alone?", they protest, caring more for their interpretation of the law than they did for the paralyzed man. Whenever you care more about your theology than a good work done in the name of God, you, not others, are likely to be the blasphemer!

Another example is their reaction when Jesus was seen "eating with sinners and tax collectors". Because the tax collectors worked for the Romans, they were considered the worst kind of sinners. But they forgot that all of us are "sinners," not just those who violate our religious rules. If they didn't like the sinful company Jesus kept, they really didn't like the company God keeps.

Compassion or Legalism?

They criticized Jesus because he didn't fast; they criticized him because on the Sabbath day he and his disciples had plucked grain to feed themselves. They attacked him because he dared on the Sabbath to heal a man with a withered hand. Their devotion to the law was taking the place of compassion for the needs of fellow human beings.

We do not often see Jesus angry, but here we do: "And he looked around them with anger, grieved at their hardness of heart..." (v. 3:5). Notice, he is angry, not with their poor theology, but their lack of compassion. How plainly he puts it: "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to kill?" Even this failed to reach these hardened hearts, for they "went out, and immediately held counsel with the Herodians against him, how to destroy him."

There is a second, much more admirable group. We don't know their names and they were not part of any organized faction. We only know that there were four of them. Perhaps the only thing they had in common was their concern for a paralyzed man. They might not know much about Jesus, but they believed he could help their friend..

Four Intercessors

This is a fine example of intercessory prayer. The man couldn't come to Jesus, so they took him to the Master. Picking up his pallet. they brought him to the house where Jesus was healing. When they arrived, the crush of the crowd prevented them from getting the paralytic in the door. Like true intercessors, they were not put off by the obstacles that confronted them. Carrying the man to the roof of the house, they removed some of the sticks and packed earth that comprised the roof and. making a hole large enough for his pallet, they lowered him down into the midst of Jesus and the crowd.

Note that it was their faith to which Jesus was responding. We don't know what expectations

Glass Insulators

Q. I have a collection of about 200 glass telephone insulators in green, black, blue and clear. Who can I contact about them? — Mike, Saskatchewan, Canada

A. Insulators were a trendy collectible during the 1960s, and during that decade prices climbed steadily. In recent years, however, interest has dropped, and so have values. Insulators are generally sold by CD numbers and color. Current prices in the marketplace include CD 160, Hemingway 14, clear, $6; CD 200, Star, blue aqua, $110; CD 112, New England Telegraph & Telephone, aqua, $35; and CD 145, Brookfield, aqua, $5.

The National Insulator Association is one of the better groups for collectors. Its address is 1315 Old Mill Path, Broadview Heights, OH 44174. Crown Jewel of the Wire is a monthly magazine that also might be helpful. The addresses for the publication are P.O. Box 1003, Saint Charles, IL 60174; editor@crownjewelsofthewire.com; and www.crownjewelsofthewire.com.

A Tale of Parrots and Pirates

Q. I have a blue and gold macaw that I love very much. My brother says that macaws are the type of parrot that pirates used to keep as pets and carry on their shoulders. Is this true? — April W., age 10, Plano, Texas

A. Well, pirates might have kept macaws as pets, but probably not the blue-and-gold variety that is commonly seen in pet stores today.

The macaw became a popular pet in the United States around the early 1900s, when many wild species of birds were being shipped north from Central and South America. Today, 17 species of macaw exist in captivity here. In fact, one rare species, the Spix's macaw, exists only in captivity, as its wild cousins are now extinct.

At the time when pirates roamed the seas — the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries — parrots were considered very exotic pets and were highly prized by European royalty. Only one type of macaw — the green-winged macaw — is known to have been kept in captivity at this time.

Unfortunately, no historic record shows that pirates kept macaws or other parrots as pets. However, pirates enjoyed living in finery, just as royalty did, so it's quite likely that a garishly dressed ship's captain would have a colorful bird perched on his shoulder as well. So, while your brother may be right about pirates keeping birds aboard ship, the macaw probably wasn't a common pet back then. (Thanks to Barron's "Macaws: A Complete Pet Owner's Manual" for this information.)

Strange BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver

• "Gone With the Wind" is one of the most famous movies ever, and the most-quoted line from it, of course, is "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn." When it was filmed, however, "damn" was a forbidden word in movies. Instead of changing the line to "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a darn" (which would be much less effective), producer David O. Selznick paid a $5,000 fine for using offensive language. A wise choice, I think.

• In the Sahara Desert, the town of Tidikelt once went 10 years without a single rainfall.

• Those who study such things say that marijuana is psychologically more harmful to dogs than to cats. This is because, they say, the marijuana plant is related to catnip, which cats already have a certain amount of experience with.

• Here's something to think about: Just a few decades ago, a keyboard was a piano, a mouse was a rodent, LOL was a little old lady, a CD was somewhere to put money, and if you unzipped anything in public, you'd probably be arrested.

• Famed stage actress Sarah Bernhardt played the role of Juliet at the age of 70.

• If you could stand on the planet Pluto, the sun would appear to you no brighter than Venus appears in the evening sky to someone standing on Earth.

• If you store dry ice in an airtight container, it will explode.

• If all the cream filling used to make Oreo cookies in one year were used to decorate wedding cakes instead, you would have enough icing to frost all the wedding cakes made in the United States for the next two years.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 15, 44 B.C., Julius Caesar, the infamous dictator of the Roman Empire, is stabbed to death in the Roman Senate house by 60 conspirators.

• On March 12, 1888, the most severe winter storm ever to hit the New York City region reaches blizzard proportions, costing hundreds of lives. With the 36-hour blizzard dumping some 40 inches of snow, the city was virtually isolated from the rest of the country. Messages north to Boston had to be relayed via England.

• On March 16, 1926, American Robert H. Goddard successfully launches the world's first liquid-fueled rocket, giving hope to dreams of space travel. The 10-foot-tall rocket launched in Auburn, Mass., traveled at about 60 mph and reached an altitude of 41 feet.

• On March 10, 1938, for the first time since they began in 1927, the names of Academy Award winners are kept secret until their announcement at the awards ceremony, which took place on this day.

• On March 14, 1950, the FBI institutes the "10 Most Wanted Fugitives" list in an effort to publicize particularly dangerous fugitives. The decision arose out of a wire-service news story in 1949 about the "toughest guys" the FBI wanted to capture.

• On March 13, 1958, "The Long Hot Summer," starring Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, opens in Baton Rouge, La. Newman, who won the Cannes Film Festival award as Best Actor for his performance, married Woodward the same year; the pairing is one of Hollywood's longest-lasting marriages.

• On March 11, 1989, the TV show "Cops" is first broadcast nationally. Production crews rode with real patrol officers, filming whatever crime and violence occurred on the ride. The fledgling Fox network took the show after the major networks passed on it, and stunned the industry by producing a popular show that spawned numerous other reality-based programs.

JANUARY'S RAM – January's second RAM Student of the Month is senior Dennis Tressler, nominated by Mr. Maddy. Dennis, pictured with Principal Tom Woods, has been giving up his free time to help tutor a classmate who has been struggling in math. "Looking out for others is a wonderful character trait that demonstrates maturity and selflessness," said Woods.

FEBRUARY'S RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH – February's Ram Student of the Month is senior Brandon Whitacre. Office secretary Ruth Wilson said she wanted to recognize Brandon for his honest and responsible nature. Brandon needed his report card for his car insurance, but owed a financial obligation. He explained to Ms. Wilson that he did not have the money at the time to pay for his obligation. She lent Brandon the money, and he assured her he would pay her back when he received his next paycheck. "On Friday, he came in to the main office before going to class and handed me the money with a smile on his face. This is an outstanding event for me. I have given out a lot of money and bought a lot of lunches since being at Southern and have not always had a return. I am very proud of Brandon," said Wilson.

Oakland Man Sentenced For Shooting Truck

An Oakland man was handed a six-month jail term after he pleaded guilty during a recent Garrett County District Court hearing to a malicious destruction of property charge filed after he repeatedly fired a shotgun into an unoccupied pickup truck.

Christopher Lee Guthrie, 24, received a two-year sentence, all but six months of which was suspended, was placed on two years of supervised probation, and was ordered to make a $500 restitution payment by Judge Ralph M. Burnett. Guthrie's September arrest stemmed from a domestic altercation at his Hutton Road residence, during which he used a shotgun to fire five shots into the parked pickup truck of another man who had fled on foot as Guthrie went inside the trailer to retrieve the weapon. Additional charges of three counts each of second degree assault and reckless endangerment were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other District Court news, Mark Edward Weeks, 35, Oakland, was handed a five-month sentence, two months of which were suspended, and two years' supervised probation after he pleaded guilty to trespassing, disturbing the peace, and failure to obey a lawful order. Additional charges of attempted third-degree burglary, misdemeanor theft, and unlawful taking of a motor vehicle were not prosecuted. Weeks had been jailed by Oakland police officers in November for showing up at a woman's apartment three times in the same night after repeated police warnings to stay clear of the area. He was apparently trying to use a ladder to gain entry through a window at the time he was apprehended.

Carl Benny Scarlett Jr., 22, Confluence, Pa., was handed a 60-day sentence, all but seven days of which was suspended, and was placed the defendant on one year of unsupervised probation after he pleaded guilty to second-degree assault. The charge was filed by the Maryland State Police after Scarlett choked his girlfriend during a domestic altercation at her Friendsville residence. State troopers also arrested Scarlett a month later on another second degree assault charge after he allegedly slapped the woman during an argument at her apartment. That charge was placed onto the stet docket.

Todd Allen Tasker, 20, Swanton, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, and was handed a 60-day sentence, all but 15 days of which was suspended, and was placed on one year of supervised probation. Additional charges of four counts of second degree assault and one count each of disorderly conduct and failure to obey a lawful order were not prosecuted. Sheriff's deputies summoned to Tasker's home in November to check on his welfare placed him under arrest after he made verbal threats to shoot several individuals.

Richard Lyle Madigan, 32, Accident, who pleaded guilty to second-degree assault and trespassing, was handed a six-month suspended sentence, fined $610, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. Madigan's January arrest by sheriff's deputies followed a domestic altercation with a man at his ex-girlfriend's home. Alcohol was cited as a factor in Madigan's behavior.

Harry L. Wilt, 39, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property, illegally carrying a handgun, and using an off-road vehicle to trespass on private property, and was handed a 60-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, and one year of supervised probation. Natural Resources Police officers jailed Wilt in September for repeatedly cutting the wire fence of a private landowner to engage in repeated acts of trespassing. The arresting officer located a 30-caliber handgun Wilt was carrying hidden on his person at the time of his apprehension. Additional charges of two counts of off-road vehicle misuse, and one count each of malicious destruction of property and illegal possession of a firearm were not prosecuted.

Walter Lee Paugh, 49, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to failure to obey a lawful order, and received a 60-day suspended sentence and two years of supervised probation. He was arrested in October by sheriff's deputies for being publicly intoxicated at the Mtn. Lake Park BFS, where he continued to harass customers after having been previously sent on his way with a warning. Additional charges of trespassing and disturbing the peace were not prosecuted.

Darrin Jay Fritz Sr., 37, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to failure to obey a lawful order and received a 60-day suspended sentence and one year of supervised probation. Oakland police officers jailed Fritz in January after giving him three warnings not to leave his hotel room in Oakland while he was intoxicated.

Amy Elaine Warner, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $155, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. Warner's June arrest by Oakland police officers came after she slit all four tires and smashed the windshield of a parked car that belonged to a female acquaintance of her boyfriend. She was also ordered to pay $590 in restitution to the car's owner to pay for repair work.

Andrew Warren Pierce, 22, Leesburg, Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $200, placed on six months supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. He had been jailed in August after state troopers searching his car during an Interstate 68 traffic stop discovered a duffel bag containing a smoking device bearing suspected burnt marijuana residue.

Melvin Lee Minnick, 21, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of contraband material in the Garrett County Jail and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence and placed on six months' supervised probation. Minnick was charged by correctional officers in December after he smuggled three plastic baggies of tobacco and a fourth baggie of matches into the jail, where he was serving a previous sentence, by swallowing the materials. The judge also ordered Minnick to pay $237 to the sheriff's office as reimbursement for calling a doctor to come to the jail to "look into" digestive problems that stemmed from his actions.

Elizabeth Carol Donahoe, 57, Washington, D.C., pleaded guilty to a marijuana possession charge and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ). The ruling also included a 30-day suspended sentence, a $255 fine, six months of unsupervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Donahoe's January arrest by state troopers resulted from a traffic stop on Interstate 68 that led to the discovery of two marijuana baggies in her car. Two additional counts of drug paraphernalia possession were not prosecuted.

Essie Darlene Stark, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, was handed a stet ruling on charges of false imprisonment, obstruction of justice, and harassment. State troopers had jailed her in August for forcing an abuse victim to write a dictated statement recanting allegations that a relative of Stark's had assaulted her.

Douglas Guy Yencho, 38, Grantsville, received stet rulings on charges of stalking, intimidating a juror, harassment, and telephone misuse. Sheriff's deputies arrested Yencho in October after he repeatedly followed and called a woman in an attempt to force her to drop a charge of domestic-related assault.

Charles Rosenberger, 60, Frostburg, faced a second-degree assault charge and four related counts of reckless endangerment, each of which was placed on the stet docket. The charges stemmed from Rosenberger's August arrest by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following an incident he had with his neighbors. Rosenberger allegedly went to the neighbor's home where a party was taking place, started an argument, then pointed a pistol at some guests. He then reportedly walked off toward his home and fired two shots in an unknown direction as he was departing the area.

Charges of second-degree assault, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and failure to obey a lawful order faced by Kevin Lamont Essex, 21, McHenry, were stetted. Essex's August arrest by sheriff's deputies followed a disturbance at BumbleQ's restaurant in McHenry, during which he allegedly argued with a cashier. When deputies visited Essex at his Garrett College dormitory to investigate the incident, he reportedly made threatening gestures and put up resistance as he was being arrested for making the threats.

Timothy David Hare, 31, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property that stemmed from his October arrest by state troopers. An employee of Hare's at the Pawn-It Outlet along Garrett Highway accused him of threatening her with a screwdriver and using the tool to damage the paint on her car.

Gregory Allan Moats Sr., 32, Reedsville, W.Va., was not prosecuted on a charge of making arson threats. Sheriff's deputies had jailed Moats in October following a domestic-related incident, during which he allegedly made a telephone threat to burn down the trailer of the victim.

Rex Eugene Hoalcraft Jr. 18, Swanton, was not prosecuted on a misdemeanor theft charge that stemmed from his November arrest by sheriff's deputies for not paying for gas he pumped at the Short Stop.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

Several driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in District Court recently.

Harold Ernest Dillsworth Jr., 38, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a one-year jail sentence by Judge Burnett.

Robert Ervin McRobie, age not specified, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a one-year sentence, four months of which was suspended, along with a $1,000 fine and a two-year supervised probation order.

Eric Carlton Sines, 31, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a six-month sentence, all but 30 days of which was suspended, a $500 fine, and two years of supervised probation.

Susan Jane Osborne, 43, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a six-month sentence, all but 14 days of which was suspended, a $500 fine, and two years of supervised probation.

Ryan William Sutton, 20, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a 60-day sentence, all but two days of which was suspended. He also faces a $400 fine, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service.

Paul Douglas Knox, 50, Md., was deemed to be in violation of his DUI probation, which was revoked with a five-month jail term imposed.

Gary Michael Thomas, 51, Md., was found to be in violation of his DUI probation, which was revoked with a 30-day jail term imposed.

Randy Lee White, 38, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), a $555 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Daniel Joseph Reichert, 38, Ohio, pleaded guilty to DUI and received a PBJ, a $455 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Lorin Jason Rounds, 20, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, a $400 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, and one year of supervised probation.

Stacey Lynn Cain, 47, Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and received a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service.

Anthony Paul Miller, 23, Md., was handed a stet ruling on a DUI charge, with an order to complete 20 hours of community service.

Edward G. Bakale Jr., 42, Pa., was handed a stet ruling on a DUI charge.

Dear Ms. Nettie
Sponsored by GCNET Internet Services

Dear Ms. Nettie,

I often see web site addresses that I'd love to check out. The problem is, by the time I get to my computer I forget the addresses. Are there any shortcuts that could help me remeber these sites?

Signed,
Fortgetful Fred

Dear Forgetful Fred,

With most sites you can get away with URL shortcuts. Instead of typing http://www.blahblahblah.com, you can get away with just typing in the company name. Keep in mind this shortcut will only work if the site starts with www. For example, if you wanted to find Yahoo in Netscape or Internet Explorer, simply key in Yahoo and hit enter. Internet Explorer will also auto scan the other common root domains (.edu and.org).

Current versions of Netscape and Internet Explorer will also attempt to guess which URL your entering by looking at your history file. So if you're looking for yahoo, you might only have to type in www.y and key return/enter, and they'll guess the rest. Pretty niffty, huh!

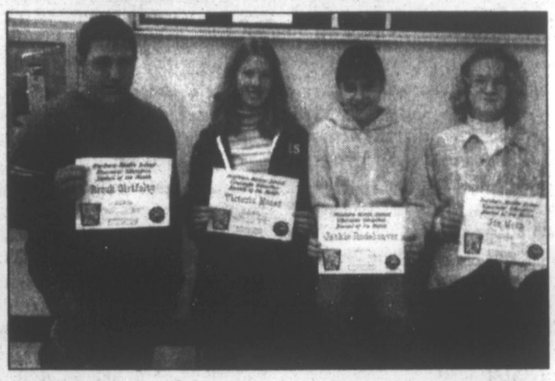
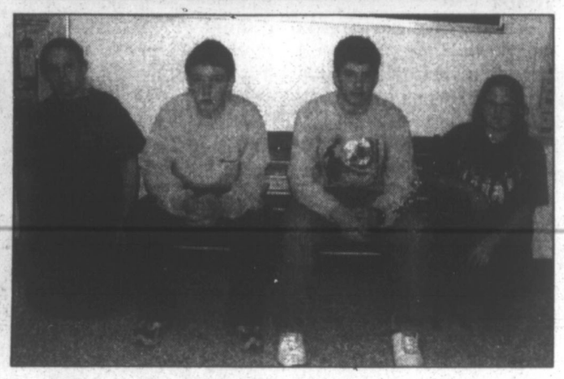
Dustin Stough, Laura Butner, Megan Wiley, and Corey Sebolt. Jessie Wilt, Hannah Walters, Ainsley Raley and Adam Miller were the seventh grade honorees, who are pictured below. At the right are those representing the eighth grade: Shawna Stallman, Daniel Thomas, and Lea Biser. David Beitzel was absent.





DEMONSTRATING SELF-CONTROL – During the month of October at Northern Middle School, students and staff focused on the character traits of "responsibility" and "dependability." Pictured above are the sixth grade honorees. They are, from the left, Clinton Maust, Zach Lipscomb, Chelsie Glotfelty, and Whitney Glotfelty. The selected seventh graders were Eric Espada, Chris Wood, Sarah Voelkel, and Samantha Stemple, who are pictured below. The eighth graders are seen at the right. They were Amy Hall, Ryan Shunk, Nick Ferrell, and Kelley Harding.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Rest in peace, our little old Emily. Almost 20 years ago my former colleague from the newsroom at The Republican, Carol Canan (now Craver), was out on her rounds as an electric meter reader and found a litter of little puppies abandoned in a snow bank. Of course, as a true animal lover, she gathered them up and found good homes for them. One found a home with us.

She was just a small black mutt with white paws and little patch of white on the end of her tail. The most special thing about Emily was the way she crossed her front paws in front of herself, being very ladylike. She never ever lost the sad, abandoned puppy's eyes.

The last day she seemed weak and she almost staggered, could hardly walk, and look dazed and confused. That night I did not go to bed at all, as I wanted to do anything I could to make sure she knew that she was loved. I guess I said the best thing you could say to her, "Good dog, Emily is a good dog."

She visited Dr. Rick at Pineview Veterinary Hospital the next morning. I just got the bad news – kidney failure. So the biggest wish I had for her was to hang in there for one more spring. Now I face the horrible job of telling my girls, who dearly loved her, that she probably would not make it. As much as my heart was breaking, I know it will be even worse for them, because she was always around for their whole lives.

Before she left for the vet and they had to go to school, they hovered around her, combed her coat, brought her fresh water and a hamburger, and told her that they loved her a hundred times. If love could cure anything, she would be all right. But although love is the best medicine, it cannot cure everything, as I learned when my beloved horse was too weak and I tried everything to save him even though he already was 31 years old, which was very old for a horse.

It is always a small comfort that you know the lost one lived a long and happy life. I once again was fortunate that Dr. Rick was holding the fatal needle. If he could save them for you he would, but he will make their last moments still filled with loving care.

By now I probably have grieved for probably a dozen good dogs, and it does not get any easier each time. Actually, as I am crying for little Emily, I also cried for Socks, Ralph, Wolf, Grr, plus Tinkerbell (a cat), Little Joe, and my first little pony, Misty. Well, little Emily came home to her final resting place with the other beloved pets that passed on to Animal Heaven.

I was shocked to learn that my mother didn't notice the golden leaves still hanging on young hickory trees in the woods along roads she travels so often. "What leaves?" Look! Can't you see them? Right there!

As much as my family can't understand me, I can't understand how they can't see what I do, either. In all the winters that I spent in the Bittinger area, I never have seen autumn leaves still on the trees in the last days of winter. It is because of that early ice storm in October, which is the one that made this winter seem the longest ever. But I don't agree with the television statements that this is the worst winter for 90 years. Although it is hard to remember the exact years, I know at least five winters when I was a child that were as bad as this year, and the winter is not even close to 1976-1977. Or the one in the early '80s when we had sub-zero temperatures plus 50 mph winds to make the wind chill almost 100 degrees below zero. That weather truly was life-threatening. Maybe it just seems worse because of the several unnatural warm winters we have experienced in the last few years, which were not really good news, with the too dry summers that followed them.

It seems to me that, even though this winter was very bad for me mainly because I face it alone, now it kind of looks like it might get back to normal. Normally, the really bad weather finishes by about mid-February, although we never get real spring weather until March 21. The earliest truly spring –like weather we enjoyed in Bittinger was around 1980 when April was warm enough to be out without a jacket or coat, and it was warm enough for me to start my summer tanning.

My friend living in Middleburg, Va., told me a couple weeks ago that they had hundreds of robins already. I do not expect any robin sightings in Bittinger for at least three weeks from now. Maybe a few will appear in McHenry or Accident before that, but not here in Bittinger.

Nothing is better than a reunion with very old friends. Although I once saw him only briefly when I was rushing around doing my job as an overextended professor of English and he was a part-time instructor of criminal justice, the really last clear memory I had was of his wedding soon after his graduation from Northern High School. Since he was one of the first close friends who took that big step, like any teenage girl, I shed a few tears.

Robert, or as we called him, "Butch," Hesson moved up from Baltimore into the next-door house that formerly was occupied by the Metzler family. He was just one year older than my brother Rodney, and they were very close. They spent a lot of time tormenting the gang of young girls

CELEBRATING FOOD CHECK-OUT DAY – The Maryland Farm Bureau, Garrett County Farm Bureau, and farmers and ranchers throughout the country recently recognized Feb. 6 – the 37th day of the year – as Food Check-Out Day. According to the state bureau, it takes most Americans 37 days to earn enough money to pay for their food for the entire year. Pictured above, showing their support for the agriculture industry and farmers who produce that food, are future farm queen contestants and their moms. Left to right are Garrett County Farm Women chairperson Rebecca DeBerry-Tasker holding Brooklyn Tasker, Nicole Pysell (seated), and Diane Pysell holding Emily Pysell.

UM Expert To Present Horse Health Seminar

A seminar on equine health, focusing on common diseases of horses and practical methods of preventing horse-related problems, is slated for 6 p.m. Friday, March 21, at the Garrett College Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies (CAOS). The free program will be hosted by the college's Agricultural Management program.

University of Maryland College Park horse extension specialist Erin Peterson will facilitate the seminar. Peterson is a faculty member with UM's Institute of Applied Agriculture (IAA), where she teaches courses such as Equine Nutrition and Nutrient Management, Equine Behavior, Equine Health Management, and Equine Reproductive Management. Peterson has bachelor's and master's degrees in equine science and animal science from Colorado State University, Fort Collins, where her research focused on investigating nutrition of the growing horse.

The Garrett College Agriculture Program offers an associate of applied science degree in agriculture management at the McHenry campus. The GC program is an outreach offering of the IAA, which offers a two-year certificate in equine business management. Starting in the fall 2003 semester, students will be able to earn a portion of the Equine Business Management program at Garrett College.

The college's CAOS building is located along Mosser Road behind the Panorama Motel, just east of the main McHenry campus. For information about the horse health seminar, persons may contact GC Agriculture Management program director Willie Lantz at 301-387-3331.

Share Our Rural Heritage

West Virginia Wild and Wonderful

Garrett County Maryland

NEW TOUR SITES SOUGHT – The award-winning "Visit Our Working Farms" program is accepting applications for new participants to be included in the 2003-2004 promotional brochure. Produced by the Rural Development Coalition, the program includes agricultural-based businesses in Garrett and nearby Preston County, W.Va. The farm tour project was developed to increase farm revenue while creating an educational and entertaining attraction. "Going into its third year, this program has been very popular with residents and visitors to the area," said Joyce Bishoff, chair of RDC. "We have really had terrific participation by our farming community and have featured everything from the traditional growing of produce to picking, carding, and spinning of fiber from sheep, llamas, and rabbits." Landowners who produce food, fiber, herbs, wood, etc., and who would accept visitors on a regular basis may apply. The operation of the site may be seasonal or throughout the year. For more information and to obtain an application, persons may contact Peggy Santamaria of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386, 301-245-4400, or by e-mail at peggy@garrettchamber.com.

USDA Increases Crop Insurance Cost-Share

The USDA is going to use extra measures to encourage farmers in "underserved areas" to purchase crop insurance by March 15. The agency announced an additional cost share of up to 50 percent for levels of 75 percent or higher. Maryland is included in the targeted states. The amount of discount increases with the level of coverage. No additional discount is offered at the CAT level. For the 50 percent coverage, the additional discount is 10 percent, for 55 percent, a discount of 15 percent, up to a maximum of 50 percent discount on coverage of 75 percent or more. The effect of the additional discount is that producers can often increase their level of protection by two or three levels, for example from 65 to 75 percent, for the same amount of net premium initially budgeted. USDA emphasized that producers must contact a crop insurance agent before March 15 in order to take advantage of the benefit.

More Bad News for Milk Prices

The USDA's January "Milk Production" report confirmed what many feared: Milk production shows no sign of slowing down. In the top-20 dairy states, milk output totaled 12.5 billion pounds during January, up 1.8 percent from a year ago. In order for prices to rebound, cow numbers need to start shrinking. The report did not deliver on that either. Instead, the 20-state cowherd grew 56,000 head more than last year and 4,000 head more than December.

ATTEND NATIONAL FFA CONVENTION – Six young Garrett Countians representing both Northern and Southern high schools took part in the 2002 National FFA Convention, held in November in Louisville, Ky. They took part in a number of competitions and attended several seminars. Pictured in the front row, from left, are Lacie Berkebile, Northern FFA president and state delegate; Becky Berkebile, secretary; and Kim Bowser, junior advisor and state delegate. In the back, same order, are Josh McKnight, Travis Sines, and Nick Sines, all Southern High FFA ag mechanics team members, Maryland state champions.

FARM QUEEN, LOCAL REPS ATTEND CONVENTION – A number of Garrett Countians attended the annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention, held in December at Ocean City. The county's farm queen, Lacie Berkebile, took active roles throughout the four-day event, opening meetings with prayer, leading pledges, and introducing various speakers. She also exhibited her award-winning display of Garrett County, shown below. (The collage garnered first place at the state fair in the category of recreational display. It will soon be exhibited in the front office of The Republican newspaper in Oakland.) Pictured from left are Gary Fratz, Kate Fratz, Clark Kolb, all Farm Bureau board members; Lacie; Brooks Hamilton and Nancy Berkebile, both board members; and Mabel Blamble, Farm Bureau member.

Pasture and Hay Workshop Set For Goat Producers

Garrett College will host a program on spring pasture management and hay quality for goat producers, set for 10 a.m. Saturday, March 15, at the Garrett College Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies (CAOS). The free program will be followed by lunch, which will be served at a charge of $3 per person.

The workshop will be facilitated by Extension forage specialist Dr. Less Vough of the University of Maryland, College Park. Vough, who has accumulated many years of experience in pasture and hay production, will lead a question-and-answer discussion about pasture and forage issues. Vough is also a professional hay evaluator, and he will be bringing several hay samples which he will have the group evaluate. Participants interested in having their hay evaluated may bring their own samples to the workshop.

The Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia (MPWV) Meat Goat Producers Association will hold its spring meeting after the luncheon. The group will be finalizing plans for the annual Boer Goat Show and Sale, slated for Saturday, June 7, at the Garrett County Fair Grounds, and the annual Meat Goat Conference, which will take place the following day, Sunday, June 8, at Garrett College.

Persons interested in joining the MPWV Meat Goat Producers Association can obtain further information on the organization's Web site at www.meatgoat-.biz. Further details on the association and the March 15 workshop are available from GC Agriculture Program director Willie Lantz at 301-387-3331 or wlantz-@garrettcollege.edu.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Asher Glade Church of the Brethren

There will be a Ladies' Aid meeting at the church this evening, March 6, beginning at 7 p.m.

Lenten Services

The Grace Lutheran Church and the Friendsville United Methodist Church will once again share Lenten services by alternating every other Thursday. The Methodist Church will host the services on Thursday, March 13, at 11:30 a.m., and Grace Lutheran will host them on March 20. Those attending are asked to bring a bag lunch. Everyone is invited to attend.

Friendsville United Methodist

The congregation recognized the March birthdays of LouAnn Sines, Ginny Sines, and Dave and Nancy Thomas by singing "Happy Birthday" on Sunday.

Facts on Colon Cancer

Interested persons are invited to attend a seminar on colon cancer at the Garrett County Health Dept. on Monday, March 24, from 6 to 8 p.m. Guest speakers will be Dr. Charles Walch and Ernie Gregg, Garrett County commissioner, a colon cancer survivor. The event is free to the public, but pre-registration is recommended by calling 301-334-7770. Refreshments and door prizes will be offered. The event is sponsored by Garrett County Interagency Cancer Committee.

Northern Garrett Rescue Squad Station 3

Northern Rescue announces the addition of five new members at Station 3. Four of these new members recently earned the title of EMT-B by completing 110 hours of training, and passing a practical and written exam. They attended a class at Garrett College two nights a week starting in August and completing in February. They are as follows:

John Wilson is a teacher at Bishop Walsh High School, where he is also head coach of the football team. He is married and has one son. He plans to also pursue a future in nursing.

Ken Sines is a truck driver/timberman for Sines Lumber Co., and is married with two children. He is an avid hunter and fisherman. Ken has been a driver for Station 3 for almost a year.

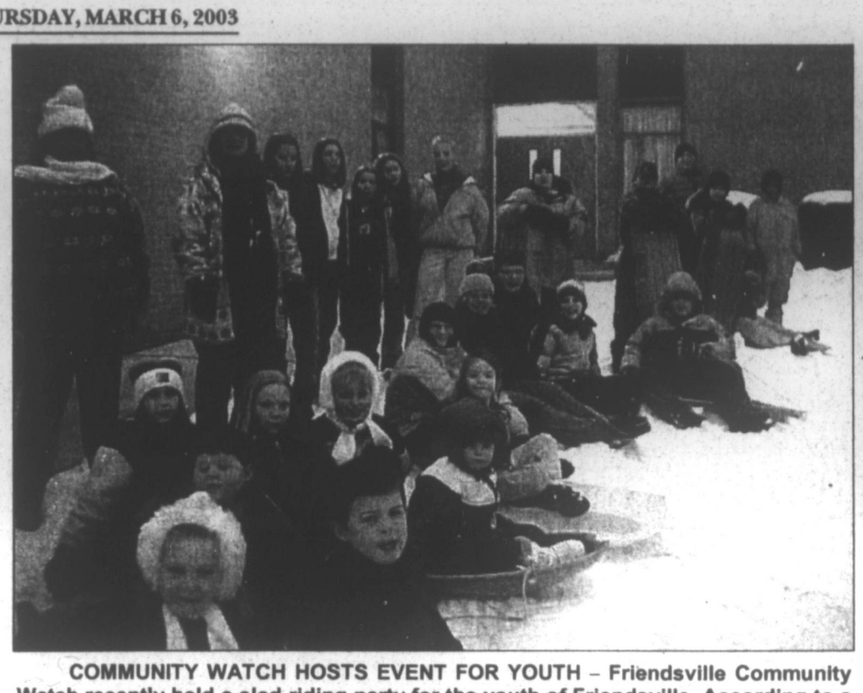
Alison Sines is the daughter of Ken and has a A.A. degree from Garrett College in fine and performing arts. One of her hobbies is singing, and she is in demand to sing at weddings and social functions. Alison currently works at Subway and plans to continue her education in the fall.

Brenda Frazee works for the Garrett Co. Health Department as an outreach worker. She is the mother of three daughters, a member of the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren, and a member of Friendsville's Community Watch.

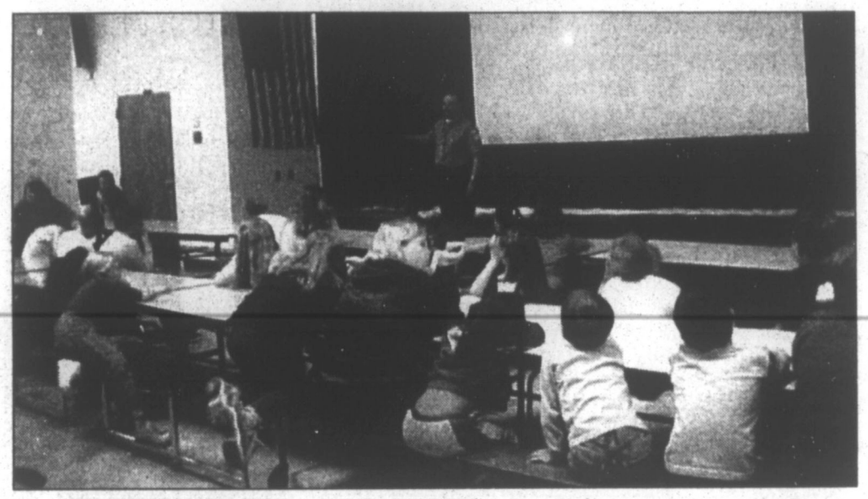
The fifth new member to Station 3 is Danita Frazee. Danita works at Garrett Memorial Hospital as an ER technician, is married, and has three children. She previously served with Southern Rescue, but because of her move back to the Friendsville area she plans to run with Station 3.

"These individuals took time from their busy lives to go to class, study, and still volunteer 24 scheduled hours with the squad each month. They are going to be a valuable addition to the station here. When you see them in the community or on a call, congratulate them and let them know how much they are appreciated," stated a spokesperson for Northern Rescue.

To learn more on becoming an EMT-B persons may contact Mary Friend at 301-746-5504. Volunteers are needed.



COMMUNITY WATCH HOSTS EVENT FOR YOUTH – Friendsville Community Watch recently held a sled riding party for the youth of Friendsville. According to a group spokesperson, more than 36 persons participated in the evening event, which was held at Herrington Manor. The group is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department. Anyone interested in joining the Community Watch may call Brenda Frazee at 301-334-7730 for more information.



STUDENTS LEARN TO "HUG A TREE" – Jim Kucharczyk from the Frostburg Fire Department presented a "Hug A Tree" program to the Friendsville All-Star After-school. Children were given instructions what to do if they get lost in the woods. The after-school, which is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department and the Friendsville Community Watch Program, meets every Tuesday at the Friendsville Elementary School from 3:30 to 5:50 p.m.

COMPLETE EMT-B CLASS – Several local individuals recently completed EMT-B classes at Garrett College. Kenny Sines, Alison Sines, Brenda Frazee, and John Wilson started class in August and attended classes two nights each week, while holding jobs and keeping up with family agendas. Northern Rescue Squad, Station 3, will be adding these four to its work schedule. Pictured above, left to right, are Kenny Sines, Alison Sines, Frazee, and Wilson. Seated is Mary Friend, assistant chief of Station 3. Donita Friend, another new member of Station 3, was unavailable for the picture. Shown below are Alison Sines, left, and Samantha Fontaine celebrating after passing the class. Sines will be working with Station 3 in the Friendsville area, and Fontaine will be working with Station 1 in Grantsville.

Wing Night

Friday night's Wing Night will now be served from 6 to 9 p.m. every Friday at the Friendsville fire hall. The wings come in a variety of flavors. They also serve chicken dinners, fish sandwiches, french fries, onion rings, chicken fingers, cheese sticks, and more. Everyone's support is appreciated. Proceeds benefit the Friendsville Fire and Rescue Dept. Inc.

Mini-Bucks Bingo

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Dept. Auxiliary will hold a Mini-Bucks Bingo this Sunday, March 9, at the Friendsville fire hall. Doors open at noon, and early bird games will start at 1:30 p.m. Regular games start at 2 p.m. A $15 donation includes a packet of all paper cards, and there is a $1,100 payout. Only ticket holders will be admitted. For more information, persons may telephone 301-746-5619 or 301-746-5385.

Painting Class

Mandy Steele will be teaching another painting class on Saturday, March 15, at the Friendsville Elementary School. For more information or to preregister, persons may call Freda at 301-746-5656.

Friendsville Community Watch

The next meeting of the Friendsville Community Watch will be held Tuesday, March 11, at 6 p.m. at the Friendsville School cafeteria.

There will be an Asset Building Conference at Garrett College from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 12. A free lunch will be provided. Youth and parents from Garrett County will be attending. There will be door prizes and other give-aways.

The Community Watch will sponsor its annual Easter Egg Hunt on Sunday, April 13, at the Town Park beginning at 2 p.m. Anyone interested in volunteering is invited to do so. Community service hours will be offered to student volunteers.

Teen recreation will start Monday, April 14, and be held from 7 to 8 p.m. and continue every Monday and Wednesday after that until May 28 for ages 10 to 18. Basketball, volleyball, games, refreshments, and door prizes will be offered each night. A reward trip to Smiley's will be offered at the end of May.

The Community Watch will hold a volunteer appreciation dinner for Friendsville's after-school volunteers on Tuesday, April 15, at Uno's, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

The April meeting of the Community Watch will be held April 8 at the school at 6 p.m.

Diabetes Management

There will be a diabetes management class on Tuesday, March 11, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office in Mtn. Lake Park. This class will feature such topics as Type 1 and Type 2 diabetes, hyperglycemia and hypoglycemia, blood glucose monitoring, preventing diabetes complications, and effects of stress and sickness on diabetes.

GC Foundation Works To Continue Paving Road To Higher Education

The Garrett College Foundation, which administers a wide variety of scholarships that help both local and non-local residents pursue studies at the college, held its annual meeting recently at GC's McHenry campus. Over the past year, the 501-C3 organization awarded competitive merit and need scholarships valued in excess of $50,000 to approximately 70 individuals for the college's 2002-03 academic session.

The GCF's board of directors is composed of volunteers from the Garrett County community. The board's officers are Ann M. Smith, president; William G. Weissgerber Jr., vice president; Philip L. Rodeheaver, treasurer and Finance Committee chairperson; and Phyllis K. Vitez, secretary.

Also serving on the board are Annette M. Chapman, Colleen G. Nordeck, Walter E. Schoenian, Donna G. Sites, and Dr. D. Duane Cummins, the retired president of Bethany College in West Virginia.

The foundation board of directors has undergone a transition over the past year, as longtime members Virginia M. Clutter and Dr. William Yant both concluded their service with the group at June's end. The pair served in the foundation's start-up period, with Clutter logging 12 years that included six years on the Scholarship Committee, four of those as the committee chairperson. Yant, who served eight years on the board, was also on the Scholarship Committee.

Representing the GC board of trustees on the foundation board is Charles C. Bender. The GCF's executive director is Bretta Reinhard, and college president Dr. Stephen Herman and dean of administration Michael Kilgus also provide expert assistance to the organization.

"The service of these community members on our board of directors is exemplary," remarked Smith. "I want to commend every member of the GCF board of directors. We sincerely appreciate the time and effort devoted to this charitable organization to help higher education. Garrett College is an important component of our community."

The foundation initiated an annual fund drive during the fiscal year which ended on June 30, 2002. "The Carl DelSignore Foundation was extremely generous and donated $20,000," said Herman. "The DelSignore Foundation has been a constant friend and supporter of Garrett College. We are very grateful to the foundation, and we are pleased that we can be part of keeping the memory of Carl DelSignore alive."

Herman and his wife, Dr. Gail N. Herman, along with Daniel Edward Offutt III, a Garrett County who now resides in Connecticut, Ann M. Smith, Adrian C. Smith, and Ann Blakeslee Smith contributed at the Legacy Level, the highest level of giving.

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty contributed at the next highest level of giving, the College Circle. The foundation also recognized generous President's Circle level contributions made to the annual fund by Demaree Inflatable Boats, Douglas and Terry Riley, Savage River Lodge, Total Concepts in Information, and William G. and Debbra M. Weissgerber.

Daniel Edward Offutt III was the lead contributor of annual scholarships for students at Garrett College for the forthcoming academic year. "Mr. Offutt has greatly helped the foundation, the college, and our students," remarked Reinhard. "We are grateful for his substantial financial support that has made educational opportunities possible for the residents of Garrett County."

There were several contributions to endowed scholarships during the fiscal year. Helen Forman Carroll made a significant charitable contribution to the endowed scholarship fund she established in memory of her late husband, Fred Clark "Beck" Carroll. Barbara and Eugene Flinn generously donated to the endowment fund for the Dorothy Brock Leighton Scholarship. Ann Dilgard has consistently given to increase the endowed scholarship fund she established a number of years ago, and did so again in this past year.

The foundation administers endowed scholarships donated by Mr. and Mrs. A.P. Boxley III, Helen Forman Carroll, Ann Dilgard, Barbara and Eugene Flinn, the late Honorable Stuart Hamill, Edward B. Hinebaugh, Gary and Luanne Ruddell, Herbert H. Leighton and the children of the late Dorothy Brock Leighton, Mildred Schmidt Nethken, Michael Rostosky, the late Amy Mildred Sharpless, the late Aza and the late Louise Stanton, Marie Schmidt Tasker, Phyllis and Vaughn Vitez, Patricia and Carroll Vitez, and the late Hazel Fratz Wright.

Annual scholarships were donated by the American Association of University Women, the Civic Club of Oakland, Joan B. Crawford, the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club, the Friendsville Rotary Club, Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, the GC Board of Trustees, the GC Continuing Education Division, the GC Student Government Association, the Junior Woman's Civic Club, the Knights of Columbus Oakland Council #1771, the Maryland Municipal League, MeadWestvaco—Luke Mill, Oakland/Mtn Lake Park Lions Club, Oakland Rotary Club, Daniel Edward Offutt III, Railey Realty, the family of the late Jeffrey Kirk Roszell, Jack and the late Dorothy Smouse, Joanna and Carlton Sisler, and Verizon Telecommunications.

The college's Agricultural Club initiated a new annual scholarship for students who major in agricultural management.

In addition to the financial support to the annual fund and for scholarships, the GC Foundation received a number of other donations during the past year.

Significant financial support was directed to the Innovative Partnerships in Technology (IPT) Program, enabling the GCF to successfully complete a state matching program. A technology endowment fund was established with all contributions going to the IPT program, and the DelSignore Foundation was a strong supporter, along with First United Bank, M&T Bank, Mettiki Coal, and Farmers and Merchants Bank, and all donations were matched by the state of Maryland. "The Garrett College Foundation is most appreciative to receive this important financial support for technology," stated Ann M. Smith.

First United Bank provides professional management of the foundation's assets.

The GCF's office is located in the Continuing Education Building at the McHenry campus. For further information, persons may call the foundation at 301-387-3100.

IN MEMORY OF OUR LOVING MOM,
Ruth Rounds
HAPPY 75TH BIRTHDAY, MOM

How all of us miss you so much. We miss you everyday since you left us. God has always had a meaning for things we don't understand. But I'll bet he just didn't have enough angels up there because we all know that's what you are now. So you can look down upon us once in awhile and we will always know you're there for us when we need you. All of us have always known you were an angel sent from God, and now you have your wings, Mom. We miss you so much and a part of our life went with you and will always be that way. Have a good birthday, Mom. You deserve it and know that we will always miss you very much.

Love,

Garrett County Health Department
Dental Care Center

When a child begins to participate in sports or recreational activities, injuries can occur. Mouth protectors known as mouthguards are important protective face gear.

You may have seen mouth protectors used in contact sports, such as football, hockey, and boxing. Coaches and team players know that mouth protectors cushion blows to the face that may cause broken teeth and even jaw fractures. Ask your dentist about custom-made and store-bought mouth protectors.

For more information about children's dental health, call the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center at 301-334-7660.

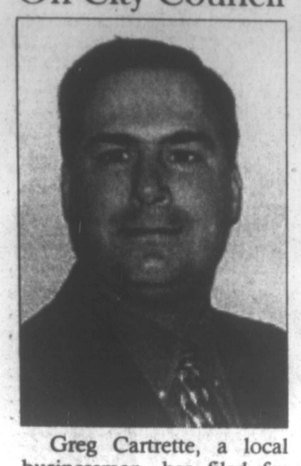
Cartrette Files For Position On City Council



Greg Cartrette, a local businessman, has filed for council member on Oakland's town council.

"I am originally from a small town, and that has taught me to appreciate being neighborly," Cartrette said. "I believe that people should serve the community in which they live."

He attended the University of North Carolina and majored in finance. After college, he served 10 years in the U.S. Army, and now works as a financial adviser and owns his own business in Oakland.

He is an active member of the Oakland Rotary Club, and serves as sergeant-at-arms and international chairman.

"I enjoy listening to the concerns of others, and helping where I can make the biggest difference," Cartrette said. "I pledge to represent the community of Oakland by hearing individuals' concerns and keeping an open mind."

He said that being a business person and homeowner in Oakland has brought him closer to the town's concerns.

"I support repairing and enhancing our infrastructure, including water lines, sidewalks, and bridges," he said. "A better recycling procedure would only ease our community into today's standard of living. I would also like to see business development in Oakland, but in such a way that is congruent to the natural beauty of the town and its residential areas.

"I want the best for Oakland and will work to promote its beauty and historical value while promoting safe growth."

He is married to Oakland native Cathy (Burnett) Cartrette, who is the daughter of Ralph and Lucy Burnett.

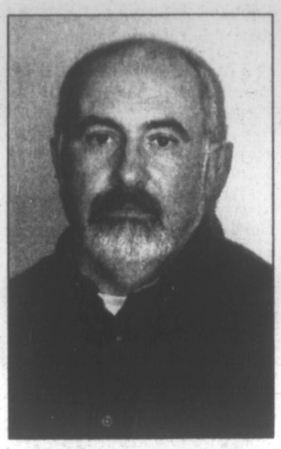
J. Moyer Seeking Re-Election On Oakland Council



Harvey "Jay" Moyer has filed for re-election for one of the three available seats on the Oakland town council. A resident of Oakland for more than 40 years, Moyer said he has served residents for the past 16 years and would like to continue to make Oakland "a better place to live, work, and visit."

The candidate said the mayor and council have worked together to accomplish much for the "overall good" of Oakland. The following are some of the issues or projects on which they have worked:

- The Oakland sewer collector system, wastewater treatment plant, Water Rehabilitation Project, and Street Paving Project.
- The Glades town park and walking path and Oakland Veterans' Park.
- Purchases of a leaf collection system and street sweeper.
- Construction of a new 800,000-gallon water storage tank.
- Annexation of an area along Memorial Drive.

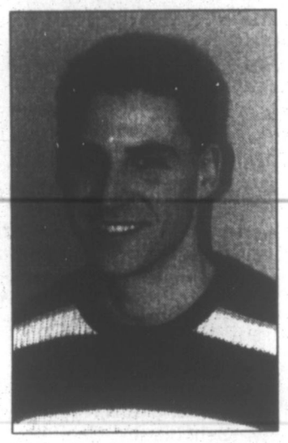
"There are still some major projects we are working on that I would like to continue to be a part of," Moyer said. These include the CSX Third Street Bridge, Rt. 219 relocation/bypass, the creation of the Priority Funding Area in preparation for the bypass, and overseeing street department operations.

Some of the other key points about the current council and mayor that Moyer said should be pointed out are that they have not raised taxes in more than 16 years; lowered sewer rates in 2001; have a policy to assist volunteer and service organizes; initiate projects as grant money becomes available; and have doubled the size of Oakland through annexation, allowing for more controlled growth.

"I have worked hard for Oakland," said Moyer, "and I would appreciate the opportunity to continue to do so."

The election will be held on Monday, March 10, at the Oakland town hall. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6p.m.

Todd Files For Re-Election To Oakland Council



Chris Todd, a current town council member for Oakland, has filed for re-election to that post. The polls will be open on Monday, March 10, for the Oakland election.

Todd, who has served two terms as a council member, said he wishes to continue to be involved in the community of Oakland, where he resides with his wife Kendra and their three children.

"My father taught me a long time ago: 'You can't get upset with the world if you don't get involved.' It does no good to be an armchair quarterback unless you actually play the game," Todd said, referring to his reasons for running again. "I would truly be honored to earn your vote to be on the Oakland town council for another 2-year term."

The small-town atmosphere is important to him, Todd said, and he wishes to help guide the growth of Oakland while preserving its heritage.

"I have served two previous terms with a very energetic mayor and town council who have always worked as a team," Todd said. He noted that of his three children, two are in the public school system. He has coached youth T-ball, soccer, wrestling, and softball. He is also a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, where he formerly served on the board of trustees committee.

The candidate is a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, where he majored in marketing, minored in economics, and completed further studies in the area of management.

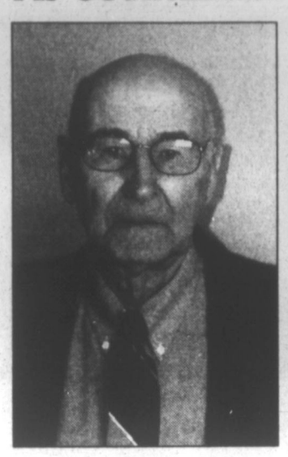
Man Cited For Failing To Stop For School Bus

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for failing to stop for an official school vehicle when red lights were flashing, police said.

According to police, Timothy K. Sanders, 38, was traveling southbound along Route 219 near Cr Knoll Crest Heights Drive when he allegedly failed to stop for bus #22. The driver of the bus was able to get a partial tag reading along with a description and distinct markings on the Chevy truck, police said.

The citation carries a maximum fine of $270 and three points.

W. Ringer Files For Re-Election As Councilman



Willard Ringer has filed for re-election for one of the three seats on the Oakland town council. He has served on the council since 1993 and has lived in the Oakland area his entire life.

"I have worked with the mayor and council as a team to improve Oakland," said Ringer, adding that he is interested in the growth of the town.

The following are some of the key projects and issues that he has supported:

- The Oakland bypass, to help improve the traffic problem.
- The CSX Third Street bridge.
- The construction of a new 800,000-gallon water storage tank along Crook Crest.
- Conservative spending. Ringer said he has kept the tax rate the same while he has served on the council.

The candidate was appointed water/sewer superintendent in 1971. Also in that year, Ringer was appointed town inspector for the construction of the Broadford Water Plant, the 8-inch water line from the plant to Second Street in Oakland, and the construction of Broadford Lake and Park.

"I have enjoyed serving Oakland over the past 10 years as a councilperson," said Ringer. "I would like to request you vote for me on Monday, March 10."

The polls will be open at the town hall from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

McDaniel Vies For Oakland Council Seat

Lynn McDaniel, the current adult services supervisor at Ruth Enlow Library, has filed for candidacy for Oakland's town council.

She moved to this area nearly thirty years ago after earning a degree in education from the University of Maryland at College Park. Initially, she taught at Southern Middle School, but after the birth of her sons, she joined the staff of the Ruth Enlow Library. McDaniel also serves on the regional library's advisory board as well as on the board of directors of Our Town Theatre.

When her sons were younger, she was a volunteer in their schools, a soccer mom, and a den leader. More recently, she worked with her sons to help find solutions to the lack of affordable, convenient activities for the neighborhood youth.

"Now that my children are grown, I hope to spend more time in service to my community as a member of the Oakland Town Council," McDaniel said. "Over the years, I have lived in various neighborhoods in Oakland and have seen the town from different perspectives. I enjoy living here – meeting and greeting neighbors on my way to work and on the job. Open, friendly and caring people live here and I think they deserve open, friendly and caring leadership in government.

"I believe Oakland should be a community where all the citizens feel they are being heard. It is difficult to find solutions that will please everyone, but, if people feel they are being included in the process, they are often more accepting of the outcome. Therefore, keeping people informed is a key issue for me."

According to McDaniel, one way to do this is to publish the town council agenda before any meeting so that people with concerns can know about the meeting and plan to attend. She added that she plans to gather and listen to all the information about an issue before making a decision, and that once that decision is made, she said she also wants to make it understandable and accessible to the public.

"I believe we should clarify and more logically integrate the town's charter with its various ordinances. Currently, it is very difficult for concerned citizens to determine exactly what the laws and procedures of the town are. I will work to assure that zoning standards – both residential and commercial – are protected and enforced. We must make provisions for accommodating business and residential interests so that both can coexist comfortably. For example, if a commercial or professional activity wants to move into a residential neighborhood, they must adopt residential operational standards in such areas as parking, signage, trash removal, lighting, and noise generation. Finally, it is time for Oakland to develop a recycling plan so that the residents can more readily help the county meet its obligations."

TROOP 22 PARTICIPATES IN SCOUT SHOW – Boy Scout Troop 22, sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, recently participated with 21 other Scouting units in the 2003 Potomac Council Scout Show. The show's theme was "Scouting: A Foundation for Character." Troop 22 members were given center court at the Country Club Mall in LaVale to demonstrate the theme by constructing a tower. The Scouts used their pioneering skills to craft the 16-foot tower, which was held together with only ropes. Shoppers were able to see the Scouts transform a pile of lumber and assortment of rope into a watchtower during the show. A ladder was also constructed by the boys during the demonstration. A total of 15 Scouts worked on the tower. Pictured are Evan Savopolous (behind the flag), Brendan Stephens, Zach Gotsch, Sam Lauver (on ladder), and Mike Rosecky.

Local Company Among Top 50

Thompson Gas, with headquarters in Boonsboro and a location in Garrett County, has been ranked as one of the top 50 propane retailers in the U.S. by LP GAS magazine. This family-owned business, with roots in rural western Maryland going back almost 60 years, has grown to serve more than 10,000 customers throughout Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

"Our customers' satisfaction is the number one priority for all of our hard-working employees, and this ranking by our industry peers shows that we are heading in the right direction," said Randy Thompson, company president.

This week, speaking to a group of community leaders in Garrett County, Governor Robert Ehrlich commended Thompson Gas for being "a forward-looking company that is willing to invest its future back into Maryland."

Thompson Gas is a diversified energy delivery company.

Richter Named To Dean's List

Garrett County resident Kathryn Richter has been named to the dean's list for the 2002 fall semester at Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pa. To qualify for the dean's list, students must achieve a minimum 3.4 grade point average out of a possible 4.0 for the semester, while completing a minimum of 12 semester hours.

A 2002 honor graduate of Southern High School, Richter is majoring in biology at Susquehanna U. She is the daughter of Dr. Donald Richter and Sheila Edwards.

Notice to Public

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

On or about March 21, 2003, the above named Board of County Commissioners will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Community Legacy

Purpose: Development of strategic municipal revitalization plans

Location: Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn Heights, Oakland, Accident, Deer Park and Mountain Lake Park.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion

Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined said project to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available to public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M on weekdays excluding holidays.

Request for Release of Funds

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will undertake the project described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds. This notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairperson of the Board, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in the relation to the environmental reviews, decision making and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the Garrett County Board of Commissioners may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objection to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800, (d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. to the SCCDBG Program Manager, Md. Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than April 17, 2003.

SIDEWALK SAFETY ORDINANCE

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville, Maryland do hereby adopt the following.

AN ORDINANCE promulgating rules and regulations for the maintenance of safe and clean sidewalks within the corporate limits of the Town of Grantsville. For the purposes of this ordinance, a sidewalk is defined as that portion of the street between the curb line, or the lateral lines of a street where there is no curb, and the adjacent property line, intended for the use of pedestrians.

The Mayor and Council find and declare that it is in the public interest to regulate the maintenance of public sidewalks to:

A. Protect the residents of the Town and visitors from potentially dangerous conditions on the town's pedestrian right-of-ways;

B. Safeguard the public health and welfare; and

C. Promote the health, safety, order, convenience, prosperity, and general welfare of the Town.

BE IT ORDAINED THAT: The regulation of the maintenance of sidewalks shall be regulated in accordance with Article XI-E of the Maryland Constitution, Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and Section 18-76 of the Town of Grantsville Charter, which authorizes the Mayor and Town Council to enact ordinances that protect the public welfare by requiring all owners or occupants of premises abutting on a sidewalk to keep the sidewalk clear of all ice, snow, dirt, and other obstructions.

A. Owners of premises upon any street with a paved sidewalk shall keep such sidewalk free and clean of all filth, dirt, earth, or any other obstruction of any kind whatsoever at all times of the year and, during the warm weather months, free and clean of all grass or any other foreign substances growing therein.

B. Owners of premises fronting upon any street with paved sidewalks shall remove snow and ice from the traveled portions of the sidewalk to a width of at least 30 inches within 24 hours after any snow or ice ceases to fall.

C. It shall be unlawful to remove or deposit such obstructions, filth, dirt, earth, snow, ice, and grass as set forth above in paragraphs A and B in such a manner that results in the obstruction or impediment of the natural drainage flow of water through any gutters or to discharge or place such materials on the traveled portion of any public streets.

A violation of this ordinance will be prosecuted as a criminal misdemeanor. The penalty for violation shall be one hundred dollars ($100) for each offense. Each day that the violation continues shall be considered as a separate offense.

The first reading of this Ordinance was on February 17, 2003.

The second reading of this Ordinance will be on March 17, 2003.

This Ordinance shall become effective 20 days after passing. This date will be April 7, 2003.

This Ordinance shall be duly advertised in accordance with the Policy for the Adoption of Ordinances by the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville. A copy of the Ordinance is available at the Town Hall located at 171 Hill Street, Grantsville, Maryland 21536.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing on Monday, March 24, 2003, at 7:00 p.m. at the Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to receive public comment regarding proposed Ordinance O2003-01. This ordinance has been introduced before the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland.

The proposed ordinance will allow the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland to engage in cooperative procurement by obtaining goods or services through state or local government procurement agencies and/or from the suppliers who offer such goods and services to state and local governments, when the terms for said goods or services have been arrived at through a competitive procurement procedure.

A copy of this ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday through Friday.

Box 773, Grantsville, Maryland 21536, applied for a new permit to discharge an average of 16,000 gallons per day of treated domestic wastewater from the proposed Roam Around Campground Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) located on Roam Around Lane (off Church Run Road) in Grantsville, Maryland, to Church Run a tributary of Piney Run, which is designated Use III waters protected for the growth and propagation of trout.

Tentative Determination:

Issue a new discharge permit with the following effluent limitations for proposed Outfall 001: BOD5, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; ammonia nitrogen, 4.7 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 14.7 mg/l maximum daily average from May 1 through October 31, 12.4 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 19.9 mg/l maximum daily average from November 1 through April 30; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time, 6.0 mg/l minimum daily average; fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean value; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. Use of chlorine or chlorine compounds in the treatment process is prohibited. Monitoring for effluent temperature and temperature upstream and downstream of the discharge point is required. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting is required. The permit may be reopened to incorporate any future Total Maximum Daily Load requirements.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by March 26, 2003. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd. STE 455, Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708 Attn.: Stephen Luckman, and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by March 26, 2003 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before April 7, 2003. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-537-3671 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.32 per page.

Joint Lenten Services Set

The congregations and pastors of the Mason Dixon Cluster, United Church of Christ, have recently announced the schedule for the joint Lenten services.

The schedule is as follows: March 12, 7:30 p.m., St. Paul/Wilhelm, Rev. Ruth Kershner, speaker, Rev. Bruce Ashlock, pastor; March 19, 7:30 p.m., New Hope/Meyersdale, Rev. Jerry W. Rogers, speaker, Rev. Lamar Bender, pastor; March 26, 7:30 p.m., St. John's/Grantsville, Rev. Bruce Ashlock, speaker, Rev. Jerry W. Rogers, pastor, may be contacted at www.saintjohnschurch.us or 301-895-5256; April 2, 7:30 p.m., Trinity/New Germany, Rev. Alan McClarty, speaker (Penn West Conference minister), Rev. Ruth Kershner, pastor, may be contacted at 814-662-4281; and April 9, 7:30 p.m., Amity/Meyersdale, Rev. Lamar Bender, speaker, Rev. Bruce Ashlock, pastor, may be contacted at 814-634-9777.

Any last minute information concerning these Lenten events will be posted at www.churchpage.faithweb.

The Ash Wednesday service was held on Wednesday, March 5, at St. John's/Salisbury. The Rev. Ruth Kershner directed a special Lent service, "The Shields of The Apostles On The Lenten Tree of Christ."

Phone Drop-Off Site Helping Area Assault Victims

TWR Communications is helping the Dove Center in aiding Garrett County's victims of domestic violence/sexual assault by volunteering to be a drop-off site for used cell phones.

"These phones are programmed for 9-1-1 calls only and can be an invaluable resource for victims of abuse, who may not have access to a regular telephone," said a Dove Center spokesperson.

Donated cell phones are issued free of charge to victims to assist them in their transition from life with an abuser to living independently.

"Knowing that help is only a phone call away, victims of abuse have a stronger sense of safety and security, which motivates them to proceed with the basic tasks of living such as job hunting, continuing their education, and house hunting," said the spokesperson.

Donated cell phones must be in good working order, clean, and with their original parts in order to be useful. They will then be given to the Dove Center for distribution.

TWR is located in Oakland at the Brodak Center along Garrett Highway and is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

GIRL SCOUT TIME CAPSULE TO BE OPENED – The Girl Scouts of Garrett County are inviting all former and current Girl Scouts to participate in a special program this Sunday, March 9, at St. Peter's hall in Oakland. "Celebrating 90 Years of Girl Scouts" is the theme for the event, which begins at 3 p.m. and includes a flag ceremony, a fashion show of vintage Girl Scout uniforms, a memorabilia table, and discussion time with former Scouts. One of the highlights of the event will be the opening of a time capsule that was put together by Girl Scouts in the Oakland area on March 12, 1987. The forgotten capsule, which was supposed to be opened on March 12, 2000, was recently discovered at the Oakland Ruth Enlow Library. Also discovered was a picture of the girls who compiled the contents of the capsule. Pictured above, left to right, are Melanie McCloud, Tammy Walford, former Ruth Enlow Library director Edith Brock, Stephanie McCloud, and Missy McCloud with the capsule prior to it being stored at the library. At Sunday's celebration, current Girl Scouts will have an opportunity to make their own small, personal time capsules. "The girls are looking forward to meeting former Girl Scouts, seeing their memorabilia, and hearing about their memories as Girl Scouts," said a spokesperson for the celebration. Persons wanting more information about this event or those who helped with the 1987 time capsule are asked to call Elizabeth Huxford at 301-387-2280. Pictured below is Girl Scout Troop 5006, which is ready to celebrate. In the front row, left to right, are Tiffany Tasker, Nicole Skipper, Lillian Sweitzer, Lindsay Crawford, and Alicia Roth. In the back row are Emily Kisner and Audrey Bowser.

The Beacon

The light in your window has extinguished.
The light you left in our hearts lives on.
Your life was simple, honest, and straightforward. The lives of those around you are better because of your light. How glowing you must be now in having reached the eternal light. How grateful we are that you let your light shine on us.
We love and miss you.

The Family of Richard Hesse
Would like to express sincere appreciation for the love, concern and support given to us during our time of loss.

We would like to thank Mark Durst and his staff at Durst Funeral Home for the professionalism shown, combined with caring for the family, Rev, Steven Sauder for your ever-comforting presence and kind words during the funeral service, those who sang for your ministry in song, and those who gave memorials.

Also, thank you to all who plowed the roads, carried firewood, prepared, delivered, and served the food, and braved the winter storm to attend the viewing and funeral.

Thank you to the staff at Anne Arundel and Garrett County Social Services for your cards, visits, and flowers, the staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for your cards, calls, visits, and flowers, and a special thanks to all who changed their schedules to allow Ruthie to have time off work.

Thank you to Green Acres Garden Center for providing beautiful arrangements and proving that, even in a winter storm, roses do still bloom. Also, to the folks from Pleasant Valley Community Center for opening your building and your hearts to us.

Thank you to all who visited the home, sent cards, offered prayers and shared their time, handshakes, hugs, and tears.

After-school programs keep kids safe, help working families and improve academic achievement.

- More than 2/3 of children in Garrett County have parents who work outside the home. More than 700 children attend Partners After School programs.
- Many kids have no place to go once the school day ends.
- Studies show that students involved in after-school programs get better grades, attend school more and have improved behavior. They express greater hopes for the future and more interest in school.
- Teens who participate in after-school are less likely to skip class, use marijuana and other drugs, smoke, drink alcohol or engage in sexual activity.
- About 13 percent of children and adolescents are now seriously overweight. After-school programs can provide physical activity and reinforce healthy behavior.

around our farm. Besides Carol and I, and of course, Cindy and Sally Beachy, we had lots of battles between the boys and the girls. Aside from lots of teasing we still had lots of fun, making hay and doing 4-H activities.

One of my favorite memories from my teenage years was when we took his father's 1958 hot-pink Cadillac convertible to a 4-H Older Youth meeting in Oakland. We were joined by our cronies from Oakland, Sherry and Pam Frantz and Jane Gibson, and cruised Oakland streets in real style. That was the coolest car I had ever ridden in. You remember those big cars with the big fins, etc., very popular for the Farm Queen to ride in a parade. In any case, Butch returned to the frozen wilderness from Florida with a law degree in his hand, and I assume to keep close in touch with his mother Ginny, living now in Grantsville.

It hardly seems possible, but here we are on March 4 and it is over the 40-degree mark. I could even start my car this morning without any assistance, which is the first that seems like forever.

Although I don't have the exact details about the frenzy of basketball games and final games of the season, and with their many makeup games, too, the teams will keep pretty busy through playoff season. My Mere and Emma Bass had a good first experience on the hard court. The Bass and the Southerly family boys are also very busy. I got a phone call from my brother Barry, informing me that our Garrett Lakers men's basketball team beat our arch rival Allegany College Trojans in overtime for the Region XX championship. Also, the Garrett Women's team won the Maryland JUCO title. Pretty good for way up here in Garrett County.

I couldn't find many people who agree with television that this winter was the worst in ninety years. Yes, everyone agrees it was bad, but the worst? I don't think so. I am sure the worst is over already. Thank goodness.

Brent, Kelly, Wyatt, and Teagan Beachy, Grand Rapids, Mich., were visitors of Dave and Nancy Beachy this past week. The Stanton and Poholsky families and Ferne Beachy were Sunday dinner guests.

Brent Housley, Scott Pusateri, and Torrey Poholsky are members of the Cumberland YMCA indoor soccer league. The team, known as the "Felonious Monks," are coached by Sam Housley and Lenny Poholsky.

The Bittinger Lutheran Youth Group will be participating in the Bowling for Kids' Sake on Saturday, March 29. Each bowler needs $25 in donations to participate. Any help given would be appreciated.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church's quarterly congregational meeting will be held immediately following worship service this Sunday morning.

Ralph and Ethel Buckel observed their 65th wedding anniversary yesterday, March 5.

The Northern High School Band will be sponsoring a buckwheat/pancake, sausage, etc., brunch this coming Sunday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Old-fashioned buckwheat cakes are the specialty. Costs are $5 for adults, and $3 for students. Children 5 years and under may eat for free.

Sunday lunch guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty were Tom and Tim Glotfelty, and Ida Reckner. Afternoon visitors were Chris and Janelle Carey and daughter Allison, near Frostburg.

Library Board Submits Budget To GC Officials

The Garrett County Ruth Enlow Library board of trustees presented its FY 2004 operating budget request to the county commissioners this week. The trustees are asking $690,965, which is $100,965 or about 15 percent more than it received last year.

The library's total expected operating budget for FY 2004 is $929,725, which includes salaries, staff improvement, rent, utilities, supplies, and other expenses. In addition to funding from the county, the library receives income from the state, fines, fees, investments, and donations.

Library director Cathy Ashby noted the five branches are open a total of 173 hours per week. "The library's 11,887 registered borrowers and other occasional users visited our libraries 138,632 times during the past year," she said.

"The number of people using the library's computer resources has grown a lot over the past five years," the director noted. "The library's computers are in use 80 percent of the time. During our busiest hours, there is usually about a 10 minute wait to use a computer."

Board president Mimi Demaree said the trustees were very excited about the new technology and support at each of the branches. The library recently received several new computers and automated its check-out system.

"We like to think we're introducing and supporting technology in the county," said Ashby.

Some of the board's goals in the coming year are increasing the number of pa-

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP – Shoveling snow in shorts has to be a good sign for the snow-weary residents of Garrett County. Paul Naylor donned his spring attire this week to finish up the winter work in front of his Oakland home. Dirty remnants of the famous Presidents' Day weekend storm remain still, but recent warmer temperatures have shrunk the previous mountains into manageable piles. And this will only continue, if the forecasters are on the mark, as they have predicted a warm weekend, some rain, and breezy 35-50 degree days. Not so bad. Think spring! Photo by John McEwen.

New Members Join Oakland Town Council

One incumbent and two new members will join the ranks of the Oakland town council after the votes of the municipal election were tallied this week.

Incumbent Harvey (Jay) Moyer received 184 votes, Frank Custer received the second highest number of votes with 165, and Lynn McDaniel came in third with 155 votes.

Greg Cartrette received 152 votes, and incumbents Chris Todd and Willard Ringer received 148 and 110, respectively.

There are close to 1,000 registered voters in Oakland, and 297 people cast ballots in this week's election.

According to Mayor Asa McCain, he was pleased with the turnout.

"I was hoping to get around 300, and every time you get close to one-third, it is a definite plus," he said. "In the 15 years I have been mayor, we have only seen

BOE Approves Revisions To School Calendar

The Garrett County Board of Education has been granted approval by the State Board of Education for changes to the school year's calendar.

A waiver was granted for three days due to closure for severe weather. All systems in Maryland were granted two days, Feb. 18 and 19, but since Garrett County had been previously approved for school on Presidents' Day, it received the extra day of Feb. 17.

The board was also granted approval to have school on the Monday after Easter Sunday, April 21, and Memorial Day, May 26.

"I believe many systems will decide to have school on these two days," said Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent. "Our calendar committee, which consists of school staff and parents, met and unanimously recommended to have school these days. With high

GC Committee Adopts Plan For Heritage Area

A Garrett County heritage area plan, which recognizes the unique character and legacy of each section of the county, earned the approval of the Heritage Plan Committee during a meeting last week at the Visitors Center, McHenry, according to committee chair Trish Morgan.

Appointed by the county commissioners nearly two years ago, the committee has worked with consultants from the Urban Research and Development Corporation to describe the county's significant heritage and move toward an ongoing preservation program. The document will now be submitted to the commissioners for their approval, as well as that of the county's eight municipalities.

Regional planner Bill Atkinson of the Maryland Department of Planning explained that should the county commissioners choose to do so, the plan will be presented to the Maryland Heritage Areas Authority to request formal recognition. Once recognized, an area may receive funds to create a management plan and become eligible for technical and financial assistance to implement the plan.

Atkinson noted that Garrett County is the last area in the state to create a heritage plan. "When the commissioners elected to undertake this study, it was decided, at a minimum, to meet the state's recognition criteria," he said. "Should the commissioners then decide to pursue state certification, the plan would be eligible."

Among other state criteria, a qualifying heritage plan must identify new private investment, jobs, and tourist revenues expected from investment of public money, according to RDC consultants Tom Palmer and Bob Kriebel.

Spotlighting the primary theme – Maryland's Western Frontier – the Garrett County Heritage Plan identifies six distinct historical periods: native American

Carmel Cove B&B Damaged By Fire Sunday

The Carmel Cove Bed and Breakfast sustained extensive damage during a late-night Sunday fire determined to have started when blown insulation located too close to an overheated flue ignited, according to the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company. All persons on hand at the Monastery Way lodging, located off Glendale Road, escaped the 12:08 blaze without injury.

The first arriving fire unit from the Deep Creek VFC located the working fire inside the wall, and extinguished it with assistance from the Bittinger, Oakland, and Grantsville fire departments. The establishment suffered extensive fire and water damage to the kitchen area and living quarters, said Deep Creek chief Mike Phillippi.

Six couples were staying as guests that evening, and all were able to escape safely with their belongings, Phillippi said, while Jodi Ennis, a live-in resident, was not present at the time of the fire. The house,

Hafer, Edwards Asked To Save Local Programs

Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards held their 13th annual mid-legislative session last week at Garrett College. More than 30 residents attended, with many voicing their concerns about proposed budget cuts and pending legislation in the Maryland General Assembly.

Ten residents made impassioned pleas against possible cuts that may reduce or eliminate the Garrett County Local Management Board (LMB). Healthy Families Garrett County and other programs are funded through the board.

Created to help parents rear healthy children who enter school ready to learn, Healthy Families is a free home visitation program offered by the Health Department. The program is entering its fifth year in Garrett County.

Susan Athey-Oxford, president of Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, noted that if LMB were gone, more than $3 million in federal funds, which is administered by the board, would also be eliminated from programs

Maryland Budget Crisis Could Decimate GC Children's Svcs.

The Maryland budget crunch could mean the elimination of each of the state's 24 Local Management Boards (LMBs), the private-public partnerships that oversee interagency services for children and families in local jurisdictions, according to Susan Athey-Oxford, president of the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families. Oxford and other representatives of Maryland's LMBs are encouraging citizens to contact state legislators before the current legislative assembly session ends on Monday, April 7, and urge them not to enact budget cuts that would go into effect at the beginning of the coming fiscal year on July 1.

The LMBs were mandated in 1988 to provide an interagency system of care for children, youth, and families at the local level. LMBs reportedly have leveraged over $71.5 million in non-state revenue over the last five years, with all monies being invested in the 23 Maryland counties and Baltimore City "to improve the lives of children and their families," Oxford said, pointing out that Garrett County's LMB has secured over $3 million for local residents over its lifespan.

"LMBs can be either units of county government or non-profit agencies," commented Oxford. The LMBs are composed of 49 percent private members including parents, business leaders, clergy, and other citizens; and 51 percent public membership that gen-

Grantsville Woman Fatally Injured In Vehicle Accident

A Grantsville woman was fatally injured after her vehicle collided with a tractor-trailer Monday morning at U.S. Route 50 and W.Va. state Route 972, according to the Mineral County Sheriff's Department.

Deborah Dean Farber, 47, apparently failed to yield the right of way and ran into a 1993 Kenworth tractor-trailer, operated by Jacob E. Dolly of Old Fields, according to police.

Dolly refused transport to a hospital, according to the Mineral County Office of Emergency Services.

Ambulances from Keyser Emergency Medical Services and New Creek Volunteer Fire Department, the McCoole Volunteer Fire Company, and the Mineral County Medical Examiner responded to the 9:12 a.m. mishap.

The accident remains under investigation by the Mineral County Sheriff's Department.

Farber's obituary was not available at press time.

Western Counties Wait, Worry About Appalachian Commission Fund Cuts

by Elizabeth A. Shack
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – President Bush's proposed cuts to the Appalachian Regional Commission budget could cost three Maryland counties as much as $1 million for economic development, officials there fear. The president's budget would cut the ARC's non-highway related economic development funds by 50 percent, from $66 million to $33 million.

Maryland got $1.4 million in such funds this year for a number of projects in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties, including sewage infrastructure and technology education.

"They've done a lot of very good things," said Rep. Roscoe G. Bartlett, R-Frederick. "The ARC covers 13 states that really need this kind of help because we are really disadvantaged." But the Maryland counties could see their share cut by more than half, because the money is allocated by need.

"The better you're doing the less federal [funds] you get," said Leanne Mazer, director of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, which manages the program in this state. Each county in the 13-state region gets ARC funding based on its economic status relative to the national average, and half the funding must go to "distressed" counties, Mazer said.

None of the Maryland counties is distressed. Allegany and Garrett are transitional counties, one step above distressed, and Washington County is competitive, the third-highest of the four levels. A county at the fourth level meets the national average, Mazer said.

She said it is impossible to predict the effects of the proposed cuts on Maryland, because with half the funding gone, ARC's federal managers may come up

Petrella Resigns As Administrator Of Sanitary District

Garrett County Sanitary District administrator Ron Petrella has resigned after more than four years of employment with the district.

"I want to the thank the Garrett County Sanitary Commission for its support over the past four plus years," said Petrella. "This was a very difficult decision for me personally because the commission members and the employees at the Sanitary District are some of the best people I have had the pleasure to work with. Although it is tough to leave such a fine organization, I am looking forward to my new job duties."

According to a Sanitary Commission spokesperson, Petrella will be working in the private sector and has accepted a position as vice president of operations for a building contractor based in Morgantown, W.Va. He and his family will continue to live in Garrett County.

"The Sanitary Commission is sorry to see Mr. Petrella leave the Sanitary District," said the spokesperson. "We have been very pleased with his work as the administrator over the past four years. Mr. Petrella will be difficult to replace, and we want to wish him well in his new position."

County To Have Jurisdiction Over Sanitary District

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners has requested legislation from the Maryland General Assembly that would allow the county to exercise jurisdiction over the Garrett County Sanitary Commission. The change will be effective on July 1.

"The Sanitary Commission unanimously supports the decision of the Board of the County Commissioners to request this legislative approval to change the authority of the district to that of the county," said chairperson Dorothy Leuba, who has been a member of the commission for nearly 20 years.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt said the commissioners, county legal counsel, senior management, and he discussed at length the rationale and justification for placing the operations of the Sanitary District under the authority of county government.

They based their decision, Pagenhardt said, on the following circumstances:

• The number of projects under way that require immediate attention to secure sufficient funding, assurance of not exceeding cost projections, and meeting expected deadlines.

• Garrett County government has the knowledge and professional administration to govern the ongoing water and sewer infrastructure planning for Garrett County.

• The change in authority

COVERING THE UNINSURED WEEK, March 10 to 16, was proclaimed by the Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday. Co-sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and other diverse organizations, the national initiative focuses attention on the nearly 41 million Americans who lack health insurance. Former Presidents Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter serve as honorary co-chairs for the project. Outreach and advocacy coordinator Martha Bird-Middleton, Western Maryland Area Health Education Center, noted during the proclamation that 8 out of 10 of those uninsured are from working families who cannot afford health insurance and are not eligible for public programs. Much progress has been made in Garrett County in providing for the uninsured, said county health officer Rodney Glotfelty, especially since the Maryland Children's Health Insurance Program (MCHIP) was initiated by the state in 1998. "But there probably still are a lot of families and children who are uninsured," he said. MCHIP is set up for working parents who earn as much as $50,000 a year. For more information about the program, persons may call the MCHIP hotline number at 800-456-8900 or the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111 and ask for Lois, Judy, or Sharon. HOT OFF THE PRESS – The 2003 Vacation Guide for Garrett County is now available at the Visitors Center in McHenry and will soon be on display at welcome centers and other venues throughout the region. This 160-page full color publication is published annually by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce to spotlight attractions and activities throughout the county. The magazine-quality guide is fully supported by advertisers and is distributed free of charge to visitors and residents. In the photo, tourism specialist Laura Reilly (right) gives the new guide to Laura Frey and Steve Harris of Harpers Ferry, W.Va. The couple stopped in the Visitors Center this week to find out what new events are scheduled for spring. Frey and Harris have vacationed in the Garrett County for years, they said, and now own a home here.

Juveniles Face Destruction Of Property Charges

Two local juveniles face numerous charges of destruction of property after allegedly "egging" many vehicles in the Mtn. Lake Park, Oakland, and Loch Lynn areas earlier this week, according to the Oakland City Police and Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

According to police, both juveniles confessed to more than 20 egging reports, and were released to the custody of their parents, pending a hearing with the Juvenile Justice Department.

Any victims from the Oakland area should report incidents to the Oakland City Police by calling 301-334-2100 or stopping by the office. Victims in the other areas should contact the Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911 or stop by the office.

There is an unknown dollar amount of the damages at this time, according to Chief John Sines.

High School Graduation Date Set For June 8

After consultation with the two area high school principals, the Garrett County Board of Education has set this year's high school commencement for Sunday, June 8. Southern's ceremony will be held at 1 p.m., and Northern's will be held at 4 p.m.

School officials said that this date would allow for senior activities to be completed prior to the beginning of underclass student finals. The required senior activities include, but are not limited to, giving and grading senior final examinations which include both brief and extended conducted responses, calculating final year averages, posting final grades and course comments, determining class rank for establishing the valedictory and salutary status, completing vocational program certificates, validating and initializing merit and honors diplomas, finalizing attendance data, conducting awards celebrations, preparing diplomas, and practicing for the commencement exercise.

Oakland Woman Charged After Saturday Crash

An Oakland woman was charged after a Saturday morning traffic accident in Bloomington that injured five persons, one seriously. The two-vehicle collision was investigated by Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack.

The crash occurred at 10:25 a.m. when a 1997 Dodge Neon operated by Regina Jo Kelly, 29, Oakland, rear-ended a 1995 Ford Windstar van on eastbound Maryland Highway at Bloomington Hill Road. The van's driver, James Edward Cooper, 56, Oakland, refused medical treatment at the scene, although his four passengers were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, as was Kelly.

One of the injured van passengers, Linda Ellen Steyer, 49, Oakland, required a medevac flight by MSP helicopter Trooper 5, and was hospitalized for several days before being released. The other four patients – Linda Sue Cooper, 49; James Merril Cooper, 27; David Carroll Steyer, 50; and Kelly (all of Oakland) – were treated and released.

Kelly was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

Additional emergency personnel assisting state troopers at the accident scene represented the Tri-Towns EMS, Valley Medical Services, and the Bloomington and Potomac volunteer fire and rescue departments.

RELAY TEAM ISSUES CHALLENGE – One of Garrett County's most successful Relay for Life teams is throwing down the gauntlet to area churches to join them in the fight against cancer. The Oak Grove Church of the Brethren is sponsoring no fewer than four teams this year, one of which to be captained by Sarena Rodeheaver (pictured). Jodi Matthews is also serving as a team captain. The church is no stranger to the fund-raising event, having in the past won the Spirit Award, the Best Campsite Award, and Best Campsite Food, and being the top money collectors among church organizations. The teams are issuing a challenge to all area churches to organize teams and take part in the popular overnight event, held at Southern High School's track and slated this year for June 13-14. In the meantime, Oak Grove will be fund-raising with pancake breakfasts, pie sales, potato bars, silent auctions, and other events. The next Relay for Life meeting is set for Tuesday, March 18, at Garrett College in the Continuing Education Building. For information, persons may call Linda Fike at 301-387-3049. Oak Grove says "Come on down!"

Swanton Man Faces Domestic Assault Charge

A Sunday evening incident at a Swanton area residence led to the arrest of a man on a domestic-related second-degree assault charge, according to Maryland State Police.

Robert Dale Smith, 43, of Savage River Road, was jailed after the 5:05 p.m. incident, during which he allegedly pushed a woman into a stove, causing a pot of boiling water to spill on her. The victim, who sustained first- and second-degree burns on her arm and feet, was transported by the Tri-Towns Ambulance Service to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Neither her identity nor treatment status was released to the press.

Smith was later released from the Garrett County Jail on his own recognizance.

I-68 Stop Leads To Drug Arrest

A Morgantown man was arrested on drug charges Monday after a search stemming from a traffic stop on Interstate 68 uncovered a large quantity of suspected psychedelic mushrooms, according to the Maryland State Police.

Joseph Anthony Plattner, 23, was stopped at 1:30 a.m. for an equipment violation on the westbound interstate near Amish Road. After he was arrested for driving with a suspended license, a search was undertaken that resulted in the seizure of a large Ziploc baggie containing 234.6 grams of suspected psilocybin mushrooms. Additional charges were then filed of possession of a controlled dangerous substance, possession with intent to distribute, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Plattner was later released from the Garrett County Jail when he posted a $15,000 bond set by a District Court commissioner.

Deficit Grows As Lawmakers Haggle Over Md. Budget Deal

By Dan Genz
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS - Maryland's budget deficit grew to almost $2 billion, officials announced Tuesday, a scenario Gov. Robert Ehrlich says favors his controversial plan to install slot machines at racetracks.

Historic snowfall, impending war with Iraq, and a lagging economy have "created a more dismal picture than we had in December," said Comptroller William Donald Schaefer in a prepared statement Tuesday after the Board of Revenue Estimates decided almost 1 percent of expected income tax receipts won't materialize.

Income tax receipts dropped $76 million and sales taxes slipped $21 million – declines the revenue board do not expect to be made up next year. The four-member panel struck $106 million in expected tax revenues from this year's budget and $112 million from the 2004 figures – a total of $218 million. Lawmakers already scrambling to cover what was a $1.8 billion deficit say taxes, cuts, and $115 million from the Rainy Day Fund will all be considered to shore up the sagging budget.

Closing the deficit has been the most divisive issue of the session. The House favors taxes and cuts over slots, while the Senate backs Ehrlich's plan for slots and, until recently, considered all taxes off the table.

But there's talk that a deal is in the works to resolve the differences among the factions. The three most powerful lawmakers in Annapolis are expected to present a new revenue package tomorrow, said Ehrlich's communications director, Paul Schurick. House Speaker Michael Busch, D-Anne Arundel, Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller, D-Calvert, and Ehrlich will likely meet tomorrow afternoon and introduce a new revenue package that all parties are expected to approve.

Should the leaders fail to agree to a new package, lawmakers have already embarked on their own course to solving the budget crisis. Slots money will not be included in the 2003 or 2004 budgets, both chambers seem to agree. Lawmakers in both houses are still smarting after Ehrlich withdrew his original slots plan, delayed a substitute, and then failed to disclose plan details to even-supportive legislators.

All sides agree new revenue sources or significant cuts will be necessary in the out-years to fund school construction and health care costs. "Slots certainly got a boost," Ehrlich said, and some lawmakers agree.

"I think the pressure is there for slots, especially with the new worse revenue predictions," said Senate Finance Chairman and slots opponent Thomas M. Middleton, D-Charles, who believed the machines were a sure bet until 10 days ago. Since then, Ehrlich redrew his plan to include 1,000 more machines, but it left a $230 million gap in the current budget and gave tracks more revenue than the state.

"The governor's rhetoric wasn't true," said Appropriations Chairman Howard P. Rawlings, D-Baltimore. Ehrlich's first bill would have created gridlock, and his second still is not ready, Rawlings said.

House leaders think taxes will be necessary, but not slots. They're seeking an income tax surcharge on residents earning over $200,000. However, Rawlings wants more. "Funds from slots and a 1-cent sales tax increase have to be tied together," Rawlings said. Funding for the state's education increases is "in serious jeopardy without both."

"I think that's the only way a sales tax would pass," Rawlings said. But that would involve compromises both sides can't make, said Delegate Herb McMillan, it-Anne Arundel.

"That is the worst possible combination that you could have," McMillan said. "Can't think how people who have fought so hard against slots could vote for that. And on the other side, I can't think about how people who have fought so hard against taxes could vote for that."

The governor would surely veto such an agreement that would violate his principles, spokesmen said. Only taxes that don't affect sales or income will be considered. Spending discretion would have made the budget problems much easier, Ehrlich said, but were a major reason he believes he now lives in the governor's mansion.

"I truly believe I was elected to solve these problems," Ehrlich said. "The bill has come due in a very big way."

Drug Charges Filed Against Motel Guests

An observant Maryland State Police trooper arrested a trio of visiting construction workers Monday after he witnessed two of them smoking what is believed to be marijuana at a McHenry motel.

Justin David Gragen, 21, Chesterfield, N.H., and Guilford, Vt., residents Hayden Munroe Bogert III, 25, and Troy Justin Hanson, 23, each face charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. The three suspects were released from the Garrett County Jail after they posted a $1,000 bond apiece.

While on routine patrol, Tfc. J.B. Schlossnagle observed two subjects standing by an open window in a room at the Comfort Inn Motel passing a suspected marijuana "joint" back and forth. When he made contact with three men at the room, the trooper noted the odor of suspected burnt marijuana. A room search uncovered a marijuana joint, a glass smoking pipe, and rolling papers, while a bag of the suspected drug was found in Hanson's pocket.

In other drug arrest activity, troopers utilized a K-9 narcotics-sniffing dog to located suspected ketamine in a vehicle during a Tuesday traffic stop.

Jesse F.A. Liller, 20, Oakland, and Jeremy Adam Sines, 22, Friendsville, each face charges of possession of ketamine and drug paraphernalia stemming from the 12:56 p.m. stop on Garrett Highway north of the Deep Creek Lake bridge. The stop, initially conducted on the basis of an observed seatbelt violation, led to a K-9 scan by Bear, an MSP drug dog, who alerted to the possible presence of suspected drugs in the vehicle.

Sines remained held as of yesterday evening on a $15,000 bond, while Liller was released from police custody on unspecified conditions.

Census Report Says State's "Deep Pockets" Don't Help School Districts

by Meghan Mullan
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON

Maryland spent $8,077 for each public school student in 2001, 13th-highest in the nation, but the state ranked 38th in the amount of money it spends on education relative to its wealth, according to new study by the Census Bureau.

The census report said Maryland, which has the fourth-highest per capita personal income in the nation, spent $38.74 for every $1,000 of personal income. Delaware, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia all had lower personal income than Maryland, but all spent more on schools per $1,000 of personal income, the report said.

Residents of Delaware, for example, spent $8,603 per pupil in 2001 or $40.96 per $1,000 of personal income.

"Eight thousand sounds good, but compared to the wealth of the state, we could be doing a lot more," said Carl W. Smith, president of the Maryland Association of Boards of Education. "It's not that we don't have the wealth," Smith said. "We have the wealth, the resources. We lack the political will to have the best schools."

But education reformers said more money is not the answer, as there are other types of reforms that can improve schools.

"If Maryland is in fact ranked 13th in nation why are there so many failing schools in Maryland?" asked Anna Varghese, a spokesperson for the Center for Education Reform. Rather than overspend on school administration, Varghese said, Maryland should let the money follow the child as it supposed to.

"That is what charter schools do," Varghese said. Reforms like charter schools open school systems up and improve schools in the long run, Varghese said. Simply funneling more money to districts will not do the trick.

Smith disagreed. He said that educators need to look to systemic solutions to help poor students succeed. And that, he said, will take more spending. The report said Maryland falls in the middle of its neighbors on spending per pupil. It trails Delaware, which spent $8,603 per pupil, and Pennsylvania, which spent $8,191.

But Maryland spent more than West Virginia's $7,450 and Virginia's $7,278. But of those states, only Virginia spent less than Maryland per $1,000 of personal income, according to the census report. While Maryland spent $38.74 per $1,000 of personal income, West Virginia spent $54.31; Pennsylvania spent $41.05; Delaware spent $40.96; and Virginia spent $37.70.

"It is disturbing that we are at 38th place," in school spending relative to wealth, said Maryland State Teachers Association President Pat Foerster. "We agree totally that Maryland has the ability to fund schools at a high level." She said under-funding for some Maryland school districts has been an ongoing problem.

"The children don't have any more years to wait. Each year we have not dealt with their needs is a year they have lost," Foerster said.

Gov. Ehrlich Softens Tax Veto Threat

by Dan Ganz
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Gov. Robert Ehrlich relaxed his stance on taxes Wednesday and met with General Assembly leaders to negotiate a solution to the $500 million gap in his budget.

Ehrlich said, "Slots, cuts, and taxes, if any," were the budget measures he discussed with Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert, and House Speaker Michael Busch, D-Anne Arundel, in between luncheon speeches.

While Ehrlich continued to hold the line against increases in sales and income taxes, his spokeswoman said two other formerly taboo taxes are under discussion: alcohol and tobacco.

"It's something the governor certainly would not prefer," spokeswoman Shareese DeLeaver said Wednesday, "But I can't say for certain it would be vetoed." Any so-called sin taxes were dead on arrival in January and February, spokesmen said at the time.

Slots revenue, expected to be $395 million in January, won't come through in 2004, lawmakers said this week. The Board of Revenue Estimates also dropped $112 million from the state's expected tax take, making the situation even worse.

"There is a lot of common ground on cuts, a lot of momentum on slots; it's the third group (tax increases), that we have to work on," Ehrlich said.

Property tax increases are emerging as a possible compromise. Lawmakers would cut $100 million in debt payments out of the General Fund and ask the Board of Public Works to raise the property tax to make up the same dollars at a later date. Although Ehrlich said it is "inaccurate" to say he's actually proposed the property tax plan, Miller said he has.

"That could work," said Senate Budget and Taxation chairman Ulysses Currie, D-Prince George's. Businesses will also face levies, Ehrlich warned, saying loophole closings might not be the best route, but his administration would consider some proposals that businesses would not appreciate.

The House plan calls for something Ehrlich has eschewed, a $300 million income tax increase on residents earning more than $200,000 a year.

"We have options, we have things we can do," said Michael R. Gordon, chairman of the Tax and Revenue Subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"The penny sales tax increase is dying like a grape on a vine," Gordon said of an earlier budget-balancing proposal.

With the income tax facing Ehrlich's veto pledge, the Senate leadership is instead looking to alcohol and tobacco levies, Currie said, and maybe some of the corporate taxes or loophole closing. House and Senate lawmakers are trying to avoid further program cuts to close the remaining gap, since Ehrlich cut $440 million in the budget he introduced Jan. 17, and the Senate is aiming to cut an additional $300 million.

"We're getting close to the limit on cuts. We're looking at the bone," Currie said. Republicans are balking at talk of new taxes.

"Some of the things will be tough for our caucus members to support," said Senate Minority Leader J. Lowell Stoltzfus, R-Somerset, even proposals fellow Republican Ehrlich might back.

The House GOP doesn't want to entertain any revenue increases beyond slots, said Minority Leader Alfred Redmer, R-Baltimore County. "The consensus of the Republican Caucus is that we should pass a slots bill and take care of the rest of it with cuts."

After his meeting with Busch and Miller, Ehrlich told Allegany County leaders that winning fierce election campaigns is easy compared to the give and take required to govern. He called the leadership meeting a success and asked them, "Come back to me with some concrete proposals."

The three leaders must agree on new measures and then use their weight in their respective organizations to pass the legislation by March 30, the last day to present a balanced budget.

"I have the easy part," Ehrlich said, "it's just me."

Man Charged In McHenry Crash Monday

A Virginia man was charged by Maryland State Police troopers after two SUVs collided in McHenry Monday afternoon. The other driver sustained minor injuries in the 2:50 p.m. mishap.

Michael Scott Clemens, 19, Fairfax, was attempting to cross Garrett Highway from Deep Creek Drive to Mosser Road when his 1994 Jeep Grand Cherokee struck a northbound 2000 Ford Explorer operated by Colin Edward Boteler, 22, Odenton.

Boteler was transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Personnel from the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company and the Maryland State Highway Administration also responded to the scene.

State troopers charged Clemens with failure to yield right of way.

In other accident investigations, a Friday morning single vehicle crash on an ice-covered Sand Flat Road slightly injured an Oakland man.

At 4:38 a.m., a 1999 Ford pickup operated by David Lee Bateman, 45, went out of control east of Boy Scout Road, struck an embankment, and overturned.

Bateman was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial, where he was treated and released. The Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the crash site.

No charges were filed by the investigating trooper.

State Police Seek Leads In Home Burglary

A Swanton area burglary is under investigation by Maryland State Police troopers, who are soliciting the public's assistance in apprehending the perpetrator(s).

Sometime between Feb. 1 and March 9, unknown suspects entered a residence at 511 Lee Road and stole an undisclosed amount of change, a Magnavox VCR, several VHS videos, and a jewelry box containing a large amount of jewelry with a total value of over $1,000.

Persons with information are asked to contact Tfc. Whitaker of the McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101, or the Garrett Bureau of Investigation at 301-334-1909. Anonymity is guaranteed.

IS THERE ANY HOPE?

YES! God loves you!

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

In these uncertain times, there is hope, peace and comfort in Jesus Christ, God's Son. All of these are found in His Word, the Bible.

However, you must understand what God's Word teaches us about sin and salvation.

SIN:

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;" Romans 3:23
"As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one: There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God." Romans 3:10-11

When Adam disobeyed God's command, he died spiritually and plunged the whole human race into sin. Mankind is in a lost condition without Christ. You are condemned to a lake of fire when you die.

"And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." Revelation 20:15

SALVATION:

Jesus loves you and His love reaches beyond your sin. He loved you even before you were born.

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5:8

Christ died upon a cross for you so that you would not burn in the lake of fire. He died so that you could be saved forever. He paid the penalty for your sins.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23

You must repent of your sins and receive Christ as your Savior. Read what God says in His Word:

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation... For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Romans 10:9-10, 13

Today, if you would like to be receive Christ as your Savior, just bow your head and pray this simple prayer:

God, I know that I am a sinner. I now repent of my sins and ask you to come into my heart and life and save me. In Jesus Name I pray. Amen.

If you prayed this prayer, we would like to hear from you and send you further information on the Christian life.

The Red Pen is Looming...

The crunch is just around the corner — the money crunch, that is — as both our state and federal governments are facing huge deficits.

Maryland is looking at a deficit of around $2 billion coming into the next fiscal year, partly because of the political shenanigans of our immediate past governor, Parris Glendening. As we know from dealing with our own family budgets, generating more revenue, eliminating waste, and cutting programs/services are absolutely the only options for reducing or eliminating deficits.

It appears that legislative passage of the most significant effort by new governor Robert Ehrlich to generate new funds — legalization of slot machines at racing venues — is in great jeopardy. With or without slots, though, the cuts are coming.

Just one possible funding cut of great concern, about which an article appears in this section, is the money that supports the 24 local management boards (LMBs) in Maryland, the private-public partnerships that oversee a variety of services for children and families provided by several different agencies. Among the local services that receive funding through the LMB are after-school programs, and several others that help prevent crime, teen pregnancy, and drug abuse.

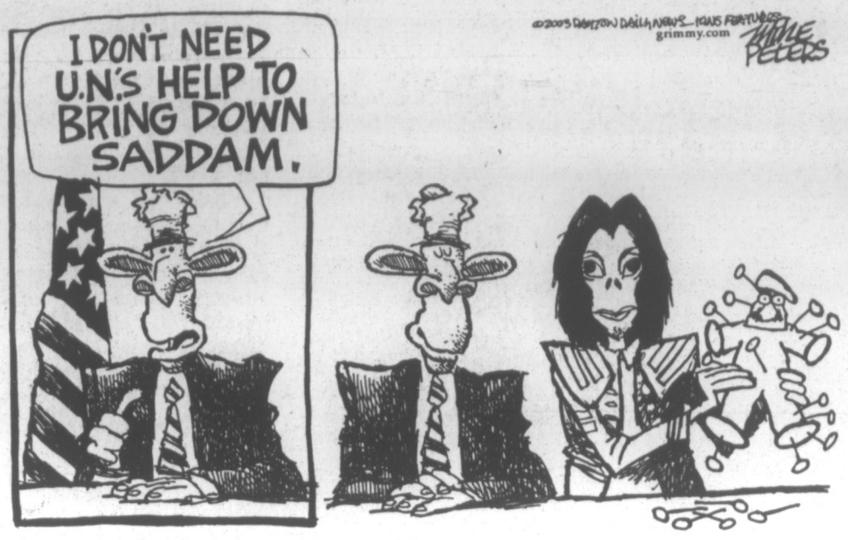
The LMB is just one of the many worthy agencies that could be hacked in the attempt to restore the state's solvency, but such restoration is crucial to the long-term health of our state finances.

Meanwhile, cuts at the federal level, caused partly because of President Bush's huge tax-cut proposal — and destined to be expanded by an almost certain war with Iraq — evidently include Appalachian Regional Commission monies, which would also have a significant impact locally. Numerous county projects have been funded in large part over the past several decades by ARC monies, and several more that are on the table may not receive funding. (See a story about these possible cuts in this section also.)

One of the interesting things about the ARC issue is that, probably for the first time in the history of Garrett County, the greatly improved state of our local economy, thanks to development at Deep Creek Lake, is working against us. Ever since our founding, Garrett County has easily met the guidelines for what constitutes a "distressed" economy. No longer. We are now rated "one step above distressed," which makes us ineligible for the same level of ARC funding for which we have qualified in the past.

"The better you are doing, the less federal funding you get," stated Leanne Mazer, director of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland; and, frankly, that's how it should be. The tax base of Garrett County has been so bolstered by the property values around the lake that money is rolling into the county coffers at a healthy rate. There are many distressed areas that do not have this luxury, and they are the ones that should receive most of the assistance from state and federal programs.

While cuts are inevitable, we do agree that proponents of various local programs fight, and fight hard, to justify the continuance of those programs, by writing to their legislators and, if possible, testifying before those elected officials. Those programs which receive the strongest endorsement by the constituency will be among the most likely to survive the looming red pen.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Beginning on Saturday, March 15, through Saturday, March 22, Marylanders can help their neighbors in need with a very simple action: by placing non-perishable foods out for collection by their U.S. Postal Service letter carriers or by dropping food off at any post office. Food collected during the week will help stock the more than 1,000 food pantries and shelters throughout the state served by the Maryland Food Bank.

Maryland is one of America's most affluent states; yet there are people in every community who go to bed hungry each night, many of them children or seniors. About half of the households served by the Maryland Food Bank include people who have jobs, but for the majority, their monthly income is less than $1,000.

This year's Harvest for the Hungry food drive, the 17th annual, has more support than ever from businesses and volunteers. Please help make it Maryland's most successful statewide drive by donating generously during March 15-22.

Your neighbors may thank you. We do.

To The Editor:

It has recently been brought to our attention that new properties with nine bedrooms on Deep Creek Lake have been approved by the Garrett County Planning and Zoning Department.

To what end? Just to provide out-of-area investors, who have no interest in the unique quality of Deep Creek Lake or the area, the ability to squeeze additional rental income over a four or five bedroom house?

Irrational arguments aside, these facilities are really "mini-motels," urged by investors and built at the expense of the lake area, county facilities, and the existing neighbors of a "monster" rental facility.

We urge your readers to contact their county commissioners and ask for a revision to the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning that would prohibit these commercial structures and to limit the amount of bedrooms to a maximum of five.

Without this action, Garrett County's gift to Maryland and its visitors will become Breezewood, Pa., with a lake!

Very truly yours,

To the Editor:

We wish to offer a heartfelt thank you to our wonderful neighbors. Due to illness and difficulty walking, my husband needed medical attention, but was unable to get out of our snow bound drive. Tom Huckestein and Harold Hoecker came daily, digging out a path and uncovering my car. Their unending acts of kindness have made it possible for us to stay in our home this winter.

We thank God for neighbors like you.

To the Editor:

I'm always so pleased with the excellence of our newspaper's editorial page. My thanks to the staff of The Republican and to the folks who write in to express their views. I think the dialogue on the current war situation has been thought-provoking and educational in many ways. I am one for containing Saddam Hussein and never going to war again.

The one thing that seems to get lost in so many discussions is that those who will be quite dead or maimed at the end of any conflict will not simply be the enemy — they will be human beings. The current plans from our military assure me that the cost in human lives will be horrendous, no matter how short the war. We are simply capable now of unleashing horrible weapons of mass destruction, and many seem proud of that accomplishment. We gloss over that fact by talking of rebuilding Iraq. We have not been able to make real progress so far in rebuilding Afghanistan. And, we have great needs to ensure the health, safety, and education of our own people and the infrastructure in our own country. We need to understand and heal our own democracy before we offer it to others.

To quote a famous warrior who hated war — "Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired signifies, in the final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, those who are cold and are not clothed. The world in arms is not spending money alone. It is spending the sweat of laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children. . . . This is not a way of life at all, in any true sense. Under the cloud of threatening war, it is humanity hanging from an iron cross."

The above is from a speech by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1953, at the end of the Korean War.

To the Editor:

In 1999, Marylanders established the Maryland After-School Opportunity Fund (MASOF) with $10 million as a down payment on meeting the needs of the state's young people who deserve a safe place to learn and to grow once the school day is done.

After-school activities programs are in jeopardy at the state level with a recommended $5 million in cuts. In 2002-2003, over 19,000 young people from around the state have participated in after-school programs which were supported by the fund and administered by Local Management Boards (LMB). In Garrett County 700 youth participate in LMB funded after-school activities which have been assembled with a variety of funding sources but with 60% of the support currently coming from the fund.

An independent evaluation of fund-approved programs conducted by the University of Maryland finds that they are filling important gaps, they are using research-based best practices, and participating young people are doing better in school and in life. The Thornton Commission recommendations include funding for extended day and extended year programs. In many jurisdictions, LMB funding helps support the school system's before and after-school programs.

A recent poll found that 87% of Maryland voters favor expanding after-school programs with public money. The Rose Institute (Claremont McKenna College) national study concluded that after-school programs were cost effective. Using data from several highly regarded studies from around the nation, analysts concluded that the return to taxpayers ranges from $2.19 to $3.22 for every dollar spent on after-school programs. The return to crime victims ranges from $4.44 to $6.64 for every dollar spent on after-school programs.

"Most of the tremendous financial benefits offered by after-school programs come from diverting a small number of at-risk youngsters from a life of crime," said Rose Institute Senior Fellow Steven B. Frates. In Garrett County, the LMB was awarded $142,000 from the fund annually. This amount is utilized to serve hundreds of local youth, but another way to view it is that this amount covers the annual out-of-home residential placement costs of three or less at-risk youth. How do you prefer that your money be spent: on low-cost prevention services now, or expensive, deep-end, and all too often, avoidable services later?

After-school programs keep kids safe, help working families, improve academic achievement — and save the taxpayers money. Lawmakers need to continue to invest in the future by funding the after-school programs that families want and need.

If you care about the future of Partners After School Programs in Garrett County, please contact the following: Governor Ehrlich at 1-410-974-5041; Senator Patrick Hogan, chair of the Education, Business and Administration Subcommittee at 1-301-858-3685; and Senator Gloria Lawlah, chair of the Health and Human Services Subcommittee, at 1-301-858-3092 and ask them to maintain the $10 million in the Maryland After-School Opportunity Fund.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

I think it's wonderful that there are a number of caring people that volunteer their time and/or money to work for the benefit and welfare of animals in our county. I personally have been doing homeless animal rescues in Garrett County for over a year now, and have been witness to great generosity and sacrifice from individuals and organizations to help animals in need.

It may surprise Garrett County residents to know that one of the greatest saviors for homeless animals in this area is not a member of a volunteer animal welfare organization, but one of our local veterinarians, Dr. Paul Deal, of Countryside Animal Hospital.

Dr. Deal and his staff have helped, and continue to help, homeless animals in so many ways, offering their time, facility, and professional skills. Dr. Deal's contributions cannot be measured in terms of simple monetary donations, since what he offers the animals literally saves their lives.

Dr. Deal saves homeless pets by giving them a safe place to stay while waiting for rescue placement, and offering his veterinary services, all at greatly reduced benefits to his own business. I believe Dr. Deal's contributions are invaluable, and show a real dedication and caring for all animals, not just the pets of his clients.

I can personally testify to the fact that without Dr. Deal's help, many of the homeless pets I have been able to save over the past year would have instead been euthanized at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, because of overcrowding. I would like to thank Dr. Deal on behalf of myself and all the animals he has helped that now have a great new start, living with caring and loving families.

Also showing his concern for the problems of pet over-population in our county, Dr. Deal is offering an additional $10 discount to all participants using coupons for the Spay/Neuter Month, sponsored by the Garrett County Humane Society and Garrett County Animal Shelter. I believe this is a splendid gesture to encourage people to spay and neuter their pets, which will reduce our homeless pet population. And once again, Dr. Deal is making this monetary sacrifice for the benefit of our local animal welfare.

I encourage all animal-lovers out there who can't stand the thought of all the truly wonderful homeless pets in our county being euthanized simply because there are not enough homes to thank Dr. Deal and his staff, Nancy Deal, Carol Teets, Mary Ann Murphy, Stacey Gordon, and Joy Deal, for their hard work, sacrifice, and assistance in saving these pets. Drop them a note, give them a call, or stop by and let them know they are appreciated. I greatly appreciate all of them, and so do all the pets they have helped to save that now have a bright future.

Editor's note: The following letter was sent to President George Bush by 11-year-old Sarah Sisler, Greenbelt, who expressed her concern for her uncle, Clinton Sisler, of Friendsville. The family asked that it be reprinted here.

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing because I don't want to go to war. In my letter I am talking about my uncle, the war, and why we shouldn't go to war. Please read my letter.

I don't want my uncle to go out to sea. He is only 10 years older than me. He is like a brother. I don't want him to get hurt. He also needs to help my aunt with the newborn baby she just had. So please don't send him out.

Now I will talk about the war. I feel it does not solve anything. What if we lose? It might stop terrorists, but you don't know that. I think you should wait and give the inspectors more time to find weapons.

Lastly, I will talk about why we should wait. You can use problem-solving. You can talk it over. And you can write them a letter. In your letter, you can say how you feel about the bombings in the past. You can also include how you and the other countries can make it better.

Now if you could take my advice and try it, I would appreciate it. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask. Thank you and have a nice day.

Your friend,
Sarah Sisler

MY ANGLE ON IRAQ
By David Foster

There's been a lot said about the prospect of the United States going to war against Iraq, pro and con. That's a healthy thing, in my opinion—When else has a war been so openly talked about, and debated by more countries, long before the first shot was fired? What is not healthy, also in my own opinion, is a lack of facing facts, however unpleasant they may be.

Here are some of those facts that have led me to think long and hard about this issue, and to change my stance 180 degrees since the beginning of the year. These items have been gleaned, selectively of course, from a number of fairly middle-of-the-road sources such as the United Nations web page, Amnesty International, the Christian Science Monitor, The Newshour on PBS, and National Public Radio. (No Fox news from the right wing here, nor leftward items from The Nation—of which I used to be a faithful subscriber.) My own biased slant appears in italics at the end of each paragraph.

•There have been eight separate resolutions passed by the United Nations Security Council since 1991 requiring Iraq to destroy its weapons of mass destruction, which the U.N. itself has said repeatedly over those years do exist. The compromise resolution currently being put forth is the ninth such resolution in 12 years. How many more resolutions do we need to realize that Saddaam Hussein will not disarm except by force?

•Amnesty International states in its 2002 Human Rights Report—Iraq: "Scores of people, including possible prisoners of conscience and armed forces officers suspected of planning to overthrow the government, were executed. Scores of suspected anti-government opponents, including people suspected of having contacts with opposition groups in exile, were arrested. The fate and whereabouts of most of those arrested, including those detained in pre-

Man Arrested After Altercation In Parking Area

A Friendsville man was arrested after an altercation in the parking area of Garrett County Circuit Court Thursday morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Steven Grant Savage, 43, was charged with two counts of intimidating witnesses, second-degree assault, and disorderly conduct.

According to police, witnesses in a Circuit Court case against Savage were standing in the parking area when Savage approached them. Savage then stepped on one of the witnesses' feet and attempted to trip that person, police said.

Savage was released from the Garrett County Detention Center on his own recognizance, according to a jail spokesperson.

In other police news, deputies stopped a 1992 Chevy truck for exceeding the speed limit on Garrett Highway near Paul Friend Road Friday evening.

The driver, Sheila Dillsworth, 37, Oakland, was arrested after she failed field sobriety tests. Further investigation revealed that Dillsworth was driving on a suspended license, police said.

Dillsworth was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired by alcohol, driving on a suspended license, and exceeding the maximum speed limit.

She was released on $1,000 bond, police said.

Va. Man Faces Gun Charge After Speeding Stop

A traffic stop for speeding north of Accident led to a handgun violation charge for a Winchester, Va., man Monday, Maryland State Police reported this week.

Stanley Lloyd Evans, 35, was stopped on Garrett Highway at Bear Creek Road. During a conversation with the trooper, Evans allegedly volunteered that he was carrying a handgun in the vehicle, and a loaded Glock 40 caliber pistol was recovered from the center console of the suspect's vehicle. The gun was reportedly being transported in plain view.
